Sic igitur exulante Winton. Episcopo, fama Regis Anglorum per omnes partes alpinas non mediocriter denigratur. Dicebant enim Franci, Anglorum semper æmuli, materiam fumentis exinde nequiter obloquendi: Eia, eia, ecce Rex Angliæ contra omnes Regni sui inimicos deses & imbellis, omnes Sanctos Episcopos suos persequitur & proscribit. Nunc beatum Thomam, nuper gloriosum Edmundus Cantuar. Archiepiscopos, & in præsentiarum Episcopum Winton. qui etiam ei ad diligenter ac fideliter servivit, non permittit vel Ecclesiam suam ingredi, vel Regni sui pace gratulari, malens alienigenas & ignotos promovere. Quod cum electo Cantuariensi Bonifacio innotuisset, dolens de Regis Angliæ infamia, ipsum Regem per amicabilem super hoc corripuens Epistolam, admonuit diligenter ipsum Regem, ut memoratum Episcopum revocans, in pristinum amicitiam suscipiens, & familiaritatem, ingredi permitteret in Episcopatum suum, & Episcopale officium suum libere exercere, ac libertatibus suis, & possessionibus temporalibus gratulari, ne ipsi Regi, & Regno deterius eveniret. Episcopo Wintoniensi consolatoria, & Regi comminatoria verba amicabilem scriptis in hunc modum.

BONIFACIUS Dei gratia Cantuariensis electus immeritus, Venerabili in Christo Patri Willielmo, Dei gratia Wintoniensi Episcopo, salutem in Domino. Quoniam nobis, & officio nobis injuncto, vos devotus per Literas vestras obtulistis, devotioni vestre congratulamur in Christo. Sicut etiam per Magistrum W. Clericum vestrum, quodam a nobis duxeritis requirenda, sciatis nos petitionibus vestris, quantum cum Deo, et sine iuris offensione potuimus, admisisse, sicut a dicto W. plenius audietis. Scituri, quod nisi ante adventum nostrum in Angliam, inter vos & Dominum Regem pax reformata fuisset, nos ad illam viriliter intendentes, graviora experiemur, ut res finem convenienter sortiatur. Et quia sigillum proprium non habemus, sigillo Bellicensis Capituli nimirum in presenti. Valete.

Litteræ Papales
pro Episc. Wint.

INNOCENTIUS Episcopus, &c. Charissimo in Christo filio Regi Anglia, salutem & Apostolicam benedictionem. Postquam Dei benignitas humilitatem nostram ad Apostolicam vocavit officium dignitatis, illam concepimus de tua serenitate fiduciam, quod in his quæ sunt ad honorem Ecclesiæ, se promptam habere & vigilem exhibere. Provenit ex hoc, quod cum venerabilem fratrem nostrum quondam Normicensem, Vintoniensem Ecclesiæ de fratrurn nostrorum consilio concessimus in pastorem, preces tibi direxerimus speciales, ut eidem pro divina & nostra reverentia te redderes affectu benevolum, & effectu serenum, ac si quæ castra, & maneria ipsius Ecclesiæ, prompta benigne ei faceres assignari. Tu vero, sicut mirantes audivimus & dolemus, nedum preces huiusmodi voluisti deducere ad effectum, imo quod est gravius, in verba, nihil debita modestiæ vel reverentiæ filialis habentia, prorupisti, quod nulla postulatio in Regno Angliæ, per sedem Apostolicam admitti possit vel debeat te invito, et quod illam quam nos in spiritualibus, tu in temporalibus habeas potestatem: nec quis postulatus possit absque tuo consensu possessionem temporalium obtinere. Adiecasti præterea, quod translationem ipsius Episcopi reputares invalidam, tanquam a nobis per vitium surreptionis obtentam. Hæc siquidem fili charissime, non Dei, non Ecclesiæ, non tuæ resonant sublimitatis honorem, non sapiunt iustitiam, non redolent æquitatem, præsertim cum teneat* omnium credulitas pia fidelium, quod Apostolicæ sedis auctoritas liberam habeat in Ecclesiis universis potestatem a Dei providentia: nec arbitrio Principum ipsa stare cogitur, ut eorum in electionum vel postulationum negotiis requiratur assensum. In quibus tamen Dominum habendo præ oculis, sic provide procedit & caute, quod per illam nullius possit honori detrahi, vel iustitiæ derogari. Sicut etiam in translatione ipsius Episcopi dignoscitur processisse, in quo promovit hominem scientia, moribus, & honestate perspicuum, ac in spiritualibus & temporalibus circumspectum, olim tibi charum & amabilem, ac semper tuis beneplacitis secundum Dominum totis viribus intendere cupientem, per cuius industriam probatam, in plurimis honoris & commodi proficere poteris incrementis. Sed tamen non suggerat astutia susurronum, a quibus parare dispendia virtuosus, pro indifferenti ducitur, dummodo sua specialia commoda vel privata desideria consequantur. Tuam itaque celsitudinem affectione qua possumus exhortamur, & obsecramus in Domino Jesu Christo, quatenus ab impia suggestione talium Regiæ pietatis avertens auditum, Ecclesiam Dei continuo prosequaris honore, & indulgæ sibi desuper libertatis privilegium, conservare studeas illibatum. Nunc & in posterum tui Regni Prælatos, ea quæ in spiritualibus seu temporalibus spectant ad ipsorum Ecclesias, libere consequi & pacifice possidere permittas. Cæterum, solerti considerans meditatione, quod in Apostolici prosecutione officii, divini nominis deservimur honori, quæ de præfato Episcopo cum solenni deliberatione fecimus, non ad animum revoces, non aliquo impedimento perturbes. Sed quicordi nostro statuiamus, ut te specialem inter alios terræ Principes habeamus, in ipso impertiri procurans honorem, sibi castra & maneria, cum fructibus inde perceptis a tempore translationis huiusmodi, omni postposita difficultate, resignes, ac benevola benignitate concedas, quod sollicitudinem ei creditam possit cum effectu prosequi, tua favente gratia speciali. Alias autem, cum libertatem Ecclesiasticam in diebus nostris velimus non minui, sed Deo propitio augeri cupiamus, nullatenus sustinere poterimus, quod non in ipso Episcopo

Simili modo scripsit Dominus Papa Anglorum Regine Epistolam elegantem, pro Episcopi Wintoniensis negotio, in cujus Epistolæ titulo, asserit Papa ipsam Reginam sibi esse, (sed nescitur qua ratione) consanguineam, nisi forte ut haberet eam suis negotiis prouorem, & petitionibus favorabiliorem. Ipsum igitur verbis elegantissimis petit & exhortatur, (sciens quia mulier, quasi molliens herum dicitur) ut ipsa Regis viri sui in hoc rigore & rancore, quem concepit erga Episcopum Wintoniensem, studeat emollire.

Scripsit idem Dominus Papa electo Cantuariensi, Wigornensi & Herefordensi Episcopis, ut ipsi dicto negotio diligenter intenderent, annexens in fine Epistolæ, ut nomina suffraganorum, animum Regis pervertentium, sibi in literis suis rescriptis mitterent annotata.

Upon receipt of these Letters, the King sent certaine Articles to the Bishop of Winchester to subscribe, without which subscription he would not receive him to his favour: To which the Bishop returned this Letter and Answer.

EXCELLENTISSIMO, &c. Cum vestris beneplacitis quantum cum Deo poterimus totis viribus intendere cupiamus, fratrem Hugonem de sancto Heudorio, à vestra serenitate ad nos destinatum, cum omni qua decuit suscepimus reverentia. Deinde ex parte vestra expositis nobis articulis ab eodem, ad singulos respondimus, Juris & aequitatis sectantes, ut credimus, rationes, prout dictus frater Hugo vestra Majestati suis literis plenius, ut ab eo accepimus, intimabit. Affectantes toto mentis desiderio, ut super eisdem articulis, quantum secundum Dominum poterimus, vestram voluntatem adimplere, pietati vestra devotissime supplicamus, quatenus Ecclesia Wintoniensis compatiens angustias, ob Apostolica sedis reverentiam, ad gratiam vestram nos admittere velitis pariter & favorem, & indignationem, divini nominis obtentu misericorditer remittere, quam ad quorundam forsitan suggestionem, contra nos vestra concepit Regia celsitudo.

Et quia de articulis, super quibus convenit Dominus Rex Episcopum Wintoniensem, mentio facta est, videndum est quibus & qualiter responderit Episcopus. In primis, quod cum ex tenore privilegiorum Domini Regis, et tam jure quam consuetudine Regni sui obtentum sit ab antiquo, quod electi et postulati post electionem et postulationem celebratam, per electores et postulatores, ipsi Domino Regi debeant presentari, et post confirmationem, ante administrationem in spiritualibus vel temporalibus faciendam, ei juramentum fidelitatis præstare, quæ in persona ipsius Episcopi sunt ommissa, apud Dominum Papam studeat procurare, quod non obstante præmissa, de cætero in similibus casibus, privilegia ipsa, jus et consuetudo permaneant in suo robore firmitatis, et ab ipso specialiter confirmantur. Secundario, quod idem Episcopus relaxet sententiam interdicti, in civitatem Wintoniensem promulgatam. Tercio, quod ad cautelam absolvat omnes Clericos, et laicos, et alios, et præcipue Wintonienses, quos ratione controversiæ inter Dominum Regem et Episcopum, erroris excommunicationis sententia innodavit. Quarto, quod Priorem Wintoniensem quem Dominus Rex ibidem constituit non amoveat, sed ex sua gratia stare permittat. Quinto, quod omnia beneficia Ecclesiastica, ad suam donationem spectantia a Domino Rege post motam controversiam, inter eos in eodem Episcopatu vel alio collata, ratificet, & possessores pacifica gaudere possessione permittat. Sexto, quod contra magistrum Henricum de Senfa, nec quosquam alios clericos vel monachos memoratos, occasione hujus controversiæ nullam instituat actionem: imo omnem indignationem, offensam, injuriam, & rancorem remittat. Septimo, quod si quod jus vel actio sibi competit super exitibus Episcopatus Wintoniensis, pro tempore retroacto, ea penitus ob honorem Regium, Domino Regi ex sua liberalitate remittat. Octavo, quod idem Episcopus a Papa procuret, quod omnibus Clericis Domini Regis, quorum nomina sibi ad mandatum suum per Episco-

Ad primum articulum Domini Regis respondet Episcopus Wintoniensis, Quod cum postulatorem sui, facta postulatione de Domini Regis licentia, ipsum secundum Regni consuetudinem eodem Domino Regi presentasset, et postmodum dicta postulatione per Dominum Papam admissa et confirmata, idem Episcopus literas Domini Papae super hoc eidem Domino Regi directas, tam per fratres praedicatores, quam minores Clericos, & milites, ei porrigi procurasset, qui ex mandato ipsius devote Domino Regi supplicarunt, ut de ipsius licentia se ejusdem conspectui posset presentare: facturus eidem quod regni sui consuetudo postulat et requirit. Nec hoc post magnam inianiam obtinere potuissent, ex parte illius Episcopi nihil omisum poterit reputari, cum per ipsum non steterit quin omnia in dicto articulo Domini Regis contenta & postulata, essent adimpleta. Ad secundum & tertium respondit ita: Quod cum Domini Regis gratiam fuerit assequutus, quam tota mente desiderat, & sui Episcopatus possessionem pacificam obtinuerit, Interdicti et excommunicationis sententias in forma juris benigne relaxabit, ad quod pactiois vinculo, secundum Dominum & iustitiam astringere se non potest. Omnem tamen gratiam, quam secundum Dominum poterit excommunicatis, obtentu Regiae petitionis intendit impartiri. Ad quatuor autem articulos sequentes respondit: Quod cum res tangerent spirituales, & spiritualibus annexas, quae conditionis seu pactiois formam non admittunt, in forma a Domino Rege petita dictos non potest articulos adimplere. Veruntamen cum Domino suo Regi reconciliatus fuerit, & suam gratiam, & Episcopatus possessionem pacificam obtinuerit, de dicti Domini Regis & suorum fidelium consilio, cum tanta benignitate procedet, quod in praemissis quantum secundum Dominum poterit, se favorem exhibebit. Ad articulum vero super exitibus Episcopatus, respondit: Quod cum favorem Regis assequutus, Episcopatus possessionem habuerit, & ei de eorundem exituum estimatione confiterit, Domini Regis ita voluntati obtemperabit, ut in hoc ab eo merito debeat commendari.

Fraus Magistri

Ex ipso igitur tempore, Dominus Rex petitionibus Domini Papae, & aliorum Magnatum precibus emollitus, mitius agebat Rex cum Episcopo Wintonensi, tum propter Domini Papae diligentem supplicationem, tum propter Episcopi humiliationem & modestam responsum. Pace igitur pro foribus apparente: Quod audiens Magister Henricus de Sufa, Regis Clericus, fomes & procurator discordiae memoratae, qui in Curia Romana contra Episcopum Winton. steterat Regis procurator, cui Rex contulerat opimum beneficium, videlicet custodiam hospitalis Sanctae Crucis extra Civitatem Wintoniensem, coepit cogitare & dicere intra se, propria laesus conscientia: Quod si pax inter dictas partes plenius ac planius reformaretur, inter amicos Regis Episcopus praecipuus haberetur, nullique secundus in consiliis Regiis, utpote discretus & circumspectus sublimaretur: ipsumque eundem Henricum, & merito, usque ad confusionem persequeretur. Rex quoque ea facilitate eum sperneret, qua sequutus est. Considerans igitur haec omnia, de pecunia, quam de Rege non minimam, ad deiciendum Episcopum Wintoniensem, acceperat, in partes suae nationis subito & clam divertens, asportavitque secum totam dictam pecuniam, & per eam adquisivit sibi, (utinam non comparavit) unum Episcopatum, ipsius proventum rei non officium desiderans. Et nuncius, corvo factus consimilis, Dominum suum Non defraudanti, nuncium cum onere negotii, quod humeris suis susceperat bajulandum, nequiter reliquit imperfectum. Nec apparuit postea in Regno Angliae, bonis Regni plenius saginatus.

Not long after, Dominus Rex saniori usus consilio, Dominum Episcopum Wintoniensem amabiliter a partibus revocavit transmarinis, gratiam suam & ablatores reinstitutionem, ad instantiam Domini Papae, & aliorum Magnatum, pro ipso praecordialiter petentium, pollicendo. Unde Episcopus in spem erectus meliorem, salutato Rege Francorum, & reddita eidem gratiarum actione, de sibi impensis ab eo beneficiis, & eo quod ipsum exulantem, in Regno suo receptaverat, & protexerat repatrians, Nonas Aprilis apud Doveram prospere applicuit. De cujus adventu omnes Angli, praeter

præter illos Clericos Regis, aulicos, discordiæ seminatores, quos propria conscientia sauciebat, gratulabantur, dicentes: Benedictus qui venit in nomine Domini. Sperabatur enim indubitanter, quod prudentia sua & sensu, quo abundavit & præpollebat, tam Regem quam Regnum, nec non & Episcopatum suum, in statum optimum solidando promoveret. Qui Regis se præsentia gratulanter præsentans, hilari vultu & placabili est admissus, ac si semper fuisset ab ejusdem Regis offensa alienus. Quorum de die in diem ex insolito amor cumulatur & congratulatio, sicut scriptum est:

Circa eadem tempora, Episcopus Wintoniensis, valedicens Regi Francorum, & eis, qui eidem exulanti sinum aperuerant misericordiæ, & gratias referens, securus de gratia Regis Angliæ, versus partes Wintonia ut Ecclesiæ suæ desolatæ pastoralis sollicitudine consulendo disponderet, & deformata reformaret, iter maturavit. Quod audiens Prior Wintoniensis, licet sero, faciens de necessitate virtutem, se Episcopo suo adventanti humiliavit. Similiter & alii, tam sæculares, quam Monachi, qui pacis fuerant perturbatores, & discordiæ seminatores, confisi nimis in Regis protectione, ad Dominum & Episcopum suum satisfaciennes sunt conversi. Et cito post, videlicet die decollationis beati Johannis Baptista, relaxata est sententia Interdicti latti ad Episcopum in Ecclesiam et Civitatem Wintoniensem, cui subiacuerant, sub forma iuris liberaliter absoluti. Memoratus autem Prior J. de Caux, similiter sub eadem forma cum suis complicitibus est absolutus, depositus tamen, & alii cum eo, quos idem Prior temere instituerat, obedientiarum, & ministri sæculares. Major autem Civitatis, qui magis offenderat, majori poenæ subjacuit satisfaciendo.

The payment of the monies which this Bishop gave to the Pope and others to purchase his peace with the King, and the charges of his troublesome suits stuck so close to him, that although he lived very privately all his life, retiring himself to Turin, yet he was never able to recover himself out of debt, having been held out of his See near five years space by the King, who kept the profits of it in his hands. The whole series of this History, (which I have conjoyned though acted in several years) most eminently displays the Kings Ecclesiastical Regal Prerogative, and constant resolution to regain, maintain, and support it, against this Prelates and the Popes Usurpations, and his severe proceedings against the Bishop, till he submitted to, and complied with his Proposals, notwithstanding all menaces and mediations from at home or abroad.

Soon after the beginning of this unhappy controversie between the King and Bishop of Winton, there fell out another costly difference between the Bishop of Lincoln, and the Abbot of Westminster, about an impropriation, discovering the covetousnesse of Prelates and Clergymen in that age.

Circa illud tempus, discordia mota inter Dominum Robertum Lincolnensem Episcopum, & Dominum Richardum Abbatem Westmonasteriensem, nimis sumptuosa & utrique partium damnosa, diatim recens suscepit incrementum. Nitebatur enim summopere Episcopus, infirmitatis ipsius Abbatis sufficientibus privilegiis, super Ecclesia de Heswelle in proprios usus redigenda, ipsam Ecclesiam occupare violenter, & nacta exili occasione Monachis ablatam, alii conferre, scilicet Domino Nicholao, quem idem Episcopus satis inhumane beneficiis suis privaverat. Sed Abbas tamen jure, quam privilegiis suis suffultus, restitit ei in faciem viriliter.

About the same time there also happened a hot contest between the King and Robert Grossthead, Bishop of Lincoln, (a contentious cholerick Prelate) concerning the Church of Thame, conferred on John Mansel by the Popes Provision, which the Bishop had formerly bestowed on another Clerk, who stoutly opposed the Popes Provision; thus related.

verteret in maiorem. Quibus Rex: securus respondeo, Quia appellatum est. Nec debet quicquam pendente appellatione innovari. Nec quicquam attemptari nisi Jurisperitorum consilio, & Apostolica fultus auctoritate. Cui unus Archidiaconorum respondit: Domine Rex, Dominus noster Episcopus Lincolnienſis privilegium habet ab Apostolica ſede conſeſſum, quo uſus eſt, quod nulli per Apoſtolicum mandatum teneatur prohibere, niſi fiat illius privilegii mentio ſpecialis. Sed in huius Papaliſ mandati tenore, quo utitur prædictus Johannes, ratione cujus ſe in dictam Eccleſiam, veſtro conſuſo adjutorio, violenter intruſit, nulla ſit dicti mentio privilegii. Quapropter non tenetur Episcopus Lincolnienſis ipſi in hoc cauſa reſpondere, præſertim de collatione Eccleſiæ de Thame, quam vacantem alii riſe præcontulerat. Et eſſo, quod nullum tale habuiſſet privilegium, abſurdum eſt, ut aliquis ſe ingerat in poſſeſſionem alicuius Eccleſiæ in conſulto Episcopo Dioceſano, nedum inſiſto, licet Papali� conſuſus authoritati, cum omnia veſt Dominus Papa fieri ordinate. (So little did they value the Popes illegal Proviſions of this kind.) Et quid opus diſcordiæ vel injuriæ jam ſic attemptata? Pro meritis ipſius Johannis præcellens, circumſpecti & competenter literati, ad petitionem veſtram & ſuam inclinabunt de ſacili Dominus noster Lincolnienſis, ut provideatur eidem in tanto, vel uberiori beneficio, & erit collatio utrobique licita & honeſta. Et ne ſecus fiat, humiliter & devote poſtulat Dominus noster Episcopus, qui præparatus eſt in omnes ſuæ Eccleſiæ dignitatis læſores et invalores, anathematis ſententiæ ſulminare. Quod cum audiſſet tam dictus Johannes, quam Rex & ejus conſiliarii, ait Johannes: Domine mi Rex, abſit ut per me inter tam nobiles perſonas diſcordia, vel aliqua perturbatio oriatur. Cedo patienter. Satis mihi Dominus ad beneplacitum ſuum, vita veſtra commiſſe, providebit. Sed cum Rex dilationem accepiſſet, diſpoſitis diſponendis in Wallia, & reſſiſſis ibidem Walleranno Theutonico, & aliis præſentibus, & potentibus viris, ut Caſtris adificatis, infirmiora terra roborantes, armis & militia communirent, venit Londinum lætitudinis. Venit & illuc dictus Episcopus, paratus inferre ſententiæ in ipſum Johannem ſpecialiter, & omnes ſuæ Eccleſiæ, & libertatis perturbatores. Quod cum dicto Johanni innotuiſſet, venit ad Regem humiliter, & ait: Domine mi, ecce ad manum Lincolnienſis Episcopus vehementer perturbatus, ne occasione mei amplius diſſidium oriatur, vel ſcandalum ventiletur, reſigno Eccleſiam illam litigioſam. Quod cum Rex audiſſet, timens ne juxta verbum Episcopi, aliquando ſecus quam deceret impetuoſi, quem ad hoc in procinctu vidit præparatum, ſubiret exilium, Episcopatu ſuo Interdicto, rigorem quem conceperat, mitigavit, nec dedit amplius Johanni cornuæ quem vidit renuentem. Quapropter meruit idem Johannes uberiori beneficio, ſcilicet Eccleſiæ de Mayneſtan, Rege largiente protinus inveſſiri, & eodem anno, Eccleſiæ de Hovedene uberrima poſſeſſione ampliari. Episcopus igitur mitigatus, Rege poſtulante, in publico prædicans, niſi in cujus peſtore recondita ſunt claves ſcienciæ, hanc utriusque humilitat miſ ſatis eleganter commendavit, faciens inter cætera comparationem radiorum ſolarium, qui ſunt reſſiſſimi ad Regalem & regularem juſtitiam. Videns autem Rex Episcopi mentem jam bene pacatam & pacificatam, controverſiam nimis damnoſam & inhoneſtam, motam inter ipſum Episcopum & Abbatem Weſtmonaſterienſem, pro Eccleſiæ de Heſwelle, cupiens ſedare, non permiſit Episcopum recedere, donec omnia procurante prudenter id Abbate, ſæliciter pacificarentur. Ceſſit igitur Eccleſiæ illa de Heſwelle in poſſeſſionem Weſtmonaſterienſis, reſervata præſentatione vicaria ipſi Episcopo. In quo factò magnum ſuſcepit Eccleſiæ Weſtmonaſterii utilitatis & honoris incrementum. Auxerat igitur abſque illo non minimo commodo, Abbas ille Richardus Abbatiam ſuam redditibus trecentarum Marcarum annuarum, ſtrenuitate ſua in perpetuum adquiſiſis.

But the greateſt and longeſt-laſting controverſie, between the Biſhop and his Chapter, wherein the King had an intereſt, (*formerly touched) ſtill remained undecided, thus deſcribed by Matthew Paris.

Mat. Paris Hiſt. Angl. p. 553. Diſcordiæ inter Episc. Lincoln. & ejus Capitulum.

Remanſit autem adhuc controverſia damnoſiſſima & indecentiſſima inter ipſum Episcopum Lincolnienſem, & ejus Capitulum Lincolnienſe. Unde aliqui Canonico- rum ibidem præſentes, ſcilicet Londini, ab Episcopo adeo fatigati ſunt & damniſicati, quod coacti ſunt unam chartam monſtrare, & tenorem ejus in communi dilucidare, ut Eccleſiæ Lincolnienſis neceſſe habeat jugum ſubire novæ ſervitutis hac occasione.

Cum

Cum ante conquestum Anglia fuisset sedes Episcopatus, qui nunc Lincolniæ, apud Dorcestriam, & meritis Episcopi tunc præfidentis exigentibus, & locus a Domino Papa anathematizaretur, & Episcopus deponeretur, (for * Simony) vix remanserunt tantæ rei post multos annos vestigia, & sic desuit tam sedes quam cura Episcopalis tempore diuturno. Tempore igitur Will. Rufi Regis Angliæ, filii Will. primi, destructæ fuerunt multæ Ecclesiæ in Nova Foresta, ipso sic jubente. Sed tandem penitentia ductus, consilium salubre concepit, in reconciliatione illius peccati, jam dictum Episcopatum nobilem restaurare et ampliare, et locum in melius commutare. Empta igitur quadam terra, vel commutata a quodam nobili, M. de Gaunt, qui cum Patre suo venerat in Angliam ad conquestum, & illam acceperat in sorte retributionis post victoriam, fundavit dictus Rex Willielmus secundus Ecclesiam, quæ nunc est Lincolniæ. Quæ perfectâ, vocavit duos Cardinales Legatos, qui accepta potestatis plenitudine super ordinatione Episcopatus & Ecclesiæ illius a Domino Papa affuerunt. Et convocatis octo Archiepiscopis, & sexdecim Episcopis, ordinari fecit solenniter nimis ipsam Ecclesiam, & statui ejus Canonicos, scilicet sæculares, & eorum redditus & portiones distinguere & assignari, ut sub Episcopo & Decano ordinate & honorifice sub certa disciplina in perpetuum deservirent, & permaneret ordinatio talis ac tanta, tot Sanctorum Patrum autoritate, Apostolica quoque pagina communica in perpetuum inviolabiliter duratura. Tunc autem ordinatio talis, Quod Episcopo ordinato, & Canonicis in suis possessionibus constitutis, ex tunc ordinate & discipline Deo & ejusdem sacratissimæ matri nocte q̃, di. q̃, deservirent. Quorum Canonicoꝝ si quis a iurante disciplina d̃viaret, & cor̃eptus non corrigeretur, per Decanum visitatus puniretur, nihil prius Capitulum pertimens & increpationem in ipso factam. Si autem nec sic se corrigeret, privaretur per annum suo beneficio, vel per biennium, secundum quantitatem delicti. Quod si adhuc rebellis fuerit, advocaretur Episcopus in adiutorium, ad coercendum induratum. Quod si adhuc obstinatus incorrigibiliter recalcitraret, * ipse Rex privatum ab omni beneficio pœna gravioꝝ puniat. Et cum omnibus talis ordinatio complacuisse, in scriptum redacta est, et Apostolica autoritate roborata, et inscripserunt. Et dedicata Ecclesia, omnes qui præfentes erant solenniter excommunicarunt omnes hujus ordinationis perturbatores. Unde Canonici dicunt, quod ex quo Decanus nec est negligens, vel nescius, vel impotens visitandi delinquentes, & excessus corrigendi, injuste & impudenter se ingerit Episcopus ut visitationes exigat, nec videtur penitus illæsus a mucrone sententiæ tam solenniter lata a tot sanctorum multitudine. His auditis, Rex partem se vendicabit habere in hujus causæ negotio: unde pars Episcopi & Capituli in magna parte infirmata est. Nec potuit propter talis repaguli impedimentum res optatum finem pacis componendæ fortiri, sed dilationis cepit sumptuosam expectationem.

* As Supreme Ordinary:

During this controversy between this Bishop and his Dean and Chapter, there arose a new hot angry contest between the Bishop and Monks of Canterbury, about Jurisdiction and Visitation, wherein they excommunicated one the other, and yet slighted these their mutual Anathemas, as ridiculous Nullities; thus transmitted to posterity.

Profluentibus eorundem dierum decursibus, Rege adhuc in transmarinis commorante, orta est gravis contentio inter Conventum Cantuariensem, & Episcopum Lincolniensem, hoc modo. Quidam Clericus exegit importune nimis ab Abbate de Bordencia, quoddam debitum, de debitis antecessoris ejusdem Abbatis. Cumque oriretur super hoc controversia, Archidiaconus Lincolniensis desiderans quandam Pontificalem dicti Abbatis & ejus Conventus, qua diu quiete gavisi sunt, dignitatem enervare, ait Clerico memorato dictum debitum exigenti: Conquerere mihi graviter & solemniter in hac tibi illata injuria, & ego edomans ipsos Monachos indomitos adversarios tuos, omne tibi debitum restituiam, violenter ab eis, si sic oporteat, extorquendo: (good Archdeacon Justice.) Ipse igitur, juxta cavillatoris consilium, gravem de Abbate & Monachis reposuit in propatulo coram Archidiacono super hoc querimoniam. Citavit igitur Archidiaconus Abbatem, ut coram eo compareret, etiam in sua libertate, responsurus, & super hoc juri pariturus. Quod cum videret Abbas hoc esse juri Ecclesiæ suæ & consuetudini contrarium, contradixit appellando. Archidiaconus igitur repulsum jure se videas, citavit Abbatem, ut alibi compareret: Abbas autem noluit, innitens priori Appellationi suæ. Sciebat enim ipsum insidiari ei, & nihil aliud querere, nisi suæ libertatis perturbationem & infirmationem, tali nacta occasione, pluribus edoctus argumentis præteritis, & nunc certior inchoatis. Noverat etiam experimento evidenti, quod si hæc causa usque ad Episcopum ascenderet (quod Archidiaconus versute quærebat) foret illi Episcopus favorabilis in subversionem libertatis Monachorum, qui habebatur Religiosorum persecutor generalis, præcipue tamen quibus potuit adversari privilegiatorum. Archidiaconus igitur, quærens discordiæ seminarium ventilandæ, super hoc conquestus est Episcopo, nodum in scirpo perferutando. Citavit igitur Episcopus Abbatem, ut multiplicibus his excessibus responderet. Abbas igitur, immobiliter innisus Priori suæ appellationi, noluit huic citationi obedire, sciens ipsum ad iram præcipitem, & Archidiacono suo in hac causa nimis favorabilem. * Stomachatus igitur, & ira plusquam deceret intumescens Episcopus, statim quasi contumacem, dictum Abbatem excommunicavit. Quod Abbas patienter sustinens, humiliter sententiam servavit, ne in posterum de contemptu puniretur. Post hæc, non multis diebus elapsis, misit Episcopus visitatores ad Bardenay, personas videlicet sæculares, potius paratos in Monachos protervire, quam excessus, si quos invenirent, corrigere: Noluerunt igitur ipsos admittere, tum quia ex parte Episcopi venerunt adversari, & adversario manifesto destinati, tum quia missi sæculares ordinis Monastici ignari penitus exitere, tum quia Abbas eorum, qui erat ipsorum pastor & capitaneus, per quem deberet eorum consilium solidari, sententiæ vinculo per ipsum Episcopum fuerat innodatus. Ipsos igitur visitatores protervius instantes, & jam objurgantes, & violentam manuum impositionem sese exponendo provocantes, repulerunt ipsi janitores, & extra portam repulso excluderunt, dicentes: Petimus humiliter, ut citius recedatis, antequam irruant in vos, nobis etiam invitis, multi ad hoc ardentem animati, quorum impetus non poterimus refrænare. Ipsi autem comminantes recesserunt, & super his Episcopo conquesti, de magnis majora loquentes, dicebant: Monachos armatos habuisse ad irruendum in eos, quos etiam ministri Monachorum baculaverant, ut assererebant, veritatis metas impudenter transgredientes. Episcopus igitur supra modum ad iram provocatus, comminatus est Abbati & Conventui ruinam & confusionem, ad posse suum se præparaturum. Abbas igitur, multo mœrore perculsus, arctius quid agendum cogitabat. Per inquisitionem igitur certificatus, quod Conventus Canuariensis privilegium habebat appellationes recipiendi & tuendi, vacante sede Papali, ad refugium talis remedii convolvavit, reponens gravem super tali gravamine querimoniam. Indignatus idcirco Episcopus, convocatis A. Episcopo Cunrensi, & quibusdam Abbatibus Nigri ordinis, scilicet Ramesis & Burgi, in sua Diocesi existentibus apud Herefordiam, memoratum Abbatem de Bardenay absentem, nec pro se responsalem habentem, quasi convictum & contumacem, eo quod videbatur ei ipsum non rite in appellatione sua processisse, & ipsi quasi Episcopo suo prius non fuisse conquestum, ignominiose nimis deposuit. Significavitque Conventui de Bardenay, quod in nullo ei obedire tenerentur, sed merito pro cassato & deposito eum, necnon & excommunicato, haberent. Quod cum Conventui Canuariensi innotuisset, quod scilicet memoratus Episcopus Lincolniensis privilegia sua tam contemptibiliter violasset, convocatis & congregatis quinquaginta Presbyteris ipsius Diocesis, in pleno Conventu, in quo quinquaginta, vel etiam plures Monachi Sacerdotes habebantur, candelis accensis, pulsatisque omnibus campanis, ipsum Episcopum Lincolniensem, quasi ingratum, et Ecclesiæ, cujus Suffraganeus esse comprobatur, rebellem, solenniter excommunicavit. Episcopus autem, ut viderat talis Literas mandati, ipsas ad pedes suos projectas viliter conculcavit, non sine hoc videntium vehementi admiratione, propter effigiem beati Thoma impressioni cereæ consignatam. Et adeo in vehementem iram excaudit, ut omnibus diceret audientibus: Non quæro ut aliter erant Monachi pro anima mea in æternum. Et convitiis affectum ipsum Nuncium capi præcepit. Quod cum ministri, ob reverentiam Sacerdotii (Sacerdos enim fuit qui mittebatur) hoc facere tardassent & trepidassent, eundem Presbyterum a domo sua, quasi vile mancipium, vel etiam latronem, præcepit expelli. Unde magis reddidit omnes attonitos & admirantes, qui in domo erant, viros discretos & literatos. Quia etsi nulla alia causa subesset, posset rationabiliter ille Sacerdos ipsum Episcopum super violenta manuum iniectione accusasse. Dictus autem Episcopus, Monachorum sententiam participando, imo dissipando, non omisit celebrare, Ecclesias dedicare, et alia Pontificalia officia exercere: non perpendens, quod ex contemptu, etsi injusta sit sententia, robur tamen inde formidabile posset sortiri justitiæ. Re-

Revolventibus eorundem dierum circulis, Episcopus Lincolniensis nuncios suos solennes, clericos & discretos, ad Romanam curiam, ex una parte, & Conventus Cantuariensis, ex alia parte, ad dirimendum litem inter eos ventilatam, destinarunt. Qui super hoc talem diffinitionem meruerunt reportare.

INNOCENTIUS Episcopus, servus Servorum Dei, dilectis filiis, Conventui & Priori Ecclesiæ Christi Cantuariensis, salutem & Apostolicam benedictionem. Exhibita nobis venerabilis fratris nostri Episcopi Lincolniensis petitio, continebat, quod cum vobis contendentibus jurisdictionem Metropolitanam, quam ad vos, Cantuariensi sede vacante, in provinciam Cantuariensem, tam ex privilegio sedis Apostolicæ, quo nunquam adhuc usi fuistis, quam de jure communi, pertinere dicitis, in eum & suos subditos committendo eorum causas & appellationes ab eis interpositas exercere: ipse grave sibi ex hoc præjudicium generari conspiciens, ad sedem Apostolicam, cujus interest quæstiones tam arduas, Metropolitana sede vacante, dirimere, provocasset; vos in eum & in ejus subditos, suspensionis & excommunicationis sententias, occasione hujusmodi, pro vestra voluntatis arbitrio promulgastis. Quare nobis humiliter supplicavit, ut provideri sibi super hoc paterna sollicitudine curaremus. Volentes igitur ex officio nostro sic eidem Episcopo & suis subditis subvenire, quod jus alterius non lædamus, universitati vestræ per Apostolica scripta mandamus, quatenus infra octo dies post receptionem præsentium, absque vestro & partis alterius præjudicio, relaxetis prædictas sententias ad cautelam. Alioquin venerabilibus fratribus nostris Archiepiscopo Eboracensi & Episcopo Dunelmensi, damus literis nostris in mandatis, ut ipsi ex tunc sine præjudicio partium, tam super petitorio, quam etiam super possessorio, sententias relaxent easdem, contradictores per censuram Ecclesiasticam appellatione postposita compefendo. Datum Anagnia, decimo Calend. Septembris Pontificatus nostri Anno Primo.

The Bishop of Lincoln excommunicating the Monks of Bardeny on the one part, and the Prior and Monks of Canterbury excommunicating the Bishop and his Officers on the other, concerning which both sides appealed; the King thereupon, as Supreme moderator in such cases, issued forth this Prohibition to the Archbishop of York and others (who had then the government of the Realm in his absence) not to apprehend, or cause to be apprehended any of those Monks, by pretext of any excommunication of the Bishop of Lincoln, or other suffragans of the province of Canterbury after the Appeal exhibited, till himself, then in France, should return into England, to hear and decide their difference.

REX Eborum Archiepiscopo, Carl. Episcopo & W. de Cantil. salutem. Mandamus vobis, quod nullum de Monachis Abbacie de Bardenay capi faciatis, aut capi permittatis occasione alicujus sententiæ in eos latæ per Episcopum Lincol. vel alium suffraganeum Cantuariensis Ecclesiæ post Appellationem interpositam, et ad sedem Cantuar. ad tuitionem. Et de aliis excommunicatis per dictos Suffraganeos post hujusmodi appellationem, sub dissimulatione pertranseat, donec in Angliam redierimus, ita quod non capiantur. REX Eborum Archiepiscopo, Carl. Episcopo & W. de Cantilupo, salutem. King Henry being beyond the Seas (in France) when this controversy hapned, the Bishop of Lincoln, with the rest of the suffragan Bishops of the Province of Canterbury, by their petition, complained to him against these proceedings and other vexations of the Prior and Monkes of Canterbury, as prejudicial to their Churches, Ecclesiastical liberties, and meer Innovations, tending to the disturbance of the publique peace of the Realm: Whereupon the King, not having then and there leasure, to hear and determin this difference with the advice of his Nobles, by vertue of his Ecclesiastical Prerogative, sent this memorable Prohibition, to stay all proceedings between them till his return into England.

Dictis etiam Priori et Monachis damus in mandatis, quod articulis universis, quibus vos indebite fatigare nituntur interim supersedeant, et adventum nostrum patienter expectent. About the same time there hapning a controversy between the Bishop of Aquen in France, and the Citizens (then under the Kings obedience) he slaying one, and imprisoning three others of the City, upon the Citizens petition, the King cited the Bishop to appear before him by vertue of his Ecclesiastical prerogative; after which he authorized *J. Dedicatio Ec-

Per idem tempus, videlicet in crastino Sancti Michaelis, dedicata est Ecclesia Conventualis Canonorum de Waltham, ab Episcopo Norwicensi, solemniter valde, assistentibus aliis plurimis Episcopis, Prælati, & Magnatibus venerabilibus: statim post dedicationem Ecclesiæ Sancti Pauli Londinensis, ut peregrinantes hinc inde indistanter remearent. Eodemque tempore, Adam Abbas de Wareduna, confirmatus est in Episcopum Casterensem. Qui Episcopatus est in Hibernia, subjacens Metropolitanæ Diocesi Archiepiscopi Armachani.

Griffini.

Eodem tempore, Griffinus filius Leolini in carcere fratris sui David tenebatur in arcta custodia vinctus, quem in dolo vocaverat ad pacificum concilium, sub ducatu Magistri Richardi Bangorensis Episcopi, & quorundam aliorum Nobilium Walliensium, propter quod facinus Episcopus ipse recessit a Wallia, ipso David excommunicato. (Who slighting his Excommunication as a vain scare-crow, thereupon the Bishop,) Veniens ad Regem Angliæ, super hoc scelere nequiter perpetrato gravem reposuit querimoniam, postulans instantissime, ut Rex liberaret injuste a David nepote suo fratrem incarceratum, ne tanta talisque facinorosa transgressio remotas regiones Curiamque Romanam, in honoris Regii læsionem, macularer. Rex igitur David nepotem suum graviter super illa prodit one increpans, præcepit & persuasit efficaciter, ut fratrem suum liberans, famæ suæ restaurationem & absolutionis beneficium promereretur. Quod tamen procaciter David facere abnuvit, Regi veraciter significans, quod si ipsum Griffinum a carcere liberaret, profecto nunquam Wallia pacis gauderet securitate. Quod cum Griffino innotuisset, Regi latenter significavit, quod si ipsum a carcere fratris potenter liberaret, terram suam ab ipso Rege teneret, fideliter inde ducentas Marcas annuatim cum gratiarum actionibus & obsequii retributione persolvendo, præstito super hoc fidelitatis juramento, & obside tradito speciali: Insuper juvaret eum diligenter, omnes sibi rebelles Wallenses longinquos & indomitos subjugare. Quidam etiam potentissimus Wallensium, nomine Griffinus, filius Madoch, adiutorium Domino Regi spondidit indefessum & securum, si Walliam intraret hostiliter, moturus bellum contra David fallacem & multis injuriosum. The King thereupon entred Wales with a great Army, subdued it without effusion of blood, and enlarged Griffin, who swore Homage and Allegiance to him.

Generale Capitu-

Circa idem tempus, scilicet postquam generale Capitulum ordinis Cisterciensium solum est, venerunt Abbates recedentes ab eodem Capitulo, hos rumores veraciter de adventu Regis Francorum ad illos venientis nobis nunciates, videlicet, quod mutato more Romanorum, scripserat Dominus Papa eorum Capitulo, orans eleganter, ut continue & instanter Domino preces funderent pro Ecclesia statim vacillantibus. Similiter, & quidam Cardinales, & alii potentes, hoc impreciabile munus ab eis flagitabant, ut scilicet Ecclesia & suo statu roborato tutius Deo militando faverentur. Noverant enim, quod, eo quod Abbates ejusdem ordinis anno præterito, ne ad Capitulum accederent, per bella fuerant impediti, tunc plenius ad Capitulum generale convenirent. Rex autem Francorum instantius aliis auxilium & precum instantiam postulabat, quia se senserat, postquam iter in Pictaviam moturus bellum arripuerat, nimis de corporis sui statu debilitatum & deterioratum, & alacritate corporali potius indigentem. Solus autem Rex Angliæ, missis illuc nunciis solennibus, auxilium pecuniare ab eis instantius postulavit. Erant autem ibidem Monachi ab omni Natione Christiana quæ sub cælo est. A quibus omnibus, non sine Anglorum, qui ibidem erant, confusione, solam meruit sine benedictione repulsam. Erigebat enim ab constitutis in Angliæ lanas Abbatis.

The King upon this denial and affront of theirs, by way of retaliation, Eodem anno, prohibuit Dominus Rex, ne lanæ Cisterciensium Monachorum venales ad partes transmarinas ad suum commodum transveherentur, volens eos sic gravare & damnificare, eo quod eum transfretatum in Gasconiam, auxilio pecuniari nec voluerunt, nec etiam valuerunt, juvare.

Petrus de Supino, and Petrus de Rubeo, Pope Gregorius Legates and grand extorters of monies in England, Ireland, & Scotland, to maintain his Wars against the Emperor, departing speedily out of the Realm, so soon as they received secret tidings of this this Popes death, (which was for some dayes concealed from the people) thereupon, Walterus de Oera, Nuncius Imperialis, eos pedetentim insequabatur; iter suum equis non parcentes maturabant. Et cum transalpinaissent, se in suorum parentum Civitates & domos clanculo receperunt, pecuniam, qua onerati venerant, in locorum abditis reponentes, præsentiam quoque suam non omnibus exponentes. Et cum nec ipsos, nec prædam eorum, prædictus Walterus liquido potuit invenire, nisi per levis famæ sibilis, hæc omnia Domino suo Imperatori significavit. Dominus igitur Imperator per singulas Civitates Italia ditioni suæ subjectas, diligenter fecit indagari, qui fuissent illi Papales Nuncii vel Mercatores, qui ad subversionem Imperii et Reipublicæ, & fomentum belli, per diversas Regiones, præcipue Anglicanam, fraudulentè collecterant pecuniam, ut Papæ ipsam conferrent, & sic ei darent cornua & pruritum ad perturbandum Imperium. Fecit igitur ipsos capi, et captos arctius, quasi faneissimos inimicos, conveniri, et infiscata omni eorum substantia cum domibus et totius parentelæ eorum, viris spectabilioribus cum uoribus et liberis incarceratis, inquiri jussit districte de summa pecuniæ ad opus Papæ collectæ, per tabelliones et scripta penes Mercatores Civitatum, et conscios et consortes reposita, et omnia fecit prudenter restitui. Et sic miserabilibus personis Ecclesiasticis, sub alis Papalibus protegendis, penitus spoliatis, adversarii Ecclesiæ majora gravamina fortius intulerunt.

The sudden death of this turbulent oppressive Extortioner, Pope Gregory the 9th. the decease of Celestine the 4th. in 12. dayes space after his election, and near two years vacancy of the Roman See before Innocent the 4th. his election, by reason of the Schisms amongst the Cardinals, and the Emperors interpositions, exempted England from Papal Exactions and Provisions above two years space. At last, Anno 1243. Die Nativitatis Sancti Johannis Baptista, creatus est in Papam Dominus Sineboldus Cardinalis, postquam vacaverat sedes Papalis per annum & novem menses. (Cardinales in unum propter metum Imperatoris congregati, elegerunt Seneboldum Cardinalem in Papam, virum in Decretis, & jure Canonico eleganter eruditum, pecuniæ tamen non contemptorem, adds Matthew Westminster.) Et die Apostolorum Petri & Pauli confirmatus est, & vocatum est nomen ejus Innocentius Quartus. Et confirmatus, statim confirmavit sententiam latam a prædecessore suo Gregorio in Imperatorem Fredericum. Creatus autem est Anagnia, unde Romani & Romanorum Imperator, quasi pro duplici injuria ipsi Papæ moliebantur gravamina, & insidias paraverunt, & eo instantius, quia Imperator credebat Papam sibi favorabilem habiturum. Posuit igitur Imperator in transiibus viarum & portuum arcas custodias, & per mare galeas, ne Bullarum portitores transirent, libero transitu gratulantes. Nec multum post hæc, Dominus Imperator duos fratres de ordine Minorum comprehendit, eo quod Literas jussu superiorum suorum, ad suscitandum bellum inter quosdam Magnates, præcipue contra Imperatorem, furtive detulerunt, et comprehensos jussit suspendi. They being the common Carriers of the Roman Pontiffs Bulls and Letters of this nature, when their Legates or Nuncios had no free passage.

This Pope treading in the foot-steps of his Predecessors, soon after his instalment dispatched a new Roman Harpy and Extortioner with extraordinary large powers into England, before he was sent for or expected, to fleece, yea fleay the Clergy, Laity, Church, Realm, and dispose of all Ecclesiastical rents and preferments at his pleasure to the Popes kinred and aliens, as these ensuing narratives inform us.

Circa idem tempus, misit Dominus novus Papa quendam nobili in Angliam pecuniæ extortorem, Magistrum videlicet Martinum, autenticum Papale deferentem, et habentem potestatem excommunicandi, suspendendi, et multipliciter voluntati suæ resistentes puniendi. Qua roboratus potestate, suspendit Prælatos Angliæ a collatione beneficiorum, donec voluntati Papali satisfactum fuisset, redditus ad opus Clericorum suorum et consanguineorum postulanti. Indignum tamen judicabat aliquem redditum suscipere, nisi triginta Marcas aut supra valentem, ne quisquillas colligere tantus vir videretur. Cæpit igitur dictus Magister Martinus munera, præcipue palefridos concupiscibiles imperiose exigere et extorquere a Prælati, maxime a Religiosis, præcipiens per Literas districte illi Abbat, vel illi Priori, ut ei equos, quales decebat specialem Domini

Domini Papæ Clericum insidere, transmitterent: Contradictentes autem & excusationes & causas negationis protendentes, etiam rationabiles, (utpote Abbatem de Malmesburia, & Priorem de Meritona) * suspendenda usque ad plenam satisfactionem, graviter punivit. Sedulus etiam explorator Ecclesias vacantes & Præbendas consideravit, ut ipsas patenti sinui Papæ indigentæ præsentaret. Inter quas dum Præbenda opima Sarisburyensis Ecclesiæ, spectans ad Præcentorem, vacaret, invito Episcopo & nimis dolente cum toto Capitulo, manus rapidas eidem Præbendæ statim iniecit, et jussu Papæ, cuidam puero nepoti suo, non sine multorum cordium amaritudine et stupore, contulit. Credebant enim multi & sperabant, quod Romana Curia a Deo multipliciter jam flagellata, freno moderaminis suam avaritiam solitam aliquantulum saltem coherceret. But no Divine nor Humane Laws, Judgements, Medicaments, could cure or allay this Roman Drop-sie, Avarice, Rapine.

Matthew Westminster renders us this ampler and more particular account of his powers and proceedings. * Circa idem tempus, confusus Dominus Papa nimis de Regis simplicitate & patientia, quendam novum pecuniæ extortorem, non insignis Legati redimitum, sed inauditus potestatis communium, nomine Martinum, transmisit in Angliam, qui se in solitum legatorum & Papalium Nunciorum & Clericorum receptaculum, scilicet in Novum Templum Londini, statim recipiens, potestatem suam, redditus recipiendi, et pecuniam multipliciter extorquendi manifestavit, et eam exercuit diligenter usque ad multorum cordium summam amaritudinem et conscientiarum læsionem. Habebat enim potestatem, collationem beneficiorum prohibendi donec ad votum suum, ipsi foret satisfactum. Qui exiles redditus quasi quiescentes, despiciens, opimis manus rapidas iniecit: habebatque potestatem excommunicandi, suspendendi, & multipliciter voluntati suæ, licet impetuose resistentes puniendi, & pro voluntate, quasi ipso die in Papali cancellaria, Bullas Chartas autenticas more protulisset consuetum. Unde a nonnullis, nec sine causa dicebatur, ipsum plures Chartas Bullas sed vacuas, ad placitum suum scribendas, quod absit, detulisse. Cæpit igitur memoratus Magister Martinus undique munera, præcipue palefridos concupiscibiles, & vasa pretiosa imperiose a Prælatibus exigere, erigendo extorquere, maxime a Religiosis ad opus suum (stulte enim orat qui sui obliviscitur) et ad opus Papæ redditus et Præbendas præelectas: utens hac odibili adfectione, non obstante privilegio, &c. Inter quas dum Præbenda opima quædam Sarum vacaret, dictus Magister Martinus, sedulus explorator, avidas & aduncas manus injiciens, irrequisito, imo potius invito, loci ipsius Episcopo, contulit ipsam cuidam adolescentulo, Domini Papæ nepoti. Similiter & alias ipsius Papæ consanguineis, quibus idem Papa mirabiliter abundavit, collegit dictus Magister Martinus indefessus, non sine multorum peritorum stupore. All their comfort in the mean time was this good news; that, In octavis vero Purificationis Beatæ Mariae Virginis, obiit vas superbæ, et omnis fomes contumeliæ inter Dominum Papam et Imperatorem exortæ. Johanne de Columna, Cardinalis Roma. Qui vir Martius, & genere præclarus inter omnes Cardinales, Castris & Palatiis necnon & Thesauris, & redditibus instauratus, claruerat potentissimus.

These unexpected new Grievances, Extortions, Provisions, Powers of the Popes avaritious imperious Agent, made the English to begin to meditate how they might totally cast off the insupportable Roman yoke of bondage; their grounds exciting them thereunto, and their proceedings therein, are thus presented to us by our Historians, being ushered in with the sad tydings then received from the Holy Land.

Innocentii quarti, secus quam speravimus, non desinebat per prohibitiones quotidianas, redditus impudenter extorquere. Existit igitur (licet sero) murmur, in cordibus Angloꝝ diu conceptum et retentum, in manifestam querimoniam, et quasi parturientes loquuti, non poterant amplius sese continere. Patientia enim eorū desidia erat, et humilitas infructuosa, imo potius et damnosa.

Et in unum convenientes totius Regni Nobiles, Regem efficacissime super hoc conveniunt, asserentes, se male mori, quam amplius tales enormitates tolerare. Non enim eorum, neque antecessorum suorum intentio fuerat, quando contulerunt bona viris Religiosis & aliis locis pia consideratione constructis, ut ipsa ad arbitrium Papæ viris Italicis ignotis, et eis quos noverant simoniis et usuris pollutos, et viciis multimodis, quibus non esset cura, prædicatio, vel hospitalitas Christi fidelibus impendenda, contribuerent: ac Matthew Westminster abbreviates their complaint, thus more at large recorded by Matthew Paris. Et in unum convenientium talis erat consideratio Regi et Regno intimanda.

Si mentis oculis intueretur Dominus Papa statum Primitivæ Ecclesiæ in Angliā; medium & præsentem, non concuteret Ecclesias & Ecclesiasticas personas, nec illas arctaret huiusmodi exactionibus & angariis, & quod suum non est, ab Ecclesiis non vendicaret, nec extorqueret. Prædicante enim in Angliā beato Augustino Anglorum Apostolo, Rex Albertainus conversus ad fidem Christi, Londonem, em, Rossensem, & Cantuariensem instituit Ecclesias. Hic Clericos & Sacerdotes, ibi Monachos apponens, assignatis illis speciali patrimonio suo, terras & possessiones sufficientes ad sustentationem eorum, quos ad hoc solum deputavit, ut in locis sibi assignatis divina celebrarent, laudesque Deo die ac nocte & gratiarum exsolverent actiones, & elemosynas, & alia pietatis opera exercentes, hospitalitatem pauperum sustentarent pro mensura facultatum. Consimiliter alii Reges in aliis Cathedralibus Ecclesiis & Præbendalibus, & Conventualibus, quod videri potest si decurratur ad eorum instrumenta & modos donationum. Nec adeo libertati dederunt huiusmodi possessiones, quin tibi sibi reſervarent ſemper propter publicam Regni utilitatem, videlicet expeditionem pontis & arcis reparationes vel refectiones, ut per ea reſiſterent hoſtium incurſibus. Si igitur iſta & conſimilia dantur locis ſpiritualibus, & locorum Episcopis, tanquam certis perſonis, in Cathedralibus Eccleſiis dicimus, & Abbatibus, & Abbatis, de patrimoniis & Laicis feudis Regum & Principum, quo jure poterit, præter injuriam juris alieni, in alios uſus præmiſſa convertere? Præſertim ad illos, ex quibus oriuntur cædes, & incendia, & ſanguinum effuſiones, cum dicente Petrus, Dominus, & percutimus in gladio? reſpondit Dominus, Converte gladium in vaginam. Item, ſi tranſmitterentur ſubſtantia Clericorum Angliæ ad Italiā, unde procurarent pontis & arcis refectionem, & expeditionem, ſi ingrueret neceſſitas? Unde ſectarentur hospitalitates? Quo modo morarentur in certis locis ſibi deputatis? Item, præter alia mala, quæ poſſunt evenire adeuntibus Curiam Romanam de Regno Angliæ per ſatellites Imperatoris, unum quaſi in evidenti eſt, & in promptu, quod cum terra Imperatoris non diſtabat ab Angliā niſi modico freto, quod tranſmeari poſſet uno fluxu & refluxu maris, & tendat jam Imperator ad partes illas, verendum eſſet, ne ſic provocatus hoſtiliter Regnum ingrederetur, prout dixit Magiſter Walterus de Orew coram Rege in communi colloquio Baronum Londini: ſupplicans ex parte Imperatoris devotiſſime Regem et Barones, quod non permetterent tallias fieri in Regno, vel a Clericis, vel a Laicis, in ſubſidium Domini Papæ contra Imperatorem, inculcans unitates, quod ſi ſecus fieret, ſine pruritu tot accumulatis Regno bellis, ſcalperent ſe Rex & Regni Magnates uſque ad oſſa. Item, cum de voluntate & mandato & conſilio Eccleſiæ nuptui traderet Dominus Rex ſorem ſuam Imperatori, ex qua proles ſuſcepit, quas de ſtirpe noſtra & Anglorum ſanguine conſtat eſſe, quid aliud eſſet, contribuere contra Imperatorem, niſi confundere oriundos ex natione noſtra? quod abſit. Et quid aliud eſſet, niſi dare occaſiones Imperatori, ne poſſit Domino noſtro Regi ſubvenire in recuperationem terrarum ſuarum? Item, ſi attenderet Dominus Papa afflictiones & jacturas, quas ſuſtinuit Angliā per Ludovicum Regem Francorum, qui hoſtiliter ingreſſus eſt eam, qui nec peperit Eccleſiis, nec Eccleſiaſticis perſonis, ſed omnia deprædatus eſt, ita quod vix poterunt poterunt hæcenus Prælati Anglia respirare, non adderet afflictionem afflictioni super afflictos: imo consultius exigeret æstimationem damnorum, quæ fuerunt illata Ecclesiæ, & exinde promoveret exercitus suos in hostes, quod facere posset, etiam contradicente Rege Anglia, & sine convocatione Imperatoris contra Regem & Regnum. Item, aurum habet Ecclesia, Civitates, munitiones, & Castra, quæ etsi non sufficiant contra tantum Principem, advocet ad manus suas beneficia Italicorum & Romanorum quæ non modica contulit eisdem, tam in Anglia quam in aliis Regionibus: & ex eorum fructibus, quos ita beneficiavit, sumptus faciat hostiles, & non de nostris, scilicet de his quæ nobis non contulit, imo soli contulerunt patroni, quantum in ipsis fuit, quos oportet de necessitate sustentare, si vergant ad inopiam. Attendere etiam deberet, quod Pharao in afflictione populi Israelitici, Sacerdotes & Levitas ab omnibus huiusmodi exactionibus absolvit.

Mat. Paris Ibid.
Rex Angliæ
scribit Papæ, conquerens super exactioni-bus suis.

Sanctissimo in Christo Patri, ac Domino J. Dei gratia Summo Pontifici, Henricus, eadem gratia Rex Angliæ, &c. salutem, & pedum oscula beatorum. Quo amplius paternæ voluntati se ingerit filius, & mandatis ejus promptum se exponit, atque devotum; eo amplius paternum habere patrocinium promeretur, & devotionis suæ & obsequiorum commoda reportare. Inde est, quod cum omni te nunc Regni nostri, nos & Regnum nostrum, in omnibus & per omnia paternitatis vestra voluntati exposuimus, & mandatis, licet tamen in quibusdam nostris Regniq; nostri negotiis paternam sollicitudinem invenimus plerumq; & gratiam, in quibusdam tamen Provisionibus vestris, Clericis Angliæ et aliarum Regionum frequenter a vobis concessis, nos et Regnum nostrum sentimus non mediocriter prægravatum et oppressum. Tot et tantis etenim Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ onerata sunt huiusmodi Provisionibus, quod non solum patroni, et hi quorum interest conferre Beneficia Ecclesiastica, jure suo defraudantur, verum etiam sed proinde multa deficiunt opera charitatis: cum illa Beneficia, quæ religiosis domibus ad sustentationem ipsarum conferri soleant misericorditer, et fere omnia alia, in vestris Provisionibus refundantur. Cum igitur sedes Apostolica ita petentibus debeat esse favorabilis, quod jus alterius non lædatur, paternitatem vestram durimus exorandam, quatenus ab huiusmodi Provisionum concessione dissimulare, vel ad tempus desistere, vestræ placeat sanctitati. Interea paternitati vestræ supplicamus, quatenus jura nostra et libertates, quæ non aliena, sed propria potestis merito reputare, paternæ sollicitudine velitis tueri, et illa et integra conferre, nec aliquorum suggestionibus eadem velitis in vestra Curia aliquatenus perturbari. Nec contra nos vestra Sanctitas moveatur, si in aliquibus tenor mandatorum vestrorum obviavimus, cum ad hoc nos compulerit clamor conquerentium, qui nemini debemus in suo jure deesse, sed ex concessio nobis a Deo Regiæ dignitatis officio, in Civilibus plenam justitiam exhibere.

His itaque verbis, vel elegantioribus, Dominus Rex nimis patiens et clemens, prædecessori suo, videlicet Papæ Gregorio, supplicaverat, ut parceret Regnum Angliæ talibus exactionibus affligere. Sed nec ille, nec iste, motus voluntarios dignabantur super hoc refrænare. Unde credimus, Dominum et Apostolum suum Petrum (cujus vestigia non sequebantur) adversus Ecclesiam Romanam non immerito provocatum, arcum tendere et parare illum.

The Pope then offered this new affront to the King: Nec arbitror materiam vel alienum fore, vel impertinens, vel etiam Historiæ Regni Angliæ penitus inutile, posteris nostris elucidare, qualiter dictus Papa Innocentius Quartus, (such was his avarice, treachery, ingratitude to King Henry) David Principem Northwalliæ, Domino Regi Angliæ multoquid obli-gatum, a fidelitate Regis exemptum, dominio suo voluit mancipare, quingentas

Barcas

Marcas annuas a tenemento Northwallie et ejus pertinentiis percipiendo. Et hæc sunt obligationes & instrumenta, quibus tam David quam alii Magnates Wallensium Domino Regi Henrico tertio tenentur obligati. Several Charters made to the King by the Princes and Nobles of Northwallie, ratified by their Oathes, are there recited at large, not pertinent to my Theme; only I cannot pretermitt these following ratifications of them by Oath, and voluntary submissions to Ecclesiastical censures of Excommunication and Interdict, by the Bishops therein nominated, in case of violation, of which the Pope took no notice.

Et ad omnia firmiter tenenda, ego David juravi super crucem sanctam, quam coram me feci deportari. Venerabilis etiam pater Howelus Episcopus de Sancto Asaph, ad petitionem meam, firmiter promisit, in ordine suo, quod hæc omnia prædicta faceret, & procurabit modis quibus poterit observari. Edeneret siquidem Wagan, per præceptum meum, illud idem juravit super crucem prædictam. Actum ut supra. Præterea concessi pro me & hæredibus meis, quod si ego vel hæredes mei contra pacem Domini Regis vel hæredum suorum, vel contra articulos prædictos, aliquid attentaverimus, tota hæreditas nostra Domino Regi & hæredibus suis incuratur. De quibus omnibus & singulis, supposui me et hæredes meos jurisdictioni Archiepiscopi Cantuariensis, & Episcoporum Loniensis, Herefordensis, & Covenrentensis, qui pro tempore præerunt, quod omnes, vel unus eorum, quem Dominus Rex ad hoc elegerit, possit nos excommunicare, et terram nostram interdiceret, si aliquid contra prædicta attentaverimus. Et procuravi, quod Episcopi de Bangor, & de S. Asaph, Chartas suas Domino Regi tacerent, per quas concesserunt, quod omnes sententias tam Excommunicationis, quam Interdicti, a prædictis Archiepiscopo, Episcopo, vel aliquo eorum, ferendas, ad mandatum eorum exequerentur. A clause then usual in Leagues and Charters between Princes.

Hæc idcirco dixerim, (writes Matthew Paris) ut pateat mundo quot, quantis, & qualibus obligationibus sese Domino Regi, tam David nepos ejus, proditor, & fratricida, & omnes alii Nobiles, moribus tamen ignobiles, de Wallia, manciparunt. Qui jam rupto consanguinitatis foedere, fidei constantia, instrumentorum tenore, nimis impudenter contra Dominum suum recalcitrantes; bellum moverunt, & ipsum non mediocriter in Marchia damnificaverunt. Insuper dictus David, volens collum suum de sub jugo fidelitatis Domini Regis excutere, ad alas Papalis protectionis confugit, (the common sanctuary of refuge to all perfidious Rebels against their lawfull Sovereigns) spondens, se tenere Wallie partem, eum contingentem, ab ipso Papa. Cui favit Papa. Et quod stupenda admiratione dignum arbitror, contra Regem rebelianti sinum aperuit refugii et protectionis: nisi se forte contigisset, ut suppressione veritatis, & suggestione falsitatis, illud fuerit impetratum. Et quis Christianorum ignorat, Principem Wallie Regis Angliæ esse Vassillum?

Soon after, * the King summoning a Parliament of the Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, Priors, Earls, Barons, and Nobles at Westminster, desired an Ayde of money from them against the Scots, promising to confirm the Great Charter of their Liberties: The Nobles peremptorily persisting in their resolution, not to grant him any Ayde; thereupon, Tunc Dominus Rex demum sperans saltem Clerum ad desiderium suum inclinare, convocatis Prælatibus, porrexit illis Papales apices in publico, sub hac forma; requiring them to grant the King an Ayde for the reasons therein mentioned, ab ipſius beneplacitis declinaret, quinimo quæ ipſi grata nobis et placita, ſollicitudine prompta peregit: non eſt mirum, imo conde- decens eſt, et condignum, ſi ipſius precibus facilius annuamus, ſi honoris ipſius et ſtatus quæramus gloriâ et augmentum: ſi ad quod affectus ipſius dirigatur, veſtræ liberalitatis effectus conſonet in ſe ipſum. Sane cum ſdem Rex, ſicut ex parte ipſius fuit propoſi- tum coram nobis, pro quibuſdam negotiis magnis et arduis, quæ ſibi imminabant, adeo ſubiecit gravia, et ſubire adhuc ipſum oporteat onera expenſarum, quod veſtræ ſubventionis indigere ſubſidio dignoſ- catur, univerſitatem veſtram rogamus, monemus, et hortamur attente, per Apoſtolica ſcripta mandantes, quatenus attendentes prudenter, quod vos decet et convenit, eo libentius ipſius Regis ſupportare labores, et gravamina relebare, quo minus poſſet ſine veſtri ſtatus et honoris diſpendio alicuius ſacturæ vel incommodi- tatis onere prægravari, ſibi de veſtris redditibus honeſtum ſubſidi- um liberaliter conferatis. Ut idem expenſarum ſuarum, veſtræ ſubventionis propitiante dextera, perferre levius onus poſſit, voſque provide vobis ejuſdem Regis, cujus honorum eſtis participes, honoris & gloriæ non expertes favorem & gratiam, quibus proculdubio indigetis, valeatis futuris temporibus vendicare, & nos, qui haberi volumus ex hoc ad veſtra & veſtrarum Eccleſiarum commoda promp- tiores, devotionis veſtræ promptitudinem non immerito commendemus. Datum Jan- na 4. Cal. Auguſti, Pontificatus noſtri anno ſecundo.

Similiter autem ſcripſit ſingulis Prælatiſ ſub eadem forma, non ſine multæ pecuniæ effuſione, Papæ tranſmiſſæ, pro labore ſcripturæ.

Et cum per commune conſilium, a quo noluerunt recedere, proviſum eſſet, ut reſponſio ad literas Papales pro Rege deprecatorias, prorogaretur uſque ad termi- num prænotatum, recedentibus Magnatibus, ultimo die Concilii, quod ſex diebus duraverat, uſque ad noctem, ſollicitavit ſingulos Prælatos deprecans, ut in Craſtino iterum convenirent. Quibus convenientibus, in infirmaria, ſcilicet in Capella Johannis Evangeliftæ, miſit dominus Rex Comitem Legia S. P. de Sabaudia, Radul- phum filium Nicholai, Willielmum de Cantelupo, Johannem filium G. qui expoſuerunt eis ex parte Domini Regis ejus deſiderium, petentes diligenter, ut obtemperetur Regiæ voluntati, ſecundem petitionem ſaltem Papalem, ſi Regia poſtponere- tur. Expoſuerunt etiam Regis inſtantem egeſtatem, & imminetia Regis & reg- ni pericula, videlicet motum in Gasconia, inſolentiam quoque Wallenſium reprimendam. Petierunt ergo Prælati tranſcriptum Epistolæ Papalis, ut ſibi ſuper hoc conſulerent. Et dum talia agerentur, ante expectatum ecce Rex ſolus feſtinanter, & ex abrupto advenit, proteſtans cum ſuo ſolito juſ-jurando, quod honor eorum, honor ſuus foret, & e converſo. Et ſuper prædictis preces exaggeravit. Reſpon- dentibus igitur illis, quod ſuper hoc diligentem haberent tractatum, Rex receſſit perturbatus. Et cum ſuper hoc propenſius tractarent, volentibus aliquibus ut mi- tius Regi reſponderent ipſi Prælati, quam Laici; reſpondit Lincolniensis, profer- ens hanc Theologiæ authoritatem: Non dividamur a conſilio communi; Quia ſcrip- tum eſt, Si dividamur, ſtatim omnes moriemur. Et ſic prorogata ſunt omnia uſ- que ad terminum memoratum, tam ſuper petitione domini Papæ pro Rege, quam ipſius Domini Regis. Perpendens autem Dominus Rex, quod omnes ſimul non po- tuit enervare, recurrens ad verſutias Romanorum, attemptare propoſuit ſingulos ſingulatim, ſicut alias fecerat, ſimulatis ſermocinationibus circumventos ſibi inclina- re. Rediensque petiit, ut ſaltem adhuc per unum diem moram protelarent. Quod quidem Prælatorum caute attendentes, noluerunt illaqueari. Sed ſummo mane re- cedentes, retia quibus aliquando involvebantur, prudenter evaſerunt. Et murmur- ante Rege, ſolutum eſt concilium.

The Biſhops and Nobles before their departure, agreed on theſe Propoſitions to be preſented and aſſented unto by the King, before they would grant him any Ayde,

De libertatibus alia vice emptis, concessis, & per Chartam Domini Regis confirmatis, quod de cetero observentur. Ad cuius rei maiorem securitatem, fiat nova Charta, quæ super hæc specialem faciat mentionem. Et ab omnibus Prælati solenniter excommunicentur, qui scienter & prudenter libertates a Domino Rege concessas vel impugnare, vel impedire, quo minus observentur, præsumpserint; & reformetur status eorum qui post ultimam concessionem in libertatibus suis læsionem incurrerunt. Et quia propter virtutem sacramenti præstiti, nec non propter timorem sententiæ latæ a sancto viro Edmundo, quod ea vice promissum fuerat hætenus non existit observatum, ne huiusmodi periculum de cetero eveniat, & sit fiant novissima, pejora Prioribus, de communi assensu quatuor eligantur, Potentes & Nobiles de discretioribus totius Regni, qui sint de consilio Domini Regis, & iurati, quod negotia Domini Regis & Regni fideliter tractabunt, & sine acceptione personarum omnibus Justitiam exhibebunt. Hi sequentur Dominum Regem; & si non omnes, semper duo eorum ad minus præsentis sint, ut audiant querimonias singulorum, & patientibus injuriam celeriter possint subvenire. Per visum & testimonium eorum tractetur Thesaurus Domini Regis, & pecunia ab universis specialiter concessa, & ad commodum Domini Regis & Regni expendatur, secundum quod melius & utilius viderint expedire. Et erunt libertatum conservatores. Et sicut de omnium assensu eliguntur, sic etiam sine communi assensu non poterit aliquis eorum amoveri, aut suo officio privari. Uno eorum sublato de medio, de assensu & electione trium, loco illius alius substituatur infra duos menses, Nec sine ipsis, sed cum necesse fuerit, & ad eorum instantiam, iterum convenienti universi. Brevia contra Regem & consuetudinem Regni impetrata, penitus revocentur & aboleantur. Memorandum quoque, de sententia ferenda in contradictores. Item, de obligatione sacramenti in invicem. Item, de itinere Justitiariorum. Justitarius & Cancellarius ab omnibus eligantur. Et quia frequenter debent esse cum Domino Rege, poterunt esse de numero conservatorum. Et si aliqua interveniente occasione, Dominus Rex abstulerit sigillum suum a Cancellario, quicquid fuerit interim sigillarum, irritum habeatur & inane. Deinde Cancellarij fiat restitutio. Nullus substituatur Cancellarius, vel Justitarius, nisi solummodo per solennem & universalem omnium convocationem, & liberum assensum. Duo Justitarii eligantur in Banco. Duo itidem Barones in Scaccario constituantur. Unus quoque ad minus Justitarius Judeorum deputetur. Hac vice autem per communem, universalem, liberamque omnium electionem, fiant & constituantur omnes Officarii prædicti: ut quemadmodum omnium negotia sint tractaturi, sic etiam in eorum electione concurrat assensus singulorum. Et postmodum, cum necesse fuerit alius loco alicujus ipsorum prædictorum substitui aut subrogari, per provisionem ac auctoritatem quatuor illorum Consiliariorum prædictorum, fiat illa substitutio aut subrogatio. Hætenus suspecti, aut minus necessarii, a latere Domini Regis amoveantur.

Provisio magnatum consensu Regis facta:

These were the particulars the Bishops and Nobles projected, and made no doubt to effect, had not the unseasonable motion of Martin the Popes Instrument interrupted their design for the present, as the Historians thus relate with much grief.

Et dum huiusmodi negotia utilia nimis Reipublicæ, in spatio trium hebdomadarum diligenter pertractassent Magnates, hostis humani generis, pacis perturbator, & schismatum suscitator Diabolus, hæc omnia per Papalem avaritiam infelicititer impedivit. Credens enim Dominus Papa, quod flexibiles Angli colla sua jam dictæ contributioni, juxta consuetudinem suam subdidissent, tum propter Regis aviditatem, tum propter suæ petitionis instantiam, misit a latere suo quendam clericum suum magistrum Martinum, quem propter improbam rapacitatem suam multi magistrum Martinum appellarunt, habentem novam et inauditam potestatem; videlicet ampliozem, quam unquam meminimus aliquem habuisse. Manus enim extendit ad contributionem exigendam: Provisiones secundum mentis suæ impetum, ratione relegata, ad opus ignotum faciendas: redditus violenter extortos, consanguineis Domini Papæ conferendos, auctoritate Papali truculenter armatus, cujus

novas Chartas, secundum desiderium suum, et secundum repentini casus emergentis negotium, singulis diebus ostendit. Unde fuerunt qui dicerent, ipsum habere multas schedulas non scriptas, tamen bullatas, ut in eis quicquid ei placeret, scriberet: quod absit. Missus est igitur iste Legatus sophisticus ad Regem primo, supplicans ei, ut et ipse vicem reddens Domino Papæ, (who by his precedent Bull had charged the Prelates and Clergy of England to grant the King an Ayde, on purpose to engage the King to consent to the ayde now demanded from them for himself in the first place, before the Kings supply) diligenter mideret, ut Prælati Angliæ ad contributionem Domino Papæ faciendam, generaliter consentirent: ad minus, ad compromissionem, et festinam solutionem decem millium marcarum. Cui Respondit Rex: Quod Magnates sui, tam Prælati & Clerici, & tam Comites quam Barones, & Milites, tam frequenter bonis suis variis argumentis spoliatur, quod jam sibi vix sufficiunt: nec mihi Regi suo, nec Papæ volunt vel valent contribuere. Veruntamen mihi ipsi humiliato, & suæ voluntati inclinato, jam modestius respondentes, iuramentum iuxta suas facultates promiserunt. Quod cum audisset Magister Martinus, dejecto vultu recessit, nullam de Regis adiutorio spem reportans. Veruntamen convocatis Prælati, apices Apostolicos ostendit sub hac forma, singulatimque primo Archiepiscopis, & Episcopis, & postea Abbatibus exemptis, & non exemptis.

INNOCENTIUS Episcopus, servus servorum Dei, &c. Abbatibus, eorumque Conventibus, exemptis, & non exemptis, in Canuariensi Diocesi constitutis, salutem & Apostolicam benedictionem. Illam de vestrae sinceritatis affectibus spem gerimus & fiduciam obtemus, ut quoties sedi Apostolicæ matri vestrae necessitatis articulus imminet, ad vos, tanquam dilectos ejus filios et devotos, ac pro ipsius oneribus relebandis semper paratos et promptos, incunctanter cum omni fiducia recurrere valeamus. Cum igitur sedes ipsa Apostolica prædicta, per ea quæ piæ memoriæ Gregorii Papæ, prædecessoris nostri Authoritate in Angliā aliisque Regnis Populi Christiani, pro ejusdem sedis subsidio sunt collata & collecta, non adhuc a debitorum suorum, quæ pro catholicæ fidei, Ecclesiasticæ libertatis, & patrimonii sui defensione (or rather to maintain his unjust Wars, and Traiterous designs against his Sovereign Lord the Emperor) contraxerat, onere valeat relevari, ad vestrae devotionis effectum, necessitate cogente, fiducialiter recurrentes, universitatem vestram, de consilio fratrum nostrorum rogamus, attentius monemus per Apostolica scripta præcipiendo mandantes, et mandando præcipientes, quatenus præscriptæ necessitatis & oneris instantia, qua Romana Ecclesia, mater vestra spiritualis graviter perurgetur, affligitur, & pene opprimitur, affectione pensantes, ut convenit, filiali, & compassionem super hoc habentes debitam erga ipsam, nobis & sibi, pro solutione debitorum illorum prædictorum, in ea subvenire curetis pecuniæ quantitate, et summa, qualem et quantam dilectus filius noster Magister Martinus, Camerae nostræ Clericus, & lator præsentium, vobis ex parte nostra duxerit declarandam, exprimendamque. Eamque ipsam pecuniam, per vos collatam, dicto Magistro Martino, aut ipsius nunciis, infra terminum, quem idem vobis præfiget, assignetis; Preces nostras (or rather insolent Papal Commands) taliter impleturi, quod nos devotionem vestram merito commendare possimus, & super hoc aliter procedere non cogamur. Datum Lutetani, septimo Idus Jan. Pontificatus nostri anno primo.

Cum autem hæc Londini prolata, diligenter a Prælati omnibus, præcipue tamen ab Abbatibus essent intellecta, noluerunt Abbates soli respondere, sed adjuncti aliis, quia eodem modo scriptum fuit eis, studiose super his contractaverunt. Conquerentesque ad invicem, dixerunt: In arcto constitutus Rex Dominus & Patronus noster, & multarum Ecclesiarum nostrarum fundator & instaurator, thesauris destitutus, rogat auxilium ad defensionem & munimen Regni, id est Reipublicæ, & hoc idem Dominus Papa postulat instanter pro ipso Rege: Ecce duplex petitio, utrobique valida & efficax. Supervenit autem alia Papalis non expectata postulatio.

stulatio Prima quia duplex præponatur, & est favore dignior. Et Regis enim liberalitate aliquam expectamus retributionem: ex Papa vero, nullam. Hinc tamen impetitur, illinc perurgemur: hinc premimur, illinc coarctamur, & quasi inter incudem & malleum conterimur; & velut inter duas molas exagitamur.

Et dum talia, non sine cordium cruentatorum amara sollicitudine, diversimode rebolderentur, ad omnium Magnatum notitiam omnia pervenerunt. Perstrepsit murmur in populo, et quid agendum ignorantes, omnes ad Prælatos accesserunt, ut uno per omnia consilio uterentur, quia hoc negotium generalem statum regni continebat. Et ecce Magister Walterus de Oera, & quidam alii solennes nuntii Domini Imperatoris, Londinum advenientes ad Concilium, Epistolam Imperialem in medium protulerunt. Et statim, Magistro Martino multum murmurante, & inde grunniente, perlecta est in præsentia Domini Regis & totius Concilii. In qua Epistola se excusabat Dominus Imperator, de contumacia, super qua reddiderat eum Dominus Papa infamem, asserens, se velle humiliter iustitiæ parere, & mandatis Ecclesiæ stare & satisfacere. Cui etiam perhibebant testimonium Dominus Imperator Constantinopolitanus, & Dominus Comes Tholosanus, per literas suas patentes ibidem in propatulo demonstratas. Iustificans etiam se Dominus Imperator Fredericus in tenore ejusdem chartæ, & per nuncios itidem offerentes, protestatus est, quod Dominus Papa proterve exigebat se seisciri civitatibus & castris & terris quibusdam, de quibus non adhuc constat, si pertineant ad Imperium vel Ecclesiam; & incarceratos quosdam, quos tenebat quasi suos seductores, liberari, antequam idem Imperator absolveretur. Timens igitur, ut ait, secreti, et Papalibus laqueis alligari, supposuit se dispositioni & censuræ Regum Francorum & Anglorum, ac Barnagii Regnorum eorundem. Nec sic, ut ait, a Domino Papa exaudiri, nec appendi potuit ejusdem tam justa humilitas. Et super hoc conquestus est graviter universis. In calce igitur sermonis in charta conscripti, inculcans addit Dominus Imperator Fredericus, cum quadam etiam comminatione adjuncta, quod omnia transmissa in auxilium Domini Papæ, fuerint addita Imperiali thesauro. Unde modis omnibus quibus potuit, supplicabat, ne Anglici in suum detrimentum Papæ æmulo suo aliquid contribuerent. Addidit etiam, quod si Rex Angliæ suis obtemperaret consiliis, Regnum Angliæ a tributo, quo injuste Papa Innocentius tertius illud ligaverat, potenter ac iuste liberaret, necnon et ab aliis Papalibus gravaminibus, quibus diatim opprimitur, illud exsperet. Per quod Dominus Imperator multorum corda sibi conciliavit. Insertum etiam fuit chartæ memoratæ, quod si Rex huic mandato non obtemperaret, quoscunque de suis in ditione sua posset reperire, gravi puniret ultione. A Letter, advice, resolution worthy a Magnificent Christian Emperor.

Convenientibus autem iterum Magnatibus cum Prælati generaliter Londini, scilicet a die Purificationis Beatæ Mariæ in tres septimanas, Concilium super prædictis negotiis & tractatum habuerunt diligentem. Assuerunt etiam illic quorundam absentium procuratores, videlicet Cantuariensis & Eboracensis Archiepiscoporum, triumque sedium Episcopaliū tunc vacantium, ex parte Capitulorum, Coventrensis, Cicestrensis, & Coventr. Et renovata fuit petitio Domini Regis, super auxilio pecuniari sibi faciendo. Circa quod de die in diem convenit eos Dominus Rex, tum in propria persona, tum per internuncios solennes, per quos promisit se libertates quas juraverat in Coronatione sua, super quibus Chartam consecerat, integerrime servaturum. Ad quarum etiam tuitionem, rogavit, ut singuli Episcopi in Diocæsibus suis, sententiam ferrent in ipsum, et omnes, qui contra memoratas libertates venirent in aliquo articulo. Tandem unanimiter, cum nullo modo ad aliam formam possent flecti, concesserunt Domino Regi, ad maritandam filiam suam primogenitam, de omnibus, qui tenent de Domino Rege in capite, de singulis scutis viginti solidos solidos solvendos, scilicet medietatem ad Pascha, et aliam ad festum Sancti Michaelis. Et cum relatum esset Domino Regi, ut ad memoriam tam hæc quam præterita reduceret, recordatum est ei, quoties similia a suis fidelibus, quos fovere debuit, non depauperare truculenter, & sine solutione promissorum, eisdem extorserat. Post captionem Bedeſfordiæ, statim concessum est ei Carucagium de tota Anglia, scilicet de qualibet Caruca duo solidi. In anno sequenti, quintadecima omnium mobilium. Iterum, iturus in Britanniam, cepit non modicam pecuniam a Prælatiſ etiam & viris religioſis, Burgenſibus, & Judæis. Post reditum suum de Britannia, cepit Scutagium, scilicet de Scuto tres Marcas. Item, postea concessa fuit quadragesima pars omnium mobilium. Item, postea trigesima pars omnium mobilium. Item, quando maritavit sororem suam Isabellam Domino Imperatori Fredrico, cepit Dominus Rex ad maritagium suum Carucagium, videlicet de qualibet Caruca duas Marcas. In nativitate autem filii sui, in magnum dedecus sui, multa munera, quæ ad magnam summam pecuniæ ascenderunt, violenter & impudenter extorsit. Item, iturus in Gasconiam, cepit a Prælatiſ, viris religioſis, Burgenſibus, & Judæis, & a quibuscunque potuit aliquid abradere, pecuniam multam, imo pene infinitam. Rediens autem a Gasconia inglorius & seductus, jussit ut Magnates & Prælati ipsi occurrerent etiam usque ad mare, qui ibidem illum diu expectantes frustra, tandem ipsum in muneribus multis & impreciablebus exceperunt. Similiter & Cives Londinenses, & alii. Et qui munera nobilia compertus est non contulisse; aliquo argumento redargutus, damnificabatur. Qualiter autem pro hæc præſenti contributione & omnibus aliis, promissa & pacta adimplebit Rex, noverit ille qui nihil ignorat.

Responsum Prælatorum super petitionibus
tini,

Et cum novisset Magister Martinus Nuncius Domini Papæ, quod Magnates Angliæ Regiæ contributioni generaliter consensissent, inhiabat avidius ad negotium suum, ad quod missus fuerat, consummandum, quod adhuc suspensum expectabatur, videlicet de adjutorio Domino Papæ pecuniari faciendo. Congregatis igitur omnibus, ait, Veri fratres, ac Domini Romanæ Ecclesiæ filii dilectissimi, in quorum sinu reposita est tota spes Papalis, quid respondetis & vos Patri vestro spirituali super negotiis Romanæ Ecclesiæ matri vestra, ut per Epistolam Papalem certificamini, sic oppressa & Domino vestro temporali obedientes obtemperastis, videlicet Domino Regi; Adit ut Patri vestro spirituali, scilicet Domino Papæ, in vobis confidenti, et pro statu universalis Ecclesiæ contra ejus rebelles dimicanti, manum non porrigatis auxiliatricem. At Prælati prudenter considerantes sermones ipsius mellitos & mollitos, favo dulciores, & oleo molliores, cum tamen essent in fine felle amariores, & jaculis pungentiores, non sunt incurbati. Sed præhabita deliberatione, ponentes verbum commune in ore Domini Decani Sancti Pauli Londinensis, viri discreti & facundi, hæc ipsi Magistro Martino prædicto retulerunt. *Domine, respondet tibi universitas Prælatorum Angliæ, jam de auxilio pecuniari Domino Papa contribuendo, quam de redditibus, quos à singulis Ecclesiis sibi per te Dominus Papa postulat exhiberi. Illa quæ proponis, Dominum Regem Angliæ specialiter tangunt, generaliter autem omnes Ecclesiarum patronos. Tangunt etiam Archiepiscopos, et eorum Suffraganeos, necnon universos Angliæ Prælatos. Cum ergo Dominus Rex propter infirmitatem, Archiepiscopi, Episcopi, & alii Ecclesiarum Prælati, sint absentes, in eorum absentia, respondere non possumus, nec debemus: quia si id facere præsumeremus, in præjudicium omnium absentium fieret Prælatorum. Et illis dictis, venit Johannes Mareſcallus, & alii Nuncii Domini Regis, ad omnes Prælatos, qui de Rege Baronias tenebant in Capite, districte inhibentes, ne Laicum feudum suum Romanæ Ecclesiæ obligarent, unde a servitio sibi debito privaretur. Hæc cum Magister Martinus intellexisset, statuit his qui aderant diem in medio Quadragesimæ, dum ipse procuraret Domini Regis adventum & absentium Prælatorum, ut negotium tunc sortiretur effectum. Sed illi absque Regis et aliorum, qui absentes erant, assensu, præfixum diem admittere noluerunt: unde singuli ad propria sunt reverti. Veruntamen autoritate novarum Literarum, quibus ad placitum abandabat Magister Martinus, iterum aliqui Prælatorum convocati, memoratæ contributioni noluerunt consentire, sed jam efficacius resistunt,* dicentes per prædictum responfalem: In primis, paupertas Regni Angliæ, cui undique imminent bellorum pericula, non permittit huic exactioni consentire, quâ toto Regno communiatur. Prætextu cuius paupertatis plures adhuc Ecclesiæ aris alieni pondere, & præcipue Monasteria, prægravantur. Item, cum Legato Cardinali exigente fieret contributio nuper propter onus aris alieni, quo dicebatur Ecclesiæ Romana prægravari, in magnum gravamen nostrum, nec tamen in utilitatem Ecclesiæ sit conversa, fortius nunc simplici nuncio exigente, timeri potest, ne consimile vel deterius contingat ista vice. Item, si nunc iterum fieret, timeri posset non immerito, ne ad consequentiam traheretur, cum binus actus inducat consuetudinem. Item, cum in brevi celebraturus Concilium credatur Dominus Pape, & certe jam dicatur, ubi indubitanter Prælati omnes et singuli gravabuntur, tum in magnis itineribus, et sumptuosis laboribus, tum etiam in visitationibus, gratis vel non gratis, Domino Papæ, aut quibusdam aliis, quos nunquam munera spernere vidimus, faciendis, contingeret, quod per afflictiones afflictis additas, pauci invenirentur, qui possent moles huiusmodi importabiles ferre aut sustinere. Item, cum sancta mater nostra Ecclesiæ Romana ere alieno onerata plurimum affligatur, iustum est & honestum, ut cum pondus huiusmodi sustinere non pravealeat, sibi ab universis devotis suis filiis, qui omnes in brevi crebuntur in Concilio convenire, fiat subventio. Et quod principaliter tangit, ab omnibus comprobetur, ut sic melius Ecclesiæ relevetur, & singuli minus prægraventur. Cum autem hæc audisset contra exactionem Ecclesiarum & Præbendarum, & auxilii pecuniæ tam efficaciter & constanter inferri, dicitur Magister Martinus oblatrasse comminando. Quod Prælati patienter sufferentes, soluto Concilio recesserunt: In calce Sermonis addentes, Quod Imperiales minas, si contribuissent amplius, formidabant. Martinus thus defrauded of his expected Ayde, betakes himself to his Rapines: Et tunc autem insidiando, manus avidas redditibus vacantibus latentius injectit: Utpote Sarisburiensis Ecclesiæ Thesaurariæ, quam nepotulo Domini Papæ conferri procuravit, & aliis plurimis, de quarum collationibus et ablationibus, ob reverentiam Ecclesiæ Romanæ honestius est omittere, quam propter scandalum enarrare.

Eodem vero anno, tertio Idus Septembris, consecratus est in Episcopum Batoniensem Magister Rogerus, Sarisburiensis Ecclesiæ Præcentor, vir eleganter moribus & scientia Theologiæ præditus, apud Radinum. Cujus redditibus jam vacantibus, Magister Martinus, Domini Papæ Clericus, Papali aultus auctoritate, avidas manus injectit, cuidam Papæ consanguineo conferendis.

Eodemque tempore, factæ sunt inauditæ extorsiones pecuniæ et reddituum, per Magistrum Martinum, Londini commorantem, scilicet apud Novum Templum. Per modum enim Legati se gerens, licet Legati vestibus, pro privilegio Regis sophistice salvando, non insignitus, passim significavit imperiose illi Abbati, vel illi Priori, ut sibi darent et mitterent munera pretiosa, Palefidos desiderabiles, et in esculentis et poculentis sumptuosa renia, et vestimenta adornatiba. Quod cum fecissent, ipse Martinus remisit eis quæ ei missa fuerunt, asserens ea esse insufficientia, & præcepit eis, ut meliora sibi sub pœna suspensionis et anathematis transmitterent. Suspendit autem omnes a collatione beneficiorum triginta Marcas valentium et supra, donec suæ satisfactum foret cupiditati. Unde miseri Anglici acerbiorem quam olim subierunt filii Israel, se doluerunt in Agypto Bitamica tolerare servitutem.

Hereupon the King issued this memorable Writ of Prohibition to this usurping, oppressing Roman Harpy, to stop his invasions upon the Rights of Patrons by Papal Provisions, which neither he nor his Nobles would or could any longer endure, and whereof they would complain to the Pope and Cardinals, to put a bridle to him: Wherein the King amongst other things informs him, That no Legates ought to come into the Realm, unless they were specially desired from the See Apostolick, by the King himself.

REX Magistro Martino, Clerico Cameræ Domini * Regis & ejus Nuncio, salu-
tem. Non capit in vobis Sermo noster, nec recepit impressionem Sermonis nomollificabimus, & de necessitate virtutem vos facere faciemus, quoniam subver-nec volumus sustinere. Ad memoriam quidem, si vultis, bene poteritis revocare, qualiter pluries vobis scripsimus satis recentem, quod nullo modo sustinebitis Ab-

Porro, non credimus vos latere, & si placet, vobis præsentibus innotescat; Quod Legati in Regnum nostrum non veniunt, nisi per Nos a sede Apo-

Discretionem igitur vestram attente rogamus precibus inculcatis,

still in his rapines and Exactions; the King at last protecting and conniving at him, for the * Ayde the Pope had enjoined the Clergy to grant him. Whereupon, Instabat interim vigilantissime & incessanter, sæpeditus ille Magister Martinus Domini Papæ Clericus, redditibus, quomodolibet ad opus Papæ, Papalibusque consanguineis congregandis ac conferendis. De cujus proterba et injuriosa rapacitate honestius et tutius esset, ob reverentiam Sanctæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ, arbitror silere, quam aures offendere audientium, et men-

Sarisburiensis, cum aliis multis, violenter, ut prædictum est, sed præcipue a viris religiosis, rapiuntur; Procuratibus, et munera exiguntur sibi festinanter transmittenda, et contradicentes graviter puniuntur. Rex quoque parti suæ favit, eundem contra omnes protegens, forte propter retributionem, & facta est Regni condicio miserrima.

Ipso quoque tempore, obiit Magister Elyas de Derham, Canonicus Sarisburiensis.
Cujus redditibus vacantibus, manus rapaces injecit Magister Martinus, ad opus Papæ.

After which he seized upon the Temporalities of some Bishopricks then voyd, be-sorem in Castro Doveræ incarcerationi secit. Quod cum audisset Magi-

Rex se auctorem negasset, (for fear of displeasing the Pope, though he issued out Writs

Moreover the King at the earnest request and complaint of his Nobles, against his own private inclination, issued forth this memorable Prohibition to the Abbot of St. Edmunds, not to give or pay any Subsidy to Martin the Popes Agent, or to suffer him to conferre any Benefices on any person without his privity, till the Noblemens Proctors returned from the Council of Lyons, where they intended to Appeal against these innovations and oppressions.

* Provisions.

The

The Kingdom being thus generally grieved by this shamelesse oppressor, thereupon the Nobles meeting secretly at a Torney, against the Kings Prohibition, consulted how to send him packing out of the Realm, and sent a terrible menacing message to him, within four dayes to depart the Realm, under pain of being cut in pieces; whereupon he repairing to the King, who gave him a sharp answer, demanded a safe conduct from him, to guard him from the fury of the Nobles and people to the Sea-side, and thereupon departed the Realm in a terrible panick fear; thus related by Matthew Paris.

His diebus, videlicet in crastino Apostolorum Petri & Pauli, postquam quædam Torneamenta plena occulto odio per Dominum Regem, propter imminens periculum, prohibebantur, apud Luitonam & Dunestapliam congregatorum, missus est Fulco filius Warini ex parte universitatis Regni, ad Magistrum Martinum, Papæ Clericum sæpeditum, Londoni commorantem, apud Novum Templum. Qui torvo vultu respiciens, eum sic est affatus: Recedens statim, exi ab Anglia. Cui Magister Martinus: Quis mihi hoc mandat? An tu ex te ipso hoc habes? Cui Fulco: *Hoc tibi per me mandat armatorum, qui nuper apud Luitonam & Dunestapliam apparuerunt, universitas. Et si sano credis consilio, ne moreris usque interitum diem, ne tu et omnes tui in frustra concideris. Recedente igitur Fulcone irato nimis, & minas minus cum terribili juramento cumulante & exaggerante, Magister Martinus trepidus & anhelus, statim Dominum Regem adiit, & dixit ei: Domine Rex, talia nunc audiui: sit ne hoc autoritate vestra, vel vestrorum temeritate? Cui Dominus Rex: Non me huiusmodi rei authorem profiteor; Sed Barones mei hic se continent, quin insurgant in me, eo quod tuas in Regno meo, et eorundem, quæ jus et modum excedunt, depredationes et injurias hactenus toleravi. Quorum etiam furorem hic compescui, quin et in te irruentes, te membratim non dilacerarunt. Cui Magister Martinus humili & trepida voce ait: Peto igitur, Domine Rex serenissime, ob Dei amorem, & Domini Papæ reverentiam, liberum exitum, & tutum à terra vestra cum conductu vestro recessum. Cui Dominus Rex, commotus & iratus nimis, ait: Diabolus te ad inferos inducat et perducatur. Dumque circumfidentes vix Regem mitigassent, iussit Rex cuidam Marefcallo Palatii sui, nomine Roberto Norisco, ut ipsum Magistrum Martinum usque ad mare salvo perduceret. Qui cum statim iter aggrediens, ducem suum Robertum dictus Magister Martinus juncto latere sequeretur, & quandoque, ut contingit, equitantes aliquos conspiceret vel transiuntes, ipsum timor & irem adeo contraxerunt, ut si terra hiaret, sub cespite latitaret. (O the strange fear and terrour that guilt infused into this impudent Papal oppressor, though armed with the Popes own Bulls!) Et cum procedentes, ad lymbum cujusdam sylvæ venalis pervenissent, quam electus Cantuariensis venalem exposuerat, ubi compatriotæ ad emenda & eligenda robora convenerant, conspiciens eos Martinus, pavidus ait, duci suo Roberto, Hu heu, quod timebam, accidit mihi. Ecce nos invasuri. O avice & Domine mi Roberte, habesne filium, nepotem, consanguineum, vel amicum, quem cupis in redditu Ecclesiastico promoveri? Præsto sum ut procurem omnia tibi postulata. Ecce insidiantes anima mea: protege me sub umbra alarum tuarum. Cui respondit Robertus: Abfit ut aliquis meorum talem habeat in Ecclesiasticum beneficium per me ingressum. Nescio qui sunt illi. Veruntamen ad ipsos vado quantocius, te me hic expectante, ut monstrato Regis autentico, si malevoli sint, eorum reprimam temeritatem. Qui ad ipsos veniens, cum rei veritatem cognovisset, cito rediens ad Martinum, ut illuderet ei, ait: Vix eorum compescui furorem, quin te frustatim detruncassent. Sed nunc latenter & caute ambulemus, ne deterius quid tibi contingat: & navigans irrediturus, si sapi, recedas, ne in laqueos quarentinum animam tuam infeliciter precipiteris. Ex tunc igitur Magister Martinus equinis lateribus non parcendo, moram ducis redarguens, ad mare properabat. Et ad Doveram perveniens, die Sancti Suitheni navem ascendens, multos in recessu suo latificavit. Sed ne virulentæ pestis efficacitæ penitus cessaret, cuidam Magistro Philippo, auctoritatis sibi concessæ adhuc exequendi in extorsione reddituum, potestatem concessit, et sic post terga fœda reliquit vestigia. Hæc igitur dixerim, ut sciat quilibet, quam formidolosi sunt hi solum pecunia inhiantes, quos propria sauciât conscientia. There being nothing that so much encouraged the Popes Exactions, to proceed in their Rapines, as the sordid timidity and baseness of the English Prelates and Clergy, in not publickly resisting them with that* conrage and resolution as the Nobles and Commons then did, out of a generous publick spirit.

Mat. Westm. p.

Audiens autem Dominus Rex, multos de proterbitate dicti Magistri Martini graviter conquerendo murmurare, reclusus ad se, licet sero, coepit dolere, quod tantum tolerasset Romanos alienis bonis saginari, et ubi non seminaverunt tantum messis congregasse. Fecit igitur per singulos Comitatus Angliæ inquiri, summam reddituum Romanorum, et inventum est, quod ad tantundem pecuniæ ascendisset, quantum redditus ipsius, videlicet lx. Millia Marcarum puri redditus, exceptis aliis variis emolumentis. Admirans igitur Rex insatiabilem Romanæ Curie proterbitatem, misit ad ipsam Curiam procuratores suos, ut contradicerent de Tributo injuriose imposito, et ut coram Concilio querimoniam reponerent de oppressionibus, et injuriosis exactionibus, quas Dominus Papa quotidie non desinit in Angliâ exaggerare. Misitque Dominus Rex Fulconem filium Marini, ut diceret prædicto Magistro Martino, quod sibi caute præcavens, a terra sua cito fugeret. Non enim poterat furorem volentium irruere aliquatenus cohibere. Fulco igitur mandatum Regis exequens fideliter, ex parte universitatis Angliæ dixit eidem Magistro Martino, ut ante quartam diem sequentem nullatenus in Regno inveniretur, ne extunc in frustra concederetur. Magister igitur Martinus more Romanorum, qui fugantes fugiunt, et fugant fugientes, multum timens pelli suæ, accepto Domini Regis conductu, ab Angliâ ante tertium diem clanculo fugit repentinus.

Mat. Paris Hist.
Magister Martinus conqueritur Papæ.

Magister interim Martinus ad Dominum suum Papam cum pervenisset, & quæ præscripta sunt eidem plenius enarrasset, intendit Papa, et ira excanduit vehementi. Et recolens quod tam Rex Francorum, quam Arragonum, ingressum Regnorum suorum vetuissent ipsi postulanti, nec Rex Anglorum adventum suum in Angliâ acceptasset, imo potius ipsum excecando Nuncium suum et Clericum ab Angliâ probosc eiecisset, dixit in iracundia magna, voce susurra, oculos obliquando, & nares corrugando: Expedi ut componamus cum Principe vestro, ut hos Regulos conteramus recalcitrantes: contrito enim vel pacificato dracone, (meaning the Emperor) cito serpentuli conculcabitur. (A most insolent Speech of a proud Antichristian cholerick Pope.) Quod verbum in vulgus promulgatum, in multorum cordibus offendiculum indignationis generabit.

Mat. Westm.

INNOCENTIUS Episcopus, servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis Abbatibus de Habernonia, & de Kemere, Cisterciensis ordinis, Bangorum Diocesis, salutem & Apostolicam Benedictionem. Ex parte dilecti filii nostri, Nobilis viri David, Principis Northwallia, fuit propositum coram nobis, quod cum inter ipsum, quem parentes ejus in alumnum Romanæ Ecclesie donaverunt, & charissimum in Christo filium nostrum Regem Anglorum illustrem, bellum longo tempore perdurasset, tandem postquam fuit in Venerabilem fratrem nostrum Episcopum de Sancto Asaph, & collegas ipsius, de stando hinc inde eorum arbitrio super omnibus querelis, juramento a partibus præstito, concorditer, bonis viris mediantibus, compromissum. Idem Rex, non attendens, quod pendente illorum arbitrio, sibi super hoc aliquid attentare non licebat, in prædictum Principem ex insperato hostiliter irruit, ad præstandum quod super prædictis, de quibus compromissum fuerat, & juratum, ac aliis ipsius Regis, mandare per vim compulit, & metum, qui cadere poterat in constantem. Cum igitur ea quæ vi & metu hant, catere debeant robore firmitatis, (therefore King John's Charter of Resignation of his Crown and Kingdoms to Pope Innocent the 3d. * by force and fear, must be voyd by this his Papal resolution) discretioni vestræ per Apostolica scripta mandamus, quatenus inquisita super hoc diligentius veritate, si rem inveneritis ita esse, auctoritate nostra prædictum Principem ab observatione sic extorti juramenti penitus * absolventes, sententia, si qua occasione hujusmodi in ejus personam, vel terram, ab aliquo forsitan lata fuerit, juxta formam Ecclesie, sine difficultate qualibet, si cut iustum fuerit, relaxetis. Testes vero, &c. Datum Janua, septimo Calend. Augusti, Pontificatus nostri Anno secundo. Hujus igitur auctoritate muniti, vobis mandamus, quatenus in Vigilia Sanctæ Agnetis virginis, apud Keyru, in Ecclesia Guistefend, coram nobis compareatis, super contentis in autentico, dicto Principi responsuri, si vobis videritis expedire. Hæc cum ad audientiam Domini Regis, & suorum Magnatum pervenerunt, & cito post ad notitiam aliorum Principum fama referente pervolarunt, indignati vehementer, et Romanam avaritiam detestantes, ipsum Regem non attendere hujusmodi mandata Papalia tam injuriosa persuadebant, et ad hostile certamen animabant, ad reprimendam tam ingrati novam insolentiam, et ut ipsum David sine dilatione impeteret, accelerabant. (So little did the King or his Nobles value this Popes most insolent Bull, or his Delegates illegal summons.) Quod cum cognovisset Dominus Papa, conniventem hæc omnia dissimulabat: et conniventibus oculis dissimulando elabi permisit sub silentio, præmio tamen, quod acceperat ab ipso David, non restituto.

The King hereupon, instantibus Calendis Julii, omnibus Comitibus, Baronibus, Militibus, & aliis, qui ei servitium militare debebant, ut se convenienter in Walliam profecturum sequerentur, per Literas suas Regias stricteissime submonitis & convocatis, non valens, nec volens amplius subitis incursum & discursus Wallensium equanimiter tolerare, preparavit se, ut ad illorum terminos potenter expugnandos iter & vexilla dirigeret, milite stipatus copioso. Then marching with his forces to Gannok, they wasted Wales with fire and sword: Abbatiam de ordine Cisterciensi, Abercukunam nominatam, (whose Abbot was one of the Popes Delegates that summoned the King) omnibus bonis, etiam calicibus & libris irreverenter depradantes, officinas ejusdem combusserunt. And the the English invading them on the one hand, and Irish forces on the other, he destroyed these Welsh rebels ( notwithstanding the Popes absolution and protection ) exterminio irreftaurabili. Hybernenfes enim in adventu suo totam Englefiam, quæ est omnium Wallenfium quafi nutrix & refugium, vultaverant, & in recessu fi quid refiduum infuerat, in ore gladii trucidarunt, & in favillam redigerunt; ita quod omnia quafi incultam & vultam eremum five folitudinem relicta vifa funt. The King walted the other parts of Wales in like manner, and prohibited any victuals to be brought from England or Ireland to the Welsh. Wallenfes igitur infelicitiffimi, hyemali ingruente rigore, multiformi inedia, cum domiciliis & omni victualium genere diftutiti effent, nec in fper ulla melioris fortunæ vel conditionis erigerentur, cum omnes terræ fuæ jacerent incultæ, in femetipfis contabuerunt, fame, & frigore, & desperatione, tam mente quam corpore miserabiliter perituri languerunt. Not long after, Anno. 1246. circa initium Veris, quando folent promptius fe accingere præliaturi, ad belli neceffaria, David Princeps Northwallia, & nepos Regis innumeras animi amaritudines, post terræ fuæ destructionem, variasque cædes, & famis in medias hominum fuorum, quafi variis tribulationibus laceffitus, de hac valle morientium, ad vallem tranfit mortuorum; Walliam perturbatam, & miserabiliter relinquens defolatam. In cujus loco Wallenfes filium Griffini fibi in Principem elegerunt. Quod cum idem Griffinus audiffet, Regem, qui eum in finu misericordiæ receptaverat, & jam per multum temporis honorifice aluerat & exaltaverat, relinquens, more leporino ad latibula Wallenfium, saltu confugit repentino. Where I fhall leave him.

To return from the Wars and proceedings againft the Welsh Rebels excited by the Popes Bulls, I fhall relate fome Differences between the King, Deanes, Chapters and others, arifing about the Elections and confirmations of Bifhops, wherein the King was very induftrious to prefervè and regain his ancient eclipsed Royal prerogative therein, as they were ftudious to entrench upon it.

Tempore autem Dominicæ Nativitatis imminente, ( Anno 1241 ) elegerunt Canonici Londinenfes in Epifcopum & Pastorem animarum fuarum Magiftrum Fulconem, Decanum Eboracenſem, virum discretum & circumſpectum, moribus compoſitum & genere præclarum: contra tamen Regis voluntatem, qui pro Epifcopo Hertfordienſi, Magiftro ſcilicet Petro de Egueblanche, capitulum Sancti Pauli iſtantiſſime petierat, ut ipſum in Epifcopum poſtulerent. Magiftrum quoque Willielmum de Sanctæ Mariæ Eccleſia, virum laudabilem ipſo eodem tempore, ſcilicet Canonico ejusdem Eccleſiæ & Cancellarium in Decanum unanimiter ordinarunt. But by reaſon of the Kings oppoſition againſt Fulco his election, he was not confecrated Biſhop till the year 1244.

After many tedious expenſive conteſts between the Monks of Durham and King Henry about the election of a new Biſhop, wherein the King prevailed ( as you * heard before ) there was likely to hapen a difference at this new Biſhops confecration about his ſubjection to the See of York, which he at laſt thus publicely made and ſubſcribed.

Eodem Anno, magiſter Nicholaus de Fernham, electus Dunelmensis confecratus eſt in Epifcopum Dunelmensem apud Gloverniam, in Eccleſia Sancti Oſwaldi: quinto Idus Jun. ab Archiepiſcopo Eboracenſi Waltero, præſentibus Rege & Regina, Epifcopis, Abbatibus quamplurimis. Et quia ſuper profeſſione ſua mota fuit quæſtio ab aliquibus volentibus diſſidium ventilare, noluit idem Nicholaus illicitam ſibi uſurpare libertatem, ut ad inſolentiam prorumperet recalcitrando. Talemque in propatulo ſuam ſolemniter in confecratione ſua, coram cunctis Prælatiſ & Magnatibus, in præſentia ſui Metropolitani dicti Archiepiſcopi W. fecit profeſſionem diſtincte & articulatim elevata voce, in hunc modum, prout moris eſt: Ego Nicholaus Eccleſiæ Dunelmensis electus, profiteor Eboracenſi Eccleſiæ, tibi que Pater Waltero Archiepiſcopo, & ſucceſſoribus tuis canonice ſubſtituendis, canonicam ſubjectionem, reverentiam, & obedientiam, & hoc propria manu ſubſcribo. Et incontinenti coram omnibus ſubſcripſit crucem in capite chartulæ in cauſto, & tradidit Archiepiſcopo penes ſe in Theſauro reſervandam. This Biſhop falling ſick of an incurable Dropſy, is ſabled to be miraculoſly cured of it, by drinking ſome of the hairs of St. Edmund Biſhop of Canterbury in Water, which his Barber ſhaved from him in his life time: After which, Anno 1249. ſentiens ſe annuſum, valitudinarium, & infirmum, malens relinquere divitias, quam a divitiis derelinqui, Epifcopatum patum suum Dunelmensem, obtenta tali a Domino Papa licentia, resignavit. Recedens igitur a Dunelmo, accepta ibidem a fratribus licentia, ad alterutrum dictorum maneriorum mansurus perrexit, ut in pace ibidem sine querelarum vel causarum strepitu, exutus a sollicitudinibus mundanis, sibi jam expectanti donec ejus veniret immutatio, liberius vacaret orationi penitus intendendo. Super hoc Dominus Rex certificatus, omnia residua non segniter haud inbitus, in suam coepit custodiam et potestatem, ut ibidem uberimos pecuniarum fructus, semper tamen jejunos & avidus, deglutiret. Labentibus autem eorum dierum profluvii, obiit Episcopus Cestrenſis, Hugo de Pateſhulle, vij. Idus Decembris, vir viribus adhuc integer & ætate. Qui cum toto ætatis suæ tempore laudabiliter vixisset, demum iniquo fretus consilio, verſus est in arcum pravum, malleusque factus religionis, præcipue eorum qui ipsum creaverunt, in morte sua parum plangi meruit, licet parum plus quam per unum annum in Cathedra sedisset Pontificali. Quod cum audissent Prior & Monachi Coventrenſes, convocatis Canonicis Lichfeldenſibus, elegerunt Monachum & Præcentorem suum Gulihelmum de Monte Peſſulano virum sanctum, & moribus, & scientia prope Deum, Coventrenſis Ecclesiæ in Episcopum & pastorem animarum suarum, pro electo suo habent & protegent. Sed Dominus Rex, sicut jam ei moris erat, altum malens in Episcopatum promovere, statim se opposuit, neque electionem, neque electum acceptans. Et stantibus cum eo, aliquibus de Canonicis de Lichfeldia contradicentibus, & Abbatem de Evesham Richardum, qui tunc sigilli Regii bajulus, vices supplevit Cancellarii, pro quo Rex supplicaverat, eligentibus: unde Rex factus adversarius Ecclesiæ Coventrenſis, ipsum Priorem & Conventum in multis quibus potuit damnificavit. Adversantibus itaque tam Rege cum suis satellibus, quam quibusdam Canonicis Lichfeldenſibus, domus Coventrenſis magnam induit confusionem & jacturam, adeo ut Conventus dispergeretur, aliarum domuum subsidia petiturus. Domus autem Sancti Albani, charitatis & honestatis intuitu, ipsum Priorem cum aliquibus Monachis suis, & famulis & equis liberaliter, per annum & aliquot menses adjectos, cum summo honore sinum pandens misericordiæ, suscepit alendum. Mattheum Westmisi et subjoynes. Et lite ventilata, fiunt utrobique dispendia morosa & sumptuosa, viz. 245 lib. Dominus Rex Anglia, cum suis consiliariis, meam graviter infestat innocentiam: non enim ut novit Deus, hanc ipsius promerui persecutionem. Et si consequenter hanc, ad quam eligor rite, dignitatem, unquam pace in Anglia gratularer. Omnia igitur in manus vestras reſigno. (A loyal Practice of a Bishop elect, who would rather give this usurping Pope a power to dispose of this Bishoprick than the King, the right Patron thereof.)

Abſit a me ut amplius Eccleſiæ meæ cauſa ſim jacturæ ac perturbationis. Proinde paternæ ſollicitudo veſtra ipſi Eccleſiæ tam diu cura Paſtorali viduatæ. Cui cum vix Dominus Papa annuiſſet, reſceſſit ipſe, quaſi gravi ſarcina liberatus. Quod videntes qui ſalutem animæ Domini Regis in veritate ſincero corde deſiderabant, voluerant periculum ſibi et Regno propter hoc et plura alia imminens, quia multus in cauſa fuiſt, vehementer formidantes et timentes.

Anno 1244. There aroſe a grand conteſt between the King, the Archbiſhop of Canterbury elect and other Biſhops, about their rejecting the Biſhop of Chicheſter duly elected, and approved by the King, thus related by our Hiſtorians. Robertus Paſſeleve, Regis theſaurum jam multis marcarum millibus inopinabiliter adaugens, ejus gratiam mirabiliter eſt adeptus. Quod videntes Canonici Ciceſtreſes, ipſum eſſe idoneum & perutilem, quia prudentem & circumſpectum, ad Eccleſiæ ſuæ regimen cenſuerunt; Et ſperantes Deo placere & Domino Regi, nec non & Regis gratiam & ſuam, & ſua Eccleſiæ promotionem ſe proinde conſequuturos, ipſum Robertum Paſſeleve in Epifcopum ſuum elegerunt. Quod comperientes Electus Cantuarienſis et Epifcopi Angliæ quamplurimi, indignati ſunt valde. Et ſpereto Regis ſimul timore et amore, eundem Robertum in nimis arduis quaſtionibus per Epifcopum Lincolnienſem examinantes, electionem et electum reprobarunt et caſſaverunt. Et Magiſtrum Richardum de Wiltz loco ipſius ſtatim, Regio aſſenſu irrequiſito, ſubrogarunt. (A very bold and almoſt unpreſented attempt) The King being then at St. Albans, ſupervenerunt rumores, qui tam aures quam cor regium perturbabant, ſcilicet de Roberto Paſſeleve clerici ſui, qui corpus & animam regio ſamulatu expoſuit, repentina caſſatione, qui ad Epifcopatum Ciceſtreſem electus fuerat, et alterius loco ipſius, videlicet Magiſtri Richardi de Wiltz, ſine aſſenſu regio, ſubrogatione. Dominus igitur Rex, cui derogatum fuit, iratus valde, Epifcopatum cepit in manum ſuam, non permit- tens novum electum aliquem habere ingreſſum in eundem Epifcopatum vel Dominum. So Mat. Weſtm. expreſſeth it; but Math. Paris thus; Unde Regis ira excaudit in Electum & Epifcopos vehementer, Protinusque redditus dicti Magiſtri Richardi, idoneis ac dignis perſonis poſtquam electus fuit, ſunt collati. Magiſter enim Martinus, Domini Papæ Clericus ad hoc conſtitutus, redditibus ejus vacantibus qui præſens fuerat, & promptus inhiabat. Quod cum auſuſſet Dominus Rex, iratus vehementer, prohibuit ne novo electo, qui eo inconfulto electus fuit, in ſui et Regni enorme præjudicium, introitus in Baroniam Eccleſiæ ſuæ pertinentem, vel poſſeſſiones ſeculares, aliquatenus concederetur:

Moreover the King juſtly incenſed by this affront, iſſued a Mandate to the Gardians of the Biſhoprick of Chicheſter and Sheriff of Suſſex, ſo ſtrongly to guard the

Cum hæc agerentur, Cantuariensis electus Bonifacius, & Wigorniensis & Herefordensis Episcopi, qui inter omnes alios Angliæ Episcopos erant Domino Papæ specialiores, et Angliis suspectiores, ad voluntatem ejus perficiendam, etiam in detrimentum regni, quia ipse eos creavit, proniores, Dominum Papam propter quædam, (quæ nesciebantur ab universitate) secreta negotia subito adeuntes transfretarunt: ad votum facta dispositione in domo Cantuariensi, tam de conventu, quam curiæ familia, obedientiis, & obedientiis, plus quam alicui antecessorum alii ejusdem memorati Bonifacii unquam permissum existerat. Asserebat etiam idem Electus Bonifacius, quod facta diligenti inquisitione, obligata sunt Ecclesia sua Cantuariensis ex parte Archiepiscopatus, alieno ære plus quam quindecim Millibus Marcarum, et quasi irrestitabiliter compedita. Unde naves ascensurus apud Dover am in recessu suo, iussit nemoza Archiepiscopatus abscindi et vendi, et quasdam collectas et tallias, tam in Clero, quam in populo, fieri graviores. Et constituit quendam suum officialem natione Pictaviensem, Magistrum Hugonem de Mortimer, qui diligenter mandata sua exequabatur. Quas quidem Tallias multi factas esse dicebant ad quendam militem Provincialem expugnandum. Qui audito testamento Comitissæ Reimundi filiam ejus juniorem furto repentino ac nocturno surripere proponebat, &c. Electus igitur Cantuariensis Bonifacius, a prædecessorum suorum vestigiis imprudenter & impudenter exorbitans, cum fratre suo Philippo Ball, eo quod avunculi fuerunt Puellæ supradictæ, hinc negotio martio curam apposuerunt, Anglicana sumptuosum & damnosum Ecclesiæ, ad quæ sustinenda diversa acquirendi pecuniam argumenta consingentes, thesauros thesauris cumularunt, militibus stipendiis, & aliis viris sanguinum distribuendo. Asserebant itaque ut aliquo colore peccatum tegetetur, se hac pecunia necessario eguisse ad Ecclesiæ Cantuariensis liberationem, quam (ut dicebant, non sine magna injuria antecessorum sanctorum, Ecclesiæ eidem qui præerant eamque irreprehensibiliter rexerant) ære alieno fere irrestitabiliter præcedentes Archiepiscopi obligaverant. Impetravit electus Bonifacius a Domino Papa inauditum privilegium, quod nunquam alii meminimus præconcessum. Similiter effrater ejus Philippus in hoc negotio deditus armis, privilegium, non sine multæ pecuniæ effusione, scilicet ut liceret redditus, quos obtinuit in Angliæ, et Episcopatus proventus Valentini similiter, et quædam majora, quæ tunc sibi fuerant, pro futura, tenere a Curia Romana impetrabit.

Soon after the Bishop of Chichester, obtruded by Boniface and his suffragans into that See, without any election at all, against the Kings will and prohibition, departing privily out of Engl. resorted to Boniface and the Pope for protection & consecration; the like did the Bp. of Country secretly elected without the Kings privity, for fear he should should have hindred their consecrations. Where the Pope in despite and contempt of the King and his Proctors Appeal against them : these two Bishops were consecrated by the Pope himself, together with Archbishop Boniface their Patron, as Mat. Paris and Mat. West. thus commemorate.

Anni quoque sub illius curriculo consecratus est a Domino Papa Lugduni in Archiepiscopum Cantuariensem Bonifacius, natione Provincialis, plus genere, quam scientia coruscus: plus armis Martialibus, quam spiritualibus formidabilis; qui procurantibus Rege Anglia & Regina nepte sua ad hanc promotus est, scilicet utinam dignitatem. Hujus irater Philippus Bal. electus Valentia, ipsis diebus ad Archiepiscopatus Lugdunensis promotus est possessionem: Priore cedente ob causas post dicendas. Qui tantam a Domino Papæ meruit obtinere dispensationem, ut Archiepiscopatus retenta cum suis commodis potestate, Episcopatus Valentini Bal. præventus perciperet, uberrimorumque reddituum quos in Anglia & Flandria possederat, quod plus ut videbatur, ob quasdam causas seculares fiebat, quam spirituales, libere & licenter asportaret, & præposituram Brugensem obtineret. Hic igitur elegans corpore, & armorum peritia præpollens, copiosisque redditibus saginatus, factus est quasi Princeps Papalis Militiæ, et Custos præpotens pacis in Concilio Lugdunensi celebrando. Et idcirco potissime, quod generis Claritate coruscabat. Consecrati sunt etiam Magister Richardus de Witthz in Episcopum Cicestrensem, et Magister Rogerus de Weseham, Decanus Lincolniensis in Episcopum Cestrensem, a Domino Papa Lugduni, viri moribus et scientia adornati. Nec est omissum pro appellatione procuratoris Regii constanter reclamantis, eo quod in horum promotione Regius assensus non requireretur. Imo in facie dictum fuit ei, quod quia Rex sibi concessa dignitate et privilegio abutebatur, indignum se reddidit hoc honore lætabundum. Et sic Regis et Regni ipsius, Regius peccatis erigentibus, dignitas vacillabat. Hæc igitur postquam Regi innotuerunt duorum Episcopatus, scilicet Cicestrensis et Cestrensis, bona temporalia jussit infiscari.

At last after much mediation, Anno 1246. Dominus Rex, precibus amicabilibus mitigatus, Domino Episcopo Cicestrensi Rogero (eo quod esset vir benignissimus, & omnium haberet favorem) Baroniam suam in pace benigne restituit.

Eodem quoque tempore Gulielmus de Monte Pessulano, electus Covenrent. nolens amplius injuriosos impetus, quos a Rege diu sustinuerat, tolerare, jus suum in manus Papæ patienter resignavit. In cujus loco Magister Rogerus de Weseham, Theologus, videlicet Decanus Lincoln. electus est Episcopo Lincoln. procurante, Rege penitus irrequisito. Unde antequam plenam Episcopatus sui posset obtinere possessionem, multa sustinuit dispendia et pacis damnosam (nec immerito) dilationem. Simili quoque modo, ipso eodem tempore irrequisito Regio assensu, cassata electione Roberti Pessuleu, electus est in Episcopum Cicestren. Magister Richardus de Witthz, unde ne tanta Regis injuria remaneret inulta, Baronia ad Episcopatum pertinente privari meruit, multo tempore, donec multiplicatis intercessionibus impetravit, tam ipse quam electus Cestren. ut uterque ex Regis gratia suæ possessionis gauderet plenitudine. (A pregnant evidence of the Kings Ecclesiastical Prerogative over them and their Bishopricks.) Eodem Anno Consecrati sunt Lugduni, ubi ad huc Dominus Papa commorabatur, Bonifacius de Provincia in Archiepiscop. Cantuar. et Magister Richardus de Witthz, in Episc. Cicestren. et Magister R. in Episcopum Cestren. a Domino Papa, non sine Regni Angliæ magno damno ac periculo. Papa enim sic Episcopos attraxit, ut magis ei tenerentur obligati, et contempto Rege, fierent in damnum Reg. proutiores. The true reason of these Papal encroachments on the Crown.

The Archbishop of Armach in Ireland committing two high contempes against, and Usurpations upon the Kings Royal Prerogative and Priviledges, both in holding Pleas of Advoufons and Patronages in the Ecclesiastical Court, belonging only and immediately to the Kings Temporal Court and Dignity, and drawing them into an Ecclesiastical Judicature, and out of the Realm, before the Popes Delegates, contrary to his dty and Allegiance, in a suit between the Prior of Lanton and him; the King thereupon issued this most memorable Prohibition, to prohibit him to proceed therein, under pain of seising all his Temporalties, since such proceedings tended to the utter prostration and overthrow of his Crown and Royal Dignity, which he neither would nor could permit, nor any Loyal Subject desire.

Non credebamus de vobis antequam hæc res gesta faceret manifestum, quod aliqua impetrare velletis quæ Regiæ dignitati generare possent præjudicium aut gravamen; sed in contrarium res est versa, quod sine animi anxietate non possumus referre. Et etiam hoc contra dignitatem Regiam vos non latuit impetrare, cum impetratio vestra de privilegio nostro faciat mentionem. Cum igitur contra nos dupliciter delinqueritis in hac parte, tum quia causas ad dignitatem Regiam immediate spectantes ad forum Ecclesiasticum trahere volentes, tum quia contra privilegium nostrum, sic temere venientes, paternitati vestræ mandamus inhibentes, et firmiter injungentes ne super terris, aut Ecclesiarum advocacionibus extra terram nostram sive intra in foro Ecclesiastico Priorem de Lanton, vel quemcunque alium in causam trahere præsumatis, sicut gaudere desideratis omnibus possessionibus vestris, quæ de nobis tenetis: indubitanter enim scire potestis, quod hoc nullo modo poterimus sustinere; præcipue cum sic Coronam nostram prostrernere et Dignitatem nostram possitis penitus enervare, quod velle nullatenus deberetis si fidelitas sit in vobis. The King in further pursuit hereof, to preserve this his antient inherent Royal Dignity, enjoyed time out of mind, and the Popes special indulgence, issued forth this Appeal, in nature of a Prohibition, to the Popes Delegates in foreign parts, not to proceed in this cause between the Prior of Lanton and Archbishop of Armach, constituting a special Proctor to prosecute this Appeal by these Letters Patents.

After

After the long contests * formerly touched, and much money spent between the Bishop, and the Dean and Canons of Lincoln; at the Court of Rome; the Pope by advise of his Brethren gave sentence for the Bishop, against the Dean and Canons, which he ratified with this dear purchased Bull.

Eisdem vero temporibus, dum solis orbita circularis jam declinans versus tempus hyemale vicinaretur, Episcopus Lincolniensis Robertus, quietis nescius, multis adversans, quam plurimisque ei adversantibus, Ismaeli consimilis, post multos labores et pecuniarum inestimabilium effusiones, hanc a Domino Papa quem cum multis donariis respexerat, contra Canonicos suos meruit impetrationem obtinere.

INNOCENTIUS, &c. Venerabili fratri Episcopo Lincolniensi, salutem & Apostolicam benedictionem. Inter cetera, quæ nostrum animum qui universali regimini, quamvis immeriti, disponente Domino præsidemus, insultibus impetunt successivis; illud nos frequenti meditatione perurget, ut Ecclesiæ causarum agitata non deficiant sub dispendiis questionum & litibus, quæ propter concertationes & diffugia partium, videntur quodammodo immortales, finis debitus imponatur. Cum igitur inter te ex parte una, & Decanum & Capitulum Lincolniensem ex altera, super eorum & Ecclesiarum Præbendaliū & Ecclesiarum cæterarum de dignitatibus & communia, visitatione, & reformatione morum, ac correctione, tam Decani, quam Canonicorum, & Clericorum chori, & etiam ministrorum, ac vicariorum, & Capellanorum, & Parochianorum dictarum omnium Ecclesiarum, necnon reverentia & obedientia Canonica tibi ab eis præstanda, & quibusdam aliis dignitatibus, & officiis Episcopale contingentibus, suborta fuisset materia questionis; Nos post diversas commissiones hinc inde ab Apostolica sede ad Judices diversos obtentas, & processus habitos per easdem, causam ipsam, finem sibi cupientes imponi, ad examen nostrum durimus revocandam. Cumque tu & procurator partis alterius in nostra essetis præsentia constituti, fuit ex parte tua propositum, quod cum ex diligentia pastoralis officii tenearis de jure communi Capitulum Lincolniensem, & omnes Ecclesias Præbendales de dignitatibus & communia visitare; ac ea, secundum formam juris, quæ ad visitationis spectant officium, adimplere; cum tam Capitulum quam Ecclesiæ tibi sint de jure communi subjectæ, necnon excessus tam Decani, quam Canonicorum universorum, & singulorum Clericorum de choro, & ministrorum eorundem, vicariorum etiam Capellanorum & Parochianorum prædictarum Ecclesiarum corrigere, ac eorum mores, ne ipsorum sanguis de tuis manibus requiratur, reformare. Causam etiam omnium prædictorum, cum ad invicem eos movere contingeret, vel ipsos contrarios tuæ Diocesis, vel alii contra ipsos, sive sint civiles, sive criminales, examinare ac decidere, ad te, tanquam ad ordinarium, proprie pertineat, dum tamen ad Ecclesiasticum forum spectent: Decanus & Capitulum se tibi super his contra justitiam opponebant, propter quod præmissa libere non poteras, prout officii tui cura exigit, adimplere. Adjiciebas præterea, quod tu cum sis caput Lincolniensis Ecclesiæ, & a te, tanquam a capite, ante electionem Decani Lincolniensis celebrandam tuus de jure sit requirendus assensus; ipsa tua irrequisita licentia, se debere ad electionem Decani procedere, asseverant: super quo tibi petebas justitiam exhiberi. Dicebas præterea, quod cum Decanus in sui confirmatione, & Canonici cum Præbendæ ipsis conferantur, jurare tibi de jure Canonicam obedientiam teneantur; iidem id hæcenus indebite facere non caruerunt. Proponebas insuper, quod cum lege Diocæsana Decanatus, dignitatum, et Præbendarum vacantium sequestrationis ad te de jure pertineret; præfati Decanus & Capitulum se tibi super hoc contra justitiam opponebant. Quare petebas super præmissis jus tuum declarari, ac adjudicari tibi per diffinitivam sententiam, teque ad visitationis officium in Capitulo Lincolniensi, et Ecclesiis Præbendalibus de dignitatibus et communia, et ad correctionem excessuum, et morum reformationem omnium prædictorum, non obstante Decani et Canonicoꝝum reclamazione, admitti debere, diffinitive pronunciari, ac imponi eis perpetuum silentium, nisi sedis Apostolicæ privilegio, vel alio jure speciali, tueri se possent super impedimentis et obstaculis supradictis. Petebas etiam procuratorem tionem ratione visitationis Capituli debitam, & expensas faciendas in lite: ac ut ipsi quotiescunque te ad Ecclesiam Lincolniensem venire contigerit, contra te Ecclesie campanas pulsare faciant, & exhibeant reverentiam tanquam Patri. Quodque Decanus aliquem Canonicum ad jurandum ei Canonicam obedientiam, nisi dignitas Episcopalis & auctoritas excipiat, de cetero non compellat: nec cogat Canonicos jurare aliquas consuetudines, quæ sunt contra Canonicas sanctiones: neque statuta, quæ sint contra Canones, & auctoritatem & dignitatem Episcopalem, ulterius in Capitulo ipso non edat. Petebas insuper, ut cum Præbendarum & Ecclesiarum de dignitatibus & communia visitatio, ad te de jure communi pertineat, quod Decanus de cetero ab earum visitatione desistere per sententiam cogeretur. Procurator vero partis alterius, litem contestando, respondit, Narrata non esse vera, ut narrabantur: & petita fieri non debere. Lite igitur super his legitime contestata, rationibus quoque ac allegationibus utriusque partis diligenter auditis: Nos postquam fuit causa conclusum, deliberatione habita diligenti, de fratrum nostrorum consilio pronuntiavimus, te ad visitationem tam Decani et Capituli, quam Canonicoz Clericoz chori, ac ministroz, etiam Capellanoz Ecclesiarum et Parochianoz ad omnes prædictas Ecclesias pertinentium. Et ad correctionem excessuum, ac mozum reformationem libere admittendum. Pro visitatione autem in Cathedrali Ecclesia facienda, procuratio a Capitulo non præstetur. Excessus tamen Canonicoz Cathedralis Ecclesie, qui consueverunt corrigi per Capitulum, per ipsum, juxta Ecclesie consuetudinem hactenus pacifice observatam: ad communionem & iussionem tuam, successorumque tuorum, infra competentem terminum, eis præhendendum a te, vel eisdem successoribus, corrigantur. Alioquin extunc tu, vel successores ipsi, Deum omnipotentem præ oculis habentes, ipsos ut animarum cura requirit, per censuram Ecclesiasticam corrigatis. Mandamus etiam, ut prædicti Canonici tibi Canonicam obedientiam & reverentiam exhibeant & observent. Obligare se tamen ad hoc juramento, manuali præstatione, seu promissione, minime teneantur; cum ad hoc consuetudine non juberis. In cæteris potitis, ab impetitione sua, præfatos Decanum & Capitulum absolventes. Nulli ergo omnino hominum, liceat hanc paginam nostre diffinitionis infringere, vel ausu temerario contraire. Si quis autem hoc attentare præsumpserit, indignationem omnipotentis Dei, & beatorum Petri & Pauli Apostolorum ejus, se noverit incursum. Datum Lugduni, Octavo Calendas Septembris, Pontificatus nostri anno tertio.

Diligenter etiam inquiras per Sacramentum eorundem, qui Comites vel Barones, Milites, viri religiosi, vel alii de Regno nostro Anglia, aliquas terras habeant de terris Normannorum, vel Alienigenarum in Balliva tua, exceptis terris illis quæ captæ sunt in manum nostram per aliam Inquisitionem quam de terris Normannorum fieri fecisti per præceptum nostrum, provisurus, quod prædicti Archiepiscopi, Episcopi, & viri religiosi transmarini, nec alii de Regno nostro disseiscentur, vel aliquod dampnum incurrant de hujusmodi terris vel rebus suis occasione harum Inquisitionum, vel hujusmodi extentæ, donec a nobis aliud habueris præceptum. Matthew Paris gives us this account of the Kings seising the Lands of Normans in England.

Circa dierum illorum curricula, Rex Francorum Parisiis convocatos omnes ultramarinos, qui terras habuerunt in Anglia, sic est affatus. Quicumque in Regno meo conversatur habens terras in Anglia, cum nequeat quis competenter duobus Dominis servire, vel penitus mihi, vel Regi Anglia inseparabiliter adhaereat. Unde aliqui terras & redditus habentes in Anglia, eas relinquentes, possessionibus, quas habebant in Francia, adhaeserunt; aliqui e converso. Super quo certificatus Rex Anglia, omnes de Regno Francia, praecipue Normannos, iussit terris suis, quas in Anglia habuerunt, disseisiri. Unde Regi Francorum videbatur, quod Rex Anglorum, quia non in adoptionem eorum statuit conditionem terris hinc vel inde suis privandorum, ut ad alterutrum Regum transmigrarent libere, sicut & ipse Rex Francorum fecerat, treugas initas inter eos confregisset. Sed quia nimis corpore debilitatus post reditum suum de Pictavia fuerat, noluit certamina suscitare, imo potius dissimulando pertransire, & impetuosas Normannorum querelas, & insurgendi in Regem Anglorum proterviam & avidam voluntatem, reprimere satagebat.

This Record and passage of Matthew Paris, will very well explain the Statute De Prærogativa Regis, An. 12 E. 2. c. 12. and Stamford's Glosses thereon, Placita Corona l. 3. c. 36. compared with Bracton l. 2. c. 35. sect. 12, 15. And l. 5. De Exceptionibus, c. 24. sect. 1. fol. 427. Est etiam & alia exceptio quæ tenenti competit ex persona petentis propter defectum nationis, quæ dilatoria est & non perimit actionem, ut si quis Alienigena qui fuerit ad fidem Regis Anglia, tali non respondeatur, saltem donec terræ fuerint communes, nec etiam si Rex ei contesserit placitare, quia sicut Anglicus non auditur in placitando aliquem de terris & tenementis in Francia, ita nec debet Francigena & Alienigena qui fuerit ad fidem Regis Francia, audiri placitando in Anglia, sed tamen sunt aliqui Francigenæ in Francia, qui sunt ad fidem utriusque, & semper fuerunt ante Normanniam deperditam & post, & qui placitant hic & ibi, ea ratione qua sunt ad fidem utriusque, sicut fuit W. Comes Marr. & manens in Anglia, & M. de Feynes manens in Francia, & alii plures. Et ita tamen si contingat guerram moveri inter Reges, remaneat personaliter quilibet eorum cum eo cui fecerint ligeantiam, & faciat servitium debitum ei cum quo non steterit in persona. And c. 25. sect. 3. Item respondere poterit, quia particeps de quo dicitur nihil capere potest, quia est ad fidem Regis Francia, & nihil capere poterit antequam fiat fides Regi Anglia, & cum terræ sint communes & concordēs, & ideo non est necesse quæ in brevi nominentur.

The Sheriff of Cambridge and Huntingdon seising the Lands of the Prior of St. Neoth and others, by pretext of the Kings Writs (the * year before) to seise the Lands of all Prior Aliens into the Kings hands, the King upon the Priors complaint issued this Writ to the Sheriff, to restore the possession of their Lands unto them, and to shew by what warrant he seised them, and to hear his judgement.

REX Vicecom. Cantabrig. & Hunting. salutem. Quod quidem ex dicto mandato nostro elicere non potuisti. Et quia fines ejusdem mandati nostri excecisti, tibi præcipimus quod eidem Priori de prædicto Prioratu suo, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, & omnibus aliis de partibus transmarinis, quos de terris suis contra formam prædicti mandati nostri in aliquo Disseisivisti talem seisinam habere facias, qualem inde habuerunt ante susceptionem ejusdem mandati nostri. Et si quid de bonis eorum ea occasione capisti per pacem quam tecum fecerunt, vel alio modo, id eis sine dilatione reddi facias. Et tu nihilominus sicut corpus tuum diligis, coram nobis in crastino Claus. Pascha, ubicunque tunc fuerimus in Anglia, ad ostendendum, quo warranto ipsum Prioratum capisti in manum nostram, & terras quorundam aliorum, & ad audiendum inde judicium tuum. Et mandatum est M. filio Gerald Justiciario Hibernie, quod huiusmodi electiones de fratribus ordinis prædicti fieri prohibeat.

About this time there happened a great controversie between the Freers Predicants and Minorites, wherein their pride, avarice, ambition, extortions as the Popes instruments, and other vices are thus set out by each other, in their proper colours.

Et ne mundus turbinibus undique multiplicatis vacare videretur, inter fratres Minores & Predicadores controversia eisdem temporibus ventilata, multos, eo quod viam perfectionis, videlicet paupertatis & patientiæ, videbantur elegisse, movit in admirationem. Asserentibus enim Predicatoribus se fuisse Priores, & in hoc ipso digniores, habitu quoque honestiores, a prædicatione merito nomen & officium se sortiri, & Apostolica dignitate verius insigniri: respondent Minores, Se arctiorem vitam & humiliorem pro Deo elegisse, & idcirco digniorem, quia sanctiorem, & ab ordine Predicatum ad ordinem eorum fratres posse, & licenter debere, quasi ab inferiori ad ordinem arctiorem & superiorem transmigrare. Contradiciunt eis in faciem Predicadores, asserentes, quod licet ipsi Minores, nudi pede, & viriliter tunicati, cinctique funiculis incedant, non tamen eis esus carniū, etiam in publico, vel dieta propensior denegatur, quod fratribus est Predicatoribus interdictum: quapropter non licet ipsis Predicatoribus ad Minorum ordinem, quasi arctiorem & digniorem, avolare, sed potius e converso. Sicigitur, sicut inter Templarios & Hospitalarios in Terra Sancta, sic & inter illos humani generis inimico zizania seminante, ortum est discordiæ enorme scandalum, & quia viri literati sunt & scholares, universali Ecclesiæ nimis periculosum, in indicium magni iudicii præforibus imminens. Et quod terribile est, & in triste præsagium, per trecentos annos, vel quadringentos, vel amplius, ordo Monasticus tam festinanter non cœpit præcipitium, sicut eorum ordo, quorum fratres jam vix transactis viginti quatuor annis, primas in Angha construxere mansiones, quarum ædificia jam in Regales consurgunt altitudines. Hi jam sunt, qui in sumptuosos & diatim amplius ædificiis, & cellis muralibus, thesauros exponunt impreciables, paupertatis limites, & basim suæ professionis, juxta Prophetiam Hildgardis Alemannie, impudenter transgredientes. Morituris Magnatibus, & divitibus, quos norunt pecuniis abundare, diligenter insistant, non sine ordinariorum injuriis & jacturis, ut emolumentis inhiant, confessiones extorquent, & occulta testamenta, se suumque ordinem solum commendantes, & omnibus aliis præponentes. Unde nullus fidelis, nisi Predicatum & Minorum regatur consiliis, jam credit salvari. In acquirendis privilegiis solliciti in Curia Regum & potentum consilarii, & cubicularii & thesaurarii, paranympsi, & nuptiarum præloquutores, Papalium ertozionum executores, in prædicationibus suis, vel adulatores, vel mordacissimi reprehensores, vel confessionum detectores, vel incauti redargutores. Ordines quoque auctenticos, & a sanctis patribus constitutos, videlicet a sanctis Benedicto & Augustino, & eorum professores contemnentes (prout in causa Ecclesiæ de Scardiburo, in qua Minores turpiter ceciderunt, patuit) suum ordinem aliis præponunt. Rudes reputant simplices, & semilicos vel potius rusticos, Cistercienses Monachos: Nigras vero, superbos, & Epituros.

The Chief Justice in Ireland in a case of Assise of Novel Disseisin between two Irish Bishops, refusing to give Judgement against the Defendant, till he received the Kings direction therein, for fear of being excommunicated by the Defendant Bishop, who threatned to excommunicate him; the King thereupon checking him for his cowardice, commanded him to proceed to give Judgement and Damages in the cause, notwithstanding the threatned excommunication, and to Attach and imprison those Judges and others, who presumed against his expresse Prohibition to hold Plea of these Lands in the Bishops Court, to the contempt, prejudice, and disinherison of his Crown and Dignity, and not to suffer from thenceforth any suits of this nature to be held in any Ecclesiastical Court, or to suffer any of his Rights to be lost.

Pope Innocent the 4. was one of the first Popes who presumed to summon a General Council by his own Papal Authority, without and against the Emperor, and that purposely out of malice to excommunicate and depose him, against all Laws of God and man, for which end he sent abroad his Nuncio's and Letters as to other Kings and Prelates, so particularly to the King of England, and all Archbishops Bishops and other Prelates, to summon them to a General Council to be held by him at Lyons in France.

Anno eodem circa medium Quadragesimae, venerunt Nuntij Domini Papae in Angliam de convocando Concilio generali, tale mandatum Papale bajulantes:

INNOCENTIVS

INNOCENTIUS Episcopus, servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis, Abbatibus & Prioribus per Angliam constitutis, salutem & Apostolicam benedictionem. Dei virtus, & Dei sapientia, cujus ineffabili subjecta sunt omnia Majestati, a foundationis initio splendore virtutum suam illustravit Ecclesiam. Et sic insignem reddidit singularis privilegio potestatis, ut per ejus ministerium suum iustitia consequatur effectum, & sedato bellorum turbine, mundo possit tranquillitas provenire. Huiusmodi enim præminentiam dignitatis dum nos reverenter attendimus, quæ regimini generali Ecclesiæ, licet immeriti, Divina providentia præstidimus, reddimur corde solliciti, quod tempestatis horroz qua ipsa turbatur Ecclesia, et religio Christiana conturbatur, per nostræ provisionis auxilium celesti pietate propitia propulsetur. Hinc est, quod nos, ut ipsa Ecclesia, per fidelium salubre consilium & auxilium fructuosum, status debiti possit habere decorem, ac deplorando Terræ sanctæ discrimini, & afflicto Romano Imperio propere valeat subveniri, ac invenire remedium contra Tartaros, & alios contemptores fidei, ac persecutores populi Christiani: nec non pro negotio quod inter Ecclesiam et Principem vertitur, Reges terræ, Prælatos Ecclesiasticos, & alios mundi Principes duximus advocandos. Rogamus etiam devotionem vestram & hortamur attente, per Apostolica vobis scripta præcipiendo mandantes, quatenus ad præsentiam nostram, omni prorsus occasione postposita, usque ad proximum festum sancti Johannis Baptiste, personaliter venire curetis. Ut ipsa Ecclesia ex vestræ visitationis honore spirituale gaudium, & ex nostra industria consilium percipiat profuturum. Scituri, quod nos dictum Principem in prædicatione nostra citavimus, ut per se, vel per suos nuntios in Concilio celebrando compareat, responsurus nobis, et aliis, qui aliquid contra ipsum duxerint proponendum, et satisfactionem idoneam præstiturus. De personarum autem & electionum moderato numero, illam cum veniriis providentiam habeatis, quod vestris Ecclesiis nimis non sitis onerosi. Datum Lugduni, tertio Calend. Mat. Paris Hist. Angl. p. 636. 637, 638. Mat. Westm. p. 190. Papa convocavit Concilium generale apud Lugdunum.

Nota;

Eisdemque diebus Dominus Rex enormiter, ut sibi suisque videbatur, passus injuriam, eo quod plures jam Episcopi sine suo assensu creabantur, super hoc conquesturus, et pro suo jure ab antiquis temporibus obtento et approbato, allegaturus ad Curiam Romanam Magistrum Laurentium de Sando Martino, Clericum suum, virum circumspertum, et Jurisperitum suum, destinavit Procuratorem; similiter etiam pro aliis arduis negotiis Regem et Regnum contingentibus prudenter ac fideliter cum diligentia expediendis. Maxime tamen pro negotio Roberti Passelebe Electi Elicestrensis, tam precipitanter, inconsulto tam Rege quam Capitulo Elicestrensi, in medio regni sui cassati, et per electum Cantuariensem Bonifacium, quem noviter, non sine multorum murmure & contradictione in Regnum suum vocaverat, & ad tantam promoverat dignitatem, depulsi. Promoverisset utique Dominus Rex non minimum in causa favorem. Sed quia multos viros idoneos, & precipue religiosos, quos potius promovere & tueri, sicut quondam sancti Reges fecerunt, teneretur, extortitis argumentis, et frivolis exceptionibus, falsis, ac potius malitiosis, toties repulsi, et cum esse eligerentur, in ignominiosam confusionem præcipitavit, merito procuratum est tanti mali remedium. Ut scilicet eo, qui tot mala machinabatur, ignorante vel etiam contradicente Ecclesiis viduatis providetur, quibus vix idonei, ne grex Dominicus detrimentum patitur, maturius præponantur, quod videtur consonum rationi. Sed de Regni potius quam de Regis perturbationibus, et ruinis Anglorum Nobiles doluerunt.

Cum autem hæc ad Concilium generalis convocatio, ad audientiam Prælatorum pervenisset, multi ad iter preparantur arripendum. Aliqui tamen Regis negotiis intenti excusantur.

Rex Angliæ mittit procuratorem ad Curiam Romanam.

intendentes, aliqui valetudinarii, & senes, se per Regem, vel competentes Procuratores excusarunt. Regi etiam, qui pro aliquibus humiliter domino Papæ supplicaverat, Papa favorabiliter sic rescripsit.

Litteræ Papales,

INNOCENTIUS Episcopus, &c. Charissimo in Christo filio, Regi Anglorum illustri, salutem & Apostolicam benedictionem. Erga personam tuam, tanquam filii & devoti Apostolica sedis, specialis paternum gerentes dilectionis affectum, precibus tuis, quantum cum Deo possumus, libenter attentum accommodamus auditum, & benignum impartimur assensum. Sane per dilectum Magistrum Laurentium Nuncium tuum apud sedem Apostolicam constitutum, & per Litteras Regias, a nobis humiliter postulasti, ut cum instanti astate proponens ad perfidiam quorundam inorum rebellium conterendam, exercitu congregato dirigere gressus tuos, Venerabilem fratrem nostrum Carleolensem Episcopum, & dilectum filium Abbatem Westmonasteriensem, custodia Regni tui, quamdiu in expeditione permaneris, providè deputaris, ipsos & Venerabiles fratrem nostrum Episcopum Landavensem, omnibus bonis Episcopatus sui, per inimicos Regios denudatum, & dilectos filios Sancti Edmundi, morbo podagrico laborantem, ac de Wautham senio confectum & confectum, Abbates, ne ad Concilium veniant, quod in instanti festo Nativitatis beati Johannis Baptistæ, Deo dante, celebrabimus, haberemus benigne ac misericorditer excusatos. Nos itaque Celsitudinis Regia Regni que tui propensum affectum, commodum & quietem, & tibi, ac pro te tuis, quantum pro Deo fieri potest, exhiberi parati, gratiam & favorem devotioni tue presentium auctoritate concedimus benignitate postulata: sublimitatem tuam hortantes attente, ut moleste non feras, quod petitionem tuam pro Venerabili fratre nostro Eboracensi Archiepiscopo, in Litteris Regiis prædictis expressam, & per memoratum Magistrum ex parte tua insuper nobis inculcatam, super excusatione consimili, non duximus admittendam. Quia cum ipse sit honorabile Ecclesia Dei membrum, ejus presentiam præfato Concilio credimus opportunam. Datum Lugduni, x. Calend. Junii, Pontificatus nostri anno secundo.

* Mat. Paris. 669.

Unde eodem anno, * post multas indignas vexationes, tribulationes, & infirmitatem, quam in jura Romanæ ob id iniitaverat, in magnum Ecclesiæ suæ damnum, iacturam & perturbationem, quam prudenter rexerat, viam universæ carnis est ingressus. Such was the Tyranny of this peremptory, usurping, Antichristian Pope, trampling the persons, privileges, Crowns, Rights of all Christian Emperors, Kings, Princes, Prelates, Abbots, Nobles, Kingdoms under his Papal feet, and more particularly those who had either any courage or conscience to withstand his injurious Usurpations, as this Abbot did at first.

Mat. West. An. 1245. p. 193.

Per idem quoque tempus, Dominus Rex sano fretus Consilio, ex quo certificabatur de Concilio generali in proximo Lugduni celebrando, Nuncios solennes ad Concilium destinavit, videlicet Comitum Rogerum Bigod, Johannem filium Galfredi, Gulielmum de Cantilupo, Philippum Basset, Radulphum filium Nicholai, Milites, & Gulielmum de Powic, Clericum, ut Domino Papæ et toti Concilio gravamina exponerent, quæ Regno Angliæ in multis a Romana Curia diatim inferuntur: præcipue de Tributo in guerræ tempore extorto, cui cui contraditum fuit, et aperte per Stephanum Archiepiscopum Cantuar. reclamatum.

Which Matthew Paris thus more largely expresseth. Tunc vero, licet sero, Dominus Rex Anglorum, aliquantulum conversus ad se, cepit detestari Romanæ Curie insatiabilem cupiditatem, et totius Regni, imo etiam et Ecclesiæ per eam factas injurias occupationes, illicitasque rapinas. Composita igitur per Regni universitatem eleganti Epistola, in qua extorsiones Papales nimis execrabiles, et exactiones multiformes Legatorum ejus, et quorundam Clericorum potestate inaudita fungentium, continebantur, ut sequens sermo declarabit. Cum qua viri nobiles ac discreti ad Concilium destinantur, gravem super his, et præcipue super exactione Tributi, in quod nunquam consensit Regni universitas, coram Concilio querimoniam reposituri, et tallium celebamen onerum importabilem Regno Angliæ miseris impendi, rogaturi: (which as the affaires of England then stood they should hardly redresse themselves, till this general Complaint and Petition first made against them in this general Council.) Electi sunt igitur, et ad hoc, nomine totius universitatis Regni Angliæ ad Concilium Lugdunense missi, Comes Rogerus Bigod, Johannes filius Gulfridi, Willielmus de Cantelupo, Philippus Basset, Radulphus filius Nicholai, & Magister Willielmus de Poweric, Clericus.

I find in the Clause Rolls of 29 H. 3. this Letter sent by the King to the Pope, reciting his sending of these solemn Nuncios to this General Council, according to his command, who were then in their journey to his Court, from whence they should hasten to his Holy Paternity with all possible expedition; earnestly requesting him, that if before their arrival any thing should happen to be handled or mentioned in this Council concerning his affaires, or the state of the Kingdom, that it might be suspended till they presented themselves before him.

Domino Papæ Rex, salutem, & debitam tanto Patri reverentiam & honorem. Cum sollempnes Nuncii nostri quos ad Concilium per vos in proximo celebrandum, sicut nobis mandastis, duximus destinandos, in procinctu sint itineris veniendi ad Curiam, & quam cito poterunt illuc venire festinant, Sanctam Paternitatem vestram rogamus cum effectu, quatenus si ante adventum eorundem Nunciorum nostrorum in dicto Concilio contingat, aliquid tractari seu mentionem fieri de negotiis nostrum, & Regni nostri statum contingentibus, ea si placet teneri faciatis in suspenso quousque commode se possint vestro conspectui præsentare. Teste Rege apud Westmonasterium, viij. die Junii.

Clauſ. 29 H. 3. m. 9. dorſo.

He likewise directed another Letter by them to the Emperor, entred in the same Roll, reciting, that he had sent Embassadors to this Council, of the Noblest and discretest men of his Realm, who should use their uttermost endeavours to effect a laudable and desired peace between him and the Pope, to his honour; desiring him when they came to his Excellencies presence, to grant them a favourable reception and audience, that so by his desire they might procure a convenient encrease of his Imperial honour.

Domino Imperatori Rex, salutem. Ille novit qui nihil ignorat, & Imperialem Excellentiam non credimus ignorare, quod honorem vestrum totis visceribus affectamus, ad quod fraternæ dilectionis affectio nos excitat jugiter & inducit. Sane laborem animi nostri quo diutius laboravit Altissimus sui gratia consummabit; sicut enim ex voluntate vestra novimus processisse, ad Concilium Lugduni convocatum Nuncios mittimus sollempnes; de Nobilioribus & discretioribus Regni nostri, qui ad honorem vestrum super pacis reformatione, per Dei gratiam laudabiliter laborabunt & effectum consequentur optatum; vestram igitur Excellentiam exoramus, quatenus præfatos Nuncios nostros ad vestram præsentiam accedentes commendatos habere velitis, & eis benignam audientiam exhibere, qui utinam vestro desiderio conveniens honoris Imperialis augmentum procurent.

Clauſ. 29 H. 3. m. 9. dorſo.

The King did then likewise by his Letters Patents constitute three of these Embassadors, together with two others his Proctors general in that Council, to propose, impetrate and contradict on his behalf, whatever they should deem expedient, and ratifying whatever they should do according to justice.

He then likewise granted special power to one of them by this Patent, to give his Royal assent to the translation of any Bishop, which by the advice of the Pope, his Cardinals, and his own Embassadors sent to this Council, should happen to be translated, for the benefit of the Realm; without whose assent neither the Pope, Cardinals, nor Council could translate any of his Bishops.

Omibus, &c. Rex, salutem. Ad universitatis vestræ notitiam volumus pervenire, nos Magistro Laurentio de Sancto Martino, potestatem nostram dedisse, ut si forsitan de Concilio Domini Papæ, & Cardinalium, & Nunciorum nostrorum processerit in instanti Concilio, aliquem Episcopum pro utilitate Regni nostri debere transferri, præfatus Magister L. ad translationem illam faciendam possit assensum Regium adhibere. Teste meipso apud Westmonasterium, Decimo die Junij, Anno Regni nostri xxix.

The Pope having called this General Council at Lyons, and given the King of England notice thereof, as aforesaid, he thereupon issued this memorable Patent and Writ to all the Archbishops, Bishops, and other Prelates of England, Ireland, and Gascoign, which should repair to that Council by the Popes summons, and his Royal License, that as they were obliged by their respective Oathes of Fealty to be faithful to him in all things belonging to his Royal Crown and Dignity, so they should use their utmost diligence and endeavours in this Council, both to acquire, conserve and defend the Rights of his Crown and Kingdom, and not do any thing therein against him, or those Rights which his Predecessors and he by ancient and approved custome had used, nor give their assent to any one that should attempt to procure or ordain any thing against the same, under pain of violating their Oathes, and forfeiting all the Temporalities they held of him. And so to demean themselves therein, that he might rather commend and render them special thanks for their benefit and virtue, then reprehend or reprove them for ingratitude, in due time.

The King by former experiments having * juſt grounds to ſuſpect they would rather comply with the Pope againſt their Oathes, then with him, to the betraying of the Rights of his Crown and Realm to his Papal Uſurpations, which God by his extraordinary providence thus prevented in a great meaſure.

torum Regnorum spacium scandala generarunt. Matth. Westwille addit; Archiepiscopus autem Rothomag. P. & Abbas Sancti Dionysii, natione Anglus, cum hæc audissent, volentes Priores datores superare, tantam in moneta numeratam pecuniam Thesauris Papali addiderunt, ut hæc scientibus, quantitas & numerus stuporem non immerito generaret. Unde Archiepiscopus suam relinquens Ecclesiam, irrestitabiliter pecunia spoliata, in Cardinalem multo Domino Papæ specialem, meruit sublimari; Abbas autem Sancti Dionysii in Archiepiscopum Rothomag. simili conditione pomposius insulari: Abbas vero Cluniacensis in Episcopum Lingonesem, quod multum desideraverat, ut unus esset ex Paribus France, incathedrari. Cito etiam post, Archiepiscopus Lugdunensis, vir sine querela, & pacificus, & jam vergens in ætatem senilem & valetudinariam, nolens aliquatenus, ut Papam saginaret, suam Ecclesiam destruere, imò potius dolens, quod Papa totam Christianitatem & universalem Ecclesiam turbaturus, illuc adventasset, & suum Archiepiscopatum onerasset sua præsentia, & ad Concilium Prælatorum universalium advenientium, omnia in manus Domini Papæ sponte resignavit. Cujus loco, Papa procurante, vir bellicosus, & secularibus negotiis aptior quam spiritualibus, subrogatus est, Philippus de Sabaudia, frater Archiepiscopi Cantuar. Bonifacii, ut sic Papa tantis viris & tam generosis suam partem cautius roboraret, & genus eorum Romana Curie astutius confederaret;

* Curam animarum non sine multorum iurorum obloquutione postponendo. Electus igitur Lugdunensis, Philippus memoratus, ex Papali indulgentia opimos redditus, quos in Anglia habuit & multis aliis locis, licenter retinens, ut fortius & efficacius Papalibus intenderet & secularibus negotiis, suam diu distulit consecrationem, nec officium Episcopale curabat exercere. Similiter & frater ejus, Cantuar. Archiepiscopus Bonifacius, suæ immemor Ecclesiæ, nec recolens sanctitatis suorum in Ecclesia Cantuar. prædecessorum, quasi nauta navem, curam omisit pastoralis; & se per multum tempus in partibus Lugdunensibus, multum a Cantuar. distantibus commorans, absentavit. Unde Ecclesia Anglicana, quæ per ipsum speraverat respirasse, pro consolatione induit confusionem et desolationem. Alii quoque Prælati, singulis diebus ad Curiam Papalem adventantes, munera impreciabilia, quæ stuporem intuentibus merito possent generare, festinanter ac certatim Romano Pontifici obtulerunt. Ita ut videretur multis, & ab eisdem palam affirmaretur, quod Dominus Papa propter hoc Lugdunum gratanter venisset potius, quam à facie alicujus aufugisset. Quibus omnibus Dominus Papa sinum, ne contemptus & elatio videretur, acceptationis aperuit: asserendo se multo pluribus indigere, honestas præferens suæ indigentia jugiter excusationes, cum secundum, nescitur si vera, ejus assertionem, Romana Ecclesia occultis de causis, plus quam in centum & quinquaginta millibus librarum approbatæ monetæ exceptis usuris, quæ serè ad numerum fortis ascendebant, teneretur obligata.

Mat. Paris Hist. Angliæ, Edit. Londini 1640. p. 638. Papæ volenti invadere quasdam Præbendas vacantes, resistunt Canonici Lugdunenses.

Eodem tempore, cum vellet Dominus Papa (for his kind reception at Lione, by his Provisions) quibusdam Præbendis Lugdunensis Ecclesiæ vacantibus quosdam alienigenas consanguineos vel affines suos, inconsulto Capitulo intrudere, resisterunt ei in facie Canonici Lugdunenses; comminantes, et cum juramento obtestantes, (most likely by the English Nobilities examples) quod si tales apud Lugdunum apparerent, non possent eos vel Archiepiscopus vel Canonici protegere, quin in Rhodanum mergerentur. Nec ipsi, qui beneficium fuerant accepturi, ultra usquam comparuerunt. Eisdemque diebus, dum quidam Ostiarius Domini Papæ protervius cuidam Civium Lugdunensium, introitum civiliter & humiliter postulanti, incivilius & frontosius, quam deceret, denegaret; idem Civis indignatus & iratus, manum prædicti Ostiarii penitus amputavit. Unde idem mancus, cum coram Domino Papa gravem reponeret querimoniam, brachium suum ostendens mutilatum, Dominus Papa, secundum legem Civitatis, vindictam sibi postulavit exhiberi. Quam Philippus de Sabaudia, custos pacis Ecclesiasticæ, procuravit quasi quasi modo, ut honoz Papalis saltem superficialiter salvaretur. Had his Papal Usurpations and Agents been thus resolutely opposed in other places, the world had never been so oppressed and molested by them, as they were to their intolerable vexation.

The day of the Session of the Council of Lyon summoned by this Pope, being come, come, our Historians give us this account of the Inception thereof, and Proceedings therein.

Anno gratiæ millesimo ducentesimo quadragesimo (misprinted decimo) quinto, sub Innocentio tertio Papa, celebrabatur aliud Concilium generale proximum, in quo decretum & scriptum est, quod non deberet de jure Concilium generale celebrari, nisi semel infra quinquaginta annos, quod est spacium clausum jubileo. Anno enim jubileo, vel infra tempus contentum infra annos quinquaginta, semel celebrari habet generale Concilium: in quo omnia collapsa habent reformari, & in bono statu restitui & solidari.

Alius igitur Solis orbita cursum suum peragente, videlicet circa ætatis medium, cum jam festum Nativitatis beati Johannis Baptista advenisset, congregati sunt Lugdunensi ex totius fere Christianitatis latitudine Prælatorum venerabilium innumere multitudo, vel eorum idonei; Imperatoris quoque, & multorum Principum, aliorumque Procuratores, secundum Papalis mandati tenorem, Concilium celebraturi. Multo tamen, ne advenirent, impedivit Imperator Fredericus, præsciens quod ad suum impedimentum & dedecus ipsos Papa convocarat. Absentes autem quamplurimi Prælatorum, per eos quos promiserunt procuratores, sese ex legitimis causis sufficienter excusarunt. Multi etiam Prælati ex Anglia tum propter senium, tum propter infirmitatem, tum per Regias preces pacifice remanserunt, sese per procuratores suos destinatos rationabiliter excusantes, ut supra latius dictum est. Inter quos, Abbas Sancti Albani, corpore gravis, & jam ad senilem declinans ætatem, Magistro Martino, qui tunc temporis in Anglia prosperè commorabatur, testimonium veritatis suæ per hoc perhibente, se rationabiliter per quendam Monachum suum, Johannem videlicet de Bulum, & quendam Clericum suum, Magistrum Rogerm de Holdene, suam excusavit absentiam: & sic indemnis & quietus remansit, Domino Papa per ipsos civiliter salutato. Veruntamen de Regno Hungaria, quæ pro multa sui parte per Tartaros est vastata; nulli venerunt; & propter regionum distantiam nullus advenire valuit, aut voluit. De Alemania, bello Imperiali perturbata, pauci Prælati ad Concilium minimè convenire potuerunt. De Terra vero Sancta, quæ multo patuit discrimini, nullus penitus potuit illuc advenire, sed nec advocari. Occasionaliter tamen illuc advenit de Terra Sancta Episcopus Beritensis, totius Syria Nuncius generalis, & Syndicus omnium Christianorum Terra Sancta; mandatum bajulans lugubre, de exterminio, permittente Deo, in Terra Sancta perpetrato.

Dum autem Dominus Papa multos jam Prælatos, licet tamen non omnes, vidisset congregatos, die Lunæ proxima post festum Nativitatis Sancti Johannis Baptista: intravit Dominus Papa cum fratribus Cardinalibus, Patriarchis, Archiepiscopis, Episcopis, & aliis Prælati ad Concilium convocatis, simul & procuratoribus absentium tam Principum quam Prælatorum, in refectorium Religiosorum Sancti Iusti, apud Lugdunum. Fuerunt itaque ibidem absque Cardinalibus, duo Patriarchæ, scilicet Constantinopolitanus, qui & Antiochenus, & Patriarcha Aquilegia, qui & Venetia: Imperator quoque Constantinopolitanus, Comes etiam Tholosanus, & procuratores Anglia, Comes Bigod, cum sociis suis Nobilibus; Archiepiscopi vero & Episcopi, Centum & Quadraginta. Proposuitque Patriarcha Constantinopolitanus statum & necessitates Ecclesiæ suæ, asserens, quod olim habuit sub se Suffraganeos plus quam triginta, quorum vix jam tres remanserunt. Subjungens insuper, quod Ægi; et quidam alii infantes Ecclesiæ Romanæ, totum jam Imperium Romania fere usque ad portas Civitatis Constantinopolis violenter occuparunt; qui in nullo Romanæ Ecclesiæ obediunt, ipsamque detestantes, hostiliter eidem adherant. Unde dolor & confusio omnium Christianorum imminet, cum ipsa sua Ecclesia primo fuisset privilegiata, et merito plus cæteris honoranda: primo enim constat, beatum Petrum Antiochiæ (quæ Civitas *Ægi*orum Imperio vel Regno subiecta est) ab antiquo sedisse: et inde Simonem Magum, et alios Hæreticos, confusos aufugasse. Ad quod Papa tacuit. (being unable to reply thereunto.) Consequenter propositus fuit sermo fidelis, & omni acceptatione dignus, de canonizatione scilicet beati Edmundi Cantuariensis Archiepiscopi: quem Dominus evidentissimis miraculorum signis illustravit. Cujus rei assertioni, cum constanter testimonium octo Archiepiscopi, & circiter viginti Episcopi perhibuissent, & instanter, ut in ipso Concilio veneranter, ad majorem solennitatem, canonizaretur, postularent: ait Domi-

nus Papa, non suo, sed aliorum spiritu invidorum aversus, dicens; Urgent nos, dilationem non capientia Ecclesie nimis ardua negotia, quare hoc merito ad præsens tempus suspendere debeat expectatum. Sed, vita Comite, in posterum neglectui non commendabitur: & quis Deus & mundus sanctitati & virtutibus ejus perhibere testimonium, in Domino gaudemus, & gratias ipsi referimus uberiores. Affuit etiam præsens ibidem Thaddæus de Suissa, Domini Imperatoris Frederici procurator, vir prudens, & eloquentiæ singularis, Miles, & Legum Doctor, & Sacri Palatii Judex Imperialis: pro Domino suo Imperatore, tam constanter, quam diligenter responsurus. Imperator vero præsciens graves fore quaestiones movendas (nec immerito) contra ipsum, necnon & Papalem iram diutinam, jam versam in odium, discretos ac solennes suos procuratores & prolocutores ad Concilium destinavit, viz. Thaddæum de Suissa, Petrum de Vineis, & Magistrum Walterum de Oera, Clericos facundos & discretos, & cum eis Milites Nobiles & disertos. Congregata vero sancta & universali Synodo, in Ecclesia Sancti Justi apud Lugdunum, proposuit in medio Dominus Papa graves contra Fredericum querimonias, ita ut intelligerent liquido omnes maxime propter hoc Concilium fuisse convocatam. Inter quas graves querimonias gravissima contra Imperatorem Fredericum resonabat, quod Prælatos in mari truculenter invaserat, submerserat, cepit, & incarceravit. Procuratores vero, prout causa eorum toleravit, satis prudenter ad objecta responderunt. Pro cujus pace, & pristinae amicitiae reformatione, Thaddæus obtulit pro Domino suo Imperatore confidenter, ad unitatem Romanae Ecclesie totum Romania, id est, Gracia Imperium, revocare: & quod sese Tartari, & Choroasmis, & Saracenis, & aliis Ecclesie hostibus & contemptoribus, Christo fideliter militando, potenter opponet. Et quod statum Terræ Sanctæ discrimini magno & manifesto periculo jam patentem, suis sumptibus propriis personaliter, pro posse suo reformabit, & ablata Romanae Ecclesie restituendo, de injuriis satisfacere. Ad quæ omnia respondit Dominus Papa, dicens exclamando: O quam multa & quam magna sunt promissa, nunquam vel nusquam tamen adimpleta vel adimplenda. Sed & hæc nunc constat sunt promissa, ut securus jam ad radicem posita, illuso Concilio, & soluto, per dilationem avertatur. Pacem nuper in anima sua juratam, secundum formam præstiti sacramenti teneat, & adquisco: Porro

Note the infolency of this Roman Pontiff.

Et si concederem sibi postulata, & resilire vellet, nec aliud spero, quis nunc pro eo cavens fidejuberet, ut cogeret resilientem? Et cum duos Reges, videlicet Francorum & Anglorum, Thaddæus ad hoc spondisset fidejussores, Respondit Dominus Papa: Nolumus, Quia si pacta commutasset, vel penitus infirmasset, nec aliud credimus, propter frequentiam, aliquo tempore in posterum, oppoteret nos animadvertere in eosdem: & tunc haberet Ecclesie tres, quibus non sunt in seculari potentia majores, imò nec pares, inimicos. Sed cum rationes Papales prævaluissent, omnes ferè in ipsum Imperatorem frenduerant, Anglici tamen dolentes de sua confusione, propter affinitatem, quæ inter Dominum ipsorum, Regem Angliæ, & ipsum Imperatorem contrahabatur, & sedus amicitiae inter ipsos initum, & prolem, quam ex Isabella Imperatrice, Imperator susceperat, diu dissimulantes siluerunt. Invaluerunt tamen undique insurgentes Imperatoris adversarii, nec poterant Imperiales Nuncii vel exaudiri, vel audiri. Et cum procuratio Thaddæi ad hoc non sufficeret, neque temporis satis habuerit, ut hæc consummarentur competenter, siluit contristatus. Unde Thaddæus, (soon after) videns damnationem Domini sui imminere ait, Verè dies ista, dies ira, calamitatis, & miseria. Thereupon, Gulielmus de Powic, qui cum Nobilibus Domini Regis Angliæ procuratoribus, Comite Rogero, & aliis sociis præsens affuit, volens hæc prædicta per interruptionem disferre, assidentibus ibidem Anglicana universitatis procuratoribus assurgens in medio, gravamina Regni Angliæ, ex parte universitatis Angliæ, proponens satis eleganter, conquestus est graviter, Quod tempore belli (guetæ) per Curiam Romanam extortum est Tributum injuriose nimis a Rege Johanne, dum summa mentis angustia torqueretur, cui etiam manifeste contradictum fuit, et ex parte universitatis Regni reclamatum, quod talia nullo modo facere poterat, per os venerabilis Stephani Cantuariensis Archiepiscopi, quo non erat tunc major in Regno. In quod Tributum nunquam Patres Nobilium Regni, vel ipsi consenserant, nec consentiunt, neque in futurum in aliquo tempore consentient, unde sibi petit instanti exhiberi iustitiam cum remedio. Ad quod Papa nec oculos elevans, nec vocem, verbum non respondit, sed dissimulavit, donec quæ magis eum angebant primitus exuperasset. Et post paululum silentii, dictus Magister Gulielmus proposuit in medio gravissimam questionem de multiformi reddituum extortione et pecuniæ in Angliâ per Curiam Romanam factam, a Prælatiis Angliæ, quasi a servis ultimæ conditionis: hanc elegantem ostendens Epistolam ex parte universitatis Angliæ.

Reverendo in Christo Patri, Innocentio Dei gratiâ Summo Pontifici, Magistro et universitas Regni Angliæ, recommendationem, cum pedum osculo beatorum. Matrem nostram Romanam Ecclesiam totis visceribus diligimus & amamus, ut debemus; & ipsius honoris incrementum & augmentum, affectione quanta possumus affectamus, ad quam habere refugium nos oportet temporibus opportunis; ut dolor aggravans filialis, materno solatio mitigetur. Quod quidem solatium, mater filio eo tenetur mitius & facilius impertiri, quo ipsum materna dulcedine alimento, gratum repetit & devotum. Et quidem non potest immemor mater illa illius gratitudinis, quam ei a longe retroactis temporibus Regnum Anglicanum impendit, concedendo eidem, ad exaltationem suam, et conservationem majorem, subsidium decens, et non modice fructuosum: ut per hoc inter Ecclesiam ipsam et Regnum prædictum, fœdus dilectionis firmius iniretur. Quod quidem subsidium, processu temporis beati Petri denarius extiterit nuncupatum. Ipsa vero Ecclesia huiusmodi subsidio non contenta, aliis temporibus tam per Legatos, quam per alios Nuncios multiplicatos, subsidia petebat diversa in Regno prædicto: quæ ei a filiis suis, tanquam devotis, et matrem suam sinceræ dilectionis brachiis amplectantibus, fuerunt concessa liberaliter et libenter. Paternitatem etiam vestram non credimus ignorare, quod Prædecessores nostri, sicut viri Catholici, creatorem suum diligentes pariter & amantes, animarum suarum, & Prædecessorum suorum, nec non & successorum salutem insisterere cupientes, Monasteria fundaverunt, & bonis suis, tam terris Dominicis, quam Ecclesiarum patronatibus ditaverunt: ut viri Religiosi in Monasteriis illis primam Religionem laudabiliter exercentes, & cum summa devotione altissimo famulantes, pace & plena tranquillitate possent gratulari, prout Religioni dignoscitur convenire, de dictis Dominicis necessaria capientes. Et ut Clerici sui patronatum suorum Ecclesias obtinentes, pro eis labores subirent exteriores, & eos defenderent, imbecilles Religioni secunda, ab incursum aliorum. Quapropter non sine magna molestia nostra, et gravamine intollerabili nobis valde, præfati religiosi possent patronatibus suis, aut Ecclesiarum collationibus, aliquatenus defraudari. Sed ecce per vos et prædecessores vestros, nullam considerationem habentes, quod præter subsidia supradicta, jam distantur in Angliâ Italici (quorum est jam numerus infinitus) Ecclesiis ad ipsorum religiosorum spectantibus patronatus, qui rectores Ecclesiarum dicuntur, præfatos religiosos, quos deberent defendere, relinquentes penitus indefensos, nullam curam animarum gerentes, sed Lupos rapacissimos gregem dispergere, et oves rapere permittentes. Unde vere dicere possunt, quod non sunt boni pastores, quoniam oves suas non cognoscunt, nec pastorum notitiam oves habent. Hospitalitati Eleemosynarumque largitioni, sicut statutum est in Ecclesia, non insistant: sed fructus tantum percipiunt, extra Regnum asportantes, Regnum non mediocriter depauperando, et redditus occupando. Quibus redditibus fratres, nepotes, consanguinei nostri, et ceteri bene meriti de Regno Angliæ prædicto beneficiarii teneantur; qui possent et debent dicta charitatis opera, et etiam amplius aucta misericorditer et pie exercere, et Ecclesiis ipsis personaliter deservire; ut qui altari deserviunt, vivant etiam de altari, secundum dictum Pauli. Ipsi vero nunc necessitate compulsi, laici et exules sunt effecti. Ut autem vobis veritas plenius innotescat, Italici percipientes in Anglia sexaginta millia Marcarum, et eo amplius annuatim (aliis perceptionibus diversis exceptis) plus emolumentum meri redditus de Regno reportant, quam ipse Rex, qui est tutor Ecclesie, et Regni gubernacula moderatur. Porro, post creationem vestram firmiter sperabamus, et adhuc speramus, eam de vobis fiduciam reportantes; quod vestra paternitatis misericordia mediante, gaudebimus Eleemosynas nostras predictas, tempore vestro fore statui debito et pristino reformandas. Sed tacere non possumus gravamen nostrum, quo non solum gravamur, sed etiam opprimimur ultra modum. Videlicet, quod Hagister Martinus prefatum Regnum, sine Domini Regis licentia, cum majori potestate, quam unquam vidimus habere Legatum a Domino Rege postulatam, nuper ingressus (licet non utens legationis insigniis, multiplicato tamen legationis officio) novas quotidie proferens potestates inauditas, excedens excedit: quaedam beneficia jam vacantia, triginta Marcas, vel amplius, annuatim valentia, personis Italicis conferendo: quibus decedentibus, et patronis ignorantibus, alii supponuntur; et sic patroni suis collationibus defraudantur. Adhuc etiam idem Hagister Martinus beneficia consimilia, cum ea vacare contigerit, personis nititur assignare. Quorundam beneficiorum collationem Sedi Apostolicae reservando, et a viris religiosis pensiones immoderatas insuper extorquendo: contradictores et resistentes Excommunicationis et Interdicti sententis passim, non absque magno discrimine et animarum periculo, supponendo. Cum igitur prefatus Hagister Martinus, non sine totius Regni perturbatione non modica, jurisdictionem exercens memoratam, quam a conscientia vestra credere non possumus emanasse, eo quod in multis majori fungeretur officio, quam unquam fungi Legatum aliquem videremus, privilegio Domini Regis admodum derogando, per quod ei a Sede Apostolica specialiter indulgetur, ne quis in Anglia legationis fungatur officio, nisi a Domino Rege specialiter postulatus: Sanctae paternitati vestrae supplicamus quantum possumus humiliter et devote, quatenus, cum pius patet ad relevationem oppressionis filiorum manum misericordiae teneatur extendere; ab oppressionibus et gravaminibus memoratis, nos velit vestra paternitatis benignitas tempestivo ac efficaci remedio, cito relevare. Quantumcunque namque Dominus noster Rex, qui est Princeps Catholicus, et jugi vigilatione obsequiis divinis intendit, corporis sui consumptionem non considerans, in obsequio Jesu Christi sedem velit Apostolicam rebereri, et Ecclesiae Romanae, sicut filius ejus charissimus, commodi et honoris desideret incrementum et augmentum; jure tamen Regio dignitateque Regia plenius conservatis: nos tamen, qui in negotiis suis portamus pondus dierum et aestus, et quibus una cum ipso Domino Rege, intendere conservationi Regni diligenter incumbit, dictas oppressiones, Deo et hominibus detestabiles, et gravamina nobis intolerabilia, non possumus aequanimiter tolerare; nec per Dei gratiam amplius tolerabimus, vestrae pietatis remedio mediante; quod festinum et tempestivum, habere credimus et speramus.

mus. Placeat igitur paternitati vestre hanc supplicationem nostram taliter exaudire, quod a Magnatibus et universitate Regni Angliæ, tanquam a filiis in Christo charissimis, speciales gratias de beatis merito reportare. A memorable Epistle, worthy the Magnanimity, Honour, Gallantry of the free-born English Nobility, Gentry, Nation.

Cum autem per prædictos Nuncios in medio Concilio legerentur, & in propatulo manifesto, facto optimo silentio, proponerentur, Dominus Papa non respondit: quia, ut asseruit, tam arduum negotium morosa indignis deliberatione. Suspendit igitur ad tempus responsum, licet urgerent inlittant Nuncii prædicti, tam solennes & magnifici, postulantes certam super his responsum, indultanter tamen se responsa daturum pollicendo. Addebant quoque idem Nuncii, prioribus querimoniam gravem & feriam; videlicet, de violenta oppressione, intolerabili gravamine, et impudenti exactione et injuria, quæ per hanc invisam adjectionem, Papalibus Literis frequenter insertam, Non obstante, &c. exercebatur; per quam jus pro nihilo habetur, et autentica scripta enervantur. Altiori igitur insultus negotio Dominus Papa, postquam se talia providè promiserat correcturum, in Dominum Imperatorem Fredericum, sine aliqua palpatione, dissimulatione, vel dilationis indultu, sententiam depositionis in pleno Concilio, licet Thaddæus et ejus socii constanter reclamassent, plenam satisfactionem pollicentes, non sine omnium audientium et circumstantium stupore et horrore terribiliter fulminavit, as Matthew Westmister, or fulguravit, as Matthew Paris phraseth it.

Non obstante.

Before I proceed to the Popes Excommunication and Deposition of the Emperor Frederick in this General Council, formerly excommunicated by his Predecessor Pope Gregory, I shall by way of Introduction render you a brief account of Pope Gregory's death, the schismes amongst the Cardinals about the New Popes Election, long vacancy of the See by reason of it, and of this Popes malicious proceedings against the Emperor before this Council assembled.

Pope Gregory after many unchristian contests with the Emperor, dying suddenly of grief and discontent, because the Emperor had surprised a strong Castle he had newly built, and committed to the custody of his Bishops, * Quod Caltrum Papa de novo, de pecunia Crucifignatorum construxerat ad parentelæ suæ tuitionem: Quod Caltrum Imperator subito oblectum subvertit, & omnes quos in eo invenit, suspendit. Et in signum talis subversionis, quandam Turrem semidirutam reliquit, ut memoria tam culpæ quàm vindictæ nequaquam moreretur. Quod Dominus Papa, conceptos, quos tamen ipse sibi suscitaverat dolores, impotens sustinere, undecimo Cal. Septemb. viam universæ carnis est ingressus, pro meritis à summo Judice recepturus. Thereupon the See continued voyd for some space upon this occasion, which hindred the Election. * Ipsorum dierum curriculo, mortuo, ut prædictum est, Gregorio Papa, fuerunt decem Cardinales in Curia præsentibus, duobus existentibus in carcere Imperatoris. Qui cum, ut moris est, tractassent de electione, quia mutilata fuit conicio eorum, non poterant concorditer vel competenter in unum convenire. Miserunt ergo ad Imperatorem humiliter postulantes, duos Cardinales confratres suos sub quacunque vellet conditione ad Curiam destinaret, ne promotio universalis Ecclesiæ, quæ maximè consistit in electione Papali, per ipsum impeditur. Quod Imperator benignè concessit, mitigatus precibus Comitissæ Richardi, ita videlicet, ut de eorum reditu ad Carcerem & ad Priorem statum & conditionem, nisi Otto in Papam eligeretur, remearent. Convenientibus igitur in unum, in Palatio quod Regia Solis dicitur, Quinque Cardinales elegerunt sextum, scilicet Gulfridum Medulanensem, et huic electioni fides Imperatoris congratulans. Tres verò residui elegerunt quartum, scilicet Romanum, cui electioni opposuit se Imperator, habuit enim ipsum infamem, tum propter persecutionem universitatis Parisiæ, quando etiam dicebatur corrupisse Reginam Francia B. tum quia imponebatur ei, quod foverat dissidium inter Papam Gregorium jam defunctum, & ipsum Imperatorem. (A just cause of the Emperors refusing him, and vindication of his old Prerogative in the election of Popes.) Nomina eligentium primam sunt, Egidius Aspinus, Stephanus filius Comitissæ, Episcopus Portuensis, Ramerus de Viterbio, Johannis de Columna, Robertus de Sumercost mercote Anglicum. Nōmina autem eligentium alterum; sunt; Richardus Hannibal, Episcopus Hoffiensis, qui de more primam habet vocem in electione Papali, & Symbaldus Episcopus Sabinensis. Suscitatum est grave schisma inter fratres propter dictas electiones, quia debet haberi Papa & acclamari, cujus electioni duo partes consenserint electorum. Juxta decretalem illam Alexandrinam quæ sic incipit, Licet de vitanda discordia, &c. Et sic infecto tanto Ecclesiæ negotio, divisi sunt, imo potius dispersi mentibus et corporibus. (Such was the Unity of the Cardinals and Church of Rome in That Age, whereof they so much boast in This.)

Sub ejusdem temporis mutabilitate, Magister Robertus de Sumercote, Cardinalis, vir discretus & circumspectus, omnibus amabilis merito & graciosus natione Anglicus, dum in Palatio, quod Regia Solis dicitur, inclusus tenebatur, cum aliis fratribus de electione tractantibus, viam universæ carnis est ingressus, potionatus, ut dicitur, eo quod Papatui dignus videbatur & idoneus, ab æmulis suis Romana nationis, qui eum contemnebant. Simili peste quidam alius perit, insidiis præventus invidorum. Johannes quoque de Columna, Cardinalis, dirutis Castris suis & Palatio à Romanis, eo quod Imperatori favorabilis videbatur, captus est, et custodiæ carcerali mancipatus.

Mat. Paris, p. 557, 558. Redit Otto in carcerem Imperatoris.

Divisis circa illud tempus omnibus fere Cardinalibus et dissidentibus, et electione Papali sub desperatione suspensa, rediit Otto ad carcerem Imperatoris, ut interpositos obsides liberaret, & se a præstito sacramento & fidei interpositione adquietaret. Et hoc valde acceptavit Imperator. Veruntamen adhuc ipsum tenuit incarceratum offensus idcirco, quia ipsum Imperatorem in Anglia Legatus excommunicavit, et excommunicari permisit, et non mediocriter diffamavit. Sed mitius egit cum eo, quia invidus hoc fecisse perhibetur, obediendiæ Papalis coactus violentia.

After this, Ipso quoque Anno, post multas disceptationes et diversa schismata, tam damnosa quam periculosa, inter Cardinales, Sathana seminante, suscitata, elegerunt fratres, jam pauci facti a tribulatione malorum et doloze, Magistrum Gafridum Mediolanensem in Papam, (who was called Cælestine the 4th.) virum moribus prædicitum & scientia, sed in ætatem senilem jam declinantem & debilitatum. Unde cum jam vix sexdecim diebus sedisset, præmatura morte præventus, naturæ debita persolvens, utinam non, ut dicitur, potionatus, sedem Papalem, imo universalem Ecclesiam reliquit desolatam.

Colloquium Episcoporum Angliæ.

Eisdem temporibus convenerunt Episcopi Angliæ, videlicet Archiepiscopus Eboracensis, Lincolniensis, Norwicensis, Carleolensis, cum aliis multis gravibus religiosis ac discretis Ecclesiasticis personis, tractaturi super multiplici desolatione Ecclesiæ, & divinam consolationem postulaturi. Statuerunt igitur quasdam orationes speciales cum jeuniis fieri ab Ecclesia generaliter per Angliam, ut Dominus Ecclesiam Romanam Pastoralis & Papali regimine destitutam, relevare & restaurare dignaretur. Exemplum accipientes in actibus Apostolorum, quando incarcerato Petro oravit Ecclesia pro eo sine intermissione. Consenserunt etiam in unum, ut ad Dominum Imperatorem mitterent universi Nuncios favorabiles cum precibus lachrymabilibus, quatenus rancorem & omnem animi indignationem pro salute animæ sincero corde remittens, deposita omni tyrannide, Ecclesiæ Romana promotionem non impediret, imò misericorditer respirare permittens, licet laceratus, studeret promovere. Mortui enim erant, qui ipsum ad iram provocaverant. Tyrannicum enim videbatur, & rationi dissonum, ut innocui culpam luerent nocivorum. Et eum circa electionem Nunciorum, qui etiam transitum facientes per Franciam & alias regiones intermedias, obiter Prælatos ad similia provocarent eleganter & diligenter, sollicitarentur, quilibet eorum causas cavillatorias prætendens, onus tantæ sollicitudinis ac periculosi laboris pro Christo & ejus Ecclesia assumere sibi recusavit. Tandem, quia impedit? Profecto non ego. Imo pertinax Ecclesiæ Romanæ superbia, et insatiabilis cupiditas. Et si impeditoꝝ successum tam Anglicanæ quam Romanæ fozem Ecclesiæ, quis administraretur? Hæc enim summo pere me conatur ab Imperiali culmine præcipitare: illa me excommunicando, non mediocriter dissimando, pecuniam in meum detrimentum suam effundere non desistit. Et sic carebat præparatus costis Episcopozum Angliæ in hac parte efficacia, et profectu præbatur. Proceſſit igitur annus ille Curiz Romanæ inimicissimus, peccatis ejus illud manifeste promerentibus.

Prædicatores & Minores, quia vagi sunt, & norunt omnes provincias peragrarè expediti, ad hoc elegerunt, cum alios non invenissent. Quod cum ad Imperialem audientiam pervenisset, respondit Imperator: Quis promotionis Ecclesiasticæ processum impedit?

Nota.

Anno 1242. Fideles Imperatoris ceperunt habitu diffiguratum Archiepiscopum Colonia, verius Alemanniam à Roma repatriantem; qui conspiraverat ad Imperatoris defectionem simul cum ipsis Prælati, qui ad Concilium generale venire proposuerant. Sed audito eorum casu, qui per terram isse proposuerat, flexis loribus per alia diverticula remeans, postius insidias andique captus & retentus est. Sed quia is qui ceperat eum, Alemannus erat, & notus Pontifici, caute permisit eum abire, præstito sacramento & fide interposita, quod nunquam insidias vel gravamen Imperatori machinaretur. Sed illud male tenuit postea juramentum, ut in sequentibus declarabitur. (Such was the faith of Popish Prelates.)

Mat. Paris Hist. Angl. p. 563. Capitulum Archiepiscopus Coloniensis.

Tunc etiam temporis, Dominus Imperator Fredericus, significavit Cardinalibus corpore dispersis, & voluntate dissentientibus, ut in unum convenientes, unanimiter Papam eligerent. Asserebat enim, in hoc eorum crimine, etiam ipsummet notam infamiam non minimam contraxisse. Credebatur enim, & dicebatur à multis, veritatem rei ignorantibus, quod ipse principaliter Ecclesiæ Romanæ promotionem impediret, et vacationem sedis Apostolicæ procuraret. At ipsi Cardinales, non adhuc inter se saltem scintillantem sub cinere charitatis igniculum invenientes, (impediente Sathana antiquo humani generis inimico) nec concordēs, nec convenientes Pontificem Romanum eligere voluerunt. Veruntamen instantem Dominum Imperatorem Fredericum postulabant, ut si se pacis ac libertatis Ecclesiasticæ haberi cuperet amulatorem, sub bonæ pacis spe certissima, quos adhuc tenuit incarceratos Prælatos Ecclesiæ, liberos abire permitteret.

Mat. Paris, p. 579, 580. Dissidentibus Cardinalibus impeditur electio Papalis, & vacat sedes.

Imperator igitur, dictis Cardinalium fidem adhibens indubitatam, & firmiter credens, tam Papam eligendum, quam ipsos Cardinales pacem Regno et Sacerdotio congruam et honorabilem provisuros, omnes quos habebat incarceratos Prælatos et Legatos, liberos sine aliquo impedimento vel redemptione, liberaliter abire permisit.

Cardinales autem adhuc obstinati, & in dissensione & odio mutuo permanentes, et Imperatorem quasi pro deluso habentes, semine zizania inter eos Sathana; nec adhuc voluerunt convenire, ut unanimiter Spiritus Sancti gratiam invocando postularent, ut Ecclesiæ universali & Papali sedi feliciter ac rite providerent: Cum, tamen, nuper liberati à carcere Imperiali, in districto veritatis examine, & verbo veritatis, quæ est Deus, promississent ipsi Imperatori, suo liberatori, ut ipsi efficaciter pacem Ecclesiæ, & Imperio convenientem, & sedi Papali consilium, pro posse suo procurarent.

Cum autem vidisset Imperator Fredericus, hæc effectu caruisse, & se sua spe defraudatum, in iram exarduit vehementem. Et congregato exercitu copioso, ex novem aciebus constituto, qualibet ex quinque millibus armatorum equitum existente, Romanam ex magna parte obsedit, ratione eorum qui dicti schismatis, in detrimentum Ecclesiæ & Imperii, tam Civium, quam Cardinalium, procuratores & fautores esse videbantur. At Cives, causa quorum Urbem expugnare proposuisset Imperator, se legaliter excusaverunt, suam sufficienter purgantes innocentiam, & asserentes, Cardinales tam locis quam cordibus dissidentes, in diversis Urbibus dispersos fuisse et latitantes. Jussit igitur Imperator obsidionem solvi, et edicto Imperiali per totum exercitum suum proclamari ac juberi: Ut omnes possessiones et Ecclesiæ Cardinalium, et Civitates Ecclesiæ, ab ipso exercitu depopularentur.

Igitur quidam Saraceni, & alii vastatores, & malefici, tempore belli stipendiis Imperatoris militantes, irruunt in Albaniam, Nobilem Civitatem, eam feraliter devastantes, ita quod nec Ecclesiis in Civitate existentibus, videlicet centum & quinquaginta, ginta, minime pepercerunt: Asportantes vestimenta, calices, & libros, imò etiam quæcumque videbantur eis venalia, vel quomodolibet profutura, Civibus datis in prædā, & miserabile exterminium. Et cum paratus fuisset exercitus, in alias possessiones Ecclesiæ simili furore debacchari, significaverunt Cardinales Domino Imperatori, humiliter deprecantes, ut parceret iræ suæ, jubereque cessare grassatores. Et ipsi indubitanter, secundum præceptum suum et desiderium, Deum habentes præ oculis, Ecclesiæ et Imperio idoneum quantocius Romanum Pontificem providerent. Instigatus igitur Imperator, rationem vastatorum edito compescuit Imperiali. All which proceedings were evidences of his Ecclesiastical Supremacy over the Cardinals and Church of Rome it self, and election of a New Pope.

Per idem tempus, (upon the English Prelates forementioned instigation) miserunt Franci solennes Nuncios ad Curiam Romanam, significantes persuadendo præcisè & efficaciter, ut ipsi Cardinales Papam rite eligentes, universali Ecclesiæ solatium pastozale maturius providerent: vel ipsi Franci propter negligentiam eorum, de sibi eligendo et providendo summo Pontifice citra montes, cui obedire tenerentur, quantocius tractarent. Et hoc audacter significabant, consisti de antiquo privilegio suo, per Sanctum Clementem beato Dionysio concessis et obtento: qui concessit Apostolatum eidem Dionysio super gentem Occidentalem. Unde ipsi Cardinales, quasi quibuscumque stimulis, hinc Domini Imperatoris, inde Francorum agitati, Romanam convenientes adierunt, ut Papam eligerent in unum ibidem congregari.

The Cardinals thus assembled, there arose a Question amongst them, In whom St. Peters Primacy resided during the vacancy of the Roman See? At last they resolved it remained in them, and took upon them to dispose of Livings by Provisions, and to controll the Popes Provisions in England, made upon mis-information, which caused them to deferre the Election, to keep this power in their own hands the longer.

Ex parte Magistri Petri Apostolorum Principis Basilicæ Canonici, Rectoris Ecclesiæ de Morduna, nati Jacobi Johannis Capot, Civis Romani, fuit propositum coram nobis, quod dudum Sanctæ recordationis Dominus Gregorius Papa, falsis suggestionibus provocatus, Eliensis Episcopo suas direxit Literas, continentes, ut præfatus Magistro, vel alieius nomine, de proventus Ecclesiæ supradictæ minime responderet, nec etiam permitteret responderi, sed Ecclesiæ ipsam ad manum suam retinens, proventus ipsius perciperet & servaret, ut de utrisque juxta suum beneplacitum disponi deberet, contradictores per censuram Ecclesiasticam appellatione postposita compescendo. After this Act of the Cardinals Papal Authority, they proceeded to the Election of a New Pope, and on the Feast of the Nativity of St. John Baptist, An. 1243. elected and created Innocent the 4th. Pope, who being confirmed on the Feast of St. Peter and Paul, presently ratified the sentence of Excommunication, denounced by his Predecessor Pope Gregory the 9th. against the Emperor, and confederating with the Citizens of Viterbium, and the parts adjoining, raised an Army, routed the Emperors forces, took sundry Castles from him near Viterbium, and made the Emperor to retreat from thence. Videntes autem qui partes circumjacentes inhabitant, quod Imperator turpiter, non sine magno rerum dispendio & dedecore & hominum iactura secesserat, recesserunt multi à fidelitate ipsius, & Romanis atque Viterbiensibus sunt confederati; Secundum illud Poëticum:

Obscureta est igitur non mediocriter fama Imperatoris: captus enim erat Comes Simon de Tuscia, cui fiducialiter commiserat Viterbium custodiendum, cum suis complicitibus, qui Romam, captivus trahebatur, amissumque fuit ipsum Viterbium, cum quibusdam Civitatibus & Castris circumjacentibus, ipseque Imperator quasi fugaminiit. Denigrata est fama ipsius, & sinistro susurro divulgatum, quod nunquam divina officia audire dignabatur, vel orare, vel personas Ecclesiasticas digne venerari, vel in fide Catholica sane loqui vel sentire, a concubitu muliercularum Saracenarum abstinere, imo potius tam Saracenos, quam alios infideles in terram Imperii vocare, et Urbes construere permisit munitissimas. (A most notorious calumny, secretly dispersed by this Pope and his Predecessor, though abundantly refuted by the Emperors Answers to it, and Letters to Christian Princes.)

Recesserunt igitur ab Imperatore multi Nobiles et graves ac potentiores: Videlicet, Marchissi de Monte ferrato, & de Mala spina, Vercella, Alexandria, & multe Nobiles Civitates. Et multiplicati sunt inimici ejus, prout solent homines fortunæ sequentes serenitatem. In Alemannia etiam multi abierunt retrorsum; et nolentes amplius stare cum eo, alium sibi in Regem elegerunt, vel Imperatorem, videlicet Andegravium, virum elegantem & strenuum: cui Germania & Italia pars potissima consilium & auxilium usque ad caput expositionem, sponsionit indefessum. But he loving the Emperor, & Romana Curia odit civillationes; refused to consent to the Election the Papal party had made of him for their Emperor; and upon private conference with the Emperor, datis dextris confederati sunt, ut de suspecto factus est idem Andegravius amicus tutissimus, & omnibus qui eum elegerant manifestè significavit, quod tam temeræ præsumptioni non adquevit. Veruntamen, qui oderunt ipsum Imperatorem Fredericum, extulerunt caput. Intermediis igitur Nobilibus & profundi consilii personis, tractatum est diligenter de pace inter Ecclesiam & Imperatorem. Sed noluit aliquo modo Imperator jurare, ut sciret Ecclesiasticæ censuræ absolute, nisi præcognitis causis, et præbisa via, et omnibus conditionibus, nec quomodolibet quedam acquisita, ad Imperium jure antiquo spectantia, resignare. Et sic, procurante humani generis inimico, (or rather the Pope, his Vicar General, rather then Christ) ita rediit redibit. The Emperor was so desirous of Peace, that after this, se sponsionit Ecclesiæ & Ecclesiasticis Prælati satisfactum, Circa securitatem designanda, offert cautionem juratoriam, litterariam, & fidejussoriam per Reges, Principes, & Magnates, & Comites locorum. Præterea circa prædictas cautiones commisit se ordinationi Domini Papæ, & Tractatorum per præsens scriptum, (recorded at large by Matthew Paris) and Sealed with his Imperial Seal; but the Popes obstinacy would not rest satisfied therewith.

Mat. Paris, p. 592, 614. Discordia Imperatoris & Papæ omnibus necet.

Istud Papæ & Imperatoris mutuum dissidium, as it hindred him and all Christian Kings, Princes from ayding the Christians, against the cruelty of the Tartars, ad injuriam Christi, & universalis Ecclesiæ & totius Christianismi; so, totius mundi latitudinem perturbasset. Unde discordia eorum longè latèque per orbem ventilata (ucpote quibus non sunt majores, imò nec eis pares, in tota Christianitate) corda Tartarorum, imò omnium Paganorum, necnon & universorum Christi inimicorum, exhilaravit, & in spem erexit tutiorem. Adeo ut superbiendo & jactitando dicerent, Deum Christianis offensum, qui sese ad invicem impugnant & corroduunt: & sibi potius propitium Deum, qui ipsos multiplicavit, & eorum dominium dilatavit. Teæ, Sectæ pullulant, fide vacillante. Inter Ecclesiam & Imperium discordia, nunquam talis.

Interim Dominus Imperator, videns Dominum Papam ex novo creatum, confirmata Prioris sententia, ipsi nequaquam velle parcere, nolens etiam stare mandatis Ecclesiæ absolute, jussit vias, portus, & pontes arctissime custodiri, ne quis portans pecuniam, quam scholæ Romanam Curiam insatiabiliter sitire, posset transmeare. Filius autem ejus Conradus huic operi impendens diligentem, adeo vigilanter tam per mare quàm per terras transire volentibus aditus præclusit, ut nec fratribus Minoribus, vel Prædicatoribus (the Popes and his Confederates Messengers and Intelligencers) vel alicui alii transfigurato, quem deprehendere posset, pepercisset, quin comprehensum, usque ad animæ exhalationem torqueret. In the mean time Cardinal Columna died at Rome; qui inter omnes Cardinales in possessionibus sæcularibus claruit potentissimus: unde efficacissimus discordiæ inter Imperatorem & Papam seminator exstitit & sustentator. The Emperor through the Popes perverse-ness, revolting from his former promises, * Calcaneo Papali insidias tetendit, & laqueos absconditos: de quibus Dominus Papa præmonitus, Imperatoris vulpinos Mæandros, in quantum potuit, evitavit, & suspectos habuit, nec se credebatur ei, vel suis. Whereupon creating ten of his Creatures and Confederates Cardinals, he privily fled with them from Rome to Castellana, from thence to Sutrium, the Emperor informing him, Quod nihil faceret de conventis, nisi literis absolutionis prius habitis. Cui cum contradicendo respondisset Dominus Papa, hoc fore dissidium rationi, orta est discordia inter eos. Dominus igitur Papa, suæ præfagus perturbationis, extunc repentinam & clandestinam fugam arripere satagebat, nullo tamen confcio, ne fugienti Dominus Imperator repagula præpararet. Fuerunt tamen qui dicerent, * ipsum magis amore munerum, quæ delatui erant illi Cissalpin, nec ausi erant terras transire Imperatoris, ut ipsis sinum aperiens occurreret, quàm pro timore alicujus persequentis. Unde sumpta qualiquali occasione versus Januam, quæ sibi patria fuit genialis, gressus impiger dirigebat. Eadem igitur die, significatum fuit Domino Papæ, (ut idem postea assererat) quod trecenti Milites Tusci erant in veniendo ipsa nocte, ut ipsum apprehenderent. Dominus igitur Papa, non mediocriter attonitus, & perturbationis vultum præferens, in hora primi somni, relictis Papalibus ornamentis, veterem induit Senebaldum, & leviter armatus equum ascendit velocissimum, manu non vacua, & vix cubiculariis consciis, clam subitoque discedens, non equinis pepercit lateribus: ita quod ante primum, triginta quatuor milliaria pertransivit, nemine comitante, vel ipsum sequi potente. Media autem nocte clamor factus, Ecce Papa recessit, nescientibus aliquibus, nisi aliquot sed paucis Cardinalibus. Petrus verò de Capua, cum uno solo Comite, non sine viarum discrimine, sequutus, invenit Papam ipso die apud Castrum supra mare, quod dicitur Civitas vetus. Venerant autem ibidem in occursum Papæ viginti tres Galeæ, quarum unaquæque sexaginta viros benè ferro armatos, & centum & quatuor remiges assignatos continebat, exceptis nautis, & sexdecim Bargæ. Propter quod argumentosi suspicabantur, hæc omnia diu antè prævisa Dominum Papam desiderasse. Fuerunt autem cum armatis, & eis præfuerunt, potestas Janua, quem Admiratum vocant, & majores Civitatis, qui se omnes jactabant esse vel affines vel consanguineos Papæ, propter retributionem. Intravit igitur unam Galeiarum illarum Dominus Papa, serò cum septem Cardinalibus, & paucis aliis comitantibus. Et vix magnum mare intraverant navigantes, ecce occupat ipsos tempestas validissima, non tamen ex adverso, et ereatis velis, non sine maximo timore et periculo, eadem via qua navigan-tes capti erant Prelati, per centum milliaria; die Veneris sequenti, compellente tempestate rapti, applicuerunt in portu insulæ cuiusdam Pisanorum; and at last after many perils and difficulties he arrived at Janna; where, Receptus est à concivibus, consanguineis, & affinis suis, in Urbe ipsa qua natus est, in campanarum classico, in cantu & Musicis instrumentis, Dicentibus omnibus & conclamantibus: Benedictus qui venit in nomine Domini. Quibus & ipsi responderunt: Anima nostra sicut passer de laqueo venatoris crepta est.

Cum autem Domino Imperatori hæc innotuissent, morè Satyrico infrendit, & ait, scriptum est, Fugit impius nemine persequente. Obstupuit & doluit nimis, & suorum Portuum & Civitatum custodes ignavæ & desidæ redarguit, qui adversarios suos permiserunt liberè pertransire. Fecit igitur in circuitu Jannæ, præcipuè versus Galliam, exitus viarum, ne ad Papam pecunia portaretur, arctissime custodiri. Et jam acclamabatur Dominus Imperator manifestus Ecclesiæ persequutor. Nec reputabat Dominus Papa adhuc ipsam Civitatem Jannam, tutum forè refugium, non ignorans potentiam Imperatoris esse latissimam, secundum illud Poëticum:

Ipsis quoque temporibus, dum videlicet Dominus Papa moram apud Jannam continuaret, consentientibus Mediolanensibus simul cum Liguribus Italicis quibusdam, etiam Romanis & multis de Nobilioribus Alemannia, procurante Papa animatur quidam de maximis Alemannia potens, quem nominant Andegravinum; ut Imperialem sibi dignitatem assumens, donec plenius exaltaretur, ope fultus multiplici tam Prælatorum quàm Magnatum, bellum moveret contra Tyrannum Fredericum, persecutorem Ecclesiæ jam publicum & generalem. * Denigrata est enim fama sua, non medio-criter, & dicebatur quod jam non firmo gressu in lege Domini ambularet, Saracenis confederatus, Saracenicis meretriculas sibi retinens concubinas, & alia quæ relatu sunt indigna & morosa. Cumque hæc attentaturus memoratus Andegravinus, secum & Optimatibus suis convocatis deliberaret, quid super hoc agendum, dixerunt ei amici sui, temerarium forè hoc aggredi, & ancipiti casui se, qui tranquilla pace gaudebat, committere, quicquid pars Papalis ei promitteret. Et dum super hoc penderet sententia, ecce Imperator rapido cursu illuc advolans, paucis & consciis & concomitantibus, cui hæc nota facta sunt, animum dicti Andegravii adeo effeminatum divertit ab hoc proposito, quod facti sunt Dominus Imperator & ipse Andegravinus amicissimi & confederati & affines: & dedit Andegravinus Imperatori munera & Imperator ei. Et hoc negotio consummato, sicut clanculo venerat Dominus Imperator & subito, sic recessit. Ipsorumque temporum curriculo, ut partem suam, quam credebant adversarii jam infirmatam, magis roboraret, Dominus Imperator dedit filiam suam nuptui cuidam Principi potentissimo Gracorum, nomine Botatio Romana Ecclesiæ exoso & inobedienti, & ideo schismatico. Quod audientes adversarii Imperatoris, siluerunt confusi.

The Popes Cardinals and Kinred repaired to him to Janna, exigentes redditus ad usus filiorum & Nepotum suorum, præcipue ex Regno Angliæ sibi conferendos; yet he thought himself not secure there, by reason of the Emperors Forces surrounding all passages by Land and Sea; Hereupon the better to provide for his Nephews.

Eodem tempore se transtulit Dominus Papa clam à custodibus Imperialibus, ad Astensem Civitatem. Et citò post raptim & noctu Lugdunum se contulit. Extunc igitur cogitavit Concilium generale congregare, præcipue ut Imperatorem deponeret, et ibi, vel in inferioribus Gallia partibus ignominiose eum ab Imperiali culmine præcipitaret. Rex autem Francia comperiens, quod Dominus Papa Regno suo appropinquavit, sciens, quod de adventu suo nihil boni Regi vel Regno proveniret, convocavit Magnates suos, consulens eos quid super his foret agendum? et cum convenissent, ecce Papalis petitio directa est ad ipsum Regem et proceres, ut liceret ei ad Remensem Civitatem, quæ tunc suo Antistite viduabatur, se transferre: (which he neither could nor durst attempt, notwithstanding his Papal pretended Supremacy over all Kings, Kingdoms, without the Kings previous license.) Quod cum Franci attoniti audissent, statim constanter responderunt; Hæc se nullo modo velle tollerare. Rescripsit ergo Rex Francia Domino Papæ moderatè; Proce-res suos nullatenus velle consentire ut in Franciam veniret: timebant ne quasi mus in pera, anguis in sinu, hospites suos remuneraret: nec permetterent duo magna luminaria in suo climate apparere, ne, uno aliud absorbente, eclipsis fieret: nec valuisse verborum elegantia, in Epistola Papali composita, vel exemplum de sceleris memorie Papa Alexandro sumptum, constantiam Francorum enervare. Dicebant enim, quam dissimilis ille dicitur huic puero? Such unwelcome guests were Popes to their own most Christian Son the King, & his whole Kingdom of France; yea such pests and plagues were they to all Kingdoms, whether they or their Legates came, into whose Dominions neither they nor their Legates could nor durst enter without their Royal Assents, notwithstanding their pretended Sovereign Monarchy over all Kings and Kingdoms of the World, to dispose of them at their pleasures.

The Pope receiving this Answer from the French, by the policy of his Cardinals, greedy of English Gold and preferments, moved the King of England to entertain him in his Realm, enforming King Henry, what an extraordinary Honour and Benefit it would be to him and the whole Kingdom. Whereupon the King at first was desirous to grant this request, but upon serious advice of the Rapines, Simony and grievances that would ensue thereon, he upon second thoughts rejected it, as Matthew Paris thus attests.

Ipsis quoque diebus, Domino Papa procurante, sed tamen dissimulante, quidam Cardinalium, qui solus erant amatores pecunie, Chartam quandam Domino Regi, sub specie multæ amicitie, transmisserunt, cujus tenor talis exstitit. Consilium dāmus vobis amicissimum, vobis salubre et honorificum, et Regno vestro gloriosum, nec mediocriter profuturum; Videlicet, ut preces Domino Papa per solennes Nuncios dirigatis, humiliter eidem supplicantes, quatenus dignetur Regnum Angliæ, in quo jus dignoscitur habere speciale, sua præsentia sceleriter illustrare: Et nos ipsum supplicationi vestre reddemus, pro posse supplicando, favorabilem, qui vestrum & Regni vestri felices successus desideramus. Excellentissimus enim vobis honor foret, & gloria immortalis, ut temporibus vestris, quod non recolitur aliquibus diebus evenisse, Dominus Papa, qui patrum pater esse dignoscitur, Angloz finibus personaliter appareret. Recolimus etiam eum dixisse, unde gaudemus, quod gratanter videret desicias Westmonasterii, et divitias Londinenses. Hac cum Domino Regi innotuissent, gaudebat, & huic subdolo consilio de facili incurvaretur, nisi peritorum consiliis ad contradicendum, vel dissentiendum erigeretur. Qui dicebant, quod satis, imo nimium, jam suorum Causinorum usuris, et Romanorum ac Italicorum rapinis et simonibus, Angliæ puritas maculatur, quamvis non ipse Papa præsentialiter bona Ecclesiæ et Regni dissipet et prædetur. Similiter & Regni Francorum introitus, quem per solennes Nuncios postulavit, & Arragonum denegabatur. Infamia enim Curie Papalis id promeruerat, cujus foetor usque ad nubes fumum teterrimum exhalabat. And could he be then Christs Vicar, or St. Peters Successor?

This Pope at last coming into France, much against the Kings and many of the Clergies wills, summoned the Council of Lyons on purpose to Excommunicate and depose the Emperor, as you heard before, pronouncing him Excommunicate the second time in France, before the Council. The form of the Excommunication denounced against him in the Council, sent into England and all other places to publish, is thus registred by Matthew Paris.

Sacro præsentis Concilio, ad rei memoriam sempiternam, ad Apostolicæ dignitatis apicem, hoc insigni dignatione divine Majestatis assumpti, omnium Christianorum eam vigili sedulaque solertia gerere, ac intima considerationis oculo singulorum facta & dicta discernere, & provida deliberationis statera librare debemus, ut quos iusti virgoz examinis dignos ostenderit, congruis attollamus et evehamus favoribus; quos autem reos et culpabiles invenerimus, poenis debitis

bitis pro gravitate culpæ, afficiamus et deprimamus: appendamus semper meritum & premium aequa lance, retribuendo cuique juxta qualitatem operis, sive boni, sive mali, poena, vel gratia quantitate. Sanè cum àin bellorum discursum commotio, nonnullas professionis Christiana provincias & regiones graviter afflixisset; nos toto cupientes mentis affectu tranquillitatem & pacem Ecclesia Sancta Dei, ac generaliter cuncto populo Christiano restituere ac reducere: ad precipuum Principem sacularem, hujus dissensionis ac tribulationis auctorem, à solliciti reuerentia Gregorio Papa Prædecessore nostro, pro suis excessibus mathematicis vinculo immodatum, speciales Nuncios magnæ auctoritatis viros, venerabiles videlicet fratres nostros P. Abbatem Albanensem, tunc autem temporis Rothomagensis Archiepiscopum, & W. Sabinensem tunc, quondam vero Mutinensem, Episcopos, ac dilectum nostrum filium Gulielmum, Basilicæ duodecim Apostolorum Presbyterum Cardinalem, tunc Abbatem Sancti Facundi; qui salutem zelabantur ipsius, dñimus destinando. Facientes sibi proponi per ipsos, quod nos, & fratres nostri, quantum in nobis erat, pacem per omnia secum habere nitimur; ut cum omnibus hominibus parati sumus; optabamus pacem sibi & tranquillitatem dare, ac mundo etiam universo. Et quia Prælatorum, Clericorum, omniumque aliorum, quos designabat captivos, & omnium tam Clericorum, quàm Laicorum, quos ceperat in galcis, restitutio, poterat esse pacis & reconciliationis plurimum induciva; illam, ut eos restitueret, (cum hoc idem, tam ipse, quàm sui Nuncios, antequam ad Apostolatus vocati essemus officium, promississent) rogari & peti ab ipso fecimus per eosdem, ac proponi insuper, quod eisdem pro nobis parati erant audire & tractare pacem, ac etiam audire satisfactionem, quam facere vellet. Princeps de omnibus pro quibus vinculo erat Excommunicationis affricus, et offerri. Præterea, quod si etiam cum in aliquo contra debitum laeserat Ecclesia (quod tamen non credebat) parata erat corrigere, ac in statum debitum reformare. Et si diceret ipse, quod contra justitiam in ullo ipsum laeserat Ecclesia, vel etiam quod nos eum contra justitiam in ullo laessemus; parati eramus vocare Reges, Prælatos, & Principes, tam Ecclesiasticos, quàm saculares, ad aliquem tutum locum, ubi simul per se, vel per solennes Nuncios convenirent. Et quæ parata Ecclesia etiam de consilio Concilii sibi satisfactus, si cum laesisset in aliquo, ac revocare Excommunicationis sententiam, si quam contra ipsum injuste tulisset; & cum omni mansuetudine & misericordia, (quantum cum Deo & honore suo fieri poterat) tractare; & de injuriis & offensis ipsi Ecclesie suisque per eum irrogatis, satisfactionem ab ipso recipere. Voluit etiam Ecclesia omnes amicos suos, sibi que adhaerentes, in pace ponere, plenaque securitate gaudere; ut nunquam hac occasione possent aliquod in posterum subire discrimen, aut periculum. Sed licet sic apud eum pro pace paternis monitis & precum insistere curaverimus lenitate, idem tamen Pharaonis imitatus duritiam, & more Apud obtinens aures suas, hujusmodi preces & monita, elata obstinatione, ac obstinata elatione et superbia despectit ac contempsit. Et licet processu temporis, in die carna Domini, proximo nuper præterita præcedente, coram nobis & fratribus nostris Cardinalibus; presentibus charissimo in Christo filio nostro Constantino-politano Imperatore illustri, cætu quoque non modica Prælatorum, & de senioribus ac sanioribus Senatoribus Populoque Romano, & juxta multitudinem aliorum, qui eodem die, propter solennitatem ipsius, de diversis mundi partibus ad Apostolicam sedem convenierunt; quod sciret mandatis nostris & Ecclesie, per Nobilem virum Comitem Tholosanum, ac Magistros Petrum de Vineis, & Thaddæum de Sueffa, Curia sua Judices, & procuratores fuit, speciale super hoc ab ipso mandatum habentes, præstiterit juramentum, postmodum tamen quod juraverat, non implevit. Quomodo ea intentione ipsum præstiterit juramentum probabiliter creditur, sicut ex factis sequentibus colligitur evidenter, ut eidem Ecclesie ac nobis illuderet potius, quam pareret; cum anno & amplius jam elapso, nec ad ipsius Ecclesie gremium revocari potuerit, nec sibi de illatis ei damnis & injuriis curare satisfacere, licet super hoc extiterit requisitus. Propter quod non volentes, nec etiam valentes, absque gravi Jesu Christi offensa, ejus iniquitates & scelera amplius tolerare: cogimur, urgente nos conscientia, animadvertere in eundem. Et ut ad præsens, de cæteris ejus sceleribus & iniquitatibus taceamus; quatuor gravissima, quæ nulla possunt celeri tergiversatione, commisit. Dejeravit enim multoties pacem quondam inter Ecclesiam & Imperium reformatam, temerè violavit; Perpetravit etiam sacrilegium, capi faciens Cardinales Sanctæ Romanæ Ecclesie, ac aliorum Ecclesiarum Prælatos et Clericos, religio- sos, et saculares, venientes ad Concilium, quod idem prædecessor duxerat duceret condonandum. De haresi quoque non dubitis & levibus, sed difficilibus & evidentibus argumentis suspectus habetur: plura siquidem eum commisisse perjurya satis patet. Nam olim cum in Sicilia partibus commorabatur, priusquam esset ad Imperii dignitatem electus, coram bona memoria G. Sancti Theodori Diacono Cardinali, Apostolica sedis Legato, felicis recordationis Innocentio Papa, predecessori nostro, & successoribus ejus, Ecclesiae Romanae, pro concessione Regni Siciliae, ab eadem Ecclesia sibi facta, fidelitatis praestitit juramentum. Et sicut dicitur, illud idem postquam ad eandem dignitatem electus esset, & venit ad Ordinem, coram eodem Innocentio suisque fratribus Cardinalibus & aliis multis praesentibus, ligum homagium in ejus faciens manibus innodavit. Deinde, cum in Alemannia esset, eidem Innocentio Papa, & ipso defuncto, bona memoria Honorio Papa, predecessori nostro, & ejus successoribus, ac ipsi Ecclesiae Romanae, praesentibus Imperii Principibus ac Nobilibus, juravit, honores, jura, et possessiones Romanae Ecclesiae, pro posse suo, servare ac protegere bona fide. Et quod quaecunque ad manus suas devenirent, sine difficultate restituere procuraret, nominatis expresse dictis possessionibus in hujusmodi juramento, quod postmodum confirmavit, Coronam Imperii jam adeptus. Sed horum trium juramentorum temerarius exitit violator & transgressor, non sine prodicionis nota, et laesa crimine Majestatis. Nam contra praesatum predecessorem nostrum Gregorium, & fratres suos Cardinales, comminatorias Literas eisdem fratribus destinare; ac dictum Gregorium apud fratres ipsos, sicut apparet per Literas ab eodem tunc directas: eisdem etiam, prout fertur, per universum fere orbem terrarum multipliciter diffamare praesumpsit. Ac venerabilem fratrem nostrum Ottonem Portuensem, tunc Sancti Nicholai in carcere Tulliano Diaconum Cardinalem, & bona memoria J. Praenestinem Episcopos, Apostolica sedis Legatos, nobilia & magna Ecclesiae Romanae membra, personaliter capifecit, et bonis omnibus spoliatos, ac per diversa loca non semel ignominiose deductos et circumductos, carceribus mancipari. Privilegium insuper, quod Beato Petro, et successoribus ejus in ipso, tradidit Dominus Iesus Christus, violaret; Quodcunque ligaveritis super terram, erit ligatum & in caelis; quodcunque solveritis super terram, erit solutum & in caelis, (in quo auctoritas et potestas Romanae Ecclesiae consistit) pro viribus diminueret, vel ipsi Ecclesiae auferre satagit, scribens se praefati Gregorii Papae, predecessoris nostri, non vereri latam ab eo Excommunicationis sententiam in ipsum, non solum contemptis clavibus Ecclesiae non servando, verumetiam per se, ac officiales suos, et illam, et aliam Excommunicationis vel Interdicti sententias, quas idem omnino contempsit, cogendo et compellendo alios non servare. Possessiones quoque praefatae Ecclesiae Romanae, videlicet, Marchiam, Ducatum Beneventum, (cujus muros & turres dirui fecit) ac alias quas in Tusciae & Lombardiae partibus, & quibusdam aliis obtinebat locis, paucis excerptis, occupare non metuens, eas detinet adhuc occupatas. Et tanquam ei non sufficeret, quod manifeste, contra juramenta praesumendo talia, veniebat, per se, vel per suos officiales, earundem possessionum homines dejerare compulsi: ipsos a juramento fidelitatis, quibus tenebantur ratione Ecclesiae, de facto, cum de jure non posset, absolvens, et faciens eisdem fidelitatem nihilominus abjurare praedictam, sibi quoque fidelitatis hujusmodi juramenta praestare. Pacis vero ipsum violatorem existere plane constat; Quia cum olim tempore pacis, inter ipsum & Ecclesiam reformata, jurasset coram bona memoria J. de Abbatis Villa, Episcopo Sabinienensi, & Magistro Thomaio, tunc temporis Sanctae Sabinae Presbytero Cardinali praesentibus, cum multis aliis Praelatis, Principibus, & Baronibus, quod sciret & pareret precise, absque ulla conditione, omnibus mandatis Ecclesiae, super his, pro quibus erat vinculo Excommunicationis expressis per ordinem coram eo: tunc temporis etiam omnibus Teutoniarum hominibus, Regni Siciliae, ac quibuscumque aliis, cujuscunque conditionis aut status, qui Ecclesiae contra eum adhaererant, omnem remittens offensam et poenam: et quod in nulla tempore offenderet, vel offendi faceret ipsos, pro eo quod Ecclesiæ assiterant, præstari in anima sua per Comitem Acerrarum facient iuramentum; postmodum pacem et iuramenta huiusmodi, nequaquam erubescens irretitæ perjuris, non servabit. Nonnullos enim etiam ex ipsis hominibus prædictis, tam Nobiles, quam alios, postea capi & incarcerari fecit; & eis bonis suis omnibus spoliatis, uxores eorum & filios captivare; ac insuper terras Ecclesiæ, contra promissionem, quam eidem J. Sabinensi Episcopo, & Thomasio Cardinali fecerat, irreverenter invasis: licet ipsi ex tunc in eundem præsentem, si nullo modo prædictis articulis aut conditionibus contraveniret, Excommunicationis sententiam promulgaverunt. Et cum iidem Apostolica auctoritate sibi commissa, ipsi mandassent, ut nec per se, nec per alium impediret, quin postulationes, electiones, & confirmationes Ecclesiarum & Monasteriorum, in Regno præfato, libere de cætero fierent, secundum statutum Concilii generalis: et quod nullus deinceps in eodem Regno viris Ecclesiasticis, ac bonis aut rebus eorum, imponeret tallias vel collectas, quodque nullus ibidem Clericus vel persona Ecclesiastica de cætero in civili vel criminali causa conveniretur coram Iudice sæculari, nisi super feudis quæstio civilis haberetur; ac Templariis, Hospitalariis, & aliis personis Ecclesiasticis, de damnis & injuriis irrogatis, eis satisfacere competenter: ipse mandatum huiusmodi adimplere contempsit. Liquebat namque undecim, aut plures, Archiepiscopales, & multas Episcopales sedes, Abbatias quoque, & alias Ecclesias, ad præsens in Regno vacare prædicto; easque procurante ipso, sicut aperte patet, fuisse diutius Prælatorum regimine destitutas: in grave ipsarum præiudicium, & periculum animarum multarum. Et licet forte in aliquibus ejusdem Regni Ecclesiis, electiones sint à Capitulis celebrata: quia tamen per illa eadem familiares Clerici sunt electi, probabili potest argumento concludi, quod facultatem non habent liberam eligendi. Ecclesiarum autem ipsius Regni, non solum facultates et bona fecit prout voluit occupari, sed et cruces, calices, thuribula, et alios sacros earum thesauros, et pannos sericos, velut cultus Divini contemptor, auferri: licet, ut dicitur, ipsis Ecclesiis (exacto tamen prius pro eis certo pretio) in parte fuerint restituti. Clerici quippe collectis & tallis, multipliciter affliguntur. Nec solum trahuntur ad iudicium sæculare, sed, ut asseritur, coguntur subire duella: incarcerantur, occiduntur, et patibulis cruciantur, in confusionem et opprobrium ordinis clericalis. Præfatis autem Templariis, Hospitalariis, & personis Ecclesiasticis, non est de damnis illatis eisdem & injuriis satisfactum. Eum quoque certum est, sacrilegium esse perpetratores. Nam cum præfati Portuensis & Prænestinensis Episcopi, & quamplures Ecclesiarum Prælati & Clerici, tam religiosi, quam sæculares, ad Apostolicam sedem, pro celebrando Concilio (quod prius ipse petiverat convocari) per mare venirent, viis omnibus terra ipsius, de mandato ejus, omnino præclusis, idem destinato Henrico filio suo cum multitudine galeiarum, & per alias quamplures longe antea serio preparatas in partibus Tusciæ, maritimis insidiis positis contra eos, ut gravius posset virus vomere præconceptum, ipsos ausu sacrilego capi fecit, quibusdam Prælatorum ipsorum, et aliis in huiusmodi captione submersis; nonnullis etiam interemptis, et aliquibus hostili insequutione fugatis: reliquis autem bonis spoliatis omnibus, et de loco ad locum in Regno Sicilia opprobriose deductis, et circumductis, ac ibidem diris carceribus mancipatis; quorum aliqui macerati squaloribus et inedia pressi, miserabiliter defecerunt. Merito insuper contra eum de hæretica pravitate suspicio est exorta, cum postquam Excommunicationis sententiam a præfatis J. Sabinensi Episcopo, et Thomasio Cardinali, prolata incurrerit, et prædictus Gregorius Papa ipsum anathematis vinculo innodavit, ac post Ecclesiæ, Romanorum Cardinalium, Prælatorum, et Clericorum, a qua diversis partibus ad sedem Apostolicam venientium, captiones, claves Ecclesiæ contempserit et contemnat, sibi faciens celebrari, vel potius, quantum in eo est, prophanari divina: et constanter asseruit, ut superius est narratum, in se præfati Gregorii Papæ sententias Excommunicationis non veteri. Præterea, conjunctus Saracenis amicitia detestabili, Nuncios & munera pluries destinavit eisdem, & ab eis vicissim cum honorificentia & hilaritate recepit: ipsorumque ritus amplectitur, illos in quotidianis ejus obsequiis notabiliter secum gerens, eorundem etiam more uxoribus, quas habuit de stirpe Regia descendantibus, & nunchos, præcipue quos, ut dicitur, serio ipse castrari fecerat, non erubuit deputare custodes. Et quod execrabilius est, olim existens in partibus transmarinis, facta compositione quadam, imò verius collusione, cum Soldano, Machometi nomen, in templo Domini diebus ac noctibus publicè proclamari permisit. Et nuper Nuncios Soldani Babyloniz, postquam idem Soldanus Terræ Sanctæ, ac Christianis habitatoribus ejus, per se ac suos damna gravissima & inestimabiles injurias irrogaret: fecit per Regnum suum Siciliæ cum laudibus, adejusdem Soldani excellentiam, sicut fertur, honorificè suscipi, & magnificè procurari. Aliorum quoque infidelium perniciosi & horrendis obsequiis contra fideles abstinens, & illis qui damnabiliter vilipendentes & contemnentes Apostolicam sedem, ab unitate Ecclesiæ discesserunt, procurans affinitate ac amicitia copulari, clara memoria Ducem Bavariz, specialem Ecclesiæ Romanæ & devotum; fecit, sicut pro certo asseritur, Christiana religione despecta, per assisinos occidi: & Battacio, Dei et Ecclesiæ inimico, a communione fidelium per Excommunicationis sententiam, cum adiutoribus, conciliatoribus, et fautoribus suis solenniter separato, filiam suam tradidit in uxorem. Catholicorum vero Principum auctus & mores respuens, neglecta salutis suæ & famæ integritate, pietatis operibus non intendit. Quinimò, ut de suis nefariis dissolutionibus sileamus, cum didicerit * tantum opprimere, non curat oppressos injuriis relevare, manijus, ut decet Principem Christianum, ad elemosynas non extenta: cum destructioni Ecclesiarum insisterit, & religiosas ac alias Ecclesiasticas jugi attriverit afflictioni & persecutione personas. Nec enim & Ecclesiæ, nec ulla Monasteria, nec Hospitalia, seu alia pia loca cernitur uspiam construxisse aut fundasse. Nunc igitur hæc non levia, sed efficaciac sunt argumenta de suspensione hæresis contra eum: cum tamen hæreticorum vocabulo eos jus Civile continere asserat, & latis adversus eos sententiis debere succumbere: qui vel levi argumento à judicio Catholica Religionis & tramite detecti fuerint deviare. Præter hoc, Regnum Siciliæ, quod est * Spirituale Patrimonium beati Petri, quod idem Princeps ab Apostolica sede tenebat in feudum, jam in tantam Clericis & Laicis exinanitionem servitutemq; redegit, quod eis penè nihil haberentibus, & omnibus exinde ferè probis ejectis & expulsi, illos qui remanserunt ibidem, sub servili quasi conditione vivere, ac Romanæ Ecclesiæ, cujus principaliter sunt homines & vassalli, offendere multipliciter & hostiliter impugnare compellit. Posset etiam meris reprehendi, quod mille squinatorum annuam pensionem, in qua pro eodem Regno ipsi Romanæ Ecclesiæ tenentur, per novem annos et amplius solvere prætermisit. Nos itaq; super præmissis, & quam pluribus aliis ejus nefandis & execrandis excessibus ac flagitiis, cum fratribus nostris Cardinalibus & Sacrosancto Concilio deliberatione prahabita matura & diligenti, cum Domini nostri Jesu Christi vices, licet immeriti, teneamus in terris, nobisque in beati Petri Apostoli persona sit dictum: * Quodcunque ligaveris super terram, erit ligatum & in cælis, &c. memoratum Principem, qui se Imperio, et Regnis, omniq; denique honore, ac dignitate reddidit tam indignum, quique propter suas iniquitates atque scelera a Deo ne regnet vel imperet est abjectus, suis ligatum peccatis a Deo ac abjectum, omniq; honore ac dignitate privatum a Domino offendimus ac denunciamus, et nihilominus sententiando privamus. Omnesque qui ei juramento fidelitatis aliquo modo tenentur affricti vel obligati, a juramento hujusmodi perpetuo absolvimus et liberamus: auctoritate Apostolica firmiter et strictim inhibendo, ne quisquam de cætero sibi tanquam * Imperatori vel Regi pareat, vel quomolibet parere intendat. Decernendo quolibet, qui desinceps ei, velut Imperatori, vel Regi, consilium præstiterint, seu favorem, ipso facto Excommunicationis vinculo subjacere. Illi autem, ad quos in eodem Imperio, Imperatoris spectat electio, eligant libere alium in ejus locum successorem. De præfato vero Sicilia Regno providere curabimus, cum eorundem fratrum nostrorum Cardinalium consilio, sicut viderimus

The Pope and his Prelates in this Council published these two Canons to Regulate the Abuses of Excommunications, which they violated in an high degree by this their Excommunication against the Emperor.

Ecclesiastica censura Judices damnabiliter abutuntur, cum de matris Ecclesiæ gremio ex alterius culpa indiscretè per eam attentent evellere innocentes, ex qua illicitè notatus non læditur, sed errante clavi converti dicitur in damnantem. Volentes igitur insolentia, vel potius insolentia talium obviare, constitutionem præsentis decreto sancimus, ut iudicium nullus excommunicato ab eodem participantes in locutione & aliis quibus ligatur particeps, excommunicatione minori, ante communicationem canonicam excommunicare præsumat: salvis constitutionibus contra illos legitime promulgatis, qui in scelere præsumunt alieno participare damnato.

tionis.

Quod si ex locutione, & aliis, quibus excommunicato participans labitur in minorem, notati majoris divina in vaferit contemnendo, ut facilius revocetur ad absolutio-nis beneficium, satisfactione præmissa, misericorditer obtinendum; poterit iudex post commonitionem canonicam, huiusmodi participes eidem consimili damnare censura. Aliter autem, in participantes excommunicatio non teneat; & proferentes, penam legitimam poterunt formidare.

Cum excommunicatio sit medicinalis, non mortalis, disciplinans, non eradicans, dum tamen in quem lata fuerit non contemnat; cautè provideat iudex ecclesiasticus, ut in ea ferenda ostendat se prosequi quod corrigentis est & medentis. Quisquis ergo excommunicat, in scriptis proferat; & causam expressè conscribat, propter quam excommunicatio proferatur. Exemplum verò scripturæ huiusmodi teneatur excommu-nicato tradendum infra mensem post diem sententiæ, si fuerit requisitus: super qua sigillo authentico consignatas. Si quis autem iudicium huiusmodi constitutionis temerarius violator existat; per mensem unum ab ingressu Ecclesiæ & divinis, no-verit se suspensum. Superior verò, ad quem recurritur, sententiam ipsam sine difficultate relaxans, latorem excommunicationis ad expensas omnes & interesse condem-net, & aliàs puniat animadversione condigna, ut poena docente discant iudices, quam grave sit excommunicationum sententias sine maturitate debita in aliquem fulminare. Et hæc eadem etiam in suspensionis & interdicti sententias, volumus observari. Caveant autem Praelati, & iudices universi, ne prædictam suspensionis poenam in-currant. Quoniam si contigerit eos sic suspensos divina officia exequi, sicut prius; irregularitatem non effugient, juxta canonicas sanctiones, super qua non nisi per sum-mum Pontificem poterit dispensari.

De sententia
excommunica-
tionis.

Solet autem à nonnullis in dubium revocari, san cum aliquis per superiorem absolvi postulat ad cautelam, dum in se latam excommunicationis sententiam asserit esse nullam, sine contradictionis obstaculo, munus debeat ei absolutionis impendi. Et ante absolutionem huiusmodi, qui se offert in iudicio probaturum se post appellationem legiti-mam, in excommunicatione notatum, vel intolerabilem errorè in sententia fuisse pa-tenter expressum, sit in cæteris, excepto probationis illius articulo, evitandus. In prima igitur dubitatione sic statuimus observandum, ut petenti absolutio non negetur; quamvis in hoc excommunicator, vel adversarius se opponat. In quo casu, tres tan-tummodo octo dierum indulgebuntur dilationes sic dicenti: ut si probaverit, quod op-ponit, nec relaxetur sententia, nisi prius sufficiens præstetur emenda, vel competens cautio, de jure parendo, si offensa dubia proponatur. In secunda verò quæstione statui-mus, ut si is qui ad probandum admittitur, pendente probationis articulo, etiam cæte-ris quæ ut actor in iudiciis acceptaverit, interim evitetur. Extra iudicium verò, in officiis, postulationibus, & electionibus, & aliis legitimis actibus nihilominus admittatur.

In this Council the Pope to raise monyes and therewith forces to oppose and depose the Emperor, published a Croysado, with sundry Indulgences under the usual pretext of releiving the Christians, then pretended to be greatly distressed by the Saracens and Tartars, thus registred in the Canons of this Council.

Crucis.

De Crucis vero negotio, nonnulla sunt in Concilio salubriter & prudenter constituta: sed cum de contributione pecuniæ facta fuit mentio, contradiçtum fuit Domino Papæ in facie, maxime propter hanc adjectionem omnibus invidiam: Conferant subsidium per manus eorum, qui ad hoc Apostolica fuerint probentia ordinati: (By which means the Pope would have fingered and converted, all the mony to his own use :) Quia multoties et multipliciter conqueruntur fideles Ecclesiæ; se de pecuniâ sua Terræ Sanctæ in auxilium contributa, per Romanam curiam fuisse defraudatos: (And might they have resisted him to his face upon as just a ground in his Excommunication, yea deposition of the Emperor, to defraud him of his Rights and Prerogatives of his Imperial Crown?) Cætera verò fideliter ac salubriter ordinata, auribus & cordibus fidelium placentia anno Domini 1234. de Papa Gregorio de verbo ad verbum sunt conscripta: ubi etiam invenies Sermonem elegantissimum, ab eodem Papa Gregorio compositum: Et ille idem sermo, in hoc Concilio à domino Papa Innocentio quarto, quasi recens resumptus est. (As the Emperors * Excommunication was) Affirmavitque Dominus Papa, hæc omnia, maxime autem quæ de Principe statuit, se irrevocabiliter observaturum.

Hæc autem cum intellexisset magister Thaddæus ab imo trahens suspiria, ait: Inteligo nullum remedium patere discrimini. Ejulansque & flens subintulit: Verè dies ista, dies iræ: sicut antea dixerat, cum ad Concilium plenum omnes Prælati candelas suas accensas inclinarent; & extinguerent; excommunicatum Imperatorem Fredericum deponentes. Et in calce sermonis adjunxit idem magister Thaddæus: Ex hoc tempore cantabunt hæretici, regnabunt Chorofmini, & insurgent Tartari. Et hæc nunciaturus ad Dominum suum Imperatorem Fredericum est reversus. Dominus autem Papa omnibus in propatulo ait: Quod meum est feci, faciat & prosequatur super his Deus quod voluerit.

seipsum coronat.

Cum autem hæc omnia audivisset & intellexisset Dominus Imperator Fredericus, vit se præ indignatione capiens, in vehementissimam iram exarduit. Corvoque vultu omnes circumsedentes adspiciens intonuit, dicens: Abiecit me Papa in Synodo sua, privans me Corona mea; Unde tanta audacia? unde talis temeraria præsumptio? Abinam sunt clitellæ meæ, thesaurum meum portatilem continentes? Et cum allatæ fuissent, et coram eo ejus jussu referatæ essent, ait: Vide si jam sunt amissæ coronæ meæ. Repertam igitur unam imposuit capiti suo. Et coronatus erexit se, et minacibus oculis, voce terribili, et insatiabili corde, dixit in propatulo: Non adhuc Coronam meam perdidisti, vel Papali impugnatione, vel Synodali Concilio, sine cruento perdam certamine. Ad tanta prozumpet fastigia vulgaris superbia ut me præcipuum Principem, quo non est major, imo cui nec est par, ab apice dignitatis Imperialis valeat præcipitare. In hoc tamen conditio mea melioratur. In aliquo tenebar illi obedire, saltem venerari; Nunc autem ab amore et veneratione, nec non et ab omnimodæ pacis absolvo; aduersus Papam obligatione. Et tunc igitur efficacius et vigilantius, ut Dominum Papam grabaret, in thesauris, consanguineis, et amicis ejus damna et injurias irrogabit (as he had just cause.) Cogitavit igitur ut partem suam magis roboraret, filiam Ducis Austriæ sibi matrimonio copulare. Et ad hoc consummandum solennes nuncios destinavit, & festinos ad eundem Ducem. Quod cum ad noticiam puellæ pervenisset, amplexus & nuptias ipsius Frederici donec absolveretur, constanter resistit. Hoc autem cum Pater Puellæ etiam approbasset & dicto Frederico nunciasset, erubuit spretus ab utroque. Sed tamen induratus, volens avertere corda Regum & Principum cupum, tam à devotione quàm veneratione Ecclesiæ & Prælatorum præcipuè Domini Papæ scriptis Epistolam, quandam nimis reprehensibilem, in ea enim virolium propositum suum quod diu occultaverat, evomuit. But his Epistle, how ever censured by Papal parasites, was worthy this Emperor, and all Christian Kings had reason to thank; honor him for his prudent advise and magnanimous resolution therein, then to lessen their affections towards him; for defending all their Crowns and regal rights, against Papal usurpations, and shewing them the readiest way to support them for the future.

FREDERICUS, &c. Regi Angliæ, &c. Illos scilicet describit antiquitas quibus ex alieno paratur cautela periculo. Statu enim sequentis firmatur ex principio præcedentis. Et ut impressionem cera recepit ex sigillo, sic humana vita formatur mortalitas ab exemplo. Hanc utinam felicitatem vestra serinitas anticipasset, vel præcipisset: & quàm cautela solertiam vobis, ô Christiani Reges, ex nostra Majestatis nimia laesione relinquimus, nobis potius alii Reges et principes læsi similiter reliquissent. Porro, qui clerici nunc censentur, parum elemosynis impinguati filios opprimunt donatorum; Ipsique nostrorum filii subditorum paternæ conditionis oblitæ, nec Imperatorem, nec Regem aliqua veneratione revereri dignantur, quoties in Patres Apostolicos ordinantur. Quod autem ex circumloquutionibus nostris innuitur, ex Innocentii Papæ quarti præsumptione comprobatur. Qui vocata Synodo, ut asserit, generali, contra nos, nec citatos, nec super aliqua fraude vel præbitate convictos ausus est sententiam depositionis statuere, quàm præter omnium Regum enormæ præjudicium, non poterat stabilire. Quid enim nobis singulis Regibus singulorum Regnorum, a facie talis principis sacerdotum timendum non superest, si nos et principum electione solenni, et approbatione totius Ecclesiæ, dum clerici fide ac religione vigeant, Imperiali Dlademate divinitus insignitos, et alia regna nobilia magnifice gubernantes, ille deponendos aggreditur; cujus quoad temporalium detrimenta, non interest in nos aliquid exercere rigoris, etiam si causæ legitimæ probarentur. Verum, quos Sacerdotalis sic infestat abusus potestatis, et a summo conatur præcipitare deorsum; nec primi sumus nec ultimi. Et hoc quidem vos facitis obediētes simulatozibus sanctitatis, quozum sperat ambitio, quod totus Fordanis influat in os suum. ¶ Si vestre credulitatis simplicitas, a Scribarum & Pharisaorum fermento quod est hypocrisis, juxta Salvatoris sententiam, sibi curaret attendere! quot illius curiæ turpitudines execrari possetis quas honestas et pudor prohibet recitare. Sane redditus copiosi, quibus ex plurimum depauperatione Regnorum ditantur, quemadmodum ipsi nostis, ipsos faciunt insanire, Apud vos Christiani, vel peregrini mendicant, ut apud nos Paterini manducant. Ibi vestrorum domos obruitis, ut hic adversariorum vestrorum oppida construatis. Sic de vestris decimis & elemosynis tales pauperes Christi sustentati; quæ beneficii recompensatione, quæ saltem gratitudinis exhibitione se præbent obnoxios? Quanto manus largiores extenditis, tanto non solum manus, sed etiam cubitos abditius apprehendunt, suo nos laqueo detinentes, sicut aviculam, quæ quanto ad evasionem fortius nititur, firmius alligatur. Hæc vobis ad præsens scribenda curavimus, insufficienter exprimentia votum nostrum. Cetera verò secretius intimanda; videlicet in quos usus divitiarum pauperum, expendat prodigalitas avarorum. Quid super impetratione conceperimus obligando, quam per magnos mediatores intendimus, ut inter nos & Ecclesiam saltem pax superficialiter reformetur. Quid de Regum communibus specialibusq; negotiis disponere proponamus: Quid super Insulis Oceani fuerit ordinatum: quid contra Principes universos quibusdam consiliis; quæ nos, & quæ nonnullos, quos habemus ibidem familiares & subditos, licet clandestina, latere non possunt, illa curia machinetur. Quantis viribus, quot virorum, qualiter instrumētum ad bella in hoc ipso Vere, quod instat, omnes illos qui modo nos opprimunt, opprimere posse speremus, et si se nobis totus mundus opponeret. Quicquid fideles nostri latores præsentium vobis retulerint, certè credatis, & ac si Sanctus Petrus juraſset firmissimum reputetis.

Epistola Imperatoris.

Nota.

Nec vobis, petimus, videatur, quod per latam in nos sententiam Papalem, nostræ magnitudinis Majestas aliquatenus incurbetur. Habemus enim conscientie puritatem, ac per consequens, Deum nobiscum, cujus testimonium invocamus. Quia semper fuit nostræ intentio voluntatis, clericos cujusque ordinis ad hoc inducere, et maxime marimos: ut tales perseverarent in fine, quales fuerunt in Ecclesia primitiva, Apostolicam vitam ducentes, humilitatem Dominicam imitantes. Tales namque Clerici solebant Angelos intueri, miraculis coruscare, agros curare, mortuos suscitare; et sanctitate, non armis, sibi Reges et Principes subjugare. At isti, seculo dediti, delictis inebriati, Dominum postponunt; quorum ex affluentia divitiarum et opum, omnis religio suffocatur. Talibus ergo subtrahere nocentes divitias, quibus damnabiliter onerantur, opus est charitatis. Ad hoc vos, et omnes Principes una nobiscum, ut cuncta superflua deponentes, modicis rebus contenti, Deo deserviant, debetis diligentiam adhibere.

Hæc cum ad Christianissimos Francorum & Anglorum Reges nunciata pervenissent, patuit luce clarius ipsis & eorum Magnatibus, quod Fredericus libertatem ac nobilitatem Ecclesie, quam ipse nunquam auxit, sed magnifici antecessores ejus malo grato suo stabilierunt, toto conamine studuit annullare & de hæresi per idipsum se reddens suspectum, merito omnem quam hætenus habebat in omni populo igniculum famæ propriæ prudentiæ & sapientiæ, impudenter & imprudenter extinxit atque delevit. Reges tamen memorati, quia muliebri videretur & inhonestum statim infestare, quem prius protexerant, non sine murmure siluerunt adhuc dissimulantes. Ac per hoc domini Papæ conditio, meliorata respiravit.

Anum insuper omnes angebat tam Principes quam Prælatos vulnus angustie, futura pericula ratione prævia ponderantes. Et quod etsi dignus multipliciter Fredericum deprimi, et omni honore privari, tamen si eum, Deo jubante, auctoritas Papalis irresistibiliter deponeret, Romana Ecclesia, gratia Dei abutens, in posterum in tantam elationem, et intolerabilem superbiam sublevaretur, quod Principes Catholicos insontes et justos, et præcipue Prælatos, quavis levi causa vel deponeret, vel deponere probolese comminaretur, loquendoque sublimia, glorizandoque dicerent Romani licet a plebeia stirpe procreati: Nos ipsum maritimum Dominum et Imperatorem Fredericum conculcavimus, et quis es tu, qui nobis temere credis resistere? Et ita provocati nobiliores, contra eos levabunt calcaneum: Deoque vindice, auctoritas Romana poterit deperire.

Mandatum Papæ ad Capitulum Cisterciense.

Hæc autem mundi volubilitate secum rapiente, Abbates diversorum climatum Cistercienses Capitulum suum instante exaltatæ Crucis solennitate, sicut moris est, ceteratim adierunt. Et cum ad Capitulum generaliter convenissent, mandatum Domini Papæ susceperunt. Cujus tenor fuit hic:

Noverit universitas vestra statum Ecclesia formidabiliter periclitantem precum instantia solito vigilantius indigere. Subest enimurgens causa, qua toti Christianitati terribiliter comminatur. Nec curabimus de cætero gladio uti materiali, sed tantum spiritali, contra Fredericum aliquando Romanorum Imperatorem, validum Ecclesia Christi & obstinatum inimicum. Obstructum est os loquentium iniqua. Non vos moveant imperitorum, & veritatis ignarorum, precamur, obloquia; ut à nobis quasi precipitanter putetis, & absque deliberato fratrum nostrorum & multorum peritorum moroso consilio contra ipsum Fredericum fuerit sententiatum. Non enim meminimus unquam, causam cum tanta deliberatione & diligenti examinatione fuisse excessam; & peritorum atque sanctorum mentibus, libratam extitisse; adeo quod in secretis, aliqui fratrum nostrorum induerunt personam Advocati pro ipso: Aliqui autem è contra personam adversantis: ut ex objectionibus & responsionibus inquirentium & disputantium, ut solet folet in Scholis, causa veritas radicatus hinc indeque disenteretur. Nec aliquam viam invenimus, sine Dei injuria, & gravi ejus offensa, & Ecclesie ejusdem latione, & nostrarum conscientiarum vulnere, aliter procedendi quam ut processimus, licet inviti, & ejusdem laevis miseria condolentes. Parati igitur sumus in hac causa, et pro illa, usque ad mortem stare; et pro ea, et in ea, tam omnes fratres nostri, quam nos mortui, immutabiliter pro causa Dei et ejus Ecclesie dimicantes. Hæc postquam ad audientiam totius Capituli & universorum fratrum plenius pervenerunt, partem Frederici detestantes, mirabiliterque Papali parti inclinantes Deum deprecabantur, ut Ecclesiam suam, quam supra firmam petram stabilivir, etsi laberetur, labi nullatenus sineret in æternum.

But to leave these contests between this Domineering, Tyrannizing, Oppressing Pope and the Emperor, and return to those between the King; Kingdom; Nobles of England, and the Pope, in and after this Council, concerning their forementioned grievances, where they prayed redress by word of mouth; and their forecited Letter.

Expectantibus autem universitatis Anglicane procuratoribus, videlicet Comite Richar<sup>do</sup> Bigod, cum suis consortibus prænominatis, placabile Domini Papæ, prout promiserat, responsum; tandem expressum est, quod postulata ab eorum non reportarent. Irati igitur nimis procuratores memorati, recesserunt cum comminatione: terribiliter jurantes, se nunquam Tributum Romanæ cupiditati omni sæculo detestabile soluturos, nec solvere permitturos; vel amplius reddituum Ecclesiarum (præcipue quarum Nobiles Regni esse patroni dignoscuntur) proventus extorque-ri non passuros. Veruntamen Dominus Papa animo patienti & oculis conniventibus hæc omnia dissimulando pertransiens, tempus rigidius agendi, respiciente prosperitate, tacitus expectavit. Misit igitur ad singulos Episcopos Angliæ, præcipiens duriusculissime, ut quilibet eorum illi chartæ detestabili, quam lachrymabilis memorie Rex Anglorum Johannes, reclamante Archiepiscopo Cantuariensi Stephano, infeliciter confecit de Tributo, signum suum appenderet, ut magis roborata perpetuaretur. Quod ipsi Episcopi timore inexcusabiliter effodinati, non sine enoymi Regis et Regni, proh dolor, fecerunt præjudicio. Unde cum Dominus Rex hoc audisset, in maximam iram excandens, juravit, quod etsi etiam Episcopi turpiter sint incurvati, ipse firmiter staret pro Regni libertate: nec unquam dum vitales carperet auras, censum sub nomine Tributi Curie Romanæ persolveret. Porro Episcopus Londinensis Fulco ultimus & invitus, in arcum pravum versus, signum suum dictæ chartæ apponens, minus aliis meruit reprehendi. Simili quoque modo, euidam amplæ chartæ transcriptæ de verbo ad verbum, secundum chartam Bullæ Papali communitam, de sententia depositionis in Imperatorem Fredericum lata, apposuerunt omnes Prælati signa sua, tam ad majorem roborationem, quam memoriam rei sempiternam. (Such was the English Bishops Treachery, Timidity, Baseness both towards the King, Kingdom, Emperor, which made the Pope more intollerably insolent.)

Anno gratiæ 1246. qui est annus Regni Henrici III. Regis 30. fuit idem Rex ad natale Domini Londini, ubi convocatis multis Regni Nobilibus una cum fratre suo, Regina quoque & Comitissa Cornubie sorore Regine, multisque Magnatibus; qui cum eodem Rege in Wallia pondera & æstus dierum sustinuerant, festa natalicia gaudenter celebrarunt, ut qui fuerunt in tribulatione consortes, participes fierent in exultatione. Eodemque tempore, ne gaudia mundi impermixta mœroribus mortalibus arderent, ortus est rumor sinister, & ex rumore suspicio non modica, quod Dominus Papa rancorem in corde retinuit, cum tamen non subfuisset causa rationalis: iratus est valde, et multiformiter ampullose coepit comminari Anglorum Regi et Regno, ut si posset Fredericum edomare, et per consequens recalcitrantium Anglorum, qui de oppressionibus Romanæ Curie et maxime de Tributo, in Concilio conqueſti sunt, insolentem superbiam conculcabit. Non enim, ut ei videbatur, licuit miseris Anglis, pro multiformi etiam injuria flagellatis, lachrymari vel mutire. Conabaturque in illo diuturno ac secreto secreto colloquio; quod habuit apud Cluniacum cum Rege Francorum, persuadere et acuere Regem ipsum; ut insurgeret ad tantæ injuriæ vindictam, tantam ut ipsum Regulum Anglorum, vel usque ad exheredationem impugnaret: vel enozmiter læsum, sese omnimode voluntati Romanæ Curie, vellet, nollet, inclinaret. Et ad hoc jubaret eum omni conatu, Ecclesia et Papalis auctoritas. Quod constanter Rex Francorum dicitur renuisse, tum quia ipsi Reges consanguinei sunt, et eorum Reginae sorores: tum quia jus non habet Rex Francorum in Regnum Angliæ manifestum: tum quia treuga inter ipsos Reges inita sunt, quas maluit prolongare, ratione peregrinationis suæ, quam proditiose rescindere: tum quia instabat validior inimicus, et Ecclesiæ Romanæ nocivior, videlicet Fredericum edomandus: tum quia ante Regnum Angliæ Francis cederet, non modicus sanguis Christianus effunderetur: tum quia Christiani in Terra Sancta jam a Paganis oppressi et oblessi; Regis Francorum adventum desideratum, quasi naufragantes auræ lenioris prosperitatem, præsolantur.

Mat. Westm.
p. 205, 206.

Peridem tempus convocati sunt Nobiles Regni, ut die, qua cantatur Latare Hiernusalem, Londonis de arduis Regni negotiis diligenter, prout necessitas urgens postulabat, contrerectarent. Papa enim indignatione, quam concepit contra Regem et omnes Regni Nobiles, manum suam ad gravamina quotidianæ, diversis excogitatis argumentis ad emungendam pecuniam extendit, et quotidie aggravabit. Intumuit enim et excanduit ira Papalis contra miseros Anglos, eo quod ausi erant de oppressionibus et injuriis sibi diutius illatis conqueri in Concilio. Multiplicabantur autem sine intermissione in Regno injuriæ: et in conspectu ejus, videlicet in Curia sua, villuerunt Angli plusquam alii etiam ultimarum nationum. Unde fertur dixisse: Expediit ut componamus cum Principe (id est, cum Frederico) ut conteramus illum regulum Angliæ, * Vassallum nostrum jam recalcitrantem. Præterea quia Dominus Rex obtinuit privilegium ut non veniat Legatus in Regnum nisi rogatus, misit quosdam sophisticos Legatos et transformatos, habentes potestatem magnam in extorquendis redditibus et pecunia, et in omnibus, Legatis potenteriores, licet insignia Legatorum non haberent, nunc Clericos, nunc fratres Prædicatores, nunc Monachos: de quibus Papa fecit suos bedellos et thelonearios, in læsionem et detrimentum ordinis et professionis eorum, qui spontaneam paupertatem et humilitatem Deo vovendo promiserunt. Unde quamplures eorum, sanas habentes conscientias, præcordialiter suspirantes doluerunt, dicentes: Heu quam cito, invidente Diabolo, noster ordo desipit! Per mille annos ordo Sancti Benedicti tantum non suscepit detrimentum. Misit etiam Dominus Papa manum ad ulteriora, ut scilicet bona sine testamento decedentium, non sine principum injuria et jactura, in gremio suæ avaritiæ amplecteretur: etiamsi infirmus, propter imbecillitatem non potens vel nolens loqui, pro se relinqueret testatorem, quæ injuria et leges dicitur contrahere. Præterea, quod est inauditum, Davidis, Nepotis ac Vassalli Domini Regis Angliæ, * terram sibi injuriose usurpabit, sub gravi Tributo possidendam. Et citari fecit Dominum Regem, ut eidem Davidi satisfactorius super quibusdam, ut dicebat, injuriis sibi ab eodem Rege illatis responderet: in multorum sannam, et sibilum, et derisiones. Et cito post memoratus David medio sublatus, in morte sua paucos pro prodicione sua meruit habere lamentatores. Convenerunt igitur (ut præceptum urgebat Regium) Magnates Angliæ universaliter, ut de prædictis efficax consilium haberent & festinum, prout necessitas non levis nec mediocris postulavit.

Medio verò Quadragesimæ; videlicet die qua cantatur Latare Jerusalem; edito Regio convocata, convenit ad Parlamentum generalissimum, totius Regni Angliæ totalis Nobilitas Londini, videlicet Prælatorum tam Abbatum & Priorum quàm Episcoporum; Comitum quoque & Baronum; ut de statu Regni jam vacillantis, efficaciter, prout exegit urgens necessitas, contractarent. Angebat enim eos gravamen intolerabile, a Curia Romana incessanter illatum; quod non poterant sine nota desidiæ, et imminente ruina tolerare. Qui eo anxius mentibus sauciabantur, quod Papa promissionis suæ transgressor, gravius quam ante eorum querimoniam manum dextram erasperans, aggravabat. Hæc enim ejus promissa in Concilio Lugdunensi extiterunt.

INNOCENTIUS, &c. Venerabilibus fratribus, Archiepiscopis & Episcopis, per Regnum Anglorum constitutis, salutem & Apostolicam Benedictionem. Cum sedes Apostolica illo affectu Anglicos prosequatur, ut ipsos inter alios consilios multiplici favore proponat attollere, ac speciali dono gratia honorare; magno desiderio cupimus, eosdem Anglicos devotionis studio perseveranter insistere, ac laudabiliter exercitio proficere bonitatis, ut accepti & digni merito inter ceteros habeantur. Hinc est quod universitatem vestram monemus, rogamus & hortamur, auctoritate Apostolica mandantes, quatenus vestrarum Civitatum & Diocesum Clericos, & eos qui ascribi desiderant militia clericali, præsertim Nobilium & Magnatum filios, attentis & sedulis exhortationibus inducat, ut honestati morum, scientia literarum & virtutum cultui ferventer intendant, studentes omni diligentia se gratos & idoneos exhibere, ac sedis prædictæ gratiam, aliorumque benevolentiam, probitatis merito vendicare. Nos enim parati sumus Clericis Angliæ bene meritis, Provisionis Ecclesiasticæ dexteram liberaliter aperire; ac etiam cum illis, quos velut nobiliores et probiores, ampliori gratia noverimus esse dignos, super beneficiorum pluralitate honorifice dispensare. Causa contradictionis in Concilio pleno.

Iterum eidem Regi, præsentium tenore magnitudini tuæ notum fieri volumus, quod etsi hætenus forte aliquibus Ecclesiarum Prælati, ut beneficia Ecclesiastica, quæ in Regno tuo ante suam promotionem habuerant, * possent usque ad certum tempus libere retinere, fuerit ab Apostolica sede concessum, de cætero tamen non intendimus aliquibus similia indulgere.

Præterea unum Privilegium, ne scilicet Italicus Italice immediate succedat, et hoc impetratum est propter fraudes eorum, qui mortuis beneficiatis, alios furtim supponebant, sed omnia hæc et alia, per hoc repagulum non obstant, infirmantur: ubi ergo fides? ubi jura, quæ scriptis solebant solidari? exularunt. Such was the detestable Injustice, fraud, falshood of the Pope and Court of Rome, whereby they illuded all their Oaths, Bulls, Concessions of just ancient Rights or Priviledges, repugnant to their ambitious Usurpations, or filthy lucre, and subverted all Laws, Customs, Liberties of the Realm, and invaded all the Rights of the Crown at their pleasures.

Mat. Paris Hist. Angl. p. 677. Conventus omnium Nobilium Angliæ.

Convenientibus igitur ad Parlamentum memoratum totius Regni Magnatibus, in primis aggressus est Dominus Rex ore proprio Episcopos per se, postea verò Comites & Barones, deinde autem Abbates & Priores. Videlicet super his, pro quibus miserat Nuncios suos solennes ad Concilium Lugdunense, & quasdam indulgentias & Literas Papales, prænotatas, quas dicti Nuncii reportarunt, eis ostendit, & qualiter Dominus Papa dictis Nunciis, pro Rege & Regno multa bona promisit ac præmisit. Sed quia Dominus Rex post indulgentias memoratas, dictaque promissa, magis sensit Papam, prout communiter audivit, et vere postea didicit, manum aggravare, et quasi per contemptum plus solito in Regnum potervire, Ecclesiam opprimendo, offendit eis articulos super gravaminibus et oppressionibus Ecclesiæ et Regni sui, quorum tenor talis est.

Gravamina Regni Angliæ.

Gravatur Regnum Angliæ, eo quod Dominus Papa non est contentus subsidio illo quod vocatur denarius beati Petri, sed a toto Clero Angliæ gravem extorquet contributionem, et adhuc multa graviosa nititur extorquere, et hoc fecit sine Domini Regis assensu vel consensu, contra antiquas Consuetudines, Libertates, et Regni jura, et contra Appellationem et contradictionem Procuratorum Regis et Regni, in generali Concilio factam.

Item,

Item, gravatur Ecclesia et Regnum, eo quod patroni Ecclesiarum ad eas cum vacaverint Clericos idoneos presentare non possunt, prout Dominus Papa per litteras suas eis concessit; sed conferuntur Ecclesie Romanis, qui penitus idioma Regni ignorant in periculum animarum, et extra Regnum pecuniam asportant; illud ultra modum depauperanda.

Mat. Paris, p. 677, 678.

Item, gravatur in Provisionibus a Domino Papa factis, in pensionibus exigendis, contra litterarum suarum tenorem. In quibus continetur, quod ex omnibus retentionibus factis in Anglia non intendebat conferre nisi 12 beneficia post predictarum consecrationem litterarum; sed credimus, multa plura beneficia ab eodem postea esse collata et Provisiones factas.

Item, gravatur quod Italicis succedit, et quod Anglici extra Regnum in causis auctoritate Apostolica trahuntur contra Regni consuetudines, contra jura scripta, quod inter inimicos conveniri non debent, et contra indulgentias a predecessoribus Domini Papae Regi et Regno Anglia concessas.

Item, gravatur ex multiplici adventu illius infamis nunciis, Non obstantes, per quem juramenti religio, consuetudines antiquae, scripturarum vigores, concessionum auctoritas statuta, jura et privilegia debilitantur et evanescent, quod infiniti de Regno Anglia oppressi sunt graviter et afflicti, nec se Dominus Papa versus Regnum Anglia in plenitudine suae potestatis reducenda, curialiter ita vel moderate gerit, prout procuratoribus Regni ore tenus dederat in promissis.

Item, gravatur in tallis generalibus collectis et assis sine Regis assensu et voluntate factis, contra appellationem et contradictionem procuratorum Regis, et universitatis Angliae.

Item, gravatur eo quod in beneficiis Italicorum, nec jura, nec pauperum sustentatio, nec hospitalitas, nec divini verbi praedicatio; nec Ecclesiarum utilis ornatus, nec animarum cura; nec in Ecclesiis divina fiunt obsequia, prout decet; et moris est patriae, sed in aedificiis suis parietes cum tectis coeunt, et penitus lacerantur.

Hec autem attendentes universi ac singuli, unanimiter consenserunt, ut adhuc ob reverentiam sedis Apostolicae, domino Papae humiliter ac deprecatum, tam per Epistolas, quam per solennes nuncios supplicarent; ut tam intolerabilia gravamina et jugum subtraheret importabile. Scripserunt igitur Domino Papae in haec verba.

The Archbp. and his suffragans, writ and sent an Epistle to the Pope by themselves; The Abbots, Priors and Covents of the Provinces of Canterbury and Yorke by themselves; The Nobles and Universality of the people and Clergy of England by themselves, and the King by himself.

Sanè, quanto magis in devotione optamus reperiri ferventiores, tanto profectò, nostrum populum & Regnum in unitate Ecclesia matris nostra tenemur confovere studiosius. Quod utique absque dicta sedis adjutorio speciali, nulla prorsus via per nos poteris adimpleri. Nuper siquidem cum in Concilio illastris Principis & Domini Angliæ Regis in media Quadragesima, essemus presentes, quedam audivimus qua vestra sanctitati referimus dolentes, Regem scilicet & proceres, nec non populum quasi universum rodere, ac multiplicatis querimoniis murmurare, quod in collationibus beneficiorum, qua per provisores in Anglia sunt incunctanter, Nobilium atque aliorum vocationibus, contra eorum & Regni Privilegium, ad judicia extra Regnum, necnon aliis plerisque molestiis, quas vestra beatitudini, ut credimus plenius insinuare proponunt, ipsi & Regnum atque populus universus jugo oppressionis intolerabilis existunt pragravati. Et hæc publice objurgantes proponebant in cordibus, quasi se malle mori, quam ea cum magis ac magis de die in diem pullulare viderantur, diutius tolerare; præsertim cum eadem gravamina, ipsos et eorum populum sæpius, ut asserunt, ac durius affligant, promissione moderaminis, quam ipsorum procuratoribus a vestra sanctitate in supradicto Concilio factam esse dicunt, jam non obstante. Clamor insuper et tumultus tot et tantorum, quambis nobis periculosus videretur, et ad diu tolerandum gravis, tamen per nos, qui ad hoc diligentia qua novimus laborare curavimus, ulla prorsus ratione nequiveras sedari. Sanè cum hæc si procedant, dolorum initia & multorum malorum in Anglia, ut perpendimus & timemus, erunt fomenta, pedibus vestra sanctitatis lachrymosis precibus prostrati deprecamur: quatenus fidei Anglicanæ fervorem attendentes, et quod idem regnum sacrosanctæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ specialiter extiterit devotum, turbationem ejusdem Regni Paterno occurrentes solatio, illis de Regno in his quæ ad salutem et tranquillitatem pertinent ipsorum, ob Dei reverentiam prospicere velitis. Et nos eosdem quorum sitimus salutem & quietem, sic in unitate fidei, & devotione Ecclesia studebimus conservare, quod Deo & Ecclesia nec non vobis, pater Reverende, Christo propitio, cedat ad honorem. Ad hoc placeat Sanctitati vestra præfati Principis nostri, & fratris ejusdem Comitum Cornubiæ, animos sub honestatis forma pacificare, qui in facto pro invicem, se fore proponunt, non modicum gravatos, & causam asserunt gravaminis memorati, favorem Ecclesia Romanæ parti adverse nimis attributum.

Litteræ Abbatum Angliæ ad Papam.

SANCTISSIMO Patri ac Domini in Christo Charis. Innocentio Dei gratiâ universalis Ecclesia Summo Pontifici, Devoti filii sui Abbates & Priores, eorumque Conventus provinciæ Cantuariensis & Eboracensis, salutem & pedum oscula beatorum. Divinæ Providentiæ Majestatis in numero, pondere, & mensura disponens universa, Ecclesiæ sponsæ suæ sic jecit in Petra solida fundamentum, ut super structura stabilis fundamenti cemento sanguinis filii sui fortius solidati, facilius & felicius surgeret paries erigendus. Ecclesia quidem universalis, quia sanguine Christi, qui plus clamat veniam, quam vindictam, sic suo sponso disponenti sub uno Patre regitur ac pastore, sicut arca in catalysmo regebatur in cubito consummata. Sanè Christus, Dei virtus & sapientia, Ecclesiam universalem, tanquam sponsam universalem, tanquam sponsam unicam, sibi copulavit, quia una est columba sua, electa sua, quæ licet in particulares sit divisa, non tamen esse debet à cultu divino discrepans aut diversa: Ecclesia quidem Anglicana se semper sponso suo, qui cum ea traxit in utero virginali absque macula sive ruga, incessanter exhibuit gloriosam. De Civitate enim Dei, scilicet Ecclesia Anglicanæ, usq. ad tempora novissima dicta sunt gloriosa, quæ sacrosanctæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ membrum speciale, Mons Libani, deor Carmeli & Saron, in divinis obsequiis frequens ac sollicita, cum candore munditia, tanquam aquam cor effundens puras ad Deum levat manus, orationis thura ad consistorium Trinitatis jugiter dirigendo. Licet autem divinis obsequiis sit intenta non modicum, condolet, tristatur, turbatur, propter exactiones, oppressiones, et tribulationes multiformes, qua inveniunt eam nimis. Quia; ut ex assertionem magnatum, necnon et clamore populari accepimus; ventus irruens a deserto quatuor ipsius angulos, tanquam domum Job, vehementer impulit et concussit. Unde ipsa plausum in planitium, et lætitiā commutabit in lamentum, quia anima ejus in amaritudine est, nisi per vestra gratiam Majestatis, caput ipsius jam demissum, sublimius elevetur. Ad vos igitur, Pater Reverende, tanquam ad columnam, quam fixit Deus & non homo, Ecclesia Anglicana recurrit; confidenter sperans in Domino, qui facit bonitatem, quod contra oppressiones ipsius salubrem adhibebitis medicinam, et per justitiam, quæ de Cælo prosperit, mediante Dei et hominis unione, unicuique jus suum tribuetis, et in sua justitia conservabitis universos. Cum igitur sumus sacrosancta Ecclesia filii fideles ac devoti, ut jacula minus ledant, prævisa, sedi Apostolica duximus intimanda, videntes eidem multiplex periculum imminere, et nisi in multis a vobis contingat remedium adhiberi, timendum est ne tumultus fiat in populo, scandalum orietur, et schisma multipliciter generetur. Commovetur enim populus contra Regem, ab ipsius fidelitate paratus recedere, nisi contra morbos imminentes per potentiam Regiam citius occurratur. Asserunt enim Proceres et Magnates, quod si Ecclesiæ collatæ Monasteriis, ab eisdem, Clericis Italicis conferantur, ipsas Ecclesias, et alia beneficia in proprietatem suam jure potuerunt revocare, quia ex eis fructus provenientes ad usus pauperum, et peregrinorum, debent de jure deputari, cum hæc fuisset intentio conferentium, et causæ conferendi. Provideat ergo sanctitas vestra, ut regnum et sacerdotium nullatenus sint divisa. Quia si Ecclesia Anglicana, quæ quondam fuit posita in superbia sæculorum, secundum verbum Propheticum; quasi terra Gigantum detrahatur in ruinam, inter Regnum & Sacerdotium divisione facta, gemat tam populus quam sacerdos, et ex hoc strages multorum posset subsequi sine mora. De injuriis, de quibus Proceres ac Magnates conqueruntur, per latores presentium poteritis edoceri, ut correctione subsequente, moeror eorum in gaudium convertatur.

Sanctissimo, &c. Devoti filii sui Comes Cornubiæ Richardus, Simon de Monte Forti, Comes Legrecstria, de Boun, Comes Herfordia & Essexia, R. le Brigod, Comes Norfolkie, R. Comes Wyntonia, W. Comes Albamarlia, H. Comes Oxoniensis, et alii totius Regni Angliæ Barones, Proceres et Magnates, ac Nobles Portuum maris habitatores, necnon et Clerus, et populus universus, salutem, & debitam tanto Pontifici in omnibus reverentiam. Sic mater Ecclesia tenetur filios suos confovere, ipsos sub alas suas congregando, ut filii sui non degenerent in obsequio matris suæ, sed pro matre, si necesse fuerit, manum suam mittant ad fortia, & arma & scutum assumentes pro defensione sua cuilibet discrimini se opponat, de cujus uberibus lac sugunt consolationis, & ad ipsius dependent ubera pietatis. Mater enim filiorum uteri sui debet reminisci, ne si secus fiat, lactis pabulum subtrahendo, videatur novercari. Pater etiā à filiis suā subtrahens pietatem, non pater, sed vitricus merito debet appellari, cum filios naturales, spurios reputat aut privignos. Idcirco Pater reverende, curru Israel & auriga ejus, ad asylū vestrae pietatis recurrimus confidenter, clamantes post vos. Implorantes etiā humiliter & devotē, quatenus ob spem retributionis divinæ, voces clamantium post vos dignemini misericorditer exaudire, et gravaminibus, injuriis et oppressionibus regno Angliæ, et Domino nostro Regi multipliciter impositis positis ac illatis, velitis salubre remedium adhibere. Alioquin necesse est ut veniant scandala, clamore populi tam Dominum Regem quam nos intolerabiliter impellente. Quoniam nisi de gravaminibus Domino Regi et Regno illatis, Rex et Regnum citius liberentur, oportebit nos ponere murum pro domo Domini, et libertate Regni. Quod quidem ob Apostolicæ sedis reverentiam hucusque facere distulimus, nec ultra editum nuntiorum nostrorum, qui propter hoc ad sedem Apostolicam mittuntur, dissimulare poterimus quin Regni Anglia tam clero quam populo, qui talia nullatenus, sustinebunt, pro viribus nostris subveniamus. Et nisi citius prædicta per vos corrigantur, pro certo teneat vestra Sanctitas, quod non immerito timeri potest, quod tam Ecclesiæ Romanæ, quam Domino Regi tale periculum imminet, quod eidem remedium, quod absit, de facili non poterit adhiberi.

Venerabilibus in Christo Patribus universis & singulis, Dei gratia Sanctæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ Cardinalibus, H. ejusdem gratia Rex Angliæ, &c. salutem & sinceram dilectionis affectum. Quantumcumque Romanam Ecclesiam diligamus, & ipsius affectemus commodum & honorem, clamorem Magnatum nostrorum Angliæ tam cleri quam populi, qui magis solito invaluere, clamantes super oppressionibus, tam Domino Papæ quam vobis alia significatis per sollemnes nuncios eorundem, dissimulando non possumus pertransire. Quapropter ipsi Domino Papæ supplicant humiliter & devotè, ut justis supplicationibus eorum ei faciendis per nuntios iteratos taliter condescendat, quod ipsos dicta Ecclesia & nobis reddat magis favorabiles & devotos, & à fidelitate vestra nullatenus alienos. Paternitatis etiam vestræ dilectionem attentè rogamus, quotenus partes vestras velitis interponere diligenter, ut iterati nuntii dictorum Magnatum à Domino Papæ & vobis possint taliter exaudiri, quod præfata Ecclesiæ et nobis non videatur periculum imminere, cui nos oporteat in perpetuum subiacere, quod timeatur non medicum ab universis et singulis regni nostri. Com

Cum autem Dominus Rex supra prædictis oppressionibus quotidie superuegentibus, (de quibus querelæ multiplicabantur circumquaque) accesserunt multi per Curiam Romanam enormiter læsi et damnificati, sperantes Dominum Regem et suos in conceptu proposito firmiter permansuros, multas injurias sibi illatas ad recentem memoriam Regis et Regii consilii conquerendo suscitarent. Et quædam quæ prius non recolebantur, per querulos articulos articulis prioribus addebantur injuriæ, non minimum Regi et Regno derogantes. In hunc modum:

Nuper etiam ab Apostolica sede emanarunt Literæ, non modicum Regis et Regni præjudicium continentes. Videlicet, quod aliqui Prælati decem Milites strenuos, etiam aliqui quinque, & aliqui quindecim invenirent Domino Papæ, qui in servitio Ecclesiæ Romanæ starent per annum integrum, & Prælatorum stipendia militarent, cum equis & armis sufficienter instructi, ubi Dominus Papa duxerit providendum. Quod servitium militare nulli nisi soli Regi et Regni Principibus debetur, nec ab aliquo usque ad nostra tempora, aliquo tempore exactum fuisse recollitur. Et si summo Pontifici placuisset, absque assensu Regis hujusmodi exactionem fecisse, aut pro ea non modicam redemptionem recepisse, nullatenus debuisset. Præterea, ne Dominus Rex contra hoc sibi prospicere potuisset, fraudulenter fuit à quibusdam Nunciis Ecclesiæ provisum, & singulis Prælati ab eisdem mandatum, quod hujusmodi exactionem et pro ea gravem redemptionem receptam, usque ad dimidium annum, sub poena Excommunicationis, nulli omnino revelarent. Item, in universorum & singulorum patronorum Ecclesiarum Angliæ, præjudicium non modicum & gravamen, his diebus Domino Cantuariensi concessum est, ut obventiones sive fructus unius anni beneficiorum, quæ vacare contingerint in provincia Cantuariensi, eidem Domino Cantuariensi conferantur. Such were the daring insolencies, and strange new encroachments of this usurping Warlike Pope, upon the Church, Clergy, and Crown of England; quite contrary to Christs doctrine, Mat. 26. 51, 52. Tit. 1. 7. 2 Tim. 2. 24, 25. Gal. 6. 1. Ephes. 6. 10, to 20. To which he superadded these avartitious demands.

Eisdemque diebus, Dominus Papa videns in aliquorum Anglicorum ornamentis Ecclesiasticis, utpote in capis choralibus & infulis, aurisfrisia concupiscibilia, interrogavit, ubinam facta fuissent? Cui responsum est: in Angliæ. At ipse: Vere horum noster deliciarum est Angliæ. Vere puteus inexhaustus est, et ubi multa abundant, de multis multa possunt extorqueri. Unde idem Dominus Papa, concupiscentia illectus oculorum, Literas suas Bullatas sacras misit ad omnes fere Cisterciensis ordinis Abbates in Angliæ commorantes, quorum orationibus se nuper in Capitulo Cisterciensi commendaverat, ut ipsi aurisfrisia, ac si pro nihilo ipsa possent adquirere, mittere non differrent præelecta, ad planetas et capas suas chozales adornandas. Quod mercenariis Londinensibus, qui ea venalia habebant, non displicuit, ad placitum vendentibus: unde multi manifestam avaritiam Romanæ Ecclesiæ detestabantur.

Eodemque tempore, cum audisset Dominus Papa, qualiter quidam in Angliæ opulenti Clerici, videlicet Magister Robertus de Hailes, Archidiaconus Lincolnienfis, qui paucis elapsis annis obierat intestatus, plura millia Marcarum, cum vasis multis argenteis, sæculo & sæcularibus infeliciter dimiserat: Archidiaconusque Bedesfordiæ Almaricus, quod pecunia abundans maxima post se indecenter relictæ, obierat. Nuper quoque Magister Johannes de Horoff, Archidiaconus Northamptonienfis, morbo repentino correptus, circiter quinque millia Marcarum cum triginta cuppis argenteis vel aureis & infinitis jocalibus, indecenter & improvise obijisset intestatus, statum super hoc novum et inauditum, non sine nota manifestæ cupiditatis, suscitavit in Angliæ promulgandum; ut si Clericus ex tunc decederet intestatus, ejusdem bona in usus Domini Papæ converterentur. Quod negotium, Fratribus Predicatoribus & Minoribus præcepit diligenter exequendum. Quod cum audisset Dominus Rex, detestans Romanæ Curie argumentolam

Hoc autem mandatum cum ad aures Prælatorum, necnon & Magnatum pervenisset, corda omnium audientium, vehementer non immerito medullitus exturbavit. Maxime eo, quod Nuntii universitatis Angliæ super talibus gravaminibus, in Concilio Lugdunensi conquesti fuerant: Et postea in Angliâ in Parlamento Regis, ubi congregata fuerat totius Regni tam Cleri quam Militiæ generalis universitas, deliberatum fuerit, ut ob reverentiam Domini Papæ, adhuc Nuntius totius illius universitatis ad ipsius Papæ præsentiam destinaretur, ut manum correctionis talibus apponeret injuriis, non pondus oppressionis. Obstupescati sunt igitur inopinabiliter, quia cum crederent levamen, spe frustrata, tale gravamen reportarunt. Hæc igitur cum ad audientiam Regis pervenissent, in iram et admirationem excanduit et indignatus est vehementer, et Episcopis Angliæ scripsit in hæc verba:

In bidio igitur angustiarum constituta Anglicana Ecclesia, quasi inter duas molas e contrario circumbolventes, miserabiliter contrebatur; hinc Scylla, inde Charybdis timebatur. Rex inde hac parte ad Regni salvationem et instaurationem, consilio fretus et roboratus generali, nitebatur: Papa ad ejusdem depauperationem anhelabat; utrique utroque jam eminens aduersante. Multi itaque Praelatorum, timentes Regis in hoc suo concepto proposito instabilitatem, et consilii Regii pusillanimitatem, partem Papalem confovebant: (such was their baseness, Treachery to their King, Country, Church, and proper interests.) licet nunquam vidissent, quod per tales pecuniæ effusiones, Ecclesia foelix susceperet incrementum, imo potius infausum incurreret detrimentum.

The King to prevent these intollerable Papal Usurpations, Exactions, Presumptions, Innovations, (which sundry of the Bishops and Clergy promoted to ingratiate themselves with the Pope, to their eternal infamy) summoned a Great Council of his Nobles at Wynton, Anno 1246. thus recorded by Matthew Paris.

Die verò translationis beati Thomæ Martyris, habitum est magnum Concilium inter Regem et Regni magnates apud Wyntoniam, super multiplici Regni totius et maxime Ecclesiæ dissolutione. Generant enim qui missi ad Curiam Romanam fuerant nuntii memorati, videlicet Magister Willielmus de Poyne & Henricus de la Mare, verba Papalia, quæ nihil mitigationis, imò potius exasperationis tenorem continebant; nunciantes, & affirmantes, quod nec in gestu vel verbis Papalibus, aliquid humilitatis vel moderationis super oppressionibus, quibus tam Regnum quam Ecclesia Anglicana gravabatur et conquecta est, poterant reperire. Dixerat enim Papa, illis aliquod optabile responsum expectantibus: Rex Anglorum qui jam recalcitrare et ferverizat, suum habet consilium, ego verò meum habeo, quod et sequor. Et ex tunc vix aliquis Anglicus in Curia negotium aliquod poterat expedire, imò debet schismatici repellentur omnes probris lacerati. Ita ut nullam habuerunt efficaciam Epistolæ tot et tales ad Curiam missæ ex parte Regis, vel universitatis tam Magnatum quam Praelatorum. Hæc autem cum audisset Dominus Rex cum Magnatibus suis, doluit, & indignatus ac commotus est vehementer quod ipse & Nobiles sui, qui tot bona curiæ Romanæ gratanter toties contulerant, in sua justâ petitione Quod factum est. Illud autem cum audisset Papa, in vehementem iram excaudit; et iterato asperius, Prelatis scripsit Anglicanis, ut sub poena excommunicationis et suspensionis infra festum Assumptionis, nuncio suo apud Novum Templum Londini commoranti de prædicto auxilio satisfacerent. Et cum constanter pareretur, & sperabatur igitur certissimè quod Dominus Rex incæpio suo proposito constanter staret, pro Regni et Ecclesiæ liberatione, papalibus extorisionibus, ut coepit viriliter resistendo, comminationibus Comitibus Richards fratris sui, sibiis ambitiosorum Clericorum Consiliariorum suorum, et quorundam Papalium Episcoporum, quorum principalis erat Wigorniensis, cui a Domino Papa concessa fuit potestas, terram etiam, ut perhibeatur interdicens, quorum consiliis Dominus Rex se plus æquo inclinavit, eadem qua concepta fuit enervata est constantia levitate: minas Papales adeo pertinebat Rex et trepidavit timore, ubi non erat: quia quæ jam susceperat viriliter, muliebriter dereliquit, fractus succubuit et perterritus. Unde totus conatus tam Magnatum quam Episcoporum, & spes de Regni & Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ liberatione miserabiliter & non sine multorum cordium cruento dolore, emarcuit adnihilatus; Et totus iste apparatus quasi nebula à facie solis evanuit coruscantis, & impune hiatus Romanæ avaritiæ de memorata contributione est satisfactum. Hæc tamen, licet infructuosa sint (addes * Matthæi Westminster.) duxi scribenda, ut posteris innotescat vacillantis Regni divisio, & Anglorum nobilium (he should rather have added Episcoporum Papalium & ambitiosorum Clericorum, who seduced, traversed the King and Nobles to this unworthy compliance with the Pope as he records) corda mutantia, & Regis inconstantia muliebris. Et ut pestis mundum concuteret generalis Regnum Franciæ consimili vulnere, genuit sceleratum; unde multi Nobilium cogitabant contra Papam stando recalcitrare, ut sequens sermo plenius declarabit.

Mat. Paris, p. 693.

Eisdem diebus (through the Bishops and Clergies treachery, cowardize and ill Counsell) enervatus est Regis rigor, quem viriliter conceperat, ut protervitatem Romanæ Curie constanter, ut sperabatur, & firmiter credebatur, potenter refrænaret. Et hoc, ut veraciter dicebatur, consiliis eorum qui optimos redditus suos amittere per Papalem indignationem vehementer formidabant: quæ enim nimis præcordialiter amabant, elabi verebantur, secundum illud Poeticum:

Rex iterum Romanis ad libitum pecuniam in Angliæ colligere permittit;

Aversis igitur oculis et clausis auribus Dominus Rex, ad Arbitrium voluntarium Romanorum Regni sui et reipublicæ inimicorum permisit licenter Ecclesiam Anglicanam sex millibus marcarum, ad magnam totius Regionis nostræ depauperationem, spoliari. Quas asportantes Nuncios ac mercatores Papales in auxilium Lande-gravii, insidias Frederici non penitus evaserunt. Qui graviter redarguit Anglicos effeminatos, qui se ipsos de pauperatis omne genus hominum tolerant saginari, gravemque de Comitibus Richardi effeminata conniventia, et super hoc consensu reposuit coram suis commissitibus querimoniam: qui in Regni Anglicani perniciem, parti Papali videbatur consensisse et in Imperii detrimentum, eo quod de cruce. signatorum collectis substantiis, permittente Papa, thesauros non minimos exaggravavit. Crevit igitur Romanorum audax protervia tanto procacius, quanto nullum in rapinis suis senserant contradicentem. Fugant fugentes, et fugiunt fugantes. Decebitque Anglorum suppeditatorum, quorum infirmi sunt Iudices, spes cum consolatione.

Corripitur Papa à Johanne Anglico Cardinale.

Sævientibus eodem tempore mundi maris turbinibus, cum audisset Papa, quod Dominus Rex Anglia parabatur animosè exactionibus suis contradicendo resistere, quia nec advenerant nuntii, qui effœminatam formidinem suam et incurvationem ipsius nuntiarent, in iram magnam excanduit vehementer, et Regnum Anglia ulciscendo supponere proposuit interdicto. Cui talia intrunito spiritu proponenti, se magister Johannes natione Anglicus Monachus Cisterciensis ordinis & Cardinalis, opposuit, dicens: Domine pro Deo parcatis iræ vestræ, si dicere licet, indiscretæ, frænoque temperantiæ motus voluntarios compescatis, considerantes quoniam dies mali sunt. Terra Sancta pater discrimini, Græca Ecclesia recessit à nobis, adversatur nobis Fredericus, quo non est potentior, imò nec par inter Principes Christianorum. Vos & nos, qui culmen sumus Ecclesiæ, à sede Papali, imò ab ipsa urbe, imò ab Italia exulamus expulsi. Hungaria cum suis terris sibi conterminis, nihil aliud, nisi à Tartaris expectat exterminium. Alemannia suis bellis concutitur intestinis. Hispania usque ad abscissionem linguarum Episcopatum desævit. Francia usque ad egestatem per nos jam depauperatur, quæ etiam in nos conspirabit. Anglia nostris injuriis multoties læsa, quasi aîna Balaam, calcaribus et fustibus cæsa, tandem loquitur et obloquitur, et se nimis intolerabiliter conqueritur fatigatam, et irrestiturabiliter damnificatam. Ismaelico igitur more omnibus odiosi, omnes ad odium provocamus. Et cum nec ad hæc verba mens Papalis contrita ad compassionem vel humilitatem inclinaretur, quin ad pœnam & ultionem inflammaretur, advenerunt nuntii à Anglia, animum Papalem emolumentis inbiantem mitigantes: & affirmantes, quod per amicos suos specialissimos in Anglia (quos non licet mihi hæc scribenti ad præsens nominare) incurvatus est animus Regis, ut quod optat effectui celeri mancipetur, unde gaudium vultum & animum mirifice serenavit.

Assumens igitur ex præteritis audaciam Dominus Papa, miseros Anglos conculcandi et conculcatos magis ac magis depauperaret appozandi, vidensque eos dissipatos et effœminatos; imperiose et solito imperiosius Pælatibus Anglia demandavit, ut in Anglia omnes beneficiati in suis beneficiis residentiam facientes, tertiam partem bonorum suorum Domino Papæ conferrent, non facientes residentiam, dimidiam: multis adjectis durissimis conditionibus prædictum mandatum restringentibus per illud verbum et adjectionem detestabilem, non obstante, quæ omnem extinguit justitiam præhabitam. Ad quod primò exequendum diligenter, Episcopum constituit Londinensem, (to inflave both the Church and Realm, to the Popes intollerable Rapines.)

Episcopus verò memoratus cum quibusdam aliis, quos ad hoc negotium exponendum convocaret, cum in Ecclesia Sancti Pauli Londinensi hoc in propatulo demonstravit, de hac contributione terribili tractaturus in crastino Sancti Andrea, omnesque audientes in stuporem commovit & dolorem, quia quod a Papa jubebatur, impossibile videbatur, et erat: Et ecce supervenerunt missi ex parte Domini Regis, Johannes de Lixingtona Miles, et Magister Laurentius de Sancto Martino, ejusdem Domini Regis Clericus, districtè prohibentes, ne universitates Anglicane, tam execrabili mandato Papæ, nec illi contributioni prælocutæ, et in totius Regni desolationem demandatæ, aliquo modo consentirent. Ipsi igitur talia nuntiatis libenter paruerunt, & post omnium convocatorum murmur & appellationes, gaudenter ter incepta interruptentes, omiserunt. Scripsit igitur totius Anglia miserabilis universitas Domino Papæ, impossibilia et intolerabilia præcipienti, explanans & recolens; solita gravamina corda omnium graviter lauciante: quæ Magister Martinus Domini Papæ Clericus nuper extollerat. Et sic ad horam quievit tempestas, citò tamen postea, ut dicitur, rediit. Et ne sub silentio contradicentium verba efficacissima transeamus, ipsa huic scripto duximus inferenda. Veruntamen etsi constanter responderunt, constantius & efficacius respondissent, si in verbis et actibus Regis titubantibus fiduciam habuissent: (or rather if the King, discharging his duty with sufficient diligence, constancy, courage, could have had confidence in the Bishops and Clergy, who betrayed, & never cordially and constantly adhered to him therein.)

The Archdeacons and inferior Clergies opposition and Appeal against this Tax, prohibited by the King, (wherein the Bishops joyned not) is thus recorded to posterity by Matthew Paris.

Si nota esset conditio & status Regni Anglicani Domino Papæ & ejus fratribus tempore Concilii, nunquam ad statutum illud promulgandum, aliqua ratione processisset. Et si essent ei exposita pericula & incommoda, quæ occasione hujusmodi statuti imminere possent Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ, ad hoc statuendum nullatenus moveretur. In Ecclesiis enim Cathedralibus ita obtentum est & observatum, quod per Canonicos in eisdem residentes, quorum in quibusdam Ecclesiis modica est portio de proventibus beneficiorum Ecclesiasticorum, quæ in diversis locis obtinent, minores clericos exhibent, & alios Ecclesiæ ministros, quorum portionem si contingat usque ad medietatē defalcari, peribit obsequiū Ecclesiæ, Canonicis non valentibus exhibere, cum ipsi Canonici, tanta portione defalcata, in Ecclesiis Cathedralibus residere non valeant. Et si in eisdē duxerint residendū, de medietate beneficiorū exteriorū nec seipsos aut etiam alios poterunt sustentare: & maxime cum Dominus Papa medietatē portionis absentium, in usus Terræ Romanæ intendat applicare, computata portione non residentis, ac si ipse resideret. Nec etiam deductis oneribus aut expensis, quas circa collectionem fructuum, & alia multa fieri contingit, quibus non deductis, vix quarta pars penes Canonicos remanebit.

Item, cum loca Religiosa per Regnum Angliæ constituta, in proventibus de Ecclesiis Parochialibus sint fundata, vix & in præsentī ipsis sufficiant beneficia cum aliis possessionibus sic collata, si illorum beneficiorum medietas subtrahatur, (to fill the Popes coffers) compelletur una medietas mendicare, aut continget hospitalitatem subtrahi, aut utrumque in aliquibus locis fieri, quod sine scandalo & animarum periculo fieri non posset: cum aliquos ex ipsis contingeret per orbem evagari, & ejusdem evagationis prætextu in peccatum multiplex incidere, non observata sanctorum Patrum regula, ad quam tenentur astricti.

Item, cum in Regno Angliæ hæcenus sit obtentum & consuetudine observatum, ut rectores Ecclesiarum parochialium hucusque, valde hospitales extiterunt, & parochiani ad inopiam vergentibus alimenta præbere consueverunt, & eo prætextu non solum summo creatori placere conati sint, sed etiam laicis quibuscunque, quibus clerici oppido infesti esse & consueverunt, deducta medietate beneficiorum, necesse habebunt, hospitalitatem subtrahere, & consueta pietatis officia denegare. Quibus subtractis incurrent odium subditorum, amittent gratiam transeuntium & vicinorum, subtrahentur rectoribus Ecclesiarum jura, nec ipsis pretextu paupertatis ea defendere valentibus, ab ipsis Laicis penitus opprimuntur in universalis Ecclesiæ scandalum & jacturam. Quidam verò ex eis, cum essent beneficia quæ ad residentiam sex mensium non sufficiunt, vix aliunde victualia quærant, si refecetur illorum beneficiorum medietas, compellentur mendicare, & continget in eorum Ecclesiis obsequia divina cessare, Quibus cessantibus, eorundem parochiani, in decimarum & proventuum solutione cessabunt, nec erit qui illius Ecclesiæ jura præ inopia prosecutionis, vilescit Ecclesiæ dignitas, Clericorum cæcus in contemptu, cessabunt prædicationes, animarum cura omittatur, fides exinde periclitabitur, populo contemnente Prælatorum Doctrinam & correctionem.

Item, cum de bonis Ecclesiasticarum personarum pauperes, quorum infinitus & numerus per annum sustententur, & multi generosi eorum consanguinei, & alii qui in eorum obsequiis commorantur, de bonis ipsorum victualia, necnon & stipendia recipiant, subducta medietate proventuum, cessabunt eleemosynæ, licentia buntur familiaræ, ad quod si deveniatur, pauperes fame peribunt, alii verò cum fodere non valeant, & mendicare erubescant, antequam fame pereant, necesse habebunt furtis, rapinis, & deprædationibus intendere, ex quibus multa sequentur homicidia, insurget tumultus populi, & de facili totius Regni Angliæ turbatio.

Item, cum multi sint clerici in Regno Angliae ære alieno graviter prægravati, si non subducto ære alieno, si non deductis expensis quarum existimatio sextam partem reddituum continet, quare deductionem vix aliquis casus solet impedire, si non deductis Ecclesiarum oneribus, consistentibus in pensionibus, Prælatorum procurationibus, & Ecclesiarum & ornamentorum reparatione, proventuum medietas exolvatur, ipsis de residuo vivere non valentibus, compellentur egere, cum tamen in talibus personis haberi debeat ratio eorum ne egeant, & maxime ubi immineret scandalum Ecclesiarum universalis.

Alia Causa &

Item, cum nuper nomine vicissimæ, sex millia Marcarum Domino Papæ sint soluta, habita ratione æstimationis vicissimæ ad æstimationem medietatis, summa petita pecuniæ sexaginta millia marcarum summam continere continget una cum sexta parte reddituum, quam in collatione fructuum refundere contingit, cum partem illam non deducat, & eum præter hæc à personis in primo mandato exceptis, ab his qui Centum marcas in redditibus obtinent vicissimam, ab his qui ampliores habent redditus partem tertiam habere nitatur, usque ad summam quater viginti millium marcarum de bonis Clericorum per annum redigere oporteret; ad cuius quidem pecuniæ solutionem, vix totum Regnum Angliae sufficere posset, quanto minus et clerici, cum eorum bona tantummodo in fructibus existant; qui licet venales annuatim exponi consueverunt, de eadem tamen pecuniâ multæ sunt emptiones, cum de manu ad manum pecuniâ proficisci contingat, et in regno remaneat. Ac si contingat de singulis venditionibus pecuniâ deducere, et extra regnum deportare, deficerent emptores, nec contingeret in toto Regno tantam pecuniæ summam invenire, quod in gravi necessitatis casu per experientiam alias est declaratum, videlicet cum nobilissimæ memoriæ quondam Angliae Rex Richardus in partibus remotis captus esset & detentus, ad ipsius liberationem sexaginta millia marcarum soluta fuerint. Ad quod solvendum, totum Regnum contribuere, nec exolvere poterat ad plenum, nisi ad hoc perficiendum, cruces & calices Ecclesiarum in solum pro parte traderentur: quanto minus et nunc de bonis Clericorum tantum, tanta pecuniæ summa redigi non posset, cum ipsam contingeret infra triennium triplicare. Cum igitur huic exactioni contradicat Ecclesia Anglicana per procuratores ut hanc contradictionem communem Domino Papæ insinuare velitis pro statu Ecclesiarum Anglicanarum, præsentiam Domini nostri Iesu Christi appellantes, et Concilii universalis, aliquo tempore per Dei gratiam convocandi.

A Parliament being summoned and meeting soon after this Appeal, great complaints were therein made against this Tax and other miserable incessant Papal oppressions.

Sanctissimo Patri in Christo ac Domino I. Dei providentia summo Pontifici, universitas Cleri et populi per Provinciam Cantuariensem constituti, devota pedum oscula beatorum: Cum Anglicana Ecclesia à tempore commendata sibi fidei Catholica, Deo & Sacrosanctæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ matri nostræ placere studens, ad hæserit semper & servierit devotè, à cæptis obsequiis non recessura, per morum incrementa semper proficiens, Sanctitatis vestræ pedibus provoluta supplicat obnixè, quatenus in petitione pecunia, qua diversimodè ab ea requiritur, in subventionem diversarum nationum, de mandato Sanctitatis vestræ cum gravi coercionem, eadem pietas vestra parcere dignetur. Importabile est namque quod mandatur, et impossibile propter cerum defectus: Licet enim Regio nostra fructus reddat interdum ad alimenta gentis suæ deputatos, aris tamen copiam non reddit, nec redderet per tempora multa quantæ requiritur his diebus. Sed & onere simili, licet non tanto, præteritis diebus, & ob causas similes pręgravata, portare nequit aliquatenus quod exigitur. Ad mandatum insuper Sanctitatis vestræ tempore præsentis ad opus Domini Regis nostri temporalis, (cui in necessitatibus suis deesse non possumus cum honestate, nec debemus) exigitur a Clero succursus, ut incursum hostiles, quos avertat Deus, propulsare possit, et patrimonii sui jura tueri, ac recuperare promptius occupata. Latores igitur præsentium cum supplicatione nostra, ad præsentiam Sanctitatis vestræ destinamus, ut pericula vobis exponant, & incommoda, quæ in promptu sequerentur ex præmissis, & quæ nulla possumus ratione portare, licet sumus in omni vinculo charitatis, obedientia & devotionis, vobis obligati. This modest, humble Letter, was seconded with another to the Cardinals.

Reverendissimis Patribus in Christo & Dominis, Sacrosanctæ Ecclesiæ Romanæ Cardinalibus, devoti sui, &c. salutem, reverentiam debitam & honorem. Ad universitatem vestram, velut ad bases Ecclesiæ Dei fulcientes, humiliter supplicantes confugimus, & obnoxie deprecamur, quatenus pressuras quibus mancipamur attendere dignantes, opem ferre velitis, ut post repetita gravamina, quæ Anglicanæ Ecclesiæ præteritis diebus occurrerunt, respirare possit, & ex hoc vobis assurgere teneamur, ad debitas gratiarum actiones. A tempore namque ultimi Concilii Lateranensis, primò vicesima triennii in subsidium Terræ Sanctæ, postmodum decima in subsidium Domini Papæ, postmodum præstationibus aliis diversimodè & ad usus diversos, de mandato sedis Apostolicæ Anglicanæ Ecclesiæ pulsata, profudit prompta voluntate quæ potius habere ad manus. Regi etiam nostro ac patrono temporali, ad mandatum sedis Apostolicæ, iteratis vicibus secundum vires suas fecit succursus, & jam per preces vestras exigitur succursus iterato ad opus ejusdem Domini Regis (cui in necessitatibus suis deesse, nec potest, nec debet) ut hostium incursum repellere possit, & Regni sui jura tueri ac recuperare promptius occupata. Postremò autem, petitur ab eadem Ecclesiæ diebus istis, quod portare non potest, rerum penuria negante quod exigitur, ab aliis, videlicet, medietas bonorum, ab aliis tertia, & à reliquis vicesima omnium quæ possident. Pars scilicet in usus Francorum, qui nos & gentem nostram persequuntur, ad conquestum Imperii Græcorum: pars in subsidium Terræ Sanctæ, quæ posset, ut mundus clamat, cum minori discrimine rehaberi ab hostibus. Pars autem ad usus alios, quos Apostolica sedes ordinaret. Durum quidem videtur nobis & absurdum, ut aliis abundantibus de bonis & laboribus nostris, nos & nostri, ac pauperes Hostiles etiam insidias & incursus, quos Deus avertat, Rex noster & Regni militia repellere non valeret, nec posset percutibus & inopibus subveniri, ac Regni & arario vacuato. His autem auditis infremuit Curia Romana, et suam voluit avaritiam tam redargui quam refrænari. Timentes quoque Papa & Cardinales nè sibi, quod comminatione tali imminerebat, ingrueret periculosa confusio, (to give some little content and ease at present) non penitus omittebant gravare Regnum & Ecclesiam Angliæ (non enim permittebat hoc paternæ charitatis inopia) sed rigorem memoratum tali moderamine temperarunt, ut ad undecim millium Marcarum summam, subsidium prius postulatum refrænerunt. In quod Episcopi Angliæ congregati, (without and against the inferiour Clergies consents) & super hoc, consilium cum deliberatione habentes, pro persecutione Romanæ Ecclesiæ reprimenda, (when as the Pope and Church of Rome were in truth the persecutors of the Emperor, not the persecuted) ad hoc, licet grave sibi videretur, in prædictam pecuniam summam Domino Papæ contribuenda consenserunt: (against the Kings and Nobles Letters and Prohibitions) In ipso tamen Concilio, quod omni charitate fraternæ ac civilitate caruit, (such was their Legerdemain in this grand concernment) excluderunt omnes Abbates Angliæ exemptos, horacitati Romanæ Curie periculosius exponendos.

How much these Papal Exactions were soon after multiplied, notwithstanding these Letters, you shall hear in due place.

Anno 1246. (and some years before) there arose these and other new pernicious Customs and Corruptions in the Court of Rome. * Nova in Curia Romana inolevit consuetudo, ut cum bellum inter aliquos Nobiles moveretur, unam partium ad eam confugientem, excommunicando alteram, (Excommunications being abused to all sorts of Injustice, Oppressions, Extortions, Rapines, Villanies, as the premised and subsequent passages abundantly evidence) et illos absolvendo, potenter coheret: ut qui per illam resurgeret, omni tempore ipsi teneretur obligatus: quod in Davide Principe Northwalliæ fuerat manifeste comprobatum. Similiter, et alia detestabilis, ut scilicet si quis Clericus multis et optimis redditibus abundans, in Episcopum forte eligeretur, ex indulgentiâ Papali, intermeantibus intercessoribus et muneribus, tam redditus prius obtentos quam Episcopatum licenter cupiditatis brachiis ampleretur: quod in electo Valentino willielmo, constat fuisse propositum: Nec non et alia nova sunt suborta in Curia memorata, quorum memoria Sanctorum corda lachrymabiliter cruentarunt: for which neither this Pope nor his successors were ever once so much pricked at their stony hearts, as to endeavour to reform them, continuing their avowed shamefull practice till this very day, notwithstanding many successive complaints against them. Amongst other practices, he made use of Croysadoes against the Saracens and Tartars, published and promoted principally by the Friars Preachers and Minorites, to pick the peoples purses to maintain Wars against the Emperor Frederik: Whereupon, * Eo tempore Fredericus comperiens Papam abundare Anglico numismate, posuit custodias & insidias transitibus, pontibus, & portibus, ne quis amulo suo Andegravio à Papa subsidium transportaret: (whom this Pope caused to be elected Emperor; the Archbishop of

For which & other services he and Pope Gregory bestowed many large Privileges upon these Freers, recorded at large by * Mat. Paris, where you may peruse them. And notwithstanding the Tartars then invaded Hungary with a puissant Army, forcing the King of Hungary and his Subjects to leave the frontiers, and retire into fenced Cities and Castels; who writ to the Pope for ayd against them; ut sollicitè sibi totique Christianitati de tam formidabili peste provideret; sed nec sic tamen aversus est Papalis impetus infractus, quin pecuniæ colligendæ totis viribus imbiaret; (especially in England and France) not to War against the Tartars or Saracens, but only against the Emperor, whom he had Excommunicated, Deposed, against all Laws of God and man, setting up an Intruder in his Imperial Throne. Sacerdotes autem & alii Clerici, qui fuerint in exercitu Christiano, tam subditi, quam Prælati, orationi ac exhortationi diligenter insistant: docentes eos verbo pariter, & exemplo, ut timorem & amorem Domini semper habeant ante oculos, ne quid dicant aut faciant, quod æterni Regis Majestatem offendant. Et si aliquando lapsi fuerint in peccatum, per veram penitentiam mox resurgant; gerentes humilitatem cordis & corporis, & tam in victu, quam in vestitu mediocritatem servantes, dissensiones & emulationes omnino vitando, rancore ac livore à se penitus relegatis: ut sic spiritualibus & materialibus armis muniti, adversus hostes fidei securius præliantur; non de sua præsumentes potentia, sed divina virtute sperantes. Nobiles, quidam & potentes exercitus, ac omnes divitiis & opibus abundantes, piis Prælatorum monitis & exhortationibus inducantur, ut intuitu Crucifixi, pro quo Crucis signaculum assumpserunt, ab expensis inutilibus & superfluis, sed ab illis præcipue, quæ sunt in commensationibus & conviviiis nimis & sumptuosis, abstinere, eas convertant in personarum illarum subsidium, per quas Dei negotium valeat prosperari; & eis propter hoc juxta Prælatorum ipsorum providentiam, peccatorum suorum indulgentia tribuatur. Prædictis autem Clericis indulgemus, ut beneficia sua integrè percipiant per triennium, ac si essent in Ecclesiis residentes. Et si necesse fuerit, ea per idem tempus pignori valeant obligare. Ne igitur hoc sanctum propositum impediri vel retardari contingat, universis Ecclesiarum Prælati districtè præcipimus, ut singuli per loca sua, illos qui signum Crucis deposuerunt, resumere, ac tam ipsos quam alios Crucesignatos, & quos adhuc signari contigerit, ad reddendum Domino vota sua diligenter moneant ac inducant: et si necesse fuerit, per Excommunicationis in personas, et Interdicti sententias in terras ipsorum, omni tergiversatione cessante, compellant. Ad hoc, ne quid in negotio Domini nostri Jesus Christi de contingentibus omitatur, volumus, & mandamus, ut Patriarchæ, Archiepiscopi, Episcopi, Abbates, & alii, qui curam obtinent animarum, studiose proponant commissis sibi populis verbum Crucis; obsecrantes per Patrem, & Filium, & Spiritum Sanctum, unum solum verum æternum Deum, Reges, Duces, Principes, Marchiones, Comites, & Barones, aliosque Magnates, necnon communia Civitatum, Villarum, & oppidorum, ut qui personaliter non accesserunt in subsidium Terræ Sanctæ, competentem conferant numerum bellatorum, cum expensis ad triennium necessariis, secundam proprias facultates, in remissionem suorum peccaminum: prout in generalibus Lateris, quas pridem per orbem terræ miserimus, est expressum, & ad majorem cautelam inferius exprimitur.

noribus missæ.

Eodem anno postquam Dominus Papa ad hoc Fratres Prædicatores diligenter exequendum constituit, Literas illud ministro Fratrum Minorum in Anglia, direxit, ut tam Fratres Minores quam Prædicatores, à via humilitatis & paupertatis voluntariæ, quam se sectatores sunt professi, avertens, suos constitueret procuratores, Literas districtum præceptum Papale cum diversis articulis continentes. Quorum unus tenor est, ut ipse vel fratres sui inquirant de usurariis vivis, & eorum per usurariam pravitatem male acquisitis, & ipsa colligant ad opus Imperii Constantinopolitani, (this was the pretext, it being only for his own use) & quod per censuram Ecclesiasticam compeſcant contraditores. Alterius tenor est, quod qui velint Crucesignari pro liberatione prædicti Imperii, vel de catallis suis ibidem mittere sufficienter, de peccatis suis absolventur. Alterius tenor est, quod relicta in Testamentis decedentium per usurariam pravitatem acquisita colligant ad subsidium Imperii memorati, & quod compeſcant contraditores & rebelles. Alterius tenor est, quod colligant relicta in Testamentis decedentes male acquisierunt, ad subsidium prædicti Imperii, contraditores & rebelles compeſcendo. Alterius tenor est, quod ea qua relinquuntur distribuenda in pios usus, secundum arbitrium executorum testamentorum decedentium, nec præfata relicta ab ipsis testatoribus certis locis aut personis deputata fuerint, vel de jure aliis debeantur, aut per prædictos executores in usus hujusmodi sint conversa, ad subsidium Imperii prædicti colligant, & significant ei de quantitate ipsorum, & compeſcant, &c. Alterius tenor est, quod de male acquisitis viventium inquirant diligenter, & colligant ad subsidium Imperii memorati: dummodo persona, quibus pro taliter acquisitis satisfieri deberet, inveniri non possint: & rescribant Papa, & compeſcant, &c. Alterius Literæ talis est tenor, quod dictus minister habet potestatem absolvendi excommunicatos, qui scienter fraudem commiserint in his qua colligenda sunt ad Imperium prædictum: dummodo ministerio, vel fratribus suis, ad illud negotium deputatis, congruam satisfactionem impenderint.

To all which new devised Papal Extortions to raise monies, I shall subjoyn another of a different nature. Excommunications being grown very common and formidable in that age, some Knights and persons of quality lyable to them, for money purchased from this Pope an Exemption from all Excommunications, by any person but by the Popes own special command: particularly, * Lambertus de Muletuna Miles, qui nuper Prolegium mirabile datis non paucis numeribus a Papa impetraverat, ut scilicet nulli liceret eum pro quacunque culpa excommunicare, nisi de speciali mandato Papa, ac si liceret eidem impunè peccare, & qui multos læserat, plures fatigare, hoc modo à Domino meruit sauciari, ut cum phaleratis superbè equitando à quodam peracto suo rediret placito, descendens se querebatur morbo difficili prægravari. Et præcipitanter recubans, antequam depositis calcaribus disalceari potuit, morte palluit repentina.

This crafty Pope to pacifie King Henries indignation against these and other his Rapines, thought meet to gratifie him in some seeming measure, in his and his Nobles complaints against bellowing Bishopricks and Ecclesiastical Benefices by Provisions, that so he might countenance or connive at, not absolutely prohibere them; to which end, * Ipsò tempore Dominus Rex, nesciens se versutiis Romanorum subdole verborum involucris muscipulatum, per quosdam aulicos suos ipsi Regi placere cupientes, privilegium quoddam sibi in Curia Romana gratanter suscepit, in doctrina procuratorum Domini Regis elaboratum, Quod quanquam Papa pro sue voluntatis arbitrio, ad intolerabile Regni Angliæ gravamen, passim et indifferenter Provisiones fecerit in Anglia de Beneficiis Ecclesiasticis ad opus Italicorum, nunc gratia Dei, in ipsa parte ito sedata est tempestas illa, quod quando Papa alicui vel aliquibus ex nepotibus ejus vel Cardinalium, ipse vel ipsi Cardinales rogabunt Regem cum instantia, quod placeat Regi, ut sic tali provideatur. Quo umbratili Privilegio ac deceptorio, amici Domini Regis fortuneles, cor ejus demulcentes, ipsum strictius illaqueant. In quo enim gravantur notarii ac tabelliones Romana Curie, ad munera cerei ac prostantes, si imperante Papa petitiones urgentes & rhetoricas Domino Regi transmittant, ut se dicant, et Regem depauperent?

perent? Nihil igitur aliud illud arbitroz, nisi hancum inescatum: the Kings Royal assent being not required before, but after the Popes Provisions granted, and enjoyed by a Papal Non obstante, in case he gave not his Royal assent thereto upon the Popes and Cardinals requests.

Boniface Archbishop of Canterbury this year (1246.) upon a feigned pretext, that his Church of Canterbury was involved in very great Debts by his Predecessors; but in truth by himself to carry on foreign Wars, and gratifie the Pope, procured from Pope Innocent a grant of the First Years Fruits of all Benefices that should fall void within his Diocese during the space of seven years, till he should raise out of them the sum of Ten Thousand Marks, besides Two Thousand Marks yearly out of the Bishoprick; thus regiltred by Matthew Paris.

Per idem tempus, tales à Domino Episcopo Lincolnensi, ut major certificatio de prædictis habeatur, Literæ emanarunt.

Universis Sanctæ matris Ecclesiæ filiis, ad quos præsentis Litera pervenerint, Robertus miseratione divina Lincolnensis Episcopus, æternam in Domino, salutem. Noverit universitas vestra, nos mandatum Domini Papa non cancellatum, non abolum, in nulla sui parte vitiatum inspexisse, in hac verba: Innocentius Episcopus servus servorum Dei, Venerabilibus Fratribus, Episcopis, & dilectis filiis, Abbatibus, Prioribus, Archidiaconis, Decanis, Capellanis, & aliis Ecclesiarum Prelatis & Clericis per Cantuariensem Civitatem, Diocæsî, & Provinciam constitutis, salutem & Apostolicam Benedictionem. Ad hoc cælestis altitudo consilii, alta & ineffabili providentia universa disponens, rerum vicissitudines non sine dispensatione certa rationis alternat, nunc superiores inferiorum, nunc inferiores superiorum auxilio faciens indigere: ut humana conditio per alternationes hujusmodi, sui status instabilitatem agnoscat, & alterutrum sibi compatiens & subveniens, impleat legem Christi, qua diligere proximum quisque jubetur, & alterius onera supportare. Cum igitur, sicut Venerabilis frater noster Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus nobis exposuit, Cantuariensis Ecclesiæ, tam prædecessorum suorum, qui passi tribulationes innumeras, fuere necessitatum plurimum incommodis agitati, quam etiam vacationum ipsius Ecclesiæ longiorum, temporibus quibus cogniti & ignoti pari passu circumflexerunt, ut ad se traherent & diriperent bona ejus, adeo grandi fuerit debitorum onere pragravata, quod vix posset ab ipsis absque sedis Apostolicæ providentia liberari, nobis humiliter supplicavit, ut eidem Ecclesiæ subvenire, ne usuris excreverentibus ipsis gravior & quasi irreparabilis sit jactura, de benignitate solita dignemur. Verum, cum eadem Cantuariensis inter alias orbis Ecclesiæ honorabilis habeatur, quod eam Romana Ecclesiæ, veluti filiam prædilectam, sinceris affectibus prosequitur, & præfert effectibus gratia singularis; in cujus odoris suavitate reficitur, statu recreatur tranquillo, & prosperis prosperatur: illamque ea prærogativa favoris & gratia prosequamur, quod ipsius ardenti desiderio, & potentissime ejusdem Archiepiscopi consideratione, qui tanquam filius devotus Ecclesiæ, & nobile membrum, cujus devotione servens, vita perspicuus, & nobilitate præclarus, nobis & fratribus nostris charus & acceptus plurimum habeatur: ipsius supplicationibus favorabiliter annuentes, de fratrum nostrorum consilio, damus venerabili fratri nostro Herefordensi Episcopo nostris Literis in mandatis, ut ipse per septennium et non ultra, omnium * Beneficiorum Ecclesiasticorum, quæ deinceps in Civitate, Diocæsî et Provincia Cantuariensi, vacabunt, primi anni proventus usque ad decem millium Marcarum summam. Quæ si ante dictum septennium haberi poterit, nil amplius exigatur. Nec non duo millia Marcarum de ipsius Archiepiscopi redditibus colligat annuatim, et convertat fideliter in solutione debitorum Ecclesiæ memoratæ. Proviso, quod personis serviens in eisdem Beneficiis, de prædictis redditibus idem Episcopus faciat competentem portionem pro ipsarum sustentatione, ne ipsa debitis defraudentur obsequiis, assignari. Et si forsan dictorum beneficiorum redditus hujusmodi primi anni esse debeant, iuxta morem patriæ, decedentium personarum; dictus Episcopus ipsorum beneficiorum redditus in anno colligat subsequenti: contradictores, auctoritate nostra appellatione postposita compescendo. Ira Regis ener-

Hæc autem cum ad audientiam Regis pervenirent, primo obstupuit iratus et commotus valde, clamose dicens: *Quid si talia procurabit Regno meo dispendia Archiepiscopus Cantuariensis Bonifacius quem promovi. Nec sufficit ei quod electum meum Cicestresem Robertum videlicet Passelève, cujus promotionem procuraveram, protaciter præcipit: sed et diatim intendens bellis, ruptoris more, tam in Provincia quam Anglia, contra me jam iacturam et dedecus machinaturam. Ecce nova et inaudita pecuniarum extorsio: O quam multiformes sunt laquei venantium, ad subjectorum simplicitatem deci-piendam! In hac equidem machinatione Nobiles mei, ad quos Ecclesiarum spectant patronatus, defraudantur; terra censu spoliatur, et similibus consequentia formidatur. Tandem tamen Dominus Rex cum infibilatum fuisset ei, quod minime irasci teneretur memorato Archiepisco-po pro dicta Roberti cassatione; tum eo quod in examinatione insufficiens reperiebatur, tum quia ejus cassatio multum Regi fuit utilis & lucrosa, cum quotidie Regis diligenter intenderit emolumentis, muliebriter in suo proposito resistendi fractus est, muliebris, ut dicitur, intercessione turpiter emollitus; quia merito hoc nomen mulier, quasi molliens herum, id est enervans etymologizatur. Nec proh dolor, viriliter pro Ecclesiæ indemnitate, cum non constiterit Ecclesiæ Cantuariensem alieno ære per Archiepiscopum A. sub usuris maxime irretitam in tantum, nec pro Regni sui tuitione, vel Sanctorum Pontificum Cantuariensium honore, stetit Rex, prout decuit et expedit; sed eidem Archiepiscopo Bonifacio * concessit per Angliam, secundum quod prædicatur, prædictam habere collationem. Veruntamen, per idem tempus prohiberi fecit Dominus Rex per Literas suas, ne quis veniens de Curia portans Literas Bullatas de Provisionibus faciendis præcepto Papali, ad extorquendam pecuniam de Ecclesia Anglicana, et depauperandum Regnum, permitteretur bagari per terram ad Prælatos: et si quis talis inveniretur, caperetur, carceri Regis retrudendus. Portus autem, hoc præcipiens portuum custodibus, fecit custodiri. Sed hoc animos miserorum Anglorum parum exila-ravit, qui cor cereum Regis cognoverant: & ea facilitate advertendum, qua converti frequenti experientia certificabantur. (The Bishops baseness, inconstancy, timidity, ill advice, and compliance with the Pope against the King upon all occa-

* The King at last assented to this grant.

The Bishops for their own Interest opposing this new Papal Exaction, were thereupon Excommunicated by the Archbishop, who forced them to submit to this Papal Innovation by the Popes formidable authority, which they durst not strenuously resist.

Tempore quoque sub eodem, Bonifacius Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus, Episcopos Cantuariensis Provinciae autoritate Apostolica suspendit, eo quod consentire noluerunt novæ et inauditæ contributioni, quam a gratia Papæ impetraverat; videlicet, proventus Ecclesiarum vacantium, ut primo anno vacationis fructus ipsi Archiepiscopo contribuerentur, ad liberationem debitorum: quibus, ut asserbat, ipsam Ecclesiam Cantuariensem prædecessores sui cum gravissima usura irremediabiliter obligaverant. Quod non sine injuria B. Edmundi immediatè prædecessoris sui, & aliorum Sanctorum, constat esse confectum. Episcopi vero contra Papalem auctoritatem et manda-

tum non valentes nec volentes recalcitrare, licet invitati, tandem cum summa mentis amaritudine consenserunt, ut absolvi mererentur. Iterum per Decanum Belvacensem hujus negotii executorem, mandatum receperunt: quod a Papa Excommunicarentur, et denunciarentur Excommunicati per Provinciam Cantuariensem, omnes obloquentes, omnesque detrahentes, fraudem facientes in negotio prænotato, ex gratia Papæ sollicitè concessa, exceptis Domino Rege, uxore, et liberis suis, et nobili viro Richardo Comite Cornubia.

How rigorously this Archbishop proceeded against all opposers of his Usurpations, while employed as a Soldier for this Antichristian Pope in his Wars, to murder mens Bodies, instead of discharging his Office of a Bishop to feed and save the peoples Bodies and Souls committed to his care, is thus recorded.

Diebus quoque sub eisdem, Archiepiscopus Cantuariensis Bonifacius, qui in partibus Englannensibus, minus sollicitus, quantum ad animarum custodiam, Ecclesiæ, Domino Papæ militavit, ab Ecclesiis in sua Provincia vacantibus, quas per annum retinuit, auctoritate sultus Apostolica, thesaurum non minimum a miserima Anglia, quæ facta est vinea ab apīs exterminanda, quam vindemiant omnes prætereuntes, extorsit: Et ut magis corda spoliatorum cruentaret, per Decanum Belvacensem, suum in hac procuratorem, fecit denuntiari, omnes fuisse Excommunicatos, qui clam vel palam obloquentes vel detrahentes, gratiam quam Dominus Papa concesserat, et contulerat eidem Archiepiscopo, quomodolibet impedirent, vel de præbentibus aliquam subtractionem vel fraudem facerent supradictis, exceptis tantummodo Domino Rege & Regina, & eorum liberis, & nobili viro Comite Richardo. Et hoc mandatum præceptum per totam Angliam in singulis Ecclesiis divulgatum, in multorum cordibus indignationem, tum propter ipsam injuriosam, et inauditam, avidamque pecuniæ extortionem, tum propter annexam adulationem, generavit, Dominumque Regem talia tolerantem, et talibus consentientem, præcordialiter maledixerunt.

King Henry by former contests having in some degree regained his Prerogative in the Election and Confirmation of Bishops, which the Clergy had violently wrested from King John and him; thereupon the Chapters and Covents became more compliable to him, electing such persons for their Bishops and Abbots, to whom they presumed he would readily give his Royal assent; hereupon the Bishop of Salisbury, and Abbot of Westminster, both deceasing this year; * Eisdem sub diebus, Canonici Sarisburienses, compientes nullum ferè acceptum Domino Regi, nisi aulicum & curialem, præcaventesque Ecclesia sua periculo, & Regiam captantes benevolentiam; Willielmum de Eboraco, Domini Regis Clericum familiarissimum, & legum Regni peritissimum, Beverlaci Præpositum, in Episcopum & animarum suarum Pastorem unanimiter elegerunt. Quæ quia electio Deo placuit, ut credebatur, et Domino Regi fuit accepta, sine moræ dispendio confirmabatur. Dominus etiam Sylvester electus ad Præsulatum Carleolensem, qui prius se indignum reputavit, & idcirco non consensit, quoniam eum Deus vocavit à telonio ad ministerium, timore bono percussus, in electionem memoratam humiliter consensit, ne Deo recalcitrans, reprobus haberetur: (as Matthew Paris ironically stories of him.) * Eorumque dierum circulis Magister Richardus de Crokefle, Archidiaconus Westmonasteriensis, vir elegans & jurisperitus & Domino Regi amicissimus, à toto conventu unanimiter est electus. Timebant enim Monachi, ne si secus fieret, Rex equum pattonis specialis, Ecclesiam suam jam semirutam relinqueret imperfectam, quam gloriose ceperat adificare.

The Pope having this year canonized * Edmund Archbishop of Canterbury for a Saint (which he had long deferred) to gratifie the King, and facilitate the imposing and levying of his Papal Exactions upon the Clergy and Realm, the King receiving the news thereof, gavisus est vehementer, & statim super hoc certificatus, præcepit, ut accensis multis cereis omnes Clerici de Capella Regia, assumptis festivis induviis, Missam solenniter, cujus introitus foret, Gaudeamus, &c. celebrarent; the King by his Royal Authority prescribing a special Masse upon this occasion: And the new elected Anno 1245. Abbas Cluniacensis, (having * gifted, and entertained the Pope for several weeks) antequam hospes suus Dominus Papa, Lugdunum petiturus recessisset, impetravit ab ipso licentiam, & scriptum super hoc; ut a toto ordine Cluniacensi decimam extorqueret per unum annum; tum quia Dominum Papam exultantem & accedentem ad partes Cisalpinas, muneribus respexit impreciablebus Abbas memoratus (dederat enim triginta paletridos phaleratos cum totidem equis clitellariis) tum quia splendide procurando curialiter recepit, & exhibuit ferè per unum mensem. Et hanc decimam in omnibus membris percipiet Abbas prædictus, non obstante contradictione alicujus ordinarii. De qua quidem pecunia, percipiet Dominus Papa tria milia marcarum. Residuū autem cedet in solutione debitorum, quibus Ecclesia Cluniaci pro promotione Romana Ecclesie noscitur obligari. Et sic concessit Papa Abbati; ut de propria cute sibi faceret latam corrigiam. Hereupon the Abbot by his Agents the next year, collecting this Tax and Tenth in England, from the Monasteries of his Order, in derogation of the Kings Prerogative royal, the K. thereupon issued a Prohibition, prohibiting the Collection thereof; and afterwards sent an expresse Mandate to the Constable of the Tower, that taking with him the Sheriffs of London and Bailiffs of Southwark, he should go to the Priory of Bermundesey, and seise all the monies collected for the use of the Abbot of Cluny against his Prohibition, and seal it up under their seales if they found it there, and likewise command the Prior, not to suffer any of the monies to be thence removed, without the Kings Privy, under pain of seising all his tenements in England, as this record attests.

The King by his Ecclesiastical Prærogative having right to present to the Church of St Michael in Coventry then voyd, during the vacancy of the Bishoprick, the Archdeacons of Coventry and Salop, after the Bishops death, during the vacancy, presumed, without the Kings privy, in derogation of his royal prerogative, to appropriate 30 marks a year of the profits of the said Church to the Canons of Lichfield, and 30 marks more to the use of the Monks of Coventry, and the rest of the profits they they allotted to the Vicar for the time being, who should serve the Cure; putting a Vicar into possession of the said Church: Which the King conniving at till a he season, presented Ralph de Leicester his Clerk to the said Church, notwithstanding this appropriation, which he declared nul and voyd. Whereupon the Vicar cited him before the Popes Delegates, and likewise kept forcible possession of the Church, with armed men against him. The King informed thereof by Ralph his Clerk, issued a Writ to the Sheriff of Warwick, to remove the forte, who thereupon repairing to the Church with the Kings Clerk, and finding resistance, brake open the Church doores, in which scuffle some were wounded, besides the Kings and Sheriffs intentions: The King avowed this act of the Sheriff as his own, being done by his Writ for his honor and service; yet the Bishop of Coventry excommunicated both the Kings Clerke and all his men, with all those who assisted the Sheriff in executing the Kings Writ; the King thereupon issued forth these two memorable Writs: the first of them to the Sheriffs of Warwick shire, to repair to the Bishop, to admonish and intreat him forthwith to recal his excommunication, under pain of seizing his Barony into the Kings hands, in case of refusal, the Bp. being obliged by his Oath in respect of his Barony to maintain the Kings honor and dignity, whom he could not more offend or dishonor, then by excommunicating his Subjects and Officers for obeying his commands, which none would thenceforth execute, if they should not be protected against such unjust excommunications; and commanded the Bishop of Lincoln, not to molest his Clerks by reason of this Excommunication, nor yet to publish it against him. The writ to the Popes delegates not to proceed in this cause to dispossesse his Clerks of this Church whereof he had gained actual possession; and to the Dean and Chapter of Lichfield, Sheriff of Warwick, and the Clerk and Vicar not to prosecute this cause, runs in this stile.

Eodem modo scriptum est Decano & Capitulo Lichfield. ne prosequantur, & Judicibus Hereford. per eadem verba, & Henrico de Crok Presbytero, ne prosequatur, ut supra continetur.

By these Writs it is apparent; 1. That the King himself may by his Writs command Bishops to recall, and not to publish illegal Excommunications of his Officers, Clerks, Subjects, and command other Bishops to absolve them, and seize their Temporalities if they refuse to do it: 2ly. That such Excommunications are against his Crown and Dignity, as well as his Subjects Liberties. 3ly. That he, his Council and Court are the proper Judges of the Legality of such Excommunications. 4ly. That no Ecclesiastical Courts can hold Plea of Advowsons or Churches after institution, and if they do, a Prohibition lies to hinder them.

The King to gratify the importunity of two of his Clerkes notwithstanding the Popes Provisions were odious in England, granted liberty to the Archbishop of Canterbury and his official, for this time only, that they should confer Livings on them by Authority of the Popes Provisions directed to them; so as this License of the King should not be drawn into consequence for the future.

The King having intelligence that the Pope intended by all means to dispose of the Archbishoprick of Ardmash in Ireland, by way of Provision, to prevent his design, authorised his Chief Justice at this time to grant a License in the Kings right to the Dean and Chapter, to elect a Bishop, and to consent to his election, and that they should demand such a License from him, so as he tooke caution from them by their Letters Patents, that it should not prejudice the King at any other time.

I shall conclude the History of this year (Anno 30 H. 3. 1246.) with Matthew Paris his observation: * Transit igitur annus ille Terræ Sanctæ suspectus, Ecclesiæ noctibus universalis, adversarius Imperio, Regnis quoque Francorum et Anglorum depredator, Romana Curia infamis et turbulentus: by reason of Pope Innocent's intollerable Insolencies, Rapines, Oppressions, Innovations, Treasons, which he prosecuted with greater vigor the next year, Anno 1247. quæst annus Regni Domini Henrici 3. Regis 31. as the same Historian thus informs us.

Eodemque tempore urgente mandato Papali redivivo, de importabili contributione prædicta, ad quam Episcopi in generali Concilio clerum infeliciter obligaverunt, fecit Dominus Rex Magnates suos, necnon & Angliæ Archidiaconos, per scripta sua Regia Londinum convocari. Quo cum pervenissent die præfixo, Episcopi omnes (such was their Treachery, Timidity, and Servility to the Pope, whose interest they preferred before the Kings, Kingdoms, Churches, and their own common liberty, and publike safety) sese gratis absentarunt, ne viderentur propriis factis eminus adversari. Sciebant enim corda omnium, usque ad animæ amaritudinem, non immerito lauciari. The Parliaments and Clergies Letters to the Pope, and proceedings therein are * formerly related.

Notwithstanding which Letters, Pope Innocent sent several Freers Minorites and other Harpies, with the power, authority, but not the Name of Legates, into England, Scotland, Ireland, and France, to exact and levy monies to carry on his Wars against the Emperor, which were generally opposed in most places; thus related by Matthew Paris, and others.

Dum fortuna præstigiola mundo talibus illuderet fallaciis, duo Fratres de ordine Minorum, Johannes & Alexander, natione Anglici, potestatem a Domino Papa obtinentes extorquendi pecuniam ad opus Domini Papæ, in Angliam ab ipso Papa destinatur. Qui multis Bullatis Literis Papalibus armati, & sub ovino vellere lupinam rapacitatem palliantes, post ad Regem simplici intuitu, vultu demisso, sermone blando pervenientes, per Regnum vagandi postulabant auxilium, ad opus Domini Papæ charitatem petaturi, nullam se coercionem facturos asserentes. Ex licentia igitur Domini Regis, nihil finis super his meditantis, tantis, dicti fratres à Curia Regis, jam Legati sophistici donis Clericorum regaliū superbiētes, Nobiles mannos obſidentes, ſellis deauratis falerati, preciociſſimis veſtibus adornati, calceamentisque militariſus, quæ vulgariter Heuſes dicuntur, ſeculariter, imò potius prodigaliter calceati & calcarati, in laſionem et opprobrium ordinis et profeſſionis ſuæ, profeſſi ſunt, officio et tyrannide fungentes Legatorum, et procuraciones exigentes et ettorquentes, ab ſolidos pro procuracione parum reputarunt. Adeuntes igitur primò præcellētioreſ Angliæ Prælatos, pecuniam ad opus Domini Papæ ſub pœna formidabili proacriter exigunt, terminum reſponſionis vel ſolutionis nimis abbreviantes, Literas Papales fulminantes oſtendendo, quas quaſi cornua minacia protulerunt. Et cum ad Episcopum Lincolnienſem perveniſſent, qui ſemper ordinis eorum æmulator & amator ſingularis, adeo ut ad ordinem eorum propoſitum habuerat conſolvendi, extiterat, obſtupuit vehementer, videntē ſalem ſtrum Minorum monſtruoſam in habitu & geſtu, necnon & officio transformationem; non enim de ſacili deprehendi potuit, cujuſnam ordinis jam eſſent vel conditionis. Et cum ſacros apices Papalis mandati eminus dejurantes, præcipue de credentia pecuniarum, nam parvam quantitatem, ſex miſſia videlicet Barcarum, ex Episcopatu ſuo inſtanter exigebant. Cui Episcopus non ſine magno cordis ſtupore & dolore reſpondit: Frater, hæc exaſtio, ſalva Papali auctoritate, inexcusable et inhoneſta eſt, quia ad implendum impoſſibilis eſt, nec me ſolum contingens, imò totius Cleri et populi, necnon et Regni univerſitatem. Arbitror igitur temerarium et abſurdum tibi certum ſuper hoc, inconfulta Regni communitate, præſcipienter dando reſponſum, tam arduo conſilio ex negotio diſſiniendo conſentire. Et ſic inde recedentes, ad Eccleſiam Sancti Albani falerati & transformati (ut prædictum eſt) pervenerunt: & non curantes ad ſolicum fratrum Minorum hoſpitiū, quod infra portam Caritatis honeſtiſſimè cum omnibus pertinentiis ædificatum eſt ad opus ſpecialiter Prædicatorum & Minorum, venire vel deſcendere, in hoſpitiū ſoleniori, ubi ſcilicet Episcopi & honorabiles viri declinant, ſunt recepti reverenter. Et ecce ſicut ab Episcopo memorato, ſex Barcarum miſſia exigebant, ita quadragintas Barcas ab dicto Abbate, ad opus Domini Papæ, inſtantiffimè ſub magna pœna et in brevi termino, niſi ipſi ordinando providerent, perſolvendas poſtulabant. Quibus cum Abbas eodem modo quo prædictus Episcopus reſpondit, humiliter reſpondiſſet, ipſi Fratres habitum cum geſtu ſecularem induentes, & equos ſuos nobiles aſcendentes, cum inſolenti murmure receſſerunt.

Eiſdemque diebus, Dominus Papa apices ſuos authenticos per ſolennēſ Nuncios Prædicatores & Minores, miſit ad omnes Francia Prælatos ſigillatim; ſupplicans, ut unusquiſque juxta ſuam poſſibilitatem, ſibi unam quantitatem pecuniarum accommodaret. Et ipſe proculdubio cum reſpiraret, quod cuilibet competeret, redderet indubitanter: Quod cum Regi Francorum innotuiſſet, ſuſpectam habens Romanæ Curie avaritiam, prohibuit; ne quis Prælatuſ Regni ſui ſub pœna amiſſionis omnium bonorum ſuorum, taliter terram ſuam depauperaret. Et ſic cum ſibilo et deriſione omnium Papales Legati ſophiſtici quorum humeris hoc officium incumbēbat, inanes et vacui a Regno receſſerunt memorato.

Et dum ima ſummis rota fortunaliſ ſic commutaret, Dominuſ Papa non credens ſufficere ad pecuniam argumentole vindemiandam jam miſſos diverſos numiſmatis collectoreſ; in Angliam Magiſtrum Martinum, alterum Martinum Capellanum ſuum, qui ex hominib; ſui impoſitione in hoc mundano mari piſcatozem non hominum, ſed edum poſſeſſionum, prudenter elegerat, deſtinavit; ut aliſ benanſiſſib; iſte piſcando miſeros Angloſ vel puniendo eminus ineſcāret, vel fallendo cautius irretiret. Sic igitur quambiſ inſignib; Legati non poſſerēt, poteſtate tamen Legati, ut ſic Domini Regiſ priviſ legio illuderetur, fortius armabatur.

Illis quoque diebus, missus est à Domino Papa Godefridus filius præfecti Roma, electus Bethlimitanus Legatus in Scotiam, nescitur ad quid; cum ibidem fides Catholica vigeat incontaminata, & pax tam Cleri quàm populi floreat roborata. Credebatur igitur, ut secundum Romanorum consuetudinem, quod prædictus Godefridus, velut adamas ferrum, sic attraxerit argenti concupiscibilis Scotorum redditus aduberet et concupitos.

Missus in Hiberniam M. Johannes.

Eisdemque diebus missus est in Hiberniam Magister Johannes Rufus, ad pecuniam ibidem colligendam, cum potestatis plenitudine quasi Legatus; non tamen insignibus Legati redimitus, ne videretur Papa Dominum Regem Anglie offendisse; qui privilegio tali se gaudet umbraliter communitum, ut non veniat Legatus in terram suam nisi postulat. Memoratus igitur Johannes tam vigilanter mandato Papali, & suæ indulgit utilitati & lucro, ut sex millia Marcarum ab Hibernia extorserit; quæ per conductum religiosorum in festo Sancti Michaelis fecit Londinum transportari, & thesauro Papali gaudenter accumulari. Quæ omnia Fredericum minimè latuerunt.

Per idem quoque tempus, propter scandalum indecenter per diversa clemata ventilatum, cogentibus Cardinalibus, revocatum est, quod paulo antè à Domino Papa, instigante manifesta avaritia, fuerat constitutum, & ad quod fratres Minores, in damnum & scandalum eorum & sui ordinis læsionem, exequendum procuratores constituerat, ut videlicet bona decedentium intestatorum, in usus proprios Dominus Papa sibi vendicaret, tamen quia in injuriam & damnum multorum redundabat, tum propter illam iniquam adjectionem, quæ contra jura & omnem pietatem illi statuto addebatur. Quæ talis extitit: Quod si infirmus testamentum conditurus imbecillitate repentina præoccupatus, non posset expresse verba testamenti sui exprimere, & aliquem de amicis constitueret super hoc expressorem & executorem; non fieret tale testamentum, sed pro nullo haberetur; & testator talis pro intestato reputaretur, et omnia bona ejus Papalis Charpydis deglutiret.

Mat. Paris, p. 705, 706.
Exactio Papalis facta per Johannem Anglicam Minoritæ.

Eodem anno, in principio Quadragesimæ, venit quidam de ordine Minorum Johannis nomine, de quo facta est mentio in foliis præcedentibus; qui exigit ab Ecclesia Sancti Albani quadragintas Marcas auctoritate Apostolica, Londini, post festum decollationis beati Johannis, deferens mandata ab Apostolica sede ad votum impetrata de novo; quia Abbas memoratus, ad sedem Apostolicam et Cardinales, super tam importabili gravamine, appellaverat. Citavit igitur Abbatem auctoritate novi mandati Apostolici, ut ipse tertia die sequenti, scilicet in crastino Sancti Egidii veniret Londinum, vel sufficientem procuratorem & benè instructum pro ipso destinaret; ut satisfaceret ei de subsidio Domini Papæ dudum postulato. Misit igitur Abbas suum illuc procuratorem, scilicet suum Archidiaconum, ad diem illam. Qui quidem procuratores petierunt sibi fieri copiam illius novi mandati, & vix impetrarunt, & transcripserunt. Quod est tale. Innocentius Episcopus, &c. Dilecto filio suo J. Abbati Sancti Albani, Lincolniensis Diocesis, salutem & Apostolicam Benedictionem. Quotidiana persecutionis instantia secularis sua nos acerbitate compellit, ut pro subventione Apostolica sedis resistimus eidem, necessario recurramus ad auxilia subditorum. Quocirca discretionem tuam de fratrum nostrorum consilio rogamus, hortamur, & monemus attendi, per Apostolica scripta mandantes, quatenus his qua dilectus filius noster frater Johannes Anglicus, minister Provincialis fratrum Minorum Provincia later presentium, Nuncius noster, ex parte nostra super subsidio sedis ipsius tibi proponet, adhibeas plenam fidem, & diligenter attendas, quod Ecclesia taliter resistendo, generale omnium Ecclesiarum & Ecclesiasticorum virorum prosequitur interesse, liberaliter & libenter ea studere adimplere; ita quod id nobis & fratribus nostris esse possit acceptum, & tua devotionis affectus per exhibitionem, qua testimonium est credibile veritatis, pateat actionum. Datum Lugduni, quarto Idus Octobris, Pontificatus nostri anno quarto. Cujus auctoritate ipsius procuratoribus injunxit frater Johannes, ut die octavo sequente comparerent loco, quo prius comparuerunt, nisi satisfacturi in 300. Marcis argenti. Alioquin mandatum Domini Papæ exequeretur, excommunicando, interdicens. Responderant procuratores, quod Abbas fuit in destinando Nuncios suos speciales ad præsentiam Domini Papæ, ad ostendendum ei gravamina sua, & ad satisfaciendum et secundum facultates Ecclesiæ suæ & subditorum suorum, ab appellationibus prius interinterpositis non recedens. Hæc cum benè processerat annus, contigerant. Ordo quidem præposterus, sed necessario commutatus: ubi enim dolor, ibi & digitus.

Ad maiorem etiam Anglorum depressionem et gravamen, aucta est ejusdem fratris Johannis potestas et aggravata; sed & ipse stimulatus à Papa ut exigeret ampliora, his Literis. Innocentius, &c. Intellectis his quæ rursus Literis intimasti, præsentium tibi auctoritate mandamus, quatenus si major pars Prælatorum Ecclesiasticorum Regni Angliæ, tibi super exhibendo Ecclesiæ Romanæ subsidio, per se auctoritate nostra petito, responderis, se exemptos et alienos, ut maiorem etiam quàm petieris ab eisdem, assignent quibus volueris pro subsidio memorato infra terminum competentem pecuniæ quantitatem, per Censuram Ecclesiasticam appellatione remota compescendo; quocumq; privilegio, seu indulgentia qualibet non obstante; licet præsentis expressam de ipsis non faciant mentionem. Datum Lugduni, 16. Calendæ Augusti, Pontificatus nostri anno quarto. Si quis autem Priores potestates ejusdem fratris Johannis videre desiderat, in libro Literarum ipsas poterit repetire.

Mat. Paris, p. 706, 707. Aucta est potestas fratris J. per autenticum Papale.

Hæc igitur cum ad multorum audientiam pervenerunt, videlicet, quod tam frequens extorsio pecuniæ violenta per Papam et suos Legatos sophisticos et transformatos facta est, nec prævaluerunt sanctorum privilegia vel indulgentiæ patrum ipsos defendere; formidabant vehementer, ne Principes et Magnates laici et sæculares, qui vel quorum prædecessores Ecclesias fundaverunt, dotaverunt, et ditaverunt, et suas ob hoc possessiones pro magna parte mutilarunt, et inde Chartas suas confecerunt, re acciperent Ecclesiarum bona et possessiones, exemplo Papæ edocti, * Non obstante talis vel talis Chartæ tenore; præsertim cum ex illis, contra fundatorum intentionem, Papa et sui, quos vult, Italici et alii alienigenæ, indigenis esurientibus saginantur.

* The Popes Non obstante the ground of our Kings and Laymen.

The Abbot of St. Albans to preserve the Privileges of his Church, thus invaded by the Popes Bulls and Harpies, advising with his Covent, appealed to the Pope against these his Exactions, which the Popes Agents slighting, proceeded against him notwithstanding his Appeal, by the Popes directions.

Cum autem conventus ab Abbate consultus, memoratæ Ecclesiæ, scilicet Sancti Albani, se gravatum undique conspiceret, appellando ad sedem Apostolicam, quæ solet omnium oppressorum pondera relevare, Monachum unum, scilicet Dominum Johannem Bulum, & Magistrum Adam de Bern ad sedem Apostolicam, videlicet Lugdunum, maturius destinavit; sed antequàm rediret, memoratus frater Johannes Abbati Sancti Albani mandatum sub hac forma transmisit: Venerabili viro Domino Johanni Dei gratiâ Abbati Sancti Albani, frater Johannes Domini Papa Nuncius in Anglia, salutem in Domino. Licet vobis jamdudum pluries scripsimus, adhuc vobis semel, recepto super hoc cogente mandato, scribere decrevimus; rogantes & monentes, & in virtute obedientiæ auctoritate Domini Papa præcipientes; quatenus omni occasione remota, die Martis proxima ante festum Sancti Thomæ Apostoli, sitis apud Beresford in loco fratrum Minorum, de subsidio Romanæ Ecclesiæ ad plenum satisfacturi; taliter facientes, ne, quod absit, oporteat, ut inviti juxta prædicti mandati tenorem procedamus, nec propter Appellationem a vobis factam dimittere oporteat, quoniam super hoc recepimus spectale mandatum. Valete. Quod autem super his sitis facturi, nobis per latorem præsentium rescribatis.

Appellatum est igitur ad Domini Papæ præsentiam. Maluit enim tam Abbas quàm Conventus examen Papale subire, & præcellentissimi hominum, quàm illius qui sub veste humilitatis & paupertatis tantam palliavit asperitatem. Verum destinatis ad Curiam Romanam in quindena Sancti Michaelis Nunciis, instabat acrius memoratus frater Johannes comminando. Missis igitur ad ipsum Archidiacono Sancti Albani, & quibusdam fratribus, ut ipsius Johannis rigorem mitigarent, respondit, quod quicquid rigoris justitia cum sua potestate permetteret, plenius exerceret; eò quod quando ad Sanctum Albanum fuisset, ipsi tanquam Legato, vel saltem Papali Nuncio, debitam reverentiam Monachi non exhibuerunt; imò à quibusdam de transgressione ordinis sui, qui habitum mutaverat, redargueretur; cum tamen satis reverenter

reverenter ac curialiter, tam in esculentis & poculentis, quam verbis satis mitibus ac discretis, exciperetur. Vix igitur tandem flexis genibus & verbis deprecatorius inducias impetrarunt, donec de Nunciis ad Curiam Romanam destinatis, aliquid certum audiretur. De quorum negotio expediendo, frater ipse Johannes nil boni vel favoris obtinendum pollicebatur. Scripserat enim Domino Papæ exasperans eum vehementer, & asserens, quod solus Abbas Sancti Albani inter omnes Abbates Anglia recalcitrans mandato Papali non obedivit; quod idcirco manifestus apparuit, quia Nuncium destinavit. Unde Nuncii ad Curiam Romanam destinati, quasi quibusdam repagulis oppositis præpediti, diutius in Curia morabantur, & difficilius negotium suum expediebant. Tandem procurantibus amicis in Curia venalibus et conductitiis, finem fecerunt Domino Papæ pro ducentis marcis; et sic donis et expensis omnibus computatis, absorbit illius Curia Charybdis insatiabilis trecentas marcas; et sic Ecclesia Sancti Albani, quæ cæteris tutius et specialius sub alis Papalibus teneretur respirare, talibus continuis oppressionibus incessanter gravius cæteris verabatur. Nam Episcopi, in quorum Episcopatibus cellæ nostræ erant, non reputantes Literas Papales robur obtinere firmitatis, Priores cellarum vexabant; non enim considerabant tenorem Literarum, vel scire dissimulabant, in quibus expressè continetur, quod à præstatione prædictarum undecim (millium) marcarum exempti, per eos excipiebantur, ab ipsoque apporandi exponebantur, & per Dominum Papam tres Clerici seponebantur. Quarum Literarum totalis sententia in libro Additamentorum continetur. Tandem cohibente eos inspectione dictarum Literarum, & Literis memorati fratris Johannis, cessarunt Episcopi, licet inviti, dictas cellas amplius fatigare; quæ præcepta fuerant, minimè restituentes.

This Papal privilege for this Harpyes protection and favourable reception by those he was sent to rob, spoyle, plunder, was backed with this further Mandate, to inquire of all alienations and dispositions of Lands or Churches, and Simoniacal Contracts made by Ecclesiastical or Religious persons, or other Patrons, or his own real or pretended Nuncios, to ingrosse the sale and disposition of them by his Provisions into his owne hands, whose Provissors agents unjust vexatious practises to gain Benefices or Pensions out of them, are here fully exprest to the life.

INNOCENTIUS Episcopus, Servus servorum, &c. Dilecto filio fratri Johanni Ordinis Minorum, Nuncio nostro in Anglia salutem, & Apostolicam Benedictionem. Nostis est nuper auribus intimatum, quod plerique Ecclesiarum Prelati regni Angliæ, non attendentes ad humanos usus non debere transferri, quæ juribus sunt ascripta divinis, jure patronatus, & advocacionis quæ in aliquibus Ecclesiis obtinebant, in personas laicas concessionis vel alienationis titulo, seu alias, pro sua voluntatis arbitrio transulerunt, Capitulum suorum aliquando interveniente consensu, & Diocesanorum, quod vix credimus accedente favore. Nonnulli quoque Abbates & Priores diversorum ordinum tam exempti quam non exempti regni prefati propriis Commodis per modos illicitos inhiantes (as this Pope and his agents really did) in Ecclesiis Parochialibus jus Patronatus exemptionis titulo, vel aliis perversis contractibus assurgunt. Et sic easdem Ecclesias quandoque de suorum Diocesanorum consensu, quandoque metu proprio non verentur suis, vel membrorum suorum contra Deum & Canonicas Sanctiones, usibus applicare. Quidam vero Executores super Clericorum Provisionibus dudum in eodem regno a sede Apostolica deputati, cum aliqua Beneficia Ecclesiastica, de quibus eisdem Clericis provideri poterit, vacare contigerit, in alienis negotiis suæ fidei confidenter commissis, privata commoda infideliter prosequuntur, dum Abbates et Priores aliosque Ecclesiarum Patronos, ad quorum præsentationem noscuntur eadem Beneficia pertinere, excommunicant et suspendunt, ipsosque taliter impeditos, ad ordinationes Ecclesiarum suarum procedere non permittunt, donec sibi ipsis vel aliis suis consanguineis vel amicis, non autem illis quibus provideri mandavimus, a patronis eisdem, minis et dolis interdum inductis, eadem Beneficia seu provisiones Annuæ assignentur. Aliqui etiam executores hujusmodi, se nuncios nostros in Regno Angliæ asserentes (quanquam alium præter se in eodem regno nos habere nuncium nesciamus) mandati nostri prætextu quo eis in aliquibus Clericis in eodem regno de beneficiis Ecclesiasticis, quæ tanto tempore vacaverunt, quod ad nos est collatio secundum Lateranensis Statutum Concilii debita, providere procurent, dicuntur injunxisse religiosos viros super Ecclesiis quæ sibi concessas in usus proprios per longissima tempora pacifice possiderunt, infestant, nec ab eorum super his infestatione desistunt, donec eisdem religiosi si aliqua summa pecuniæ, vel assignatione annuæ pensionis, vexationem suam redimere compellantur. Cum igitur hac non sint sub dissimulatione

Convocatio Nobilium Ang-liæ ad Parlia-mentum.

Per idem tempus, Dominus Rex comperiens Regnum suum enormiter periclitari, iussit omnem totius Regni Nobilitatem convocari, ut de statu ipsius, tam manifeste periclitantis Droni die qua cantatur, Quasi modo geniti, diligenter contretarent. Prælatos autem maxime ad hoc Parliamentum vocavit arctius, quia videbat eos Dominus Rex tam frequenter depauperari per Papales extorsiones, et thesaurus Angliæ tam frequenter asportabatur, nullumque commodum inde provenire Ecclesiæ, imo multimodum incommodum generabit. Unde veraciter perpendebatur, quod talis extorsio summo quamplurimum displicuit Creatori. Sperabatur autem certissime, aliquid salubre Ecclesiæ, et Regno ibidem statuendum, quod tamen omnes hoc sperantes fefellit: Nam cum antea aliqui Prælatorum prætaxatæ contributioni præposuissent contradicere, ibidem omnes in contributionem undecim Millium Marcarum consenserunt; exceptis Exemptis, et tribus Clericis. Ipsi igitur Clerici per hanc impetrationem toti regno se suspectos reddiderunt, (and that deservedly, such was their sordid cowardice, treachery to the King, Kingdom, Nobles, Church of England, and their own interest.) Pecunia autem memorata per manus Wintoniensis & Norwicensis Episcoporum armatorum auctoritate Papali soluta est & recepta, & Clerus compulsus est ad plenariam solutionem ejusdem faciendam. Exponebantur autem exempti Papali arbitrio, qui eis minime peperciit, sed per fratrem sapientissimum Johannem tot jacturis et injuriis, ut prænotatur, fatigavit. Nec idcirco mitius cum Abbate Sancti Albani egit Dominus Papa, quo anno proximo præterito ipsi Octoginta Marcas transmisit. Timebatur autem, ne Dominus Rex, ex permissione mutua & consensu relativo, inter ipsum et Papam Ecclesiam et etiam Regnum consimili exactione foret compulsurus. Sicut nuper pro Rege Dominus Papa scripserat Angliæ Magnatibus, in pecunia colligenda præmovere.

purles, *Applicuit in Anglia Episcopus Sabinenfis, Romanæ Ecclesiæ Cardinalis, intravit in partes Boreales Legatus, Norwegiam, Daciam, & Suetiam; & Regem Norwegiæ Haconem in Regem inuncturus & coronaturus. Qui tamen in Angliam ingreſſurus, primo difficultatem de licentia a Rege invenit, quia ſemper ſolent Legati quales quales, et omnes nuncios Papales, Regna quæ ingrediuntur depauperare, vel aliquo modo perturbare, donec iurasset in anima ſua, quod ob nullum Regis vel Regni, vel Eccleſiæ detrimentum, in Angliam veniret: niſi tantummodo tranquillum tranſitum faceret per ipſam terram de Portu Doveræ ad portum Lenna, ad Regna ulterioſa ſtatim tempore opportuno, et obtento vento proſpero, migraturus. Sed poſtquam licentiam benigne dicto modo obtinuiſſet, intrepidus intravit, & Domino Rege ſalutato, & muneribus gratiſſis acceptis ab eodem, ad Lennam iter maturavit, et ibidem per tres ſerè menſes commorans, non potuit Romanis innatam cupiditatem cohibere, quin ad Episcopos et Abbates, et Priores nuncios ſurtivos, ad uberes mitteret poſtulando procurationes, et munera precioſa, in domibus Hancrithi Episcopi Norwicenſis, quod Geymuda dicitur, commoranda, ita quod quæſtus ſui, ad quatuor miſſia Marcarum ascendere dicebatur: veruntamen ut ſub ſpecie ſanctitatis omnia palliaret, crebro ſermonem faciebat populo. Et cum navem aſcenſurus fuiſſet, quem opulentiſſimè communiſſerat multo frumento & dolis quàm plurimis vino plenis prælecto, & aliis viſualibus, iuſſit cuidam fratri de ordine Prædicatorum in ipſa Miſſa celebrare, quod & factum eſt, non ſine multorum, qui hoc non præviderant, admiratione. Habebat namque in ipſa navi, ſicut de Arca Noë legitur, (ſuch was his Pomp and Pride) diverticula & triſtegas, cambras & conclavia, qua ſpecialiter propter ipſum artiſicialiter fuerunt compoſita. Et ſic vento ſtante proſpero, dataque Angliæ, & ſuis Angliis prodigijs benediſſione, pelago ſeptentrionali ſeſe dives ſactus commiſit. How he ſleeced and preyed upon the Northern kingdoms for the Popes and his own advantage, as his Confederates had done the Engliſh and French; * Matthew Paris informs us. Coronatus eſt Rex Hacon, & in Regem inunctus ſolemniter apud Bergas, ab Episcopo Sabinenſi, Legato tunc in partibus illis exiſtente. Iſto cuius hoſtioris et beneficii exhibitio, Papæ Dominus Rex quindecim miſſia marcarum eſterlingorum numerabit. Legatus vero acceptis donatiſſis impreſſiſſilibus quingentas extorſit mareas ab Eccleſiis Regni illius. Veruntamen idem Rex cruce ſignatus à Domino Papa impetraviſſet recipere tertiam partem proveniuntum à viris Eccleſiaſtiſtis Regni ſui, ad ſua viatica peregrinationis; The tranſactions and Letters paſſed between the King of France and Hacon concerning this his pretended pilgrimage to Jeruſalem (worthy peruſal) you may read more at large in this Hiſtorian.*

The Pope not contented thus to extort money in all places by Croysadoes, Procurations, and ſuch like Exactions; made a very gainfull Trade of ſelling Archbiſhopricks, Biſhopricks, and other Eccleſiaſtical Preferments to ambitious perſons who would give moſt for them; as Matthew Paris thus inſinuates in one memorable inſtance, of Odo Archbiſhop of Rheau, of whom * before.

Anno quoque ſub eodem Odo Archiepiſcopus Rothomagenſis, quondam Abbas Sancti Dionyſii, diviſo, ut eruditur, percuffus iudicio, ſubito obiit; cum jam vix per annum ſophiſticæ ſede Archiepiſcopali præſidens, nomen tantum et officium ſibi tenere impoſſet, & Petro ſuo antecſſori fructus Archiepiſcopatus diſtribuiſſet. Ipſe enim Anglicus Nationis Abbas exiſtitat Sancti Dionyſii, quem ambitio et ſuperbia adeo ad Archiepiſcopatus prædici dignitatem inſolenter attraxerant, ut domum ſuam irreſcindibiliter ære alieno obligatam dereliquerit, et dignitatem prætextatam, ſymoniacè in ſui perniciem conſequatur, as moſt other Archbiſhops, Biſhops and Abbots did in that Simoniackal age.

As the Pope thus vexed, oppressed the Clergy and Religious persons on the one hand this year, so Bishop Grosbead and his Ecclesiastical Officers, vexed, oppressed the Nobility and Laity on the other hand, by Bulls & Priviledges obtained at a dear rate from this Pope, as our Historians and Records inform us: For this Robert Grosbead Bishop of Lincolne after a long contest and suit at Rome, Anno Dom. 1245. purchasing from Pope Innocent the 4th. a Priviledge (* forecited) to visit the Dean, Chapter, Canons, Clerks, Ministers of the Quire, and Cathedral Church of Lincolne, and all the Ministers, Chaplains, Churches and Parishioners belonging to the Churches within his Diocese; et ad correctionem excessuum ac morum reformationem libere admittendum. And likewise, that the Canons of Lincoln should yield and render to him Canonical obedience and reverence; Obligare se tamen ad hoc Iuramento nuali præstatione, seu promissione minime teneantur, cum ad hoc consuetudine non iuberis. The next year (Anno. 1246.) he visited his Diocese in pursuance of this privilege, by his Archdeacons, Deans and Officials; and (at the suggestion of the Friars Minorites and Predicants) in his Visitations and Consistories made strict Inquisitions concerning the continency and manners as well of the Noble as ignoble, to the enormous defamation and scandal of many, compelling Laymen to present and give in testimony in these cases upon Oath; an Innovation never used in the Realmes before: The King upon complaint thereof, issued forth Writs to the Sheriff of Lincoln, to inhibit any Lay persons within his County to appear before them to make any Inquisitions, or take any Oath at the will of the Bishop, except only in causes of Matrimony and Testament; which * Matthew Paris thus records to posterity, living at that time, within this Diocese, and taking special Notice of these proceedings.

His quoque diebus cum Episcopus Lincolnienfis, supra quam deceret vel expediret in Subiectos suos, ad suggestionem, ut dicitur, Predicatorum & Minorum, deserviret, ita scilicet, ut faceret Inquisitiones districtas per Archidiaconos et Decanos suos in Episcopatu suo, de continentia et moribus tam Nobilium quam Ignobilium, in enormem lesionem famæ multorum et scandalum, QUOD NUNQUAM FIERI CONSUEVERAT, Dominus Rex audiens super hoc populi graves querimonias, CONSILIO CURIAE SUAE, scripsit Aliecomiti Hertfordiae in hæc verba, Henricus Dei Gratia Rex Angliæ, &c. Incipimus tibi, quod sicut tempus et omnia tua diligis, non permittas, quod aliqui Laici in Balliva tua ad voluntatem Episcopi Lincolnienfis, Archidiaconorum, Officialium seu Decanorum ruralium in aliquo loco conueniant de cetero AD COGNITIONES PER SACRAMENTUM EORUM, VEL ATTESTATIONES ALIQUAS FACIENDAS, nisi in Causis Matrimonialibus vel Testamentariis. Quod cum audisset Episcopus, assererat, Dominum Regem quorundam Conspiratorum qui jam in Francia in consimilem audaciam proruperunt, vestigia secutum. An insolent undutifull answer of a furious turbulent wilfull Prelate.

The Conspiracy of the Nobility and Commonalty of France which Grostheads words related to, is thus recorded by Mat. Paris; They being intollerably oppressed by the Insolencies, usurpations of the Pope, French Bishops, and Clergy upon their antient Liberties, Rights, Priviledges, by citing them into their Ecclesiastical Courts for Temporal Matters and causes belonging to the Civil Jurisdiction; judging them by new Canons and Constitutions made by themselves alone, without common consent in their Parliaments; when as they ought rather to be Judged by the Nobles and Laity, by whose Valour and Liberality they enjoyed all their Ecclesiastical Priviledges and possessions; Excommunicating, interdicting, enforcing them to take new Oathes, and tyrannizing over them at their pleasures, as if they were slaves, and vassals, rather then Freemen, they thereupon after all other fruitlesse complaints entred into a Soleinne League and Confederacy against them, to vindicate and regain their antient Rights and Priviledges.

Cum vero dierum istorum fluentia prolaberentur, tepuit devotio fidelium, et filialis affectus Charitatis, quem quilibet Christianus adversus Patrem nostrum spirituale, videlicet Dominum Papam gerere teneretur, non sine animarum periculo, læsus deperit, imo et in odium execrabile, et maledictiones occultas est conversus. Videbant enim omnes et singuli, et videntes sentiebant, ipsum Dominum Papam pecuniarum et pecuniarum rapinis, in multorum damnum, et depauperationem insatiabiliter inhiare. Nec credebant jam multi ipsum potestatem beato Petro concessam scilicet, videlicet, ligandi et solvendi obtinere, qui penitus beato Petro dissimilis probabatur.

There are many like Arrests of the Kings and Parliaments of France, for seizures of the Temporalities of Archbishops, Bishops, Archdeacons, and Ecclesiastick Judges, for admonishing, excommunicating, interdicting the Kings Officers, and others, and refusing to absolve them when enjoined: and exceeding the legal bounds of their Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction: And some declaring the Monitions and Excommunications of Bishops against several persons, to be abusive, scandalous, vexatious, full of falsities, impostures, tending to sedition, rebellion, derogatory to the Kings Crown and dignity, and commanding them to be revoked, yea torn, and publicly burnt by the Executioner as such; which you may peruse at leisure in the 5, and 6. Chapters of Prenus de Libertez de L'Eglise Gallicane.

The English Nobility and Laity in the Diocese of Lincoln, (as this innovating, turbulent Bishop conceived, encouraged by these Presidents of the French) unanimously opposed his Usurpations of like nature upon their Liberties, Reputations, Consciences, complaining to King Henry the 3d. and his Council against the Bishops, Archdeacons, Deans and Officials vexations, and illegal Oathes, proceedings; the King thereupon by special Writs prohibited them, as prejudicial, derogatory to his Crown and Dignity, repugnant to the antient Customs of his Realm, his peoples Liberties, and hurtfull to their fames, souls: But this obstinate head-strong Bishop slighting the Kings Writs, and proceeding in these his illegal Visitations and Inquisitions notwithstanding, the King and his Council upon new complaints the next year, (Anno 31 H. 3.) issued forth new Prohibitions to all Sheriffs within the Diocese of Lincoln, thus recorded in the Clause Rolls in the Tower.

Regis Angliæ.

Eodem quoque anno (as Matthew Paris relates) Dominus Rex Anglorum, exemplum accipiens ab illis Baronibus, qui sua statuta sanxerunt in Francia, quibus et Dominus Francorum favorem jam præbuit, et sigillum apposuit; ad insatiablem Romanæ Curie in parte ad præsens cupiditatem retrahendam, constituit in Anglia inviolabiliter observanda hæc. Lites de fidei læssione et perjurio prohibentur a Rege, quando super his conveniuntur Laici coram Iudice Ecclesiastico. The Bishop of Lincoln, notwithstanding the former Prohibitions, and these new Statutes, proceeding in these his illegal Inquisitions and Oathes, in high contempt of the Kings Crown and Dignity, and compelling men and women by Ecclesiastical Censures to appear and take his new devised Oathes against their wills; the King thereupon issued out new Writs to the Sheriff of Lincoln to attach the Bishop, and enforce him to put in good bayle and sureties to appear before the King to answer this contempt, as these Records attest.

(Anno 35 Henr. 3.) The Bishop of Worcester, by the Bishop of Lincoln encouragement, in his Visitations and Consistories by himself and his Officers, summoned Lay persons, as well Villains as Freemen, to take an Oath of Inquiry upon Articles at his own pleasure, without the Kings special command, against the Custom of the Realm, and his Royal Dignity, which Innovation caused great scandal and raised a schism among the people; whereupon the King issued the like Writs to the Sheriffs of Gloucester and Worcester, (as he formerly did to the Sheriff of Lincoln and others, An. 30 & 31 H. 3.)

The Bp. of Lincoln and his Officers, notwithstanding the former Writs, still vexing those of his Diocesis, as well Noble as Ignoble, citing many poor Husbandmen from place to place, and Excommunicating them for not appearing, so as they could not attend their Husbandry and Temporal affaires, to their great impoverishing & vexation; and likewise compelling them to inquire & give testimony upon Oath of the private sins of others, whereby many were defamed, and might easily incur the danger of perjury; The King upon the general complaint of his Subjects against these grievances and Innovations, An. 36 H. 3. sent this memorable Prohibition to the Bishop himself, commanding him from thenceforth to desist from these Citations and Vexations newly invented, against the long Custom of the Realm, bringing a double damage to his Subjects, which he neither would nor could any longer endure, without putting his Royal hands to redresse them, and punish him for his contumacy.

REX Episcopo Lincoln. salutem. *Ex querela multorum accepimus tam Magnatum de Diocesi vestra quam aliorum, per quosdam Clericos vestros et Decanos quosdam citari facitis passim, et indifferenter pauperes homines de Diocesi vestra, et quosdam liberos homines cujuscunque sint homines, et trahitis eos de locis variis ad loca varia, et eos artari faciatis, per poenam Excommunicationis, ad comparandum coram predictis Clericis et subditis vestris ad loca varia, et eis honoraria, dum vacare deberent agrorum cultura et aliis Temporalibus agendis suis necessariis, per quod depauperantur indebite, et enormiter verantur. Et insuper quod inauditum est, eos jurare compellunt predicti scrutatores vestri de privatibus peccatis aliorum, quae non sunt, ut dicitur, publica coercionem purganda; pro quo multi Christiani, forte praeter merita turpiter diffamantur. Et quia hujusmodi verationes contra longam Consuetudinem Regni nostri sunt excogitatae, et duplex populo per eas imminet periculum, tum propter laborum necessarium amissionem, tum propter Sacramentum praestitum super privatibus factis aliorum, in quibus homines decipiuntur, per quod reatum perjurii de facili possunt incurrere; Nobis prohibemus, ne de cetero hujusmodi conurbationes populi fieri faciatis in Diocesi vestra, contra Regni nostri Consuetudinem et usum longævum. Nec etiam audibimus, quod Ecclesia consueverit aliquem ad testimonium perhibendum compellere, nisi in certis causis, et nisi quis se gratia, odio vel timore subtraxerit a testimonio perhibendo. By these premised passages and Regal Writs of Prohibition, it is most evident :

1. That Groshead Bishop of Lincoln, by colour of a pretended Privilege and Grant from the Pope, (not King) was the first Introducer of Inquisitions upon Oath, and Oathes in private causes, into the Church, Realm of England, in the 30. year of King Henry the 3d. there being no warrant nor president (for ought I can find upon my strictest search) in Histories or Records, of any such Inquisitions or Oathes used in England or elsewhere, by Bishops or Ecclesiastical persons in their Visitations or Consistories. And no wonder, since Origen, Athanasius, Ambrose, Jerome, Chrysostome, Hilary, Epiphanius, Cromatius Aquilia Episcopus, Euthymius, Oecumenius, Theophylactus, and other Ancients collected by Sixtus Senensis, from Mat. 5. 34. to 38. But I say unto you, Swear not at all, &c. but let your communication be Yea, Yea, and Nay, Nay, for whatsoever is more then these cometh of evil: and Jam. 5. 11. But above all things my Brethren Swear not, &c. but let your Yea be Yea, and your Nay, Nay, lest you fall into condemnation: and the Waldenses, with sundry modern Commentators, condemned the usual imposing of Oathes (interdicted to Christians under the Gospel) as dangerous, and not to be enforced upon any, (unless in extraordinary cases of necessity, for ending controversies) especially by, or on Clergymen: Whence the Author of the imperfect Work on Matthew (attributed to St. Chrysostome) thus admonished Clerks who tendred Oathes to others: Andite

Clerici, qui exigentibus Evangelia Sancta porrigatis; quomodo potestis ab illo Juramento esse securi, qui occasionem perjurii datis? Si enas bene jurare justum, jure discatis; Quia de dimis illis Evangelium, ut jurent, non ut perjurent: nunc autem, cum sciatis, quia & bene jurare peccatum est: quomodo potestis esse liberi, qui occasionem datis peccandi in Deum? Hac de illis dicta sunt, qui jurant per Deum; eorum autem, qui jurant per elementa, execrabilior iniquitas est. Those Fathers and Godly Bishops then, who writ thus * against the ordinary imposing of Oathes under the Gospel, did never doubtless prescribe or enforce them on any in their Consistories or Visitations. Besides, it is most apparent, that ancient Councils and Popes were very careful to inhibit the imposing of Oathes upon Clergymen or Laymen, to prevent Perjury: Hence the Council of Cavailon under the Emperor Charles the Great, about the year 813. prohibited Bishops from exacting an Oath of Canonical obedience from Clergymen, or any Oath from Laymen in cases of Tythes, by these expresse Canons. Can. 12. Dictum est de quibusdam Fratribus, quod eos quos ordinaturi sunt, jurare cogunt, quod digni sint, et contra Canones non sint facturi, et obediētes sint Episcopo, qui eos ordinat, et Ecclesie, in qua ordinantur: Quod juramentum, quia periculosum est, omnes una inhibendum statumus. And Can. 18. Qui vero Decimas post crebras admonitiones & predicationes Sacerdotum dare neglexerint, Excommunicentur, Juramento vero eps constringi nolumus propter periculum perjurii. And our Statutes of Magna Charta, c. 28. of Marlbridge, 51 H. 3. c. 22. 3 E. 1. c. 30. & 2 E. 6. c. 13. prohibe Oathes of Parties and Champions upon the like account, to prevent Perjury. Pope Cornelius (as Gratian attests) affirmed in one of his Decrees, Nos ab Episcopis Sacramentum nescimus oblatum, (therefore not then used in their Courts or Visitations) nec unquam fieri debet nisi pro recta fide. Yea, Pope Honorius the 2. Pope Eugenius the 2. and the Council of Lateran under Pope Alexander the 3d. Anno 1180. expressly decreed and resolved according to former Canons, and Justinians Laws, Ut jurare Clerici omnino non audeant; Dignum est ut totus Clericalis ordo a prestando juramento immunis esse procudubio censeatur. Nos itaque utriusque legis divina & humana intentione servata, decrevimus, ut non Episcopus, non Presbyter, non cujuslibet Ordinis Clericus, non Abbas, non Monachus, non Sanctimonialis, in quacunque causa vel controversia, sive criminali sive civili, iurjurandum compellatur qualibet ratione subire. Verum cum hac moderatione, ut Episcopus inconsulto Romano Pontifice, vel quilibet Prælatus inconsulto Prælato suo, minime jurare audeat: Et si quis in hac constitutionem commiserit, veniam sibi deinceps noverit denegari. If then no Bishop, Monk, Clergyman, may be compelled by Judges or Laymen to swear, much lesse then should they compel Laymen or Clergymen to swear before themselves. Moreover, Pope Eugenius resolves, Canones Juramentum calumnie nulli prorsus inducunt. Sane Romana Ecclesia in quibus causis de Decimis Ecclesiarum & rebus spiritualibus tantum agitur, Juramentum calumnie nec dare, nec recipere consuevit: nor yet the Church of England, till Otto the Popes Legate introduced it in a Council at London An. 1237. forecited p. 439. much lesse then did the Church of Rome or England use or enjoin any such Visitation, Inquisition, or Ex Officio Oathes as these Writs prohibited. Finally, Pope Paschal the 2. and the whole Council of Rome An. 1112. with other Councils, Popes since, resolve, That Oathes imposed by force, and taken by constraint against mens wills, are not only unlawfull, but also void and unobliging: Therefore the enforced Visitation & other Oathes of Bishop Gristhead, his Archdeacons, Deans, Officials were such, and justly prohibited, suppressed by the King and his Courts at their first introduction. The Council of Friburge under Arnulphus the Emperor An. 893. c. 11. De quærimonia inter Presbyterum & Laicum, resolves, Laicus prajuramento, si necesse sit, constringatur; Presbyter vero vice prajuramenti per sanctam consecrationem interrogetur, quia Sacerdotes ex levi causa jurare non debent. Manus enim per quam corpus & sanguis Christi consecratur (& will not the self-same reason hold in a Laymans hand, per quam corpus & sanguis Christi recipitur) juramento polluetur? And if those who press others to swear be evil uncredulous men, by this Councils and our Venerable Beda his Exposition on this Text, then Bishop Grossthead, his and all other Ecclesiastical Officers, compelling Laymen to swear as aforesaid, were evil uncredulous men, and their Inquisitions, Oathes most justly inhibited by the King, his Courts, Council, and opposed by the Nobility, Laity of his Diocese, and the whole Realm, as a dangerous Innovation, not formerly practised in our Church or Realm.

2ly. It is evident by the premises, that both the Kings, Nobles, and Commonalty of England and France in that age, magnanimously, unanimously and strenuously oppugned the Usurpations, Encroachments, Innovations of the Pope, Prelates, Clergy, upon the Rights, Privileges of the Crown, and Liberties, Consciences of the Subject, against their extravagant Visitations, Inquisitions, Oathes, Excommunications, Canons, and new Ecclesiastical Jurisdictions, to preserve themselves from perjury, slavery, and unjust vexations.

3ly. That these Inquisitions, Oathes, and the enforcing of them by Ecclesiastical Censures on the Subjects, by these Bishops and their Officers, were generally, frequently opposed, and publickly complained against to the King, as well by the Nobility as Commonalty, and most strictly prohibited by special Writs of Prohibition, successively issued by the King, his Council, Courts, Judges, who all resolved these Oathes and Inquisitions to be, 1. New illegal grievances, then first introduced, contrary to the Custome and long-continued usage of this Realm. 2ly. Very prejudicial to the Kings Crown and Royal Dignity. 3ly. New devised intollerable vexations, grievances, oppressions to his Subjects, and that in four respects: 1. Because they tended to the enormous defamation, and intollerable scandal of many of his Subjects of all ranks, and of both sexes. 2ly. Because they occasioned great schisms and divisions amongst his people. 3ly. Because they withdrew them from their Husbandry, and other necessary temporal occasions, to dance attendance from time to time, and place to place on them and their Officers, to their grand vexation and impoverishing. 4ly. Because they involved them in the danger or guilt of perjury, by enforcing them to swear concerning the secret, private actions of others, wherein they might easily be mistaken. All which reasons remain still in full force, against all such like Oathes, Inquisitions, Innovations, Vexations of Bishops, Archdeacons, Rural Deans, Officials, and other Ecclesiastical Officers: which the King, his Courts, Judges, Council, may and ought by Law to prohibite, redresse from time to time by like Writs of Prohibition for the Subjects relief upon all occasions, as is evident by these six antient successive Writs, the Register of Writs, part 2. f. 36. Fitzherbert Natura Brevium, f. 41. a. Rassals Abridgement of Statutes, Tit. Prohibition, sect. 5. and other Law-books concurring with these Writs.

Reports, p. 26,
27, 28, 29.

4ly. That Bishops, Archdeacons, Officials, and other Ecclesiastical Officers and Courts, had then no legal authority by the antient Laws, usage, Custom of this Realm, to administer any Oath to Laymen, except only in causes of Matrimony and Testament, as these Prohibitions, with sundry others hereafter cited in their due Chronological order, the Statutes of 2 H. 5. c. 3. 2 E. 6. c. 13. and the last recited Lawbooks, resolve.

7 See Rassals

of Statutes,

5ly. That Bishops have been and may be legally attached, and their Temporalities seized into the Kings hands, if they prejudice the Kings Crown, Dignity, or vex his Subjects by administering, enforcing illegal Oathes and Articles of Inquiry upon them by Excommunications and other Ecclesiastical Censures, contrary to the Laws and antient Custom of the Realm.

2 Cooks 3 In
fir. p. 149.

6ly. That by the antient Laws and Custom of this Realm, no new Oathes whatsoever may or ought to be framed, imposed on any of the Kings Subjects, by any Bishops, Ecclesiastical, or other persons whatsoever, nor any old legal Oathes altered, but by special Acts of Parliament, prescribing both the forme, words of the Oathes themselves, and the persons who shall take and administer them, who must be specially authorized either by express words in the Acts themselves, or by special Commissions from the King under the Great Seal of England, to administer them when made, and not otherwise. This is most apparent by all the Oathes heretofore prescribed to Justices of the Kings Courts, Justices of Oyer and Terminer, and of the Peace, Barons and Officers of the Exchequer, Sheriffs, Under-Sheriffs, the Officers of the Court of Wards and

and Liveries, the Court of Augmentations, Customers, Searchers, Commissioners of Sewers, of Castles and Holds, Conservators of the Truce, Bayliffs of Franchises, Coroners, Sheriffs Clerks, Attornies, the Kings Privy Council, Knights of Shires, Burgeses of Parliament, Champions, Clerks of the Council, Mayors, and other Officers, by the several Oathes of Fealty, Allegiance and Supremacy, made from time to time for the necessary preservation of the Sacred Persons of our Kings, the safety of the Kingdom, and defence of the Rights, Priviledges, Jurisdiction of the Crown against all Papal Usurpations, and Treasonable practises whatsoever, all made, prescribed by *special Acts of Parliament, as these ensuing resolve us : 9 H. 3. c. 28. 51 H. 3. c. 14. 3 E. 1. c. 40. 6 E. 1. c. 8. 13 E. 1. c. 43. 13 E. 1. bishop, Bishop, Archdeacon, Commissary, or other Ecclesiastical person or officer out of Parliament) FOR IMPOSING OF OATHES, to which the Kings Royal assent either in person or by Commission was not expressly had or given, (and by consequence all other Oaths hereafter so made or imposed in or out of Parl.) were in their first creation and making, and still are, & so shall be taken to BE NULL AND VOID TO ALL INTENTS AND PURPOSES WHATSOEVER. And Sir Edward Cooke in his *4. Institutes, from the consideration of some of these Acts, asserts, *That an Oath is so sacred, and so deeply concerneth the consciences of Christian men, as the same cannot be ministered to any, unless the same be * allowed by the Common Law, or by some Act of Parliament: That no old Oath allowed by the Common Law, or an Act of Parliament, can be altered, nor any New Oath raised without an Act of Parliament, nor any Oath administered by any that have not allowance by the Common Law, or by an Act of Parliament.* And so was it resolved in Parliament, Anno 26 Elizabeth, in the case of the Under-sheriff, and in the case of Commissioners for Policies of Assurance; in which Parliament I attended (writes he) as Attorney General. Whereunto he subjoynes, That Oaths which have no warrant by Law, are rather Nova Commenta, quam Sacramenta: and that it is an high contempt to administer any (old, much more then to make or impose a New) Oath, without warrant of Law, to be punished by Fine and Imprisonment: And therefore Commissioners that sit by force of any Commission that is not allowed by the Common Law, nor warranted by Authority of Parliament, (much lesse then such who have no Commission at all from the King under the Great Seal, but only from a Bishop, Archdeacon, or other Subject) that ministrerth any Oath whatsoever, are guilty of an high contempt, and for the same are to be fined and imprisoned: And no Commissions are legal but such as are allowed by the Common Law, or warranted by some Act of Parliament: And therefore Commissions (much more Articles) of new Inquiries, or of Novel Inventions are against Law, and ought not to be put in Execution. Dorf. Claus. An. 19 R. 2. n. 17. Certain poor Christians that had spoken against the worshipping of Images, were by the Bishops inquired of, and sworn to worship Images, which Oath was against the expresse Law of God, and against the Lawes of the Land, for that they had no warrant to minister the same. And in his 12. Report, f. 26, 27. Pasch. 4 Jacobi, He reports, That upon a motion made by the Commons in Parliament, in what cases the Ordinary may examine any person upon Oath? Chief Justice Popham and himself upon a reference and demand from the Lords of the Council, touching this question, upon good consideration and view of the Books resolved, That the Ordinary cannot constrain any Ecclesiastical or temporal person upon their Oathes to answer in cases of Infamy, Adultery, Incontinency, Felony, Simony, hearing of Masse, Heresie, &c. but only of Matrimony, and Testaments, it being not only against the ancient Lawes of the Realm, but also in prejudice of the Kings Crown and Dignity, as they proved by the forecited Books and Prohibitions. After these Prohibitions, I do not find by our Histories or Records, that any Bishops made Inquisitions upon Oath in their Visitations or Consistories from 36 H. 3. till Queen Maries dayes, when * Bishop Boner introduced them: Yea * William Lindwood our greatest Canonist and Advocate for Episcopal Jurisdiction, and the Canon Law, flourishing and made Bishop in King Henry the 6. his reign, writing of Episcopal Inquisitions, asserts, That solemn preparatory Inquisitions are regularly made, sine exactione Juramenti, without exaction of an Oath: That from the beginning, when a general Inquisition is to be made (by Archbishops, Bishops, or Archdeacons in their Visitations,) non debet exigi Juramentum, an Oath ought not to be exacted, especially by which any one shall be constrained to detect another mans secret sinne or offence. And Angelus de Clavasio a famous Canonist, writing about the year of our Lord, 1480. in his * Summa Angelica, resolves, That Bishops and other Visitors in their Visitations, ought first to preach the word of God, and afterwards Inquirat et sine Juramento et coactione, they are to inquire of those things which belong to their office to correct, without an Oath and coaction, inducing the people to reform those things that are amisse, by wholesome counsels and gentle persuasions, or by reprehensions, as they shall deem meet. This course was observed in all the Visitation of our Archbishops of Canterbury recorded by <sup>d</sup> Matthew Parker, or Godwin in their Lives, out of our Historians, and their own Registers, wherein I finde no mention of any Inquiry or presentations upon Oath; witnesse the Visitations of Boniface Archbishop of Canterbury, Robert Kylwarby, John Peckham, Walter Raynolds, John Strasford, Simon Islippe, William Courtney, Thomas Arundell, Thomas Bourghier, John Morton, and others. All which I thought fit from these presidents to demonstrate, for vindication of the Kings Prerogative, the antient Laws, Customs of the Realm, the Subjects Liberties, and others information. I now return to my former Chronological method and theam.

K. Henry the 3. not only to evidence his Devotion, (though Superstitious) but Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction in Spiritual and Religious things, Feasts, and Reliques, as they were then reputed: Circa idem tempus, scripsit Dominus Rex omnibus Regni sui Magnatibus, ut in festo Sancti Edwards, videlicet translatione, quæ celebratur in Quindena Sancti Michaelis, jubens ut omnes ibidem convenirent, ut jocundissimos cujusdam Sancti beneficii cælitus Angliæ nuper collati, rumores exaudirent: Et prætereâ, ut tam gloriosi Regis & Martyris translationem venerarentur: tertio, ut Willielmi de Valentia fratris sui uterini, quem ipse Rex ea die baltheo cincturus erat militari, cum quibusdam Nobilibus juvenibus, interessent tyrocinio: ut sic festum multiplex præsentia ipsorum Magnatum, tam Prælatorum, quàm aliorum, jocundior, ad Regis & Regni honorem, serenaretur. Die igitur præfixo convenientes apud Westmonasterium, certificati de die Sancti Edwards, & dicti Willielmi tyrocinio, sollicitabantur, quinam essent illi jocundi rumores, quos ibidem forent audisturi? Qui relati fuerunt fideles, & omni acceptione digni. Magister enim Templi & Hospitalis, cum testimonio quamplurimorum sigillorum, videlicet Patriarchæ Hierosolymitani, Archiepiscoporum quoque & Episcoporum, Abbatum & aliorum Prælatorum & Magnatum de Terra Sancta, miserant quandam portionem sanguinis Dominici, quem pro salute mundi fudit in cruce, in quodam vase crystallino venustissimo, per quemdam fratrem Templarium benè notum. Dominus autem Rex, utpote Princeps Christianissimus, ab Augusto Heraclio victoriosissimo ac piissimo Imperatore, crucem Sanctam exaltante, & à Rege Francorum, tunc superstitite, crucem eandem, ut præscribitur, Parisiis honorante, sumens exemplum; devoto spiritu ac contrito in vigilia Sancti Edmundi, in pane & aqua jejunans, & nocte vigilans, cum ingenti lumine, & devotis orationibus, se ad crastinam solennitatem prudenter præparavit.

Præcepit igitur Dominus Rex, ut omnes Presbyteri Londinenses festivè vestiti superpellicis & capis, cum suis Clericis decenter vestitis, cum vexillis, crucibus, & cereis accensis, die crastina, videlicet Sancti Edwards, summo mane ordinatè & reverenter convenirent apud Sanctum Paulum. Quo & ipse Rex venit, & cum summo honore & reverentia ac timore accipiens illud vasculum cum Thesauro memorato, tulit illud ferens in propatulo supra faciem suam iens pedes, habens humilem habitum: scilicet pauperem capam sine caputio, præcedentibus vestitis prædictis, sine paulatione, usque ad Ecclesiam Westmonasteriensem, quæ distat ab Ecclesia Sancti Pauli circiter uno milliari. Nec prætermittendum, quod ambabus manibus illud deferens, cum per stratam salebrosam & inæqualem pergeret, semper vel in cælum vel in ipsum vas lumina tenebat defixa. Supportatur autem palla per 4. hastas. Supportabantque duo coadjutores brachia sua, ne in tanto fortè labore deficeret. Conventus autem Westmonasteriensis, cum omnibus qui convenerant, Episcopis, Abbatibus, & Monachis, qui plùs quàm centum æstimabantur, canentes & exultantes in Spiritu Sancto & lachrymis, occurrebant eidem Domino Regi sic adventanti, usque ad portam Curie Episcopi Dunelmensis. Tunc autem reversi sicut ierant, videlicet processionaliter, ad Ecclesiam Westmonasteriensem, vix in ea præ copiosa turbæ multitudinem continebantur. Nec adhuc cessabat Dominus Rex, quin indefessus ferens illud vas, ut prius, circumiret Ecclesiam, Regiam, & thalamos suos. Demùm illud quasi donum impreciabile, & quod Angliam illustraverat, donavit & obtulit Deo & Ecclesie Sancti Petri Westmonasterii: & charo suo Edwards, & sacro Conventui, qui ibidem Deo & Sanctis suis ministrant.

Dominus Episcopus Norwicensis, qui & Missam eadem die solenniter celebravit, Episcopus Norwicensis concionans populo de dignitate sanguinis Christi, quod inter sacra quæ inter mortales habentur, sacratissimum est sanguis Christi. Est enim pretium mundi, & ejus effusio, salus generis humani; & ut condignè illud magnificaret amplius, addidit illud Philosophi; Omne propter hunc.

propter quod, dignius quàm illud quod. Revera crux Sancta, sanctissimam quid est. Sed ipsa sacra fuit, propter sacratoris sanguinis asperisionem; non sanguis facer, propter crucem. Et hæc eum dixisse credimus, ut in possessione tanti Theauri non minus gaudeat & gloriatur Anglia, quam Francia in adeptione sanctæ crucis; quam Dominus Rex Francorum non immerito diligit, & super aurum & topazion amplectitur & veneratur. Et addidit, quod pro maxima Domini Regis Anglia, qui dignoscitur esse inter omnes Christianitatis Principes Christianissimus, missus fuit ille Thesaurus impreciables ex parte Domini Patriarchæ Hierosolymitani; cujus rei certitudo sufficienter examinatur, reverentia & sanctitate, ut plus in Anglia veneretur, quàm Syria, quæ jam pænè derelinquitur desolata; visget enim ibi plus fides et sanctitas, ut nobis mundus, quam in aliqua alia regione per totius mundi latitudinem. Cum autem examinaretur, & alii tardi cordis ad credendum adhuc * hæsitarent, ait Dominus Theodoricus, Prior Hospitalis Hierosolymitani, Episcopis & aliis circumfidentibus: Domini charissimi, quid adhuc fluctuatis? Exigit ne ob hoc beneficium aliquis nostrum, vel Templarius, vel Hospitalarius, vel etiam frater qui portavit, vel de Domino Rege, vel alio, vel aliquo, aliquam in auro vel argento retributionem, vel quantumcunque præmium? Et Rex: Nequaquam. Et Frater: * Quare ergo in damnationem animæ suæ tot & tanti viri, tali assertioni perhiberent testimonium, apponentes signa sua, quæ sunt fidei pignora manifesta? Et approbata fuerunt verba, licet Laici, ab universis, tam Episcopis quàm auditoribus. Sed nunc ad propositum redeamus. Cum satis autem eleganter dictus Episcopus in sermone perorasset, annuntiavit populo exultanti, quod quicumque ad sacratissimum sanguinem illic habitum, venerandum convenirent, gratuita ex * concessione omnium, qui illuc venerant Prælatorum, sex annorum, & 140. dierum veniam de injuncta sibi poenitentia liberè consequerentur. Et cum inter loquendum, aliqui de assidentibus obgrunulrent hæsitantes, quæstionem hanc moverent: Quomodo cum plenè & integraliter tertia die post passionem surrexerit Dominus, sanguinem in terra reliquerit? Quæ quæstio ab Episcopo Lincolniensi ad unguem tunc determinabatur, prout habetur scriptum in libro Additamentorum; prout hujus paginæ scriptor audivit, & de verbo ad verbum satis dilucidè scripsit. Such was the strange superstition, delusion, credulity of that age, as to believe this Relique to be the very blood of Christ, upon the Testimony of those Impostors, who under their hands and seals thus confidently attested it, though not present at Christs passion, and living 1200. years after it. But let us hear Bishop Grosstheads Legend, Argument evincing it to be Christs blood, in answer to the premised Objections.

* Had they not good cause to doubt?

* It seems this bloody Relique was not sufficient to purchase such a Pardon, without this superadded Bishops indulgence.

Cum autem quod sacratissimus foret Domini nostri Jesu Christi sanguis, quem Rex Henricus tertius die Sancti Edwardi, videlicet die Translationis ejus, Anno Gratæ 1247. indicis, probationibus & examinationibus constaret evidentissimis, & omni acceptione dignissimis, tamen ab aliquibus qui tardicordes erant ad credendum, adhuc dubitabatur utrum verus sanguis Christi fuisset? Quibus hæc relatio satisfecit inventa in Apocryphis, quibus non dissidet, imò concordat * textus Evangelicæ veritatis. Quod videlicet cum Joseph ab Arimathia nobilis decurio, qui sic dicebatur quia decem militibus præfuit, vel decurio, id est, de Curia & de numero Curialium, fuisset unus de auditoribus Jesu, & potius de discipulis, & amator specialis, compatiabatur ei, & sollicitabatur qualiter corpus conservari posset tam venerabile à furore Judaorum. Erat enim amicissimus Jesu, sicut & Nicodamus. Sed hii & alii divites occulti, propter metum Judaorum; ne accusati, jacturam incurrerent & odium amicorum. Magnum enim vinculum servitutis in se habent divitiæ. Crucifixo igitur Jesu & mortuo, postulavit Joseph corpus Jesu, ingrediens ad eum audacter (per quod creditur fuisse potens) & concessum est ei. Ipse igitur (licet obmurmurassent Judei) cum omni honore & reverentia, ipsum corpus sanctissimum deposuit de cruce sancium & multiformiter cruentatum, habensque linteamen subtile dependens à collo & humeris (ne indignè tam dignum corpus nudis manibus contrectaret) ipsa sacra vulnera adhuc madida ac distillantia, sedulo ac devoto deterisit officio. Imò etiam loca clavorum extractorum tincta cruore in ipso crucis patibulo, exhaustis abstergendo; utens vice spongiæ ipso linteamine. Cum autem jam non procul à Golgotha, id est loco Calvaria (loco videlicet crucifixionis) corpus Christi detulisset dictus Joseph tumulandum, in loco ubi nunc sepulchrum adoratur, in sepulchro novo in quo nullum adhuc corpus positum erat, non ignobiliter inciso, quod &

batur, saucium & cruentatum, tum propter sudorem ipsius, de quo scribitur, * Factus * Luc. 23. 44.
est sudor ejus quasi gutta sanguinis decurrens in terra; tum propter flagella quibus cælus fuit aspersum usque ad livorem & cruorem, tum propter coronam spineam quam Judei plectentes violenter capiti ejus impresserunt; (cujus multi aculei caput & frontem non tantum pungerent & laderent, imò potius vulnerarent & cruentarent) tum propter clavorum per mediam manuum & pedum perforationem; tum propter militis lanceam qua ipse latus Jesu non tantum vulneravit sed aperuit; am-plum enim fecit & hiatus patulum fortè sapius, vel saltem semel fecit impingendo.
Memoratus igitur venerabilis decurio Joseph corpus ipsum lavit; hic enim erat Ju-daorum consuetudo, & adhuc est aliquorum honestorum Christianorum, maxime re-ligiosorum. Lavit, inquam, quia condiendum. Lavit, quia sanè arbitrabatur & religiosè dignum censuit sanguinem ipsum sibi prorsus vendicandum, & ut Thesaurum vel medicamen preciosissimum reservandum. Ipsamque aquam loturæ rubicundam, & sanguine mixtam & tinctam, non projiciendam excepit in vase mundissimo. Reverentius tamen, ipsum purum sanguinem à vulneribus manuum & pedum distillatum; maximo autem timore & honore ipsum sanguinem cum aqua quem censuit præcordialem, à latere dextro scilicet eliquatum & expressum, in vase recepit nobilissimo tanquam Thesaurum impreciablem, sibi & successoribus suis specialiter reservandum. Manifestum est igitur, quadruplicem ibidem fuisse liquorem.

Primò, Aquam rubicundam, scilicet loturam; quam ipse amicis infirmantibus distribuit efficaciter medicinale.

Secundò, Sanguinem puncturarum in capite & fronte, & scissurarum per flagella instructarum cum sudore. Isti duo liquores, ex pluribus mixti dignoscuntur.

Tertiò, Sanguis ex vulneribus manuum & pedum, qui purus fuit & impermixtus emanavit.

Quartò, Ille formidabilis tremendæ & reverendissimæ recordationis cruor præcordialis, qui ex ipso corde Christi, vel saltem latere constat effluxisse.

Præter quos quatuor liquores, aquam cum sanguine de ipso latere scimus emanasse. Hæc ergo cum piè & prudenter perfecisset Joseph, & corpus jam esset con-diturus, supervenit Nicodemus eodem tactus spiritu pietatis, multum commendavit diligentiam Joseph. Erat autem Nicodemus nobilis & potens sicut & Joseph, unde in Evangelio dicitur fuisse Princeps Judaorum. Et factus est ipsi Joseph in adiutorium & solacium. Isti namque duo nobiles ac religiosi viri, erant de discipulis Jesu, audientes eum clam; de noctibus videlicet, ne commoverent seditionem in populo, & plenius ab ipso eruditi expectabant Regnum Dei. Iste igitur Nicodemus prout præ-libatum est, ut exequiarum tantarum decus adaugeret, & sua præsentia fide & devotione plenius prosequeretur: attulit (ut testatur * Johannes in Evangelio suo) * Joan. 19. 39; mixturam myrræ & aloes quasi libras centum, ad condiendum corpus tantæ auctorita-
tis. Erant enim devoti ac stabiles in fide, quia viderant multa ejus in vita miracula, necnon & in morte: quia terræmotum & tenebras universales (quod erat supra naturam cum tunc fuisset luna panselenos) aquamque de latere ejus (quod erat insolitum & miraculosum) distillasse. Loquitur igitur Johannes Evangelista exin pluraliter, propter associationem supervenientis Nicodemi; dicens, Acceperunt ergo corpus Jesu. Porro, præter illam myrram aloem quam attulerat Nicodemus, apposita sunt illi confectioni etiam aromata Joseph. Dicit enim Johannes, Ligaverunt linteis corpus ipsum cum aromatibus. Et sic conditum & involutum aptaverunt, & ordinate posuerunt in monumento novo: quod compositum fuit per modum clibani:
Ita videlicet, ut ibi plura corpora reponi potuissent. In ipso quoque sepulchro, nondum quis, nec postea, ponebatur. Decuit enim quod sicut in uterum virginis descendit, & ex virgine natus fuit primogenitus (id est unigenitus) & per clausam portam exivit: sic & in novo sepulchro in quo nullus positus vel ponendus erat,
quippe magnum. Unde * Matthæus Evangelista vocat illud Saxum magnum. Et * Mar. 27. 60; mulieres quæ licet tres fuissent (quæ postea venerunt, ut ungerent Jesum) nescientes quod jam unctus esset, sollicitarentur quomodo ab ostio monumenti revolveretur. Quo facto, recesserunt Joseph & Nicodemus, & qui eos sequentes, ipsi assisteabant. Postea verò accesserunt Judei versuti & in odio obstinati: & ex permissione Pilati, * lapidem memoratum signaverunt, apponentes militum custodiam. * Mar. 27. 64; Et cum inde recessissent Joseph & Nicodemus, partiti sunt inter se (ratione amicitiae 66.

& condiscipulatus) liquores memoratos: utpote pretiosam acquisitionem. Sic igitur devoluta fuit hujus rarissimæ rei possessio, de patribus in filios, & de amicis ad amicos. Videlicet inter nobilissimos, quod post multorum annorum curricula devenit ad possessionem Patriarchæ Jerosolymitani, utpote Thesaurus Ecclesiæ, cui præesse Patriarcha dignoscitur, Anno Gratæ 1247. Qui tum propter discrimen Terræ Sanctæ quam tunc timuerunt amittere Christiani, tum propter hoc, quod Regem Angliæ Christianissimum cognoverunt, & ipsam terram Christianissimam: memoratus Patriarcha de Consilio suorum Suffraganeorum Magistrorumque militiæ Templi & Hospitaliorum, & aliorum nobilium transmarinorum, qui in testimonium veritatis vel sigilla sua apposuerunt, vel assertionem mandati transmiserunt, sæpè dictum Thesaurum sanguinis memorati, piissimo Regi Angliæ Henrico tertio, ut sub ejus tutela dignius veneretur et tutius reserbaretur, prudenter duxit transmittendum, & non pro alicujus commercii retributione, imò in meræ charitatis liberalitate conferendum. Unde asserunt nonnulli, quod generosiori modo possidet illud munus Rex Angliæ Henricus, tantæque dignitatis reliquias quàm Rex Francorum suas, quas paucis antea annis evolutis, inlicitè adquisivit. Et si Sancta nimis sit crux vera, propter contactum Sancti corporis Christi, & corona, & lancea, & clavi; multo sanctior fuit sanguis ipse Christi, pretium videlicet humanæ redemptionis, quia propter cruorem & in cruore sanctificata est crux & cætera, & non cruor propter crucem, vel propter alia passionis instrumenta. Sed quia tardicordes & oblocutores solent sic objicere & dicere, quod cum Christus tertio die resurrexisset cum corporis integritate, & non exanguis, qualiter esse posset quod sanguinem suum post se reliquerit in terra. Responsum fuit sufficienter. Duo sunt sanguines, vel genera sanguinum. Unus enim sanguis est, qui ex nutrimentis generatur, qui aliquando ita superfluit, ut à naribus sponte prorumpat, vel aliquem alium exitum, ut minutione indigeat sic repletus. Et de tali sanguine Christi, habemus in terra, licet sanè non fuisset sanguinolentus; Deo sic volente, ut videlicet habeatur recentior memoria dominicæ passionis. Est & alius sanguis, qui corpori animato substantialis. De quo dicitur, quod prorsus est consumptio substantialis humiditatis, id est sanguinis vitæ necessarii. Qui secundum physicos dicitur amicus naturæ, & de quo dicit Moses, quod in sanguine sedes est animæ. Sed ille sanguis reponitur in triclinio cordis, sine quo non posset quis vivere. De illo Christi sanguine, non habemus fortè in terris: Fortè dico, quia omnia quæcumque voluit, Dominus fecit. Surrexit enim Deus, & quicquid fuit de substantia corporis sui & decoris plenitudine, cum ipso, & quod de veritate humanæ fuit naturæ cum ipso, id est sanguis eidem consubstantialis. Alius verò qui distillavit habetur hic. Et nos quidem sic refurgemus, videlicet sine aliqua corporis vel mutilatione vel deformitate. Qualiscumque enim extiterit homo in hoc mundo, contractus, gibbosus, vel leprosus, vel nanus, vel abortivus, in resurrectione sibi plenè restaurabitur. Revera in corporis Christi, suorum *vulnerum stigmata, post resurrectionem suam, recentium, & adhuc hiantium, quod apparuerunt, & quod se Christus post resurrectionem & glorificationem corporis palpabilem præbuit, & ad suum beneplacitum visibilem, vel vulneratum monstravit, miraculosum & obstupendum. Ut sic videlicet dubitantium fides roboraretur, quia tam duri & tardi fuerunt quidam discipulorum ad credendum resurrectionem, quod postquam viderant, non crediderunt, & ut benedictio non verius & tamen credituris, largius donaretur. Tertia causa fuit & potissima, ut scilicet sic sciretur quod omnipotens fuit, ut contra consuetum usum & naturalem foret corpus ejus, qui fuit Dominus naturæ, ad suum nutum & beneplacitum monstrabile, & palpabile, & faucium cerneretur, qui tamen ad discipulos intravit foribus obferatis. Et sic omnium cessare debent morbus detractorum.

How unsatisfactory this Legend, these Testimonies are to evidence this Relique to be Christi very blood to any pious Christian, all men may judge; yet such was the Ignorance and Superstition of that age, that the King, Prelates, Clergy, and generality of the people received and really adored it as Christi very blood where-with they were redeemed, not only at first Anno 1247. but the next ensuing years, by the Kings special Summons, prohibiting all Faires or sales of Wares in London and elsewhere, to draw multitudes of people to Westminster to adore this false Relique, and enrich the Abbot, Monks, and Inhabitants by the profits of this Faire, which undid many Merchants resorting to it with their Wares, as Matthew Paris there present thus relates.

* Anno quoque sub eodem, Dominus Rex cum Londinum properaret ad festum Sancti Edwardi, quod est de translatione ejusdem Sancti, in Quindena scilicet Sancti Michaelis, tertio Idus Octobris, quamplurimis Prelatis, Magnatibusque sub obtentu amicitiae et devotionis significavit, ut praesentialiter cum ipso apud Westmonasterium beati Edwardi festum sollemniter ac devote concelebrarent. Venerunt igitur illuc vocati Comes Richardus, Comes Rogerus Bigod Marecallus, Comes Herefordia, & Barones praefecti cum Militibus nonnullis, Episcopi autem Wintoniensis, Londinensis, Elyensis, Wygorniensis, Karleolensis. Abbates autem & Priores quamplurimi. Jussit autem Dominus Rex denunciari, & voce praconia, fecit per totam Civitatem Londini, & alibi acclamari, quod constituit Nundinas novas exerceri plenè apud Westmonasterium per quindenam duraturas; omnes quoque Nundinas quae silent per tantum tempus per Angliam exerceri, utpote Nundinas Elyenses, & alias, & omnem mercaturam, quae solet Londini haberi, & extra testum vel sub testu exerceri, sub poena magna forisfactura & jactura praeiis interdixit, ut sic Nundinae Westmonasteriales populis & mercibus copiosius abundarent. Unde factum est ut illic innumerabilis populus undique velut ad celeberrimas Nundinas conflueret, ibidemque translatio beati Edwardi, et sanguis Christi a populo illuc tracto et ibi congregato, inopinabiliter veneraretur. Verum omnes illic mercimonia sua empti exponentes, cum non haberent tecta, nisi de panniculis tentoria, magnis incommodis premebantur, quia variis procellis aereis, ut tunc temporis solet, ingruentibus, agebant, maeabant, esuriebant, sitiebant mercatores, Pedes luto sordabant, mercimonia eorum imbris contabuerunt. Qui namque ad mensam pransuri sedebant, qui ad caminos refici consueverunt prandentes in medio familiae suae, penitus sic egere nescierunt. Episcopus autem Elyensis, pro jactura nundinarum suarum Elyensium, edito Regio suspensarum, graviter conquestus est Domino Regi super hoc, qui tales adinvenit in gravamen subditorum nobitates; Sed nihil nisi inania verba mulcentis promissionis & futura consolationis reportavit. After this Anno 1249. the King by his Letters summoned his Nobles and Prelates magnificently to celebrate the Feast of St. Edward in St. Peters at Westminster. * Congregati sunt igitur ibi quamplurimi, tum pro devotione & amore Sancti, tum pro Domini Regis ipsos vocantis reverentia, tum pro veneratione sancti sanguinis Christi nuper adepti, et penia concessa ibidem obtinenda: Such was their blind anniversary devotion and superstition. For evincing whereof, I shall only subjoyne, That Our learned Thomas Beacon in his * Reliques of Rome, and others relate; That in the Church of Lateran in Rome (amongst other reliques) they have the water and blood which flowed out of Christs side when he hanged on the Crosse; And that part of his foreskin which was cut away when he was circumcised. That in the 7th principal Church they have Two Cups, of the which one is full of the blood of Christ; the other full of the milke of the blessed Virgin Mary, (the Reliques of whole milke, and hair, are shewed in above 20 other places) That S. Swoll the Daughter of Fulco King of Jerusalem, and Wife of King Theodoricus, by the Consent of her Husband, became a Nun, or Religious woman at Jerusalem, where she found (as they write) a good quantity of Christs blood, which Nicodemus, and Joseph of Arimathea got out of the wounds of Christ when they washed his body, and she sent it to her Husband; which blood (as they say) is at this day kept * at Bruges, and is there shewed to the people on the Third day of May: Besides this Viol of his Blood, sent into England; which he likewise mentions. If the Reliques of the blood of Christ shed on the Crosse, be extant in so many places; then it could be no such peculiar blessing to England, as was then pretended, yea being found out only by this Nunne above a thousand years after Christs death, it must doubtlesse be a Grosse Imposture, as it was afterwards resolved, declared; and those most audacious false Witnesses, who durst thus publicly attest the truth and reality of it under their Hands and Seals upon her single evidence, yea this our devout King, his Nobles, Prelates, Clergy were strongly deluded to believe lyes, who annually adored this blood with such solemn Devotions, Protections, and used such artifices to induce the people to adore it, as you have already heard.

atim Angliæ à
illata.

You have formerly heard the Popes intollerable Extortions exercised by his counterfeit Nuncios, Freers, Harpies, Bulls in England and elsewhere, with the Oppositions Complaints against them, An. 1247. which notwithstanding he vigorously and impudently prosecuted, Anno 1248. (32 H. 3.) as Matthew Paris and others thus relate.

Eodem Anno, multiplicata sunt cum augmento gravamina multipliciter excogitata, quæ a Romana Curia in Regnum diatim Angliæ miserè profluxerunt. Præter angustiam & servitutem insolitam, eo quod suspendebantur Prælati a collatione beneficiorum, donec Romanæ avaritiæ satisfactum esset, nec contra hoc reclamavit Reguli pusillanimitas, pullularunt quotidie nobarum oppressionum germina detestanda. Et si non omnia gravamina quia difficile esset, imò impossibile, describere, aliqua tamen, ut doleant inspectores, et dolentes Deo conquerantur, et eo quandoque propitio liberentur, huic opusculo durissimus inferenda, ut omnibus pateat Angliæ miseranda miseria, quæ bonis rectoribus, et tutoribus pro holo, viduatur. Abbas Abendunle a Domino Papa mandatum acceperat, de provisione cuiusdam Romano sine moræ dispendio facienda. Romanus autem ille, non quamcunque volens Ecclesiam accipere, sed opimam, expectavit sub silentio dissimulans, donec quædam vacabat Ecclesia nobilis & opulenta, scilicet Ecclesia beate Helena in

in Villa Abundunensi, quæ ad Centum Marcas æstimatur, omni referta commodo, utpote in Burgo, qui Cœnobio subjacet memorato. Confestim igitur istam exegit ille Romanus, qui diu siluerat, & instanter postulavit sibi auctoritate conferri Apostolica. Eadem autem die qua vacaverat Ecclesia, urgentissimum accepit Abbas a Domino Rege mandatum, minis, conjunctis precibus contextum, ut et ipsam Ecclesiam conferret fratri suo uterino Ethelmaro, licet idem Ethelmarus jam tot abundaret Ecclesiis et redditibus, quod nec miramur, si numerum eorundem ignoret et balorem. Abbas igitur circumplexus, & quasi inter duas molas circumvolventibus molaribus constitutus, quasi contritus, consuluit super hoc Conventum & amicos fideles & discretos, qui responderunt; Durum patet utrobique, veruntamen si Dominus Rex velit vos ab impetu Papali protegere, tolerabilius arbitramur, illam Ecclesiam conferre ipsi fratri Regis Domini Principis ac Patroni vestri, quam illi Romano qui vobis semper vicinus fieret insidiator vigil ac persecutor indefessus, & quasi semper spina in oculo. Significatum est igitur istud Domino Regi tempestivè, cui Dominus Rex indubitata promissit cum omnimoda protectione, & indemnitate protectionem. Hs igitur dictis confidens fallacibus Abbas, dicto Ethelmaro ad Regis contulit supplicationem. Romanus igitur frater valde, confestim Papam adiit, et eidem rei seriem cum augmento provocationis plenius enarravit, graviter conquerendo. Citavit igitur Dominus Papa ipsum Abbatem, ut personaliter coram eo apareret, de inobedientiæ offensa responsurus. Abbas igitur Domini Regis omni destitutus consolationis auxilio super hoc crebrius requisito, Romanam senex et valetudinarius Curiam adiit, in multa mentis tristitia, pavorè, et amaritudine. Ubi tandem post multas angustias et expensas non modicas, dicto Romano ad arbitrium Papæ satisfecit annuas quinquaginta Marcas de Camera sua, in magnum suæ Ecclesiæ lessonem conferendo.

Anno quoque sub eodem Abbate Sancti Edmundi sublato de medio, Rex postposito Dei & S. Martyris timore & reverentia, quem specialiter teneretur causa multiplici venerari, a domo illa vacante tantam recepit pecuniam, quod videretur viscera misericordiæ penitus amisisse. nam absque Ballivorum Regionum stipendio mille et ducentas Marcas inde extorxit truculenter. Cum igitur alium fratres in loco Abbatis substituendum eligissent jam defuncti, quosdam de fratribus propter confirmationem ejusdem, ad Curiam Romanam destinarent. Facta igitur super hoc examinatione cavillatoria, reprobata est electio et electus, ut in retiacula immisericordiæ misericordiæ sic incideret reprobatas. Et cum Monachi tristes recessissent & verecundi, revocavit eos Dominus Papa, dicens, Cum misericordia indigeant, ex mera gratia nostra, vobis ad præsens, ne confundamini, ipsum Electum concedimus, illi ipsum cœnobium beati Edmundi liberè ac liberaliter conferendo. Veruntamen respiciat in Octingentis Marcis, et respondeat illi Mercatori quem illi assignabimus, cui in tantum obligamur. Et sic Monachi recesserunt illaqueati: Qui tot laceffiti injuriis & gravaminibus inconsolabiliter doluerunt, & unus eorum ante recessum à Curia apud Lugdunum mortuus est, alter apud Doveram rediens à Curia illa non curiali, viam universæ carnis, non sine mentis amaritudine est ingressus. Whereupon he thus concludes this years affairs, Et ut brevibus concludam, in omni fere regione Christianorum, thesaurorum consumptibus, Mundi finis multiplicibus argumentis indicativus. Ut sunt, surget gens contra gentem, & terra motus erant per loca, ( there being two Earthquakes in England, and one in Savoy ) & consimilia. Præcipue autem Romanæ Curia infamis, perfister, et perniciosus, itaque divinis manifeste comminatorius.*

The Pope at Archbishop* Boniface his request. granted him in Ayde of his Church of Canterbury one years fruits of every Church belonging to the Donation of Lay-Patrons when it should fall voyd, which though the Bishops and Clergy were enforced by the Popes and Archbishops censure to submit to against their wills, yet the Nobles in Parliament would by no means assent thereto, wherupon the King issued this memorable Prohibition to hinder this illegal Ayde, and the Collection thereof, notwithstanding the Popes Bull.

The Bishop of Chichester having sequestred and locked up the barnes of a Clerk, thereby to extort this Ayde of one years fruits to the Archbishops use, the King thereupon issued this Writ to him to take off his locks, that so he might freely dispose of his corn, and barns, else he would command the Sheriff of the County to unlock them, and to permit him the free disposition thereof.

A meer delusory Bull, this arbitrary fallacious clause, (absque mandato sedis Apostolicæ speciali, &c.) being totally frustrated by special Mandate or Non obstante at the Popes meer will and pleasure.

This year there fell out a great difference between the King, his Prelates and Nobles in Parliament, principally occasioned by the Bishops and Clergy, who more readily promoted all the Popes illegal Exactions, Impositions, notwithstanding the Kings Prohibitions; but opposed and slandered the King upon every occasion, invading the Rights of his Crown, denying him Subsidies when demanded, charging him with unjust detaining the Temporalities of Bishopricks in his hands, and other exercises of his Royal Prerogative to supply his necessities, when they would not ayde him; recorded by Matthew Paris.

Circa festum Sancti Hilarii, Episcopo Bathoniensi Roberto viam universæ carnis ingressus, Dominus Rex, secundum consuetudinem suam, (as he might legally do by his prerogative) avidas manus bonis Episcopatus iniecit, ut quicquid abradere posset, festinanter asportaret. Sub illius anni initiali curriculo, in octavis videlicet Purificationis, edicto regio convocata totius regni Angliæ nobilitas convenit Londini, at de Regni negotiis nimis perturbati & depauperati, & temporibus nostris enormiter mutilati diligenter & efficaciter simul cum Domino Rege contrectaret. Advenit igitur illuc excepta Baronum, Milium, Nobilium, necnon & Abbatum, Priorum & Clericorum, multitudine copiosa, novem Episcopi, cum totidem Comitibus; Videlicet, Archiepiscopus Eboracensis, Wintoniensis, Lincolnensis, Norwicensis, Wigorniensis, Cicerstrensis Elyensis, Rossensis, Carleolensis, Comes Richardus, Comes Glovernix, Comes Legrix, Comes Wintonix, Comes Hertfordix, Comes Rogerus Bigod Marescallus, Comes Oxoniæ, & præter hos, Comes Lincolnensis, Comes de Ferrariis, Comes de Warrennix, Comes de Richmundix, P. videlicet de Subaudia. Huic autem magna congregationi non fuerunt præsentem Archiepiscopus Cantuariensis B. qui transmarinis partibus Domino Papa militabat, & Dunelmensis, qui remotus fuit & valetudinarius, Bathoniensis autem, paulo ante obierat. Et cum praposuisset Dominus Rex (non enim propositum suum latuit universitatem) pecuniæ auxilium postulare, redargutus est graviter super hoc, quod non erubesceret tunc tale juvamen exigere, præsertim quia quando in ultima tali exactione, cui nobiles Angliæ vix consenserunt, confecit Chartam suam, quod amplius talem non faceret Magnatibus suis injuriam & gravamen. Reprehensus est insuper gravissimè (nec nimirum) super indiscreta vocatione alienigenarum, quibus omnia bona Regni indiscretè, prodigialiter & prodigaliter distribuit & dispersit, & Nobiles Regni ignobilibus extraneis maritavit, indigenas & naturales homines suos spernendo & postponendo, irrequisito assensu mutuo qui est matrimonii completivus. Reprehensus est insuper Dominus Rex, (and that principally by the Bishops and Clergies suggestions) quod Episcopatus et Abbacias, sicut et gardas vacantes, a sanctis et magnificis Patribus nostris fundatos, quos in manu sua diu tenet, et teneretur tutor esse et defensor, et proinde dicuntur esse in manu ejus, hoc est, sub ejus protectione, contra Inramentum, quod fecit in Coronatione sua primum et præcipuum, usque ad destructionem depauperat. Calumniatur itaque Dominus Rex graviter à singulis & universis non mediocriter conquerentibus, eo quod, sicut Magnifici Reges predecessores sui habuerunt, Justitiarium nec Cancellarium habet, nec Thesaurarium, per Commune Consilium Regni, prout deceret & expediret, sed tales qui suam qualicumque, dummodo sibi quaestuosam, sequuntur voluntatem, nec qui Republica, sed singularem querunt promotionem, pecuniam colligendo, custodias & redditus sibi primitus procurando, &c.

Hæc cum audisset Dominus Rex, confusus in semetipso erubuit; sciens hæc omnia esse verissima. Promisit igitur verissimè ac certissimè se hæc omnia gratanter emendaturum, sperans per talem humilitatem, licet fictam, omnium corda postulationi suæ promptius incurvare. Cui inito consilio crebrius in talibus promissis universitas irritata, respondit:

Hereupon, Adveniente autem Quindenā Sancti Johannis Baptistæ, mense Junii, convenit Londinum totius Angliæ Nobilitas, credens firmiter ex certa Domini Regis promissione, ut mutatis erroribus se consiliis sanioribus, collata sibi gratia divinitus, inclinaret. Convenientibus igitur in unum omnibus Regni primatibus, talis à Domino Rege profluit responsio illepidā: Voluistis vos omnes Angliæ primates, ad arbitrium vestrum parum civile, Dominum vestrum Regem incurbare, eidemque servilem nimis imponere conditionem, dum quodlibet unicuique vestrum, illi frontose denegaretur. Porro licet cui libet cujus et quolibet uti consilio. Cæterum, licet cuilibet patri familias quemcunque de domo sua illi vel illi officio præponere, vel postponere, vel etiam deponere, quod utique Domino vestro Regi temere præsumitis denegare: præsertim cum Dominum servi, Principem suum Castellum minime debeant judicare, vel suis arcare conditionibus: quin imo Domini arbitrio potius habent dirigi et voluntate ordinari, quicumque censentur inferiores. Non enim est servus supra Dominum, sicut nec Discipulus supra Magistrum: non solet utique Rex vester, sed quasi servus, si ad voluntatem vestram, sic inclinaretur. Quapropter nec Cancellarium, nec Justitiarium, nec Thesaurarium, prout disponere proposuistis, nec amovebit, nec alios substituet. Similiter ad alios articulos, Regi satis salubres, cavillatorie fuit responsum. Postulat autem a vobis auxilium pecuniare, ad jura sua, quæ etiam vos contingunt, acquirenda in partibus transmarinis. Hac autem cum audissent Magnates, luce clarius perpenderunt, hac à consilio tunc suo emanasse, videlicet eorum quorum si universitatis barnagium exaudiretur, Dominum enervatum penitus exufflaretur, veruntamen videntes sibi versus respondere & opponi, responderunt omnes quasi uno spiritu præcisè, nullo modo se amplius inutiliter velle depauperare, ut de bonis eorum alieni superbirent, & inimici tam Regis quam Regni roborarentur, sicut nuper evenit in Pictavia, similiter in Gasconia, quo ipse præcipitanter & indiscrète, & contra eorum consilium & voluntatem properavit, unde adversi casus sibi evenerunt. Et bene credimus, quia hoc apparet ex Regis aviditate & egestate, quod clanculo captus fuit, & tacito facto sine, interpositis fide & juramentis & chartis caute dimissus, & sic honore, Thesauris & terris privatus, dimissus est, & inglorius cum omni opprobrio abire permissus. Soluta igitur cum omni indignatione Concilio, unusquisque spe fraudatus à Parlamento frustra diu expectata, nihil nisi sannas cum frivolis, amissis laboribus cum expensis, ut solent sæpius, reportarunt.

vendit.

Quod cum vidisset dominus Rex, in iram conversus vehementem, consiliariis suis dixit: Ecce per vos aversa sunt corda Magnatum meorum à me. Ecce, amissurus sum Gasconiam, Pictavia spoliatus, & thesauro destitutus, quid faciam? Inito igitur consilio pusillanimi, sine providentia provisum est, ut vasa, & utensilia, & jocalia thesauri sui Regi pro pondere venderentur, non habito respectu ad aurum, quo fulgebant argentea, vel ad opus artificiosum & laboriosum, & licet materiam superaret opus, ut saltem sic denarii acquirerentur. Addentes insuper consiliarii Regi probrosam consolationem, Regem demulcendo, insibilabant eidem: Sicut omnia flumina in mare refluent, sic omnia quæ nunc venduntur, ad vos profecto donis relativis quandoque revertentur, idcirco non moveatur dominus noster Rex. Et post venditionem inquisivit Rex, ubi nam venderentur, & quibus, utensilia memorata? Et responsum est: Londini. Et Rex: Scio, scio, quod si thesaurus Octaviani venalis esset, civitas Londinum illum totaliter absorberet emendo, abundant enim illi rustici Londinenses, qui se Barones appellant, usque ad nauseam: urbs illa puteus est inexhaustus. Et statim concepit in animo suo, nullā tam levi occasione, ipsos cives bonis suis spoliare, prout subsequens evenit.

Rex Sultinens enim, ut prædictum est, justam ab universitate Magnatum Anglia repulsum, ne amplius bona sua in Regni confusionem effunderent, studuit subtiliter per alia argumenta, avaritia sua simulam incutire. Statim igitur post memorata gaudia solennitatis, inito studuit consilio cives Londinensis gravare, hoc modo. Suspendit exercitium mercatura civitatis ut pratæctum est, per quindenam, novis nundinis apud Westmonasterium in multorum damnum & præjudicium constitutis, & protinus post hoc petiit, missus per satellites suos literis suis, argumentosas & imperiosas prece continentibus, ut ipsum jurentur efficaciter auxilio pecuniari. Quo audito, cives præcordialiter ingemuerunt, dicentes: Hen nobis heu, ubi est Londinensis toties emptæ, toties concessa, toties scripta, toties jurata libertas. Quolibet enim sæpe anno, quasi viles ultima servi conditionis, per varias tallias depauperamur & causis vulpinis injuriæ exagitamur. Nec sciri potest, in quam voraginem, bona, quibus spoliatur absorbetur submersa. Quid plura? licet inastimabilia exigerentur, tandem cives, non sine cruci cordium amaritudine, ad contributionem duorum millium librarum, in brevi termino domino Regi conferendorum, licet inviti, descendunt. Gravamen insuper solitum adhuc sine aliquo moderamine sæviebat. Omnia enim venalia, si non, quasi furtiva, absconderentur, præcipue in esculentis & poculentis, ad opus Regis rapiebantur: nec tamen hospitium ejus dapulitatis alicujus inde suscepit incrementum. Imò potius diatim, exulante verecundia, reprehensibili nimis ardebat parcitate, & jam eliminata antiqua Domini Regis Angliæ dapulitate, jam Romanæ mensæ consuetudo subintravit, Regia serenitatis famam & honorem non mediocriter denigravit.

Eodemque tempore, Dominus Rex ad jam solitas cavillationes Romanas recurrens, cum non posset omnes congregatos Regni Nobiles, ad consensum flectere, singulos ad se vocans, vel unicuique scribens, affatus est eos, impudenter supplicando, dicens; Pauper sum omni destitutus thesauro. Necesse habeo, ut quilibet vestrum juret me efficaciter: obligor enim per chartam meam debito triginta millium marcarum. Nec tamen aliquid exigo, nisi per gratiam. Qui mihi gratiam facturum est, reddam ei nata temporis opportunitate talionem. Et qui mihi gratiam denegaverit, & ei gratiam denegabo. Et protendens causam fictam, quasi esset moturus bellum contra Regem Francorum, reposcendo in manu fortis iura sua trengis jam expirantibus, nihil exinde à circumspiciendi nisi derisum & sibilum suscitavit. Nuper enim prohibitum fuit ei, ex parte Domini Papæ, per Magistrum Albertum, ne aliquam terram a Domino Francorum Rege, quocunque titulo possessam, quomolibet infestaret qui in Terra Sancta Deo et universali Ecclesiæ cruce signatus militabit. (Which Papal prohibition being contrary to the Rights and Prerogatives of his Crown, the King held null and unobligatory, only the Nobles & Prelates averfness to aide him with monies, then inforced him to connive at.) Et si non prohibuisset bene creditur, quod minime sufficeret ei militaris peritia, vel fortitudo, vel etiam undecunque extortus thesaurus, ad privandum Regem Francorum aliqua saltem possessiuncula. Non enim penitus vacuata creditur Francia thesauro vel militia. Sed ut dicti magistri nuntium omnes lateret, non permisit Rex illud aliquatenus publicari. Dicitur est etiam, quod potestatem receperat idem Magister A. terram Angliæ, si rebellis esset Rex, mandato Papali interdicens: sed hac omnia, quasi magno mysterio celata, tegebantur, ut ignaros Rex cante circumveniret.

Et dum sic patulo hiatu, Rex acquisitioni pecuniari avidius inhiaret, contigit, ut inter faciens versus Huntendonam, circa festum sancti Hilarii, misit pro Abbate Ramefic. Quem secretins alloquens, ait: Amice, obnoxius supplico, quatenus juves me, mihi centum libras conferendo, vel saltem commodando. Ego enim, & necesse habeo ipsas habere sine mora dispendio. Et cum non posset Abbas honestè aliter respondere, ait: Dator aliquando sum; nunquam, tamen vobis accommodator fui, vel ero. Et statim tantam pecuniam cum gravibus usuris à Caurfinis mutuo accepit, ut eidem Regulo mendicanti sic satisfaceret. Eodemque tempore consimilibus precibus dominus Rex Abbatem de Burgo pulsavit, juvamen pecuniare postulando, assereus, majorem elemosynam fore sibi juvamen conferre pecuniare, quam alicui ostiatim mendicanti. Abbas autem, cum se excusando non se precibus suis inclinavit, convitiis laceffitus, à domo Regis clanculo exivit. Ab Abbate vero Sancti Albani, simili sermocinatione sexaginta marcas eodem tempore extorsit, licet eodem anno, & similiter proximo præterito, non minimam sophistice emunxisset. Videns

HENRICUS Dei gratia, &c. Universis Abbatibus & Prioribus constitutis in Comitatu Essexia & Hertfordia, salutem. Si Regiæ Majestatis dignatio, pro juribus Regni tuendis devotorum ac fidelium suorum amicitiam experiri voluerit, vel si ipsi suum Principem, sub cujus alis protecti respirant, obsequio corporali, & munerum oblatione frequenter honorent, temporibus congruis, non est mirum. Cum igitur jam deficientibus treugis inter Dominum Regem Francorum, & nos, pro recuperatione & defensione jurium nostrorum tam in cismarinis, quam transmarinis, partibus, ad quas nuper misimus comitivam, oporteat nos magnos sumptus, & ob causas diversas, liberalitatis manum pluribus aperire; dilectum & fidelem nostrum Simonem Passeleve, una cum singulis Vicecomitibus dictorum Comitatum ad vos transmittimus, rogantes attentè, quatenus ipsos in negotio nostro, quod vobis exponent, imò nos in eis favorabiliter audientes, ad alleviationem sumptuum prædictorum nos de pecunia vestra tum abundanter juvetis, quod id vobis debeamus retributione compensare.

The King by reason of his Royal Prerogative during the vacancy of the See of Canterbury, presented William de Plessetis to the Church of Eneford then void, belonging to that See, who after his institution was opposed by Robert de Gloucester, claiming a right thereunto by the Popes Provision, and commenced a Suit thereupon; which the Pope willing to determine, brought the examination of the cause before himself, and after many altercations, gave a definitive sentence for his own Provisor, against the Kings Clerk, without considering the Kings right, commanding the Bishops of London and Lincoln to put him into corporal possession thereof, to the manifest prejudice of the Kings Crown, Right, and Dignity; whereupon the King issued this memorable Prohibition to the Bishops, setting forth the antient Right, Prerogative of his Crown, the destructiveness of this Provision and proceedings of the Pope thereunto, and his duty to obviate the same; commanding them according to their Oath of Allegiance to defend the Rights of his Crown, and not to proceed or attempt any thing therein to its prejudice, under pain of seising their Baronies, as this memorable Record attests.

King Henry the 3d. having conquered *Wales, subdued the Welshmen, and brought them under the Lawes of England, notwithstanding they had put themselves under the Popes protection rendring him an annual Tribute, to defend them against the English; the Welsh Bishops, siding with their Countrymen against the King, had their Bishopricks, Churches so spoyled and destroyed, that they were enforced to beg their bread, and live upon the Alms of others; the Archbishop of St. Davids dying for grief: whereupon a new Bishop was elected by the Kings license, to whose election he gave his royal assent: Exercising the same regal Prerogative in the election and confirmation of all Bishops in Wales from thenceforth, as he did in England, thus registred to posterity.

Misera oppressio Walliæ.

Arctabatur Wallia eisdem diebus, cessante eorum cultura, commercio, & pœndum custodia Pastoralis, & caperunt consumi inedia, Anglorum & inviti legibus incurvari. Emacuit antiqua eorum superba nobilitas, & etiam virorum Ecclesiasticorum cithara, conversa & in luctum & lamenta. Obiit ergo quasi præ dolore contabescens, Episcopus Menevensis, id est Sancti David. Episcopus vero de Landaff Willielmus, tacitate percutitur. Episcopus de Sancto Asaph, & Episcopus de Bangor, destructis Episcopatibus cade ac incendio, mendicare, ut de alieno viverent, cogebantur. Eodem tempore venit ad Sanctam Albanam Episcopus de Bangor Richardus, ut eidem depauperato finis pateret misericordie, & ibidem cum Domino Abbate, donec Episcopatus ejus, qui per bellum destructus erat, aliquantulum restauraretur, habitaret, & ipse cum Clericis suis à pressuris qua circumdederant eos, respiraret.

* Vacante igitur sede Menevensi, post innumeras Walliæ tribulationes per bellum & Principum eorum mortem, electus est in eundem Episcopatum Magister Thomas, cognomento Wallensis, eo quod in Wallia fuerat oriundus, Lincolnienſis Ecclesiæ Archidiaconus; Cui electioni, licet Episcopatus pauperrimus existeret, consensit, tum propter Episcopum Lincolnienſem, qui Canonicos suos superaverat, tum propter hoc, quod in natali patria ad curam vocabatur, & ad dulcedinem originis sue quilibet naturaliter attrahitur, tum ut miseros compatriotas suos; sua præsentia, consilio et auxilio consolaretur. Cui etiam electioni Dominus Rex gratanter consensit, et electum acceptavit, non multum constituens super hoc difficultatis, cum exilis fuerit Episcopatus.

King Henry the 3d. having thus presented to the Bishoprick of St. Davids, (as you heard before) the Dean and Chapter of St. Asaph having obtained a License from the King to elect a new Bishop, by their Letters Patents made this observable Prostration and acknowledgement of the Kings antient right to grant a Conge de fier or License upon their request, to elect a Bishop for their See upon every avoidance, before any election could be made, and to assent to the person elected after his election.

The King having obtained the confirmation of an Immunity from Pope Innocent, which he formerly enjoyed by his own Royal Prerogative, exempting all his Free-Chappels, Oratories, and Canons in them from all Episcopal and Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction, Censures and Impositions, enjoined all Archbishops and Bishops through England perpetually to observe the same without violation, by this Writ.

Sub eodem quoque annali curriculo, (1248.) obiit Magister Simon de Langetuna, frater Stephani Cantuariensis Archiepiscopi, ejusdem Ecclesiæ Archidiaconus; qui fratrisse negligens, si Ecclesiæ suæ persecutor et perturbator extitisset non est mirandum: quoniam Regna Francorum et Anglorum, et eorundem Regnorum corda et status, ex multiplici bello non mediocriter movit, commovit et damnose perturbavit, sicut suo loco plenius enodatur: being the Popes great instrument.

It is the observation of Matthew Paris Anno 1249. that when Cardinal Remerius at the Popes instigation, had published an infamous Satyrical elegant Letter against the Emperor Frederick, whereby his fame was not a little blasted in divers parts of the world, * ut jam pejor Herode, & Juda, vel Nerone censeretur: Talis enim Epistola sætor exitialis ex factis suis exhalans, fidelium audientium aures & corda, non sine stupore & gemitu, quam plurimum exasperavit. Hæc igitur pagina auditu horribilis, cum ad multos pervenisset, medullas auditorum penetrando contra Fredericum crexisset, nisi Papales ejusdem Frederici abversarios, avaritiæ, symoniæ, et usuræ, aliorumque vitiorum maculæ coinquinassent. Qui inter cætera deliramenta, cruce signatos impudenter exagitant, nunc sub poena Excommunicationis ad Terram Sanctam, nunc ad Imperium Romaniæ, nunc innuendo ut super Fredericum insurgant et transmittantur, elabozant. Et quod detestabilis judicatur, Prædicatores et Minores facientes suos telonarios, viatica cruce signatorum quobis extorquent argumento. Unde etsi ignominiosa ipse tyrannus Fredericum operetur, adhuc tamen infinitos manifestos et quamplures occultos, in odium Romanorum, pro dolo, invenit fautores, et in facinoribus adjutores.

He subjoyns soon after, * Eisdemq. temporibus, Fratres Prædicatores & Minores, de præcepto Domini Papæ, cui obedienter obtemperabant, instanter nimis ac diligenter prædicationibus intendebant: & ad augendam fidelium devotionem, cum magna solennitate ad loca, ubi prædicatione eorum prius indicabatur, accedebant & advenientibus, multos dies indulgentia concedebant. Occurrerant namque eis Sacerdotes & Clerici in vestibus albis, cum crucibus & vexillis, trahentes secum fidei populi non minimam numerositatem, sicut solet diebus rogationum. Prædicantes igitur pro negotio crucis, homines cujuscunque ætatis, sexus, vel conditionis, vel baloxis, imo etiam valetudinarios vel valetudinarias, et ægotantes et senio deficientes cruce signaverunt: et in crastino et etiam incontinenti pro quantocunque præcio crucem a cruce signatis deponentes et reacipientes, quemlibet a voto suæ peregrinationis absoluebant. Quod videbatur multis inconveniens et absurdum, quia non post multos dies consequentes, Magistro Bernardo Clerico et Italico vindemsiante, Comes Richardus in ærario suo omnia coacerbavit. Unde non minimum scandalum in Ecclesia Dei et universo populo est exortum, et tepuit fidelium devotio manifeste. Whence

Tunc quoque temporis, rediit a Curia Romana Episcopus Norwicensis Walterus, qui, ut dicebatur, privilegium adquisierat infame, de pecunia ex Episcopatu suo extorquenda: to make up the monies he had spent in Bulls and Gifts at Rome.

Anno quoque sub eodem, circa Paschalem solennitatem, Archiepiscopus Rothomagensis, quidam videlicet frater de ordine Minorum, origine Francus, venit in Angliam, ut quosdam redditus ad jus Ecclesiæ suæ pertinentes, impetrata Regis gratia, rebotaret. Quod cum prudenter impetraverat, facto Regi homagio de ipsis redditibus (as his Predecessor did) erant enim in Anglia, veniebat.

The same year there happening a discord between the Abbot of Burg and his Covent, about Dilapidations, and for enriching his poor kintred with the Goods and Revenues of the Church, in enorme Ecclesiæ suæ damnum, and not reforming upon complaint, he was at last constrained, to prevent a deprivation, to resign his Abby into the Bishop of Lincoln's hands, who assigned him one Mannor for his more honourable maintenance, though he did not deserve it. * Regales autem illuc statim à Domino Rege missi, emolumentis inhiantes, redditibus Abbatis avidè inhiantes, rapinis & exterminio domus illius intenderunt. Irascitur quoque Rex vehementer, velens occasionem habere contra domum ipsam, quia dictum fuit ei, quod quia Domino Regi favorabilis et munificus fuerat, persequerentur ipsum Abbatem suum Monachi, et accusaverant. Conveniens igitur, ut Domini Regis confiscatis omnia, declinarent indignationem, Johannem de Cadamo, Priorem Ecclesiæ Sancti Swithini, Wintoniensem, ipso Rege sic volente et imperante, licet de domo alia, & natione alienum, videlicet Normannum, sibi in Abbatem bellent nolent, elegerunt.

This year Robertus Passelevé, Curia volumina detestans, ad frugem melioris vite convolvavit, & ad gradum promotus est Sacerdotis. Propter quod Dominus Episcopus Eliensis, ipsi Roberto bonam Ecclesiæ de Deham, qua fuerat Jeremix Domini Regis Clerici nuper defuncti, contulit; sperans ipsum Sanctum fore post diuinam vitam sterilem, Sacerdotem. Sed Dominus Rex ipsum Episcopum conferentem, & ipsum Robertum recipientem, odio maximo persequeretur, quia Episcopus memoratus illam Ecclesiæ Ethelmaro fratri Domini Regis non contulerat.

Anno 1250. Many of the English Nobility, Bishops, Gentry and Commonalty crossed themselves for the relief of the Holy Land, some of them selling their Lands to defray their expenses in that expedition: * Innumerabiles quoque nudentes in propatulo signum crucis vel accipere vel in humeris portare, secreto voverunt & proposuerunt firmiter Terram Sanctam devotè ac potenter adire, multiplicas Romanæ Curia formidantes. The King himself soon after sending for all the Citizens of London, remitted all his anger and rancor towards them, and humbly craved pardon from them for all the injuries, oppressions, and unjust seizures of their goods formerly Et postea ipse Archiepiscopus cruce signavit alios Nobiles, whose names you may read in Matthew Paris: who subjoyns, Sinistri verò interpretatores asserere presumpserunt, quod non propter aliud suscepit Dominus Rex crucem, nisi ut tali occasione violenter a suis Nobilibus, qui prius ei contradixerant id petenti, pecuniam extorqueret sub obtentu Terra Sancta conquistandæ, (as Popes then usually did) et crucis negotii promovendi: Verumtamen discreti & plur rationis habentes, hæc ad iudicium & probationem altum subsequendum reservabant. Huius autem dubitationis seminarium præstitit Regis Francorum exemplum perniciosum, qui infantiam (pecuniam) minime tamen Deo vindice profecturam à Regno suo maxime abstraxerat, ut suam promoveret peregrinationem. Sed quales inde fructus collegeris, sequens sermo declarabit.

In the mean time the English Nobility (who had most of them taken up the cross before King Henry) meeting at London, determined to begin their voyage before the King; * Dominus autem Rex, qui sedulus explorator hac præcognoverat, à Romana Curia Literas ad votum, data et plus promissa pecunia, festinanter impetravit, quarum auctoritate iter eorum suspenderet, donec ipse tanquam Dux capitalis, in propria persona terram pienter adiret ultramarinam, ut sic decentius & securius progrediretur; & sic hic & inde crucis languis negotium infelicitè, heu, heu, mutilatum.

Mat. Paris, Edit. Londini, p. 785, 787. Magnatum Angliæ iter Hierosolymit.

Soon after, Celebri luce beati Augustini, cum omnes Angliæ Magnates cruce signati, fixum habentes propositum ad festum Sancti Johannis, iter arripere Hierosolymitanum, & terras suas vendiderant, vel impignoraverant, vel in laqueis Judæorum vel Causinorum se involverant, vale dicto amicis prompti fuerant & parati. Et ecce Dominus Rex, qui sicut puerulus læsus vel offensus ad matrem querulus soles recurrere, ad Papam miserat festinanter supplicans, ut hoc iter impediret, significans ei, quod quidam Regni sui præclari Magnates cruce signati, ipso invito et prohibente iter arripere Hierosolymitanum firmiter proposuerant, nec ipsum Regem Dominum suum cruce signatum, et idem iter arripere proponentem, expectare dignabantur. Qui etiam Regem Francorum capitalem inimicum suum qui eis, ut dicebant, prævius iter & introitum præparaverat in terram Orientalem, potius quam eum sequi maluerunt. Unde Papa per Literas suas, sicut et ipse Rex per verba imperiosa, districte sub pœna Excommunicationis inhibuit, ne quis eorum contra Regis voluntatem, qualecunque periculum Rex Francorum subiret aut discrimen, transiret. Insuper Dominus Rex in continenti, misit ad Castellanos Doveræ, & ad aliorum portuum custodes, ne aliquem Magnatem cruce signatum, permitterent transire. Allegatum tamen fuit contra hoc, quod scilicet Rex indiscretè fecerat, quia si tot & tales faciem suam prærent (fuerant pugnatores equites circiter quingenti, excepta eorum sequela innumerabili) diceret totius Christianitatis universitas obstruere: O quantus Rex est, & quam formidabilis, qui tales præmittit? O quot credendi sunt ipsum concomitari? & sic totus contremiscet Paganismus. Sed ut quid talis deceptio? Hoc enim peregrinationis bene contigit, licet præter prohibentium impedimentum: by reason of the French Kings overthrow. Interim tamen non cessavit Dominus Rex, undecunque pecuniam abstrahere, (by pretext of this Croysado) principaliter à Judæis, (he extorting from Aaron alone, a Jew born at York, no lesse then Thirty Thousand Marks of Silver, and Two Hundred Marks of Gold, besides what he wrested from other Jews upon sundry pretexts) secundo autem à suis hominibus Christianis & naturalibus, amounting to vast sums of money.

Temporibus quæque sub eisdem, Bernardus de Nympha Clericus, Papalibus armatus munimentis, a cruce signatis ad opus Comititis Richardi, sub inhonestissima nimis forma magnam pecuniam collegit, ut potius rapina, quam iustitia videretur. Forma autem huius rapinæ inordinata, ne multorum aures cum cordibus offendat, in Libro Additamentorum plenius exaratur.

* Matthew Paris records, That the Pope this year gave a Noble entertainment to this Earl Richard, whom he secretly called to his Court, and with whom he had much private conference; De causa autem itineris Comitissæ Richardi, aliquorum fuit opinio, nec sine causa, quod vocaverat eum Dominus Papa, ut eum in Imperium Romanæ, quem scivit nummis & multis thesauris abundare, promoveret, sciens illum avidum & ambitiosum, quos vellet Dominus Papa ad hoc exponere. Alii autem indubitanter asseverabant, quod Dominus Papa studiosè ad hoc desudabat, ut gratiam ipsius Comitissæ acquireret, quatenus ipsum venire, in Angliam, cupientem, benignè & reverenter susceperet, & ad hoc Dominum Regem fratrem suum & Magnates terra (præcipuè eos qui de consilio Domini Regis sunt) ut in Regnum Angliæ vocaretur, inclinaret. However the Earl made use of the Popes favour to procure his forecited Bulls, under colour of ayding the Holy Land, to exact vast sums of money by this pious cheat from the people, whereof himself for the most part had the greatest share.

The King having gained Letters from the Pope to raise monies for this his pretended expedition, sent them to the three Archbishops in Ireland, to publish them in all places, as this ensuing Record assures us.

What great extortions, oppressions the Laity and Clergy underwent not only in England, but also in France, by vertue of the Popes Bulls to raise monies to carry on Wars against the Saracens, and Emperor too, though a Christian, Matthew Paris thus relates.

Et si alix pecuniarum extorfiones per Regnum Francorum factæ, irrecitabiles dignæ aeterno sint silentio, unum tamen exemplum huic paginæ duximus inferendum. Notum est, quod Dominus Francorum Rex, ex permissione Romana Ecclesiæ, per triennium decimam ab Ecclesia Regni Francorum emunxit, tali conditione ut Papa tantundem in posterum ab eadem extorqueret, ut Fredericum potentius expugnaret. Cui tamen post primam triennii collectam, scilicet suam, Rex Francorum præmonitus, volenti suam vindemiare, multiformis emundatoris ars ut artem falleret, in faciem contradixit, hanc pretendens rationem, quod nullo modo toleraret Ecclesiam sui Regni depauperare, ad expugnandum Christianos: ad expugnandum vero incredulos, æquanimius tolerari potuit, et potius a laico quam sacerdote. Preterea, si alio proximo triennio deprædaretur, irrestitabili prædæ, quod tamen non curaret, pateret. Extorsit igitur, pecuniam memoratam per quosdam Papæ Ministrales, ut efficacius ipsam erigeret, et ut certius sciretur ad quantum pars Papalis ascenderet colligenda. Unde multorum corda doloze præcordiali exultabantur, maledicentium, et imprecantium, ut Propheta Isaia, imo Dei vereficaretur sententia, qui odio semper hæcenus habuit rapinam in holocausto. Utinam hæc rationis libra perpenderent Dominus Anglorum Rex, & frater ejus Comes Richardus, & alii Principes cruce signati, turpidus emolumentis incumbentes. Quamvis enim ipsum constat esse actum sanctæ peregrinationis, viatica tamen turpiter acquisita, piæ actionis coinquinat executionem. Hæc enim causa licet alix forte non defint, creditur fuisse jam descriptæ confusionis. Harum quoque in Francia factarum extorfionum, unam quia turpissimum, duximus memorandum. Contigit, ut memoratus Papalis exactor obvium haberet unum Clericum de Villa venientem, aquam in vasculo cum aspersorio, & frustra panis, data sibi pro aspersione aquæ benedictæ bajulantem. Cui Romanus insidiator ait, ad quantum premium ascendit beneficium hoc tibi ab Ecclesia concessum per annum? Cui clericus loquearum ignarus Romanorum, respondit. Ad viginti ut æstimo solidorum. Cui Romanus jam se manifestans ait, Hic ergo assurgunt ad fisci commodum per annum Viginti & quatuor denarii, scilicet duo solidi. Et suffocabit ipsum pauperem offitium mendicantem, dicens: Redde Domino Regi quod debes. Unde pro illa substantiola persolvenda cogeatur ille pauper Ubique enim patres, & matres suos filios, pupilli & orphani genitores, consanguinei consanguineos, amici amicos cecidisse conqueruntur: Immutata est mulierum speciositas, ferra de floribus projecta sunt. Cantilenæ suspenduntur. Instrumenta musica prohibentur. Omne quoque genus lætitiæ in luctum, & lamenta commutatur. Et quod pejus est, Dominum de injustitia redarguentes, in verba Blasphemie quæ Apostasiam vel hæresim sapere videbantur, præ mentis amaritudine et doloris immanitate sapientes prozumpunt. Et multorum caput fides vacillare. Venetia quoque Civitas Nobilissima, et multa Civitates Italia quas inhabitant semi-Christiani, in Apostasiam prolapsi essent, nisi Episcoporum et Sanctorum viro- rum religiosorum consolatione roborarentur. Et qui solet Dominus dici exercituum, nunc, pro dolor, à suis hostibus tanquam multoties superatus aspernatur. Quid nobis nostra devotio, religiosorum orationes, amicorum nostrorum pro sunt elemosynæ? Nunquid melior est lex Machometi lege Christi? Nunc cum in sententia excommunicationis ultra quadraginta dies perseverasset, significavit Episcopus Vicecomiti Rotolandia, in cuius Vicecomitatu idem clericus manebat, ut ipsum captum teneret tanquam contumacem. Vicecomes autem eo quod fortè amicus dicti Rannulphi fuerat, hoc facere distulit vel recusavit, nunc enim erat Episcopo favorabilis. Quia enim, ut ait Seneca, qui diu distulit, diu nolit. Episcopus igitur Vicecomitis comperiens similitatem, ipsum excommunicavit solenniter. Vicecomes igitur iratus & verecundatus, Regem illico adiit, gravem super hoc reponens querimoniam. Quod cum audisset, & sui omnes aulici, commoti sunt universi, Rex autem iratus nimis, respondit addito marimo juramento: si quis meorum versus Episcopum illum vel quempiam foris fecisset, coram nobis querimoniam deberet reposuisse. Sed ut videtur, ne habuisset contemptui. Missus igitur ad Romanam curiam Legatis solennibus, hanc meruit literam in Ecclesiasticæ libertatis præjudicium, interbeniente pecunia, celeriter impetrare.

Litteræ Papales.

INNOCENTIUS quartus Episcopus, &c. Dilectis filiis Abbati Westmonasteriensi Londini, salutem. Celsitudinis charissimi in Christo filii Regis Angliæ illustris votis liberaliter annuimus, ut ei in his quæ digne deposcit nos favorabiles exhibeamus. Cum igitur sicut ex parte sua fuit propositum coram nobis, nonnulli Pontifices et alii Prælati Regni sui Ballivos suos, super his quæ ad iurisdictionem Regiam pertinent, coram se pro suo compellant libito litigare, ac in eos nisi coram ipsis litigent excommunicationis ferant sententias, in ipsius Regis præjudicium et gravamen, Nos ejus supplicationibus inclinati, ut nullus ipsius Regni Archiepiscopus, Episcopus, vel alius Prælatus, Ballivos ipsos coram se super his, quæ ad Regiam iurisdictionem pertinent litigare compellat, vel hac de causa in eos hujusmodi ferant sententias, auctoritate litterarum districte durimus inhibendum. Quocirca discretioni vestre per Apostolica scripta mandamus, quatenus prædictum super his, contra inhibitionis nostræ tenorem, non permittatis ab aliquibus indebitè molestare Malefactores, &c. Datum Lugdini, 7 Idus Martii, Pontificatus nostri Anno 7. Hoc tamen non sine redarguatione peritorum, hæc fecit Dominus Rex, Quod scilicet conquestus est super hoc Dominus Papis. Having royal power to redress himself by his own Writs of Prohibition, as is evident by this remarkable Writ of K. Henry the 3d. in the 20th. year of his Reign, (casually omitted in its due place) directed to the Official of the Bishop of Winchester, enjoining him to absolve the Kings Bayliffs, whom he had unjustly Excommunicated at the suit of the Prior of St. Swithin in Winchester, for seising upon a Royal Fish, (belonging to the King by his Prerogative) which the Prior claimed, because drawn on shore upon his Land.

REX Magistro W. Officiali P. Winton. Episcopi, salutem. Ad nostram pervenit noticiam, quod cum quidam Piscis Regius nuper applicaret in terra Prioris Sancti Swithinis Winton. & constantibus illuc tam Ballivis nostris, quam Ballivis ipsius Prioris, mansu communi esset ad terram tractus, & unanimi assensu Ballivorum nostrorum, & ipsius Prioris esset in quadam domo depositus & sale conditus, quia Ballivi nostri tandem non permisissent dictum Priorem pro voluntate sua de dicto Pisce disponere, relinquentes resumentes eum ad opus Regium; delata inde vobis querela per præfatum Priorem, sententiam Excommunicationis in Ballivos nostros præcipitatis, unde si miremur et moveamur minime mirari debetis, cum nullus in Regno nostro jus habeat huiusmodi Regium Piscem vendicandi ubicunque applicuerit, nisi de jure speciali a nobis vel Prædecessoribus nostris ei fuerat indultum: Et licet Ballivi nostri graves existissent ipso Priori vel alicui super concessa ei à Regia potestate libertate, ob Regiam tamen reverentiam requirendi essemus, ut id emendari faceremus, et tunc demum si negligentes essemus in hac parte, posset in Ballivos nostros honestius animadverti. Et ideo vobis mandamus rogantes, quatenus præfatos Ballivos nostros a dicta sententia Excommunicationis faciatis absolvi: Et si memoratus Prior ostendere velit, quod jus habeat in huiusmodi Regio Piscis, parati sumus ipsum audire, & ei per considerationem Curia nostra iustitiam exhibere. Teste Rege apud Doncast. 27 die Septembris.

By which Writ, and the Kings forecited complaint and Popes Letters in pursuance thereof, it is apparent: First, That no Bishop, nor Ecclesiastical person or Court, ought to draw any of the Kings Officers or Bayliffs into their Ecclesiastical Courts, for any matter belonging to the Kings proper Jurisdiction or Temporal Courts, nor for the execution or neglect of their Offices. 2ly. That they ought not to Excommunicate them in their Courts for any Temporal cause, or executing their Offices; and that the King by his special Writs may command them to absolve them if Excommunicated. 3ly. That * Royal Fishes (as Whales and Sturgeon) belong only to the Kings of England, wherever cast on shore, by vertue of their Prerogative; and that none can claim them but by special grant from the Crown; and that they ought to sue for them only in the Kings own Courts. 4ly. That in that age Abbots, Prelates, and Ecclesiastical Courts were very insolent, ingratefull, severe, and uncivil in vexing, Excommunicating the Kings Bayliffs, Sheriffs, Officers, upon every trifling occasion, without complaining first to the King, notwithstanding they claimed all their Priviledges, Royalties, Lands from the Crown. 5ly. That the King was very sensible of these affronts to him and his Officers, and industrious to redresse them by Writs out of his Temporal Courts, for the maintenance of the Rights, Prerogatives of his Crown, and encouragement of his Officers to discharge their duties.

The forementioned high-spirited Bishop Grosbeard in the second year of his Consecration, offered an high affront to the King, his Crown and Dignity, by prohibiting Clerks attached for holding Plea in the Spiritual Court of a Temporal matter, contrary to the Kings Prohibition, to appear or answer their contempts in the Kings Courts, whereupon he issued this notable Writ to him and his Justices of the Bench to maintain the Rights of his Crown against this Innovation and encroachment;

REX Venerabili Patri R. eadem gratia Lincoln, Episcopo, salutem. Ad aures nostras nuper pervenit, quod cum temporibus Prædecessorum nostrorum Regum Angliae, et tempore nostro, Clerici, qui contra Prohibitionem Regiam in placitis ad Regiam dignitatem pertinentibus processerint in foro Ecclesiastico ea occasione attachiati secundum leges et consuetudines Regni, in Curia Regia inde respondere consueverint. Nosque ea semper gavisi sumus libertate et adhuc in ejusdem possessione. Nos in grave præjudicium dignitatis Regiæ libertatem prædictam nobis intenditis auferre; non permittebimus Clericos vestros de Diocesi vestra post contemptum Prohibitionis nostræ inde in Curia nostra respondere, de quo cogimur (mirari) vehementer et moveri. As this turbulent innovating Bishop had very ill successe in these his Vsurpations upon the Crown and Subjects Liberties, and in his forementioned Visitation Oathes and Inquisitions, so he had as bad successe in the Appeals and complaints made against him to the Pope; whereupon after many months attendance and great expence of monies, despairing of successe, he returned much dammified and discontented to his Bishoprick, resolving to retire himself from the world, and desert his Bishoprick; which resolution he suspended, fearing lest the King seising upon the Temporalities, should impoverish the Bishoprick, and recommend an unworthy person to it, as Matthew Paris thus records.

Redit Episcopus
Romana;

Et circa idem solum sancti Michaelis, Episcopus Lincolniensis Robertus, cum in Curia Romana pluribus diebus cum multarum expensarum inutili profusione stetit, et conceptum propositum ad votum perficere non valeret, tristis et vacuus in Angliam remeabit. Multos tamen religiosos ut se ab ejus impetu defenderent fatigaret, et non mediocriter damnificaret. Et cum in Episcopatum suum pervenisset, videntes materiam confusionis Ecclesie universali cominus imminere, ut sibi contemplanti, oranti, & studenti liberius vacaret, exemplo instructus Episcopi Dunelmensis Nicholai, se exuens à mundanis, quibus se sæpe inutiliter illaqueaverat, Magistro Roberto de Marisco, officiali suo, curam administrationis officii sui commisit sibi competentis, proponens mundo perituro valedicere, ac cedere Episcopatu: sed timens Regias rapinas, quæ vacantes consuevit depauperare, & demum indignas personas intrudere in eisdem, sub dissimulatione, suspensio adhuc tam arcano consilio, nescius quid in tanto mundi turbine ageret, anxius expectavit.

Bonifacii.

The same year Boniface Archbishop of Canterbury being inthroned in his See (from which he had been long absent) with great pomp and state, the Bishops of his Province met together at Oxford, to compute whether he had levied the sum of money out of the First-fruits of Benefices formerly granted him by the Pope, where although they found by the Collectors of each Bishoprick, that he had received far more then the sum assigned, yet he demanded a great deal more upon pretext of his expenses, which he converted to his own profit; Episcopi igitur inviti quod exegit concesserunt, sentientes Dominum Papam sibi favozabilem. After which the Archbishop purposed to visit his Province, the better to fill his purse; which being the first Metropolitical Visitation I finde extant in our Histories, wherein he met with much opposition, I shall relate the passages thereof at large, as Matthew Paris and others report them.

Bonifacius proponit Visitationem
facere:

Diebus itaque sub eisdem, Archiepiscopus Canthariensis Bonifacius, exemplo Lincolniensis Episcopi provocatus, qui ut Canonicos suos visitaret, impetraverat potestatem, in sua Provincia Visitationem facere attemptavit, scilicet super Episcopos, Abbates, Clerum, & populum. Fecit igitur Visitationem primò in Capitulo suorum Monachorum Canthariensium rigide nimis, & immisericorditer, ut ad invicem dicerent: De eodem merito hoc patimur, quia peccavimus in prædecessorem ejus beatum Edmundum quem austerum reputavimus, & protervum: verè quæ promeruimus, toleramus, eligentes alienigenam, illiteratum, ignotum & inexpertum, bellicis plusquam spiritualibus negotiis idoneum et exercitatum. O quales habuit prædecessores, Martyres, Doctores, Autenticos, & Sanctos Dei Confessores? Heu quare in hac enormi electione, plus Regi terreno, quam quam cœlesti obedivimus? Venit igitur illinc ad Abbatiam de Reversham, cujus visitationi propter tyrannidem suam non ausi sunt ipsi pusillanimes Monachi contradicere. Inde autem venit cum magno impetu, ad Roffensem Prioratum, ubi extorsit ab illa exili domo plus quam xxx Barcas: unde constat ipsum visitationis officium plus exercere cupiditate pecuniæ, quam pro ordinis vel morum reformatione, cum sit ordinis et morum ignarus, ac literatus.

Quarto vero idus Maii, videlicet die sanctorum Pancratii sociorumque ejus, venit idem Archiepiscopus Londonium, visitaturus Episcopum & ejus capitulum, & Religiosos ipsius civitatis, & hospitium suum cepit sine alicujus licentia, in domo nobilissima Episcopi Cicestrensis, non procul à domibus Conversorum, nec descendit apud domum suam propriam apud Lambeth, & fecit marescallos suos violenter comparare cibaria sua ad formam Regis, cum minis & convitiis, & injuriis mercatoribus illatis: paucos tamen vel nullos convivas invitavit. In crastino autem visitavit Episcopum Friocensem, apud quem inverecundiam ab eodem Archiepiscopo factam, si quis enarraret tum in poculentis, tum in ferratura, scilicet equorum deferratorum, aures & animos offenderet audientium, imò & corda cruentaret. Visitato autem Capitulo Sancti Pauli London resistenter Canonici, appellantes ad Pontificem, quamobrem Decanum et alios excommunicavit.

Resistit Ecclesia S. Barth. visitationi Archi.

Et in crastino, ira adhuc tumidus, & lorica, ut perhibent, qui viderunt, sub vestibus indutus, venit ad Prioratum Sancti Bartholomæi, ut ibi Canonicos visitaret. Cui adventanti, & Ecclesiam intranti, occurrit Subprior, quia Prior tunc domi non fuerat, comitante conventu processionaliter cum solemnitate in multorum accessione Cereorum, & sonitu Campanorum: erant autem in capis chorealibus & preciosis valde, quarum preciosissimam habuit Subprior memoratus. De quo sibi exhibitio honoris non multum curavit Archiepiscopus, dixit se illuc venisse, ut ipsos Canonicos visitaret. Erant autem jam omnes Canonici in medio Ecclesiæ, scilicet in choro, ipseque Archiepiscopus cum majori parte familiæ suæ, inordinate sese compimentis. Cui respondit unus Canonicorum pro omnibus dicens, quod Episcopus haberent peritum & diligentem, qui eos habuit, cum necesse fuerat, visitare, nec voluerunt, nec debuerunt ab alio, ne contemptus videretur visitari. Quod audiens Archiepiscopus, in iram secus quam deceret conversus, irruit in Subpriorem, suæque conditionis, et suorum antecessorum sanctitatis immemor, ipsum sanctum virum sacerdotem et religiosum in medio Ecclesiæ existentem, pugno imple tum percussit, tum in pectus senile, tum in faciem venerabilem, tum in caput caput impulsit truculenter multoties, clamosa voce dicens: Sicine, sicine decet Anglicos proditores impetere; & horribilus cum juramentis irrecitabilibus delirans, gladium suum exposculavit festinanter afferens. Et cum multiplicarentur tumultus, & niterentur Canonici suum Subpriorem de manibus tam violenter opprimentis liberare; ipse Archiepiscopus capam illam preciosam qua Subprior indutus erat, dilaceravit, & firmaculum, quod vulgariter morsus dicitur, avulsit, & inter pedes catervatim irruentium conculcatum est, & amissum, quod auro & argento & gemmis fuerat preciosum. Sed & ipsa capa Nobilissima conculcata & distacta irrestaurabiliter; violabatur, nec adhuc aversus est furor Archiepiscopi. Ipsum namque virum sanctum impetu violento repellens, & retroire cogens ad unam spondam, quæ duos de stallis dividebat, & pro podio facta fuit, adeo senile corpus pressit, ut ossa cum medullis conquassaret & præcordia collideret furibundus. Ceteri autem cum tantam in Archiepiscopo viderent immoderantiam, virum seminecem de mortis confinio vix eripuerunt, oppressorem repellentes. Qui cum cecidisset rectorum, & aversa fuerunt ejus vestimenta, visa est lorica ipsius a multis manifeste, qui abhorruerunt videntes Archiepiscopus lorica tum, unde prænotificabant multi, quod non ad visitandum, vel errores corrigendum illuc venerat, sed potius ad prælium excitandum. Interim sui ministras quos habuit impetuosos sibi comprovinciales in reliquos Canonicos imbelles, inermes, & improvisos, truculenter irruerunt, & tam ipse Archiepiscopus quam sui, jussu ejus exemplo, quamplures ex eis male tractaverunt, percutiendo, dilacerando, pro-prostrando & conculcando. Venerunt igitur Canonici pedes libore et cruore deturpati, et male læsi, hirsuti, et lacerati, ad Episcopum civitatis, super tam detestabili facto gravem querimoniam cum lachrymis reponentes. Quibus ille Episcopus: Dominus Rex est apud Westmonast. adite eum hoc monstraturi, ut saltem moveat eum suæ pacis in sua principali civitate læsio tam violenta et manifesta.

Rex Angl. au-
querentes de
Arch. B.

Quatuor igitur ex ipsis Canonicis, quia cæteri non poterant præ dolore ictuum, Regis præsentiam ut adirent Westmonaster. in conspectu populi multum compatientes usque pervenerunt, monstrantes omnibus ictuum vestigia, cruorem scilicet, liborem, et tumorem, et vestes laceratas, qui tam enormem factum compatientes detestabantur. Quintus autem, videlicet Subprior memoratus, nullo modo eques vel pedes ad curiam venire valebat, sed gemibundus in infirmariam portatus, sese in lectum recipiens, reliquum ætatis protraxit in languore.
Rex autem, licet ad osium cameræ suæ diu expectasset, memoratos Canonicos querulos, nec audire voluit, nec videre. Unde eum majori confusione ad Ecclesiam, quam dictus Archiepiscopus sanguine sacerdotum et religiosorum pollutam prophanaverat, redierunt. Interim perturbata est tota civitas vehementer, et quasi seditione mota, proposuerunt civibus communem campanam pulsare, et ipsum Archiepiscopum quicquid postea contingeret, in frustra detruncare. Resonabant interim cum probris convicia, & dicebant ei ad Lambith domum suam properanti dum ipsum quererent catervatim ruentes: Ubi est ille ruptarius, percussor impius & cruentus, non animarum lucrator, sed pecuniarum exactor, quem non Deus, vel legitima vel libera promovit electio, sed Rex illicite potius intrusit, illiteratum et urozatum, et teterima de ipso infamia mota infecit totam jamjam civitatem? Et cito post transvectus clanculo per Tamesim, gravem super his cor-am Domino Rege reposuit querimoniam, justificans se, licet reum, & alios graviter accusando, & currens ad Reginam, coram ipsa reposuit gravio-rem. Rex igitur seditionem formidans vehementer, fecit voce præconia in civitate proclamari, ne aliquis super vitam & membra se de hac controversia intromitteret. Et sic spretus tam apud Canonicos S. Bartholomei quam apud S. Trinitatem, constanter appellantes, perterit Archiep. et sumens ex Regis favore cornua, apud Lambith in capella dictam sententiam in Canonicos S. Pauli latam solenniter innovabit, involvens Episcopum Londinensem tanquam fautorem cum Canonicis memoratis. Ipsi igitur Canonici undiq; læsionem et injuriam passi, sancto suo Bartholomeo cui jugiter nocte dieque servire dignoscuntur, causam hanc conquesti lachrymabiliter commiserunt, deprecantes, ut Deus ultionum Dominus, quod homo nequit, vel dissimulat, tantas dignaretur ulcisci transgressiones.

This Archbishop held this his Metropolitan Visitation (as *Groshead Bishop of Lincoln did his Episcopal before him) not by his own inherent Archiepiscopal Authority, but by the special Bulls and new Decretals of Pope Innocent the 4th. thus recorded to posterity by Matthew Paris in his Addimenta, to which his History refers us.

ROMANA, &c. Statuimus, ut quilibet Archiepiscopus suam volens visitare Provinciam, prius Ecclesie suæ Capitulum ac Civitatem, ac Diocesim propriam, plenè visitare procuret. Nec sit solum erga majorum, sed etiam minorum Ecclesiarum; nec circa Clericorum tantum, sed etiam populorum visitationem intentus. Et si commodè, vel absque difficultate accedere ad unamquamque non poterit, (as he ought of right, Acts 15. 36.) de pluribus locis ad unam congregationem Clericos & alios studeat evocare: ne in illis visitatio postponatur. Deinde liceat ei per totam Provinciam vel ejus partem, visitationis officium exercere, Civitates, & Dioceses, Suffraganeos, & eorum subditos, Cathedralium & aliarum Ecclesiarum, Monasteria, & Ecclesias, & alia Religiosa, & pia loca, Cleros, & populos, liberè visitando, ac procuratores a locis tantum recipere visitatis. Ex quo tamen aliquam de ipsis Diocesibus visitare ceperit, nunquam postea (sive totam sive partem ejus visitaverit) revertatur causa visitationis ad illam; priusquam omnes reliquæ ipsius Provincie Dioceses, in toto vel in parte (quàm scilicet secretò securè poterit) & suæ denuò fuerint ab eo visitatæ. Quod si fortè eadem Diocesis, vel aliqua ibi Ecclesia plùs aliis indigeat visitari, tunc aliarum visitatione intermissa, redeat ad eandem, si à loci Diocesano requisitus extiterit, vel de omnium aut majoris partis Episcoporum ejusdem Provincie, processerit consilio & assensu. Ad quod idem se pronos exhibeant, ne animarum profectus aliquatenus negligatur. Si verò maliciose in hiis difficultatem quamlibet adhibuerint, Archiepiscopus super hoc licentiam postulet confidenter. Postquam autem semel omnes Provincie suæ Dioceses visitaverit, licitum sit ei postea (prius tamen Suffraganeorum suorum requisito consilio) ipsius ipius definitione super hoc habita coram eis quæ in scriptis redigi volumus, ut possint esse aliis nota, visitationem per eandem Provinciam recitare, juxta modum superius annotatum. Et si non interveniat in hoc Suffraganeorum ipsorum assensus, illam semper providentiam adhibendo, ut in posterioribus visitationibus, illas Ecclesias, illosque Cleros, & populos, prius visitet qui non fuerant ab eo in prioribus visitati, nisi magis sit aliis visitationis officium oportunum. Sanè hujusmodi impensurus officium, proposito verbo Dei, quærat de vita & conversatione ministrantium in Ecclesiis, & divino cultui deputatis: ac cæteris quæ ad officium ipsum spectant, absque * contradictione et exactione qualibet Juramenti, ad ipsorum emendationem per salubria monita, nunc levia nunc aspera, juxta datam à Deo sibi prudentiam diligenter intendens. Quod si de aliquibus orta fuerit infamia contra eos, Ordinarius ipsarum, ut super hiis solenniter inquirant, denunciaret, si viderit expedire. Notoria vero crimina, quæ examinatione non tægeant, cum super hiis merito notari possit Ordinariorum negligentia, eorundem liberè corrigat; pœnam de illis debitam infligendo. Procuraciones autem recipiat, nullam autem pecuniam ipse vel aliquis de familia sua, occasione alicujus officii vel consuetudinis, seu quolibet alio modo, earum nomine, sed in victualibus tantum recipiat moderatas. Caveant insuper, ne ipse vel quisquam suorum, minus quodcumque sic vel qua iterum offeratur, presumat recipere, ut non quæ sua sunt videantur quærere, sed quæ Jesu Christi. Quod si fuerit contra præsumptum, recipiens maledictionem inveniat: a qua nunquam, nisi duplum restituat, liberetur. Volumus enim in hiis fraudem quamlibet penitus evitari.

By which Decree of this Pope it is apparent: 1. That all Archbishops and Bishops were precisely enjoined to proceed in all their Visitations, * absque exactione qualibet Juramenti, without any exaction of an Oath; wherefore Bishop Grosstheads exaction of an Oath, was directly contrary to this Decretal, and justly prohibited by the King, his Court and Council, by the premised * Writs of Prohibition, as an illegal Innovation; neither is there any mention, that Archbishop Boniface exacted any Oath in his Visitations. 2ly. That no Archbishop, Bishop, or their Officers, in such Visitations, ought to exact or receive any money, fee, or Procurations, but merely victuals, and that only from the Churches which they personally visited, under pain of Excommunication till they shall make double restitution; which how much Archbishop Boniface, other Bishops and their Officers violate, our Histories and Experience evidence.

You have heard before of the Archbishops sentence published against the Dean and Canons of St. Pauls in London, and their Appeal to Rome, upon hearing whereof the Pope issued a Bull, declaring the Archbishops sentence of Excommunication to be utterly null and void.

Et eo instantius & confidentius, quia * Episcopus Lincolniensis, qui eo minor esse dignoscitur, à Domino Papa paucis antè elapsis annis impetraverat, ut Canonicos suos Lincolniensis Ecclesiæ visitaret, multum reluctantes, et maximum thesaurum in defensione eorum inaniter effundentes. Hujus autem rei Literæ, scilicet denunciationis præcepti, in Libro Addisamentorum plenius annotantur; where they are thus registred at large.

INNO CENTIUS Episcopus, Servus servorum Dei, Dilectis filiis de Sancto Albano, & de Wauham Abbatibus, & Archidiacono Sancti Albani, Lincolniensis & Londoniensis Dioeceseos salutem, & Apostolicam Benedictionem. Ex parte dilectorum filiorum, Henrici Decani, Petri Archidiaconi, Roberti Cantoris, Magistri Gulielmi de Litchfield, Gulielmi de Faite, & Roberti dicti Monachi Canonorum Londonia fuit propositum coram nobis, quod cum venerabilis frater noster Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus ad Londoniensem Ecclesiam, impensurus in ea visitationis officium accessisset, Capitulo proponente ejusdem Ecclesie, se ac Ecclesiam suam ab ipsius jurisdictione liberos & immunes, ac ideo eundem Archiepiscopum ad visitandum admittere, sibi que procuracionis prestare obsequium recusante, idem Archiepiscopus in personas eorum ob hujusmodi ejusdem Capituli delictum excommunicationis sententiam, auctoritate propria promulgavit, quam ipsi nunciari Missam humiliter petierunt. Ad quod memoratus Archiepiscopus ex adverso respondit, quod non ob Capituli, sed predictorum Decani & aliorum delictum, eandem in eos sententiam protulisset. Ipsius autem sententie forma, in nostra & fratrum nostrorum audientia lecta fuit, cujus tenorem presentium inferi fecimus, ad cautelam, Novenerint universi, quod cum nos B. Dei gratia Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus, tunc Anglie Primas, Cantuariensi & Rossensi Civitatibus & Dioecesibus visitatis, ut venerabilem fratrem nostrum Londonie Episcopum visitassemus, descendimus ad visitandum Capitulum Cathedralis Ecclesie Sancti Pauli Londonie. Et monuimus vivam voce, ac per alios fecimus sapienter admoneri Decanum & Capitulum predictae Cathedralis Ecclesie Sancti Pauli, ut nos tanquam Metropolitanum suum, secundum formam a jure traditam, ad exercendum visitationis officium in sua Ecclesia admitterent reverenter. Quod ipse Decanus & Capitulum facere in humanitate denegarunt; affirmantes vivam voce coram nobis, quod nullatenus nos reciperent ad predictum visitationis officium exercendum: & venientes clausa ostia chori atque Capituli, ubi volebamus proponere Verbum Dei, manifeste impediverunt nos verbo & facto, ne possemus ibidem officii nostri debitum exercere. Et quamdiu in corpore ipsius Ecclesie Sancti Pauli fuimus presentes, divina laudis organa pro sua voluntatis libito suspenderunt; in manifestam injuriam, & grave prejudicium Cantuariensis Ecclesie, ac animarum periculum & scandalum plurimorum. Nos igitur offensam hujusmodi manifestam, nolumus, sicut nec debemus relinquere impunitam; ne ceteri exemplo similem assumant audaciam resistendi: premissa competenti monitione, quia nos ab exercendo visitationis officio tam temere & inhumaniter repulerunt, nec nobis super hoc parere & satisfacere curaverunt, Henricum Decanum, Petrum Archidiaconum, Robertum Cantorem Londonie, Magistrum Gulielmum de Lichefeldia, Gulielmum la Faite, & Robertum dictum Monachum, Canonicos Londonie, qui irreverenter se opponerant, & presentes aderant, & quos in hujusmodi contumacia rebellione & contradictione, evidenter nobis constabat esse culpabiles: auctoritate omnipotentis Dei, & beatorum Apostolorum Petri & Pauli, & beatissimi patroni nostri Sancti Thomae Martyris gloriosi, in scriptis Excommunicamus, et Excommunicatos fore publice nunciamus. Actum Londonie in predicta Ecclesia Sancti Pauli, die Martis post Ascensionem Domini, Anno ejusdem 1250.

Auditis igitur & plenius intellectis, quae a partibus fuisse proposita hinc inde, nos praemissa verba sententie perspicaci discretionis examine ponderantes, ac volentes super hoc prolixae concertationis materiam quae in utriusque partis protelaretur dispendium, remedio salubris compendii remove: de predictorum fratrum consilio pronunciando decrevimus, praedictam sententiam quatenus in praedictos Henricum Decanum, Petrum Archidiaconum, Robertum Cantorem, & alios Canonicos Londonie, propter delictum memorati Capituli noscitur promulgata, nullam penitus extitisse, ipsosque per eam aliquo vinculo non teneri, nec per denunciationem ipsius notandos esse aliquatenus vel visitandos. Super eo vero, quod idem proponit Archiepiscopus, se in eos propter delictum ipsorum dictam sententiam protulisse, ipsum sicut de jure fuerit audiemus. Ideoque discretioni vestrae per Apostolica scripta mandamus, quatenus praedictae sententie denunciations, quas ut dicitur contra præfatos Decanum & alios fieri facit Archiepiscopus supradictus, quatenus in prædictos Canonicos Londonie ob delictum Capituli est prolata, faciat omnino cassare: Contradictores auctoritate nostro, appellatione postposita, compescendo. Quod si non omnes hiis exequendis poteritis interesse, duo vestrum nihilominus exequantur. Datum Lugduni, quinto Calendas Octobris, Pontificatus nostri anno octavo.

This year there were extraordinary Tempests, stormes and inundations of the Sea in England and sundry other places, which Matthew Paris relating at large, makes this inference from them, that they were signs of Gods extraordinary indignation for the unspeakable enormities and injustice of the See of Rome.

The same year, the Pope having a design to remove to Burdeaux, then under King Henry the third his Dominion, and from thence into England, and sending solemn Nuncios to King Henry for this purpose, he was thereupon put to a great dilemma, to avoid the Popes displeasure on the one hand, and manifold inconveniences of granting his request which would accrue to his Crown and Subjects, on the other hand; which he thought best to evade by delays.

Mat. Paris
Hist. p. 777.
Papa cupit apud Burdegali-
um commorari.

Tempore quoque sub eodem, missis solennibus nunciis, Dominus Papa postulavit Dominum Regem Angliæ, ut liceret ei saltem apud Burdegali civitatem suam in Gasconia commorari. Fratres enim Domini Regis Francorum eum districtè conveniant, rogantes ex parte dicti Regis & sua, ut pacem iniret cum Frederico humiliato, & satisfactionem Ecclesiæ humiliter offerenti, sicut honorem universalis Ecclesiæ diligebat. Imponebant etiam illi dicti Regis fratres, videlicet Pisavia & Provincia Comites, quod per Papæ avaritiam totum evenit infortunium memoratum. Ipse enim Papa cruce signatos, ne in succursum Regis advenirent, per cuncta corruptus impedivit, et absolvit a voto suæ peregrinationis, quos paulo antè per suos misit prædicatores & minores cruce signavit. Pre-

tere cruce signatos Comiti &c. et aliis vendit Pagnatibus, sicut olim Judai consueverunt, oves et columbas in Templo vendere, quos Deum legimus in Evangelio ita punitos eiecisse. His autem persuasionibus, difficilem se Papa exhibuit & inexorabilem, unde durius verbis & litigiosis Dominus Papa & dicti Comites ab invicem recesserunt, & versus Angliam ire maturaverunt, ut Dominum Anglorum Regem persuaderent, quatenus ad succursum Francorum Regis praesentiam suam desiderantis & expectantis, secundum votum suum, sicut honorem Christi desideravit, properaret.

Arctabatur igitur Rex Anglia vehementer, quod si pateret vias Papae, fratrem suum Ethelmarum Papa offensum minimè promoveret: si sinum panderet ei refugium, Fredericum, per cujus terras necesse transire habet peregrinaturus, in iram provocaret. Francis quoque non placeret. Praeterea, quod multum prudentiores Anglia perterriti, si Papa in Burdegali commoraturus reciperetur, posset in brevi tempore per navigium in Angliam navigare, et illam praesentia sua deteriorare, et ut timetur, coinquinare. Qui enim sentiant illam suis corrumpi Caecis usurariis, magis formidabant ipsam sua Curia, si praesens esset, quod absit, maculari. (Such a dangerous, unclean, unwelcome guest was his Holiness then reputed, even in time of Popery to his Ghostly Sons, that they would rather have his room than company.) Ideo super hoc propensius consilium Regis protelabatur.

The Bishops and Clergy of the Province of Canterbury, to avoid the turbulent Visitation and Exactions of Archbishop Boniface, made a Tax and Collection to defray the Expenses of their Appeals and oppositions against him in the Court of Rome, which our Historians thus relate.

Episcopi Anglia interim cognoscetes ex dicti Episcopi (Lincolniensis) relationibus, nuper a Curia Romana redeuntis, & aliorum, quos miserant, procuratorum & exploratorum suorum, quod Archiepiscopus Cantuariensis laqueos damnosos ipsis parare moliebatur, pecuniam, ad expensas in Curia Romana effundendas, collegerunt: quae pecunia interveniente, more arundinis ventis agitata, huc illucque flecti consuevit. Acceperunt igitur à beneficiatis, de qualibet Marca duos denarios. Gravè enim erat, quod postulavit exactor memoratus, videlicet visitationem et procuratorem totius Cleri et populi in sua, quae ampla fuit, Provincia. Quae propter hoc magis angebat universos, quod constat ipsum Archiepiscopum morum & scientiae mendicum, ad ipsam visitationem, non propter religionis augmentum, vel morum reformationem, sed propter emolumenta turpia, et jam absconsecta, certius inhiare; As most usually did in such Visitations.

Diebus quoque sub eisdem, Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus cauteriatam suam sentiens conscientiam super enormi facto quod Londini perpetraverat, maxime in Ecclesia Sancti Bartholomaei, missis clanculo nunciis, tam comminationibus quam blanditiis, & tam ex parte Regis & Reginae, quam ipsius Archiepiscopi vocem querulam Canonorum suppressit. Moreover, Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus perpendens, quod ex enormi facto, quod Londini in Ecclesia Canonorum Sancti Bartholomaei perpetraverat, infamiae & scandalorum sctor sulfureus totius Regionis infecerat latitudinem, missis caute nunciis, clamorem eorum blanditiis & promissis, admixtis comminationibus, suppressit. Ipsi igitur tum quia pauperes, tum quia potens erat Archiepiscopus, seipsum etiam manifestè culpabilem justificare, in patientia sua animas suas possidentes, siluerunt, Deo & beato Bartholomaeo causam suam commendantes.

Tempore quoque sub eodem, Archiepiscopus Cantuariensis Bonifacium comperiens quod Decanus Sancti Pauli, concomitantibus quibusdam ejusdem Ecclesiae Canonis, & eorum quos laeserat procuratoribus, consilio Legistarum animatus, & Regis Literis & protectione armatus, necnon & generis sui potentiae confusus, ut fortior fieret in tyrannide, per Papalem auctoritatem, Curiam Romanam abiit, in magna pompa et apparatu transfretavit. Bonifacius being at Rome, verissimas contra se commotiones paratas intelligens, adversarios tam Regis ac Reginae, quam suo nomine partim minis, partim blanditiis compevit.

Deinde ut Provinciam Cantuariensem ad nutum suum in perpetuum prostraret, egit cum Papa, de visitationis suæ jure ejus auctoritate firmando; quod cum intellexissent Suffraganei, pecuniam grandem ad suppeditandos in jure sumptus in Turia Romana (quæ, pecunia interveniente, mox arundinis ventis agitata, huc illucque flecti consuevit) confababant. What the issue of his Journy, and the contests between him and his Suffragans was before the Pope, * Matthew Westminster thus summarily relates. Tandem post multas hinc inde expensarum effusiones, & laborum diversas vexationes, determinatum est, ut suam Archiepiscopus (secundum jus commune) rationabilis & tolerabilis exerceret jurisdictionem, & sic visitationem prosequeretur, sub diffinita modificatione, & mora cessavit tempestas: of which more afterwards.

What Jurisdiction and Interest King Henry the 3d. claimed and exercised this year in the election, confirmation of Bishops, and disposition of Bishopricks, these ensuing passages will inform us.

Eodemque anni tempore, obiit Episcopus Roffensis. Cujus loco Monachi Roffenses elegerunt Magistrum Laurentium de Sancto Martino, Domini Regis Clericum & Consiliarium specialem, ne si forte alium elegerint, se Rex electioni opposuisset. He got a Dispensation from the Pope to hold all his former Livings in Commendam with his Bishoprick, a practice newly invented.

Eodemque anno, circa festum Sancti Matthæi, apud Turonim obiit Episcopus Wintoniensis Willielmus; qui, ut sibi parceret in expensis, ibidem circiter undecim mensibus moram cum castigata familia continuaverat. Obligabatur enim Episcopus ejus debitis inestimabilibus contra Papam, ex illo tempore excrecentibus, quo Dominus Rex ipsum Episcopum persequendo ab Anglia exturbaverat. Cui finem consolationis Dominus Papa optime remuneratus tunc pandebat, ut præscriptum est. Facta igitur pace cum Papa, & Rege incurvato, ut pecuniam pactam citius coacervaret, qua Ecclesiam suam liberaret, solitam rescidit mensæ dapilitatem & familiæ numerositatem. Moriturus igitur, cum viaticum salutis videret afferri, cum in ostio intrans Sacerdos, Eucharistiam bajularet, ait, Expecta amice, Dignum est, ut Dei mei proditor obviam ei trahar, & merito ut detractor: & sic manibus ministrorum, qui ei obtemperaverunt, obviam Corpori Christi tractus, cum lachrymis & contritione viaticum assumpsit salutare. Et sic in timore Dei spiritum contritum exhalavit.

Quod cum Dominus Rex audisset, lætas querelas ac breves cum siccis lachrymis emittens, omni quo potuit statim nisu conabatur, ut in loco ipsius frater ejus Æthelmarus, licet ordine, ætate, et scientia insufficientis, substituere-
tur. Misit igitur illico duos de præcipuis Clericis suis quos noverat ad omnem suggestionem sagacissimos, Wintoniam cum Literis ejus, ut accumulantes blanditias minis & promissis, animos Monachorum Ecclesiæ Cathedralis, ad quos pertinet electio, ad hoc inclinarent, ut ipsum Æthelmarum omnes in Episcopum postularent, & suarum Pastorem animarum. Et qui ad hoc mittebantur fuerant Johannes Mansell, & Petrus Chacepore, Clerici, qui ut desiderium Regis effectui manciparent, summam diligentiam adhibuerunt, & quamplurimum Monachorum corda enervarunt, ut eundem Æthelmarum postularent in Præsulem. Postularent, inquam, quia ad Præsulatus culmen omnino fuerat insufficientis et ineptus. Deinde elapsis circiter quindecim diebus, quibus quotidie dicti Clerici instantissime elaboraverant, ut eorum qui in Conventu constantiores videbantur, ad Regis terrenti, sperto Regis coelestis timore, voluntatem incurvarentur, venit ipse Rex Wintoniam, & illico ad Ecclesiam Sancti Swithini, videlicet Cathedralem accedens, quasi Episcopus vel Prior venit in Capitulum, et ascendens sedem Præfidentis, Sermonem sedens huic inchoavit, sibi thema præfigendo.

Justitia & pax osculata sunt invicem, &c. & continuans sermonem, addidit: Ad me et Reges alios, necnon et Principes et Justitiariorum nostros, qui habent mediante Justitia populos gubernare, pertinet rigor Judicii et Justitiæ. Ad vos autem, qui estis pacis homines & religionis alumni, pertinet pax & tranquillitas. Hodie autem, quia ut audivi, petitioni meæ, ut veni sit vobis, vobis, favorabiles vos feliciter exhibuistis, Justitia & pax osculatur sunt. Quod est dictum: Aliquando vobis mihi rebellibus in postulatione Willielmi de Rale, Episcopi vestri jam defuncti, mihi non accepti, gravis extiteram: nunc autem vobis favorabilis factus sum amicissimus, & memor vestra benignitatis, gratissimus impensor vicissitudinis. Præterea, constans est per mulierem primo ruinam mundo evenisse, & per mulierem remedium. Similiter in casu præfenti, ut uxori meæ, scilicet Regina, avunculum suum Willielmum electum Valentinum promovere in hunc Episcopatum desideranti, satisfacere, vos aliquando sollicitans inquietavi, & inquietando damnificavi: nunc autem ego, nimirum volens fratrem meum interinum promovere, qui ratione mulieris, scilicet Regina Isabellæ matris nostræ, mihi indubitanter sanguine fraterno conjungitur, vobis reconciliabor, vosque & Ecclesiam vestram efficaciter promovebo, & præcordialis amicitia brachiis amplexabor. Cæterum, libra rationis debetis non ultimum ponderare, quod in hac Civitate natus fui, & in hac Ecclesia baptizatus: unde majoris dilectionis mihi vinculis astringimini, nec debetis quomodolibet meæ voluntati contraire, sed in omnibus prompta devotione obsecundare. Nec vacat à causa consensus gratissimi, quod idem frater meus Ethelmarus postulandus Ecclesiam istam, velut Sol, radiis suæ Regalis generositatis, quæ fulget ex parte genitricis, & præclari sanguinis, quo pollet ex parte genitoris, & suæ gratissima benignitatis & juvenutis, qua Deo complacet & hominibus, per longa tempora, ut speramus, illustrabit. Ite igitur in pace, et inito consilio cito revertentes, sine alicujus contradictionis scrupulo, pium propositum nostrum, de quo mihi spem dedistis, palam coram me & omnibus electum, vel postulatam vestram communi assensu Ethelmarum fratrem meum sciliciter nominetis. Et in calce sermonis superaddidit, quod si ipsos Monachos persuasionibus suis rebelles inveniret, profecto confunderet universos: secundum illud Poëticum;

— Stricto supplicat ense potens.

Monachi igitur sedentes, in arcto positi, super his diligenter conferentes, pristinas tribulationes, quas pro Will. electo Val. graves, & graviores pro postulatione Will. Episcopi eorum jam defuncti, perpeffi sunt, memoriter recitarunt, dicentes: Ecce preces Domini Regis armatæ, quibus contradicere grave est ac nimis formidabile, ac Ecclesiæ nostræ periculosum! Papa enim Regi in omnibus obtemperat, & quia in arcto positus, Principes offendere vitat & formidat. Unde si secundum idoneam personam aliam quam fratrem suum eligeremus vel postularem, Rex in iram, imò furorem versus, factum nostrum, licet sanctum Petrum, si superstes esset, constitueremus, cassando, nos persequeretur. et si hinc Regem haberemus inimicum, et inde Papam qui corruptibilis est, potenter adversantem, quasi inter duas molas contritis, immineret confusio cum ruina inconsolabili. Præterea, postquam Will. Episcopum Norwicensem in Episcopum nostrum promovendo postulavimus, & colla nostræ ejus jugo, Rege invito & constanter contradicente, & nos opprimente, supposuimus, idem W. postquam plenam adeptus est potestatem, nos licet indigena & legum terræ peritus, & quæ sperabimus per omnia Deo placitum, & nobis frugalem, immisericorditer persequabatur, & irreversibiliter damnificavit, acceptorum immemor beneficiorum, & innumerabilium quas pro eo toleravimus injuriarum. Unde incatcerabamur capti, tracti & fustigati, fame affecti, cruentati, & quasi fures compediti. In quem igitur de cætero poterimus confidere, in quem sperare? in quo salutem expectare? Hinc Scyllam, illinc Charybdem formidamus imminentem. Si autem hoc egerimus, mors nobis est: si autem non egerimus, manus Regias non effugiemus. Præter hæc etiam, quod nos debet merito deterrere, si memoratum Ethelmarum in Episcopatum promoveamus, semper erit electus, non Episcopus, quod nunquam contigit huic Ecclesiæ, nec utinam contingat. Item forte impetrabit a Papa, ut remaneant sibi electo, quos jam obtinet, redditus infiniti. Quid enim his temporibus non obtinent et impetrant in curia Romana, munera effundentes? Quod si hoc, nulli in Angliæ in divitiis & potestate præterquam vix Regi secundus existeret, & tunc poterit, si placuerit, sed utinam Missit igitur Dominus Rex nuncios solennes & eloquentes qui bene norunt tam Papam quam Cardinales ad suum incurvare propositum, ad Romanam curiam, ut ipsam Papam super hoc arduo negotio, Domino Regi tam placido & præcordiali, convenirent, & ad assensum tam prece quam pretio vigilanter inclinarent.

Littere Regis Angliæ querule ad Papam.

Proh dolor, ut quid mundi languor amplius protelatur, quoniam exularunt pax & iustitia, de quibus Rex sermonis ac prædicationis suæ sumpsit exordium? Ubinam libera electio? Pax Ecclesiæ quam inviolabiliter juravit Rex tenere in coronatione sua primitiva? Heu, heu, modo contemptis Regni naturalibus, viris sanctis, literatis & religiosis, intruduntur alieni, honore quolibet indigni, literarum & idiomatis Anglicani penitus ignari, confessionibus, prædicationibus omnino inutiles, nec compositi, nec moribus informati, pecuniæ extortores, animarum contemptores. Quondam sancti viri, religiosi, et literati, spiritu sancto cooperante et revelante, ad Cathedras, licet renitentes, trahabantur, quas per fas aulici, tribuales, vel barbari occupant violenter. Omnes jam domus, ad quas electio pertinet Pontificalis quam Conventuales, cum vacantes ad manus Regis devolvantur, quæ utique manus defensiva esse teneretur & protectiva prædæ patent & rapinæ. O Papa patrum pater, ut quid permittis Christianorum climata talibus inquinari? Merito igitur, merito ab urbe et sede pulsus propria, tanquam et profugus alter Cain cogaris exulare: prosperantur hostes tui Fredericales: fugis fugantes, et qui te persequuntur, sunt vesoces et potentes. Ubique in tibi subjectos tua bulla fulgurat, sed viscescit apud rebelles. Ubique suspensis a beneficiorum collationibus prælatis, jubentur fieri provisiones, sed indignis, barbaris, et ignotis qui ab ovibus obilis dominici lac querentes, carnes, et velleræ tondent, radunt, excoriant eas et eviscerant. Nec alicui a patris patribus indulata privilegia possunt suffragari. Inter cæteras quoque nationes et regiones, Anglia ubi, ut nobis mundus, plus viget fides Christiana, visus concutitur, suisque bonis et laboribus opprimente Papa spoliatur. Nullus ei, si ipsa cuiuslibet sit prædoni. Ubinam scitur Anglicus aliquis redditum habere in patribus Romæ, Italiæ, Fannæ, vel regnorum aliorum, cum tales in Anglia rapiant universa. O Deus ultionum Domine, quando exarces ut fulgur gladium, ut cruore talium inebrietur: profecto peccata nostra nobis gravamina merito talia præpararunt.

Ethelmar going to Rome with the Kings Letters of recommendation, by his great friends and money obtained from the Pope not only a confirmation of his election, but likewise a dispensation to hold all his former Rents and Benefices, notwithstanding his youth, want of learning, and insufficiency for so great a Cure of souls.

Anno Dom. 1250. Circa idem tempus, (Calend. Martii) confirmatus est in Episcopatum Wintoniensem à Domino Papa Ethelmarus frater Domini Regis uterinus, non obstantibus iuventute et literarum ignorantia, et omnimoda ad tantam dignitatem, et tot animarum regimen insufficientia. Concessa est etiam eidem a Domino Papa tanta gratia, ut prius obtentos redditus retineret. Procurabit enim hæc omnia urgeter, Domini Regis vigil diligentia. Sed ne videretur Dominus Papa in Gerilli littoze, sine messis utilitate seminasse, illico erexit à Rege provideri filio Comitiss Burgundia puerulo, in redditu quingentarum marcarum. So as he gained on all hands by this bargain.

Laurentius de S. Martino Bp. elect of Rocheſter, obtained the like confirmation and dispensation with Ethelmar: Quibus concessum est, et per aliquot annos sequentes redditus prius obtentos retinere. Et sic jam in consuetudinem et usum hæc abusus suscitatur, ut quis ad Episcopatum vocatus, non Episcopus permaneat, sed electus, ut scilicet pastoz non pascat, sed pascatur. Et ut Episcopatus prius redditus retineat, ut multiforme monstrum habeatur. Et ut aliquis Episcopus ad alium Episcopatum distiozem postulatus, transferatur, ut una Ecclesia, alterius peller habeatur. An unsufferable abuse, continuing ever since without redresse, to the great scandal of Religion, and prejudice of the peoples souls.

In the mean time, as Matthew Paris observes, * Fuit autem Dominus Rex ad natale Domini apud Wintoniam. Et quia sedes Episcopalis vacabat, & ad eandem postulatus fuerat Ethelmarus frater ejus, ut prædictum est, cohibuit manus rapaces, ne bona distraheret Episcopatus, ut solebat. Veruntamen quia ægrè dediscitur usus, sylvas præcepit abscidi & vendi, & inde pecuniam ærario suo addi accumulandam, licet satis diceretur ei, quod peregrinatoris & Deo militaturis, talis rapina nullatenus fuerat profutura.

The Bishop of London being involved in the Archbishops * premised excommunication, he thereupon Anno 1250. made these propositions to the Archbishop for an amicable accord between him and the rest of his Diocefans, who refused to embrace them.

Ad hoc quod Dominus Archiepiscopus monet Dominum Londinensem, ut Mandatum suum directum Priori sanctæ Trinitatis revocet, petit Dominus Londinensis, ut exhibeatur ei illud mandatum, in quo si fuerit aliquid corrigendum vel revocandum, paratus est illud facere quatenus fuerit de jure faciendum.

Petit Dominus Londinensis, ut idem unà cum ipso eligant quatuor viros probos, fide dignos & Jurisperitos, & ipse unà cum quinto comuniter electo, audiant rationes Domini Episcopi, pro se & subditis suæ Ecclesiæ, & rationes Domini Cantuariensis, circa factum visitationis, & terminent negotium (si fieri possit) cum pace. Et si non conveniant in unam sententiam, consulant Dominum Papam, & expectetur ejus diffinitio.

Aliter. Petit Dominus Episcopus, quod Dominus Archiepiscopus de facto revocet quod de facto fecit, circa Sententias suas, per legitimas appellationes præventas, & medio tempore, quiescat ab executione visitationis insolite, & faciat Convocationem de tractibus Coepiscopis, & habito consilio eorum & deliberatione cum ipsis, fiat provisio quid faciendum sit, cum justitia, pace & honesta ipsius Archiepiscopi & subditorum. Et ipse Episcopus cum subditis suis: Et si fuerit dissensio inter Episcopos, promittit pro se, quod majori & saniori parti adharebit.

Aliter. Petit Dominus Londinensis, quod facta revocatione sententiarum suarum (sicut superius petiit) Dominus Archiepiscopus procedat ad visitationem reliquorum Episcoporum provincie, sicut fecit in visitatione personarum: & subditos su-

os dimittat in pace, donec Dominus Papa consultus, post audita & intellecta gravamina Ecclesiarum, ordinet expressè quid sit in talibus finaliter agendum.

Notandum quoque, quod præcisè denegavit Archiepiscopus tam Episcopo quam Canonicis, copiam sui Autentici.

xit fratres suos.

What Arguments induced the Bishop of London to make these Propositions, is thus related at large by Matthew Paris the year following. * Verum Rex in honores Ecclesiasticos, alienos indignos procuravit vigilantè sublimari, & sublimatos contra Anglos armare & animare, & in causis defendere ventilatis. Scripserat namque Rex Domino Papæ devotissimè supplicans, ut favorabilis esset Archiepiscopo Canuariensi Bonifacio, in causa quæ inter ipsum & Prælatos Angliæ vertebatur, & maximè inter ipsum Archiepiscopum, & Episcopum, & Canonicos Londinenses, ut nullo modo Archiepiscopus à suo frustraretur desiderio: (were it right or wrong, just or unjust.)

Londinensis.

Hæc autem satis sagaci considerationis acie perpendens Episcopus Londinensis, quem nuper enormiter injuriando Archiepiscopus Excommunicaverat, et Excommunicatum longe lateque fecit denunciari, ait infra se: Honor Angliæ in præcipiti declinat; Archiepiscopus me, & omnes Anglos persequitur. Alienigena indigenam & sanguine Nobilium Anglorum insignitum. Si igitur Rex occasionem in me & genus meum saviendi haberet, ad hoc insurgeret laus & festinus, & meos consanguineos bonis suis quomodolibet spoliaret, & eisdem bonis alienos locupletaret. Et sic in Angliâ mala malis possent accumulari. His igitur subtiliter pensatis incommotis, quali inter duas molas contritus, angustabatur, hinc honor & causa Ecclesiæ suæ, hinc impetus Regalis iracundiæ, ipsum hinc inde distrahebant. Tandem verò, ut minus malum subiret, prælegit, quamvis læsus & quamvis passus injuriam, ad tempus humiliari, & jurare stare provisioni Archiepiscopi licet adversantis, potius quam Regalis impetus discrimen experiri: & sic absolutus est à sententia qua innodabatur, admirantibus multis quod illius Prophetici comminatio non timebatur: Va qui justificatus impium, &c. But what would not carnal fears, self ends, and worldly respects then induce our English Prelates to do, both against their Judgements, Consciences, and Churches Interests, in that age of wonders? For Matthew Paris and Matthew Westminster conclude this year 1250. with many strange remarkable observations, out of which I shall only abstract what is most pertinent to my subject matter, omitting the rest.

25. Quinquagenæ consummatæ à tempore gratiæ.

Completo igitur hoc anno, jam fluxerunt de tempore gratiæ viginti quinque quinquagenæ annorum, id est, mille, ducenti, & quinquaginta. Notandum autem est, & non leviter attendendum, quod in nulla illarum quinquagenarum, scilicet 24. sicut in ista ultima quinquagena, quæ jam præterit, videlicet vigesima quinta, tot mirabilia, et insolitæ novitates ebenerunt, ut in ista ultima. Et sunt quidam & multi historiarum scriptores, & diligentes inspectores, qui dicunt, quod nec in omnibus aliis quinquagenis visa sunt tot prodigia et novitates admirandæ, sicut in hac jam terminata. Et his tamen majora cum formidine expectantur.

Mirabilia ultimæ Quinquagenæ.

In hac enim, prædicante Magistro Olivero, in partibus Germaniæ, apparuit omnibus manifestè Christus crucifixus in aëre: (by the Popes persecuting, excommunicating, deposing the Emperor, and encouraging his Subjects with other Christians to take up the sign of the Cross to raise Souldiers, Armies, Monies to murder and destroy him, as worse then any Saracen.) Recessit Græcia Ecclesiæ a subjectione Romanæ Ecclesiæ, propter ejusdem Romanæ Ecclesiæ varias enormitates, maxime in usuris, Symoniis, justitiæ venditionibus, et aliis injuriis intolerabilibus. Angliæ Interdictum passa est per annos circiter septem: Regnum quoque Angliæ per tantundem fere temporis, bellum toleravit intestinum. Tandemque per inertiâ Regis Johannis, tunc regnantis, facta est Tributaria. Idem Rex Johannes Normanniam, & multas alias terras ultramarinas amisit: Angliam & Hiberniam, Innocentio 3. Papæ jure Tributario subjugavit. Idem Rex Anglorum Johannes, juxta quorundam prophetias quando obiit, nihil terræ pacifice possedit, unde extorris dicebatur. Privilegia autem Sanctorum Patrum Romanorum suo robore præstantur præbantur et auctoritate, p̄r hanc adjectionem (non obstante) non * sine eorum injuria et contemptu. Permissum est uni personæ fructus plu-rium Episcopatum recipere, permissumque est alicui, in Episcopatum promoti, pristinos redditus prius obtentos retinere. Prohibentur, et postea pecunia in-terueniente, permittuntur aliqui plures Ecclesias habere, et legiti-mantur spuris. Prohibitum est ne quis Ecclesiæ Patri immediate succedat, sine Papali dispensatione, vel illegitimus ad dignitatem promoveatur. Otto Imperator Romanorum, persequente Innocentio tertio Papa, miseram passus est ruinam in p̄sso, victus, excommunicatus, et cassatus. Otto et Fredericum, Papæ rebelles Imperatores, confunduntur: quibus prostratis culmen emarcuit Imperiale. Papa duos in apicem Imperii promovere conabatur; Sed antequam ele-varentur elisit eos Dominus, videlicet Henricum de Rassen, Landegravium de Hassia & Thuringia, & Comitem Sowartzenburgi, ac Gulielmum Comitem Hollan-dia, &c. Gulielmus tamen cepit infra memoratam quinquagenam elevari, sed cito post perfit interfectus. Captus est, et totus exercitus ejus dissipatus.

 Concilium generale bis celebratum, Roma scilicet, & Lugduni: In ultimo, cassatus est Imperator Romanorum Fredericus. In mari * non procul à Janna captus est Otto Cardinalis, quondam Legatus in Angliā, cum pluribus Archiepiscopis, Episcopis, Abbatibus, Prælati, & Jannensibus, è quibus multi sunt submersi. Papa velut exul et ab Arce expulsi aut fugitivus, aut latitans, moratur Agnania et Perussi, persequente Frederico Imperatore. Qui imposuit ei, quod cum Deo militaret in Terra Sancta, Imperium nitebatur occupare. Templarii quoque ex odio Papali sumentes occasionem, eum voluerunt Soldano tradere Babylonie. Post obitum Gregorii Papæ, vacavit sedes Papalis per annum & novem menses. Tres Apostolici viri sederunt infra duos annos. Unus quoque Cardinalis omnibus præstantior Cardinalibus, Anglicus natione, Magister scilicet Robertus de Sumercota, de quo timebant alii, ne in Papam eligeretur, in palatio, quod Regia solis dicitur, dum de electione tractaretur, obiit, invi-dia, ut dicitur, stimulante suffocatus. Tandem electus Sinebaldus Cardinalis, qui & dictus Innocentius quartus, sequens sui prædecessoris vestigia, ipsum Im-peratorem Fredericum excommunicavit; fugiens igitur de loco ad locum ejus persecutionem, tandem venit Lugdunum, ibi tutius latita-vit. Ille tamen nullatenus flagellum Domini castigantis recognoscens, Ecclesiam plus gravabat quam antecessores ejus univessos (addes Matthew Westminster.) Lugduni Concilio generali celebra-to, (Papa) ipsum Fredericum Imperatorem deposuit, et extorta ab Ecclesiæ Prælati impudenter infinita pecunia Landegravium de Du-ringa, et postea Willielmum Comitem Hollandia, nitebatur promovere in Imperium. Sed uno mortuo alio victo, minime profecit in proposito. Usurarii, qui nomine Christiano censebantur, dicti Caurfni, Papæ tolerante primo, et postea manifeste protegente, (cum sit usura in utroq; testamento condemnata.) Permissi sunt in Angliā, ibiq; receptacula et pacem inveniunt, et jam quasi licite, ut habitent Christiani usurarii inter Christianos; Et se sine rubore, mercatores vel escam-biatores nominant Papæ. Suspenduntur Prælati a collationibus beneficiorum, donec satisfiat avaritiæ Papali, de indignis barbaris suis, pro quibus scribit ut eis provideatur in quantum duxerint acceptandum; qui nunquam in Angliā apparuerunt, nec de animarum custodia quicquam curaverunt. Plurium ordinum fratres secatent, nunc Predica-tores, nunc Minores, nunc Cruciferi, nunc Carmelitani. In Alemannia autem, mulierum continentium, quæ se Beginas volunt appellari, multitudo surrexit innumerabilis, adeo ut solam Coloniam mille vel plures inhabitarent. Predicatores vero & Minores, primo vitam pauperem & sanctissimam deducentes, prædicationibus, con-fessionibus, divinis in Ecclesia obsequiis, lectionibus & studiis penitus intendebant, paupertatem voluntariam pro Deo, relictis multis redditibus, amplectentes, nihil in victualibus usque in crastinum sibi reservantes. Sed infra paucos annos sese sollicitè instaurabant, ædificia sumptuosa nimis construentes. Papa insuper de ipsis licet invidiis, suos fecit telonarios nuncios, et multiformes pecuniarum Papalium exactores, et sedulos collectores, prædicando, cruce signando, et iterum facto sine resumendo: infirmis morituris et testamenta condituris assistendo; Omnia ad commodum Domini Papæ diligentes negotiatores, multimodis armati potestatibus, convertebant. Videbatur igitur tempus innovari, de quo plenus spiritus sanctorum omnium factus, in principio regulæ suæ commemorat. Benedictus, ubi de generibus diversorum tractat Monachorum. Nec est ipsius Sancti Benedicti, vel beati Augustini, à suæ principio constitutionis per tantum temporis ordo retrogressus, &c. Nobilis sedes & Ecclesia Cantuarie, tot sanctorum prædecessorum Archipræsulum illustrata sanctitate, à penitus insufficiente, Rege intrudente, occupatur, Ecclesiarum vacantium fructus primi anni, per totam ejus Provinciam per spaciū septem annorum emungente, eodem et multos opprimente, exemplo Lincolniensis Episcopi provocatus, qui super Canonicos suos renitentes potestatem visitandi impetrabit. Saracenis hoc ultimo hujus quadragesimo annorum ad votum triumphantibus, totus Christianorum exercitus (propheta doloꝝ) trucidatur in Egypto, ex omni Francia, Templi, Hospitalis, Sanctæ Maria Theutonicorum, & Sancti Lazari, constans nobilitate. Ubi etiam captus est cum duobus fratribus, Pictavia & Provincia Comitibus, pius Francorum Rex Lodovicus. Willielmus quoque Longa spata, cum multis Anglie Nobilibus, ibidem interiit interfectus. Roberto fratre dicti Regis, Comite scilicet Atrebatensi, fugiente de prælio & submerso. Papa et tota Turia Romana, eo quod cruce signati venduntur, et absoluti pro pecunia absoluntur, et multiformiter retardantur, gratiam tam Cleri quam populi diutim amisit. Tota Christianitas ex odio et discordia inter ipsum Papam et Fredericum exortis, bellis suscitatis perturbatur, et Ecclesia universalis periclitatur, &c.

To omit the several prodigies and distempers of all the four Elements this year, which he there musters up as sad Omens of Gods indignation for the Popes and Clergies unparallel'd sinnes and corruptions; he subjoynes, Obiit insuper super mundi Fredericus, die sancto Lucia, in Apulia: being there once poysoned by the Popes instigation, & not dying presently thereof, he endeavoured to poyson him the 2. time, by Peter de Vineis, his bosome friend, had it not been discovered. The manner whereof is thus recorded by Mat. Paris.

Mat. Paris Hist.
p. 739. Imperator
F. lethiferum pot onem

Eodem Anno (1250.) Fredericus, ut Dominum Papam invaderet, rediit in Apuliam, ut dicitur potionatus. Qui cum graviter infirmaretur, consilium habuit à suis Physicis ut purgationem medicinalem, & postea quoddam balneum ad hoc specialiter præparatum, acciperet. Habuit autem magister Petrus de Vinea, qui ipsius Frederici familiarissimus consiliarius & singularis animæ illius custos fuerat, quendam Physicum secum, qui ex præcepto Frederici quam ipsius Petri, ad purgationem dictam necessaria præparaturus, subdolis accessit: de consilio enim ipsius Petri, venenum lethiferum & efficax valde potioni immiscuit, & balneo, ut Dominum suum in ipsis perimerent confidentem. Ecclesiæ autem inimici dixerunt, quod Dominus Papa ad hoc facinus cor Petri enerbando muneribus et pollicitis maximis inclinaret. Fredericus verò super hoc scelere per aliquem amicorum suorum in ipsa hora qua sumendus fuit potus ille prætaxatus, secretius præmonitus & plenius edoctus, Physico potionem ostendenti & Petro, ait: Amici, confidit in vobis anima mea. Caveatis, supplico, ne mihi in vobis confidenti virus pro medicina porrigatis. Cui Petrus, O Domine mi, pluries dedit iste meus Physicus salutarem vobis potionem, quare modo formidatis? Fredericus autem ostendenti cyphum Physico dixit, torvo tamen aspectu, & posita à tergo custodia, ne evadere possent proditores: Propina mihi potum dimidicando. Physicus igitur ob stupefactus, & sibi conscius de scelere, simulans offendiculum pedibus lapsum fecisse, corruit in faciem suam, & venenum effudit pro majori parte. Minimam autem, quæ quæ superaret partem, damnatis quibusdam iussit extractis de carcere dare, & statim miserâs animas exhalarunt. Certificatus igitur de prodicione lethifera sibi præparata, iussit Physicum suspendi, & merito Petrus exoculatum per multas Italia & Apulie civitates fecit adduci, ut in propatulo coram omnibus conceptum facinus confiteretur. Tandem iussit idem F. ut Pisani, qui ipsum Petrus inexorabiliter oderant, præsentaretur perimendus. Quod cum audiret Petrus, ne arbitrio hostium moreretur, quia ut dicit Seneca: Arbitrio hostium mori, est his mori: ad colomnam, ad quam alligatus fuerat, caput fortiter assidens, seipsum excerebravit.

Fredericus igitur ad se reversus, cepit inconsolabiliter dolere & uberrimè atque amarissime lachrymari, & exitus aquarum deducebant oculi ejus. Quod erat miserabile videre in homine tantæ auctoritatis & ætatis, & lamentando contorquens digitos, ait: Vix mihi, contra quem propria pugnant viscera: Petrus quem petram credideram, & dimidium animæ meæ, mihi mortis insidias præparavit. Ecce Dominus Papa, quem Imperium sub magnificis antecessoribus meis de nullo creavit et ditavit, illud molitur exterminare, et in me ipse Imperii titubantis rectorem, interitum machinatur. In quem confidam? ubi tutus, ubi lætus esse possum de cætero? Et condoluerunt circumstantes amici ejus, usque ad suspiria et lachrymarum effusionem. Et abscondit Domini Papæ fama per hoc non mediocriter. Veritatem tamen novit Deus, secretorum perscrutator infallibilis.

The Kings of England, France, and most other Princes frequently urged the Pope to a Reconciliation with the Emperor, who notwithstanding continued his implacable malice against him till his death, refusing all reconciliation even when he lay upon his death-bed. Hear this one testimony of his detestable implacableness, and pride.

Eodemque tempore mortuus est quidam alius Fredericus filius naturalis in Apulia. Ipsemet & jam Fredericus percussus est morbo, qui dicitur Lupus, vel Sacer ignis, unde tot oppressus adversitatibus, inconsolabiliter doluit. Unde humiliatus, secundum illud Davidicum, Imple facies eorum ignominia & querunt nomen tuum, Domine: obtulit honestam pacis formam Domino Papæ. Sed Papa lætificatus de adversitatibus suis, noluit quæ obtulit acceptare: unde multorum incubit indignationem et Francorum Nobilium, qui coeperunt ipsum Fredericum consolari, et eidem adherere, et superbiam serbi serborum Dei detestari. And not satisfied herewith.

Sub eorum quoque dierum curriculo, Petrus Caboch Clericus Domini Papæ, et amicus præpotens, missus est a Domino Papa in Apuliam Legatus, magna armatus potentia ad remittenda peccata, ut ipsum Fredericum contereret et Fredericales; et multiplicatis viribus, quas undique data pecunia, et concessa plena peccatorum indulgentia collegerat, eundem Fredericum damnificavit, et multos Nobiles ab ejusdem Frederici imperio revocavit. Such an Execrable Monster of inhumanity, Treachery, Impiety, Sedition, Malice, Rapine, Revenge was this most nocent Pope Innocent. Upon all which considerations, Matthew Paris thus concluded this Jubile, year, and his own Chronicle ending with it.

Hæc autem incalculabilia et novitates, quæ nec audita, neque scripta reperciuntur a sanctis patrum nostrorum retroactis temporibus, in hunc usque ultimæ annorum quinquagennæ tempore contigerunt. Hic terminatur fratris, Mathæi Parisiensis, Monachi sanctæ Alban Chronicæ, quæ pro utilitate posteritatis subsecuturæ, Dei pro amore, & beati Albani Anglorum Protomartyris honore, ne memoriam eventuum modernorum vetustas aut oblivio deleat, literis commendavit.

I now proceed to the year, 1251. the 35. of King Henry the 3d. his reign.

This year the King as Supream Governour of the Church of England, without any authority or Bull from the Pope, by these his Letters Patents enjoined the Archbishop of Robur, and all Ministers, Bishops, Abbots, Priors, and other religious persons who had any Land or Rents in England, during his life to keep an anniversary day for his deceased Mother Queen Isabel, and to insert her name in their

The Archbishop of Cassall in Ireland, citing the Bishop elect of Limeric in Ireland to appear in his Court to confirm his election if Canonically made, notwithstanding the Kings Prerogative, that his Royal license and assent was not had thereto, as of right it ought, the King thereupon issued this Writ to command the Archbishop to revoke revoke whatever he had done therein, in prejudice of his Prerogative, or else Richard de Rapella was commanded to lease his Temporalities into the Kings hands, if he revoked it not, and to renew his Appeal therein.

Quia Cassall. Archiepiscopus citavit electum Limeric Ecclesie, quod compareret coram eo die Jovis proxima ante Passionem Domini proximo præteritam in Ecclesia Limeric, in occursum suum: Ita quod si invenerit ipsam electionem Canonitam, eandem, non obstante dignitate Regis, de assensu requirendo, confirmaret: Rescriptum est ei, Quod quicquid in præjudicium Regis attemptaverit revocet sine mora. Et mandatum est Richardo de Rapella, quod Temporalia ipsius Archiepiscopi capiat in manum Regis, si errorem illum non revocet, et quod innobet Appellationem Regis. So apt were Archbishops and Bishops then both in Ireland and England to invade the Rights of the Crown, and obstinately to persist therein without revocation, till their Temporalities were seized for their contempt; which will further appear by this Prohibition to the Bishops of Lincoln and Chichester, and their Commissaries, for examining a Judgement given for the King for Goods, against an Executor, in his Exchequer, in their Spiritual Courts and other cases this year.

Ipsis quoque diebus, dum placitum moveretur inter Episcopum Karlesensem Sylvestrum & quendam Baronem, super quodam Manerio, quod idem Baro prædecessori dicti Episcopi Waltero venderat, & iterum illud voluit revocare, ipse Episcopus Sylvester respondit per se prudenter, adversarius enim ejus, licet ejus præsentessent procuratores, tunc in partibus agebat transmarinis. Impetravit igitur à Rege Literas protectionis Regiæ, dum absens erat Baro memoratus, & sic lætus repatriavit. Pars autem adversa sub silentio commorans, cum elongaretur Episcopus, impetravit a Rege Literas, ut non obstante præiore litera, negotium Baronis nullam caperet dilationem. Quod factum fuisse non creditur, sine muneris opitulatione: (the Popes Non obstantes being so obtained.) Sparsumque jam tales Literæ, in quibus inserta est hæc detestabilis adjectio, Non obstante præiore mandato; vel hæc, Non obstante antiqua libertate, procedat negotium, Quæritabantur. Præterea, sinistra interpretatio jam in Chartis facta subrepat, ut scilicet si scribatur sc.; Concedimus hanc libertatem domui tali, & domus illa districtè nominetur, & sequatur sic, & omnibus Maneriis ejus, si Maneria non expressè sigillatim nominentur, nullius est vigoris adjectio. Hoc autem rationi constat esse dissonum et omni justitiæ, imo contra Logicæ regulam, quæ est investigatrix veritatis infallibilis. Quod cum comperisset, quidam vir discretus tunc Justitiarius, scilicet Rogerus de Thurkeby, ab alto ducens suspiria, de prædictæ adjectionis appositione, dixit: Heu, heu, hos ut quid dies expectabimus? Ecce jam Civilis Curia exemplo Ecclesiasticæ coinquinatur, et a sulphureo fonte tribulus intorquatur. * Matthew Paris informs us, that the year before, the King had granted a Charter to the Abby of Westminster of certain Liberties, to the prejudice of former Charters granted to St. Albans; and another Charter for a liberty of a free Warren in the Land of St. Albans, near the Town, to one Galfridus Rufus, educated in St. Albans, and a tenant thereunto, contra antiquas Ecclesiæ illius libertates, & Chartas obtentas à piis præstis Regibus & continue usitatas, necnon & contra Chartam Regis Henrici tunc præsentis. Nec erubuit dictus Galfridus Rufus contra Ecclesiæ Dominam suam quæ ipsum educatum exaltaverat, recalcitrare, ut nota macularitur paterna, sed non materna prodianis: Et cum frater Matthæus Parisiensis, Dominum Regem super his imperpetratis redargueret, ait Rex: Nonne Papa facit similiter, subjungens in Literis suis manifeste, Non obstante aliquo privilegio vel indulgentia? Vnus tamen modestius loquens, subjunxit: Nunc, nunc, nos inde cogitabimus. Sed dictorum ac promissorum memoria, cum sonitu pertransiit. In both which he was the Popes real but unhappy Schollar, introducing Non obstantes to evade and null his own and Ancestors Charters, whereby Popes evaded their own and their Predecessors Bulls and Indulgences, which this King, the whole Kingdom and Clergy of England particularly * complained of to this Pope but three years before, as a great grievance both to the Church and Realm of England, whereby infinite persons in the Realm were grievously oppressed and afflicted: Which induced Justice Thurkeby thus in open Court with great grief to cry out against both Papal and Regal Non obstantes, which subverted publick Justice, and then defiled, intoxicated Civil, as they had done Ecclesiastical Courts, with their sulphureous source and filth;

This year the Bishop of Durham moving the Pope to resume the 3. Mannors settled upon his Predecessor who resigned his Bishoprick, for his better maintenance during his life, received a repulse and check from him, because it was done by the Bishops own, and his, and the Kings consent.

• Here p. 714.

Mar. Paris Hist. p. 784, 785. Godwins Catalogue of Bps. p. 519, 520. Lis super portione Episcopi quondam Dunelmensis.

Some Abbots and Covents perceiving that B. shop Grosthed and other Bishops intended to vex and oppress them, by their new powers to visit them derived from the Pope, combined together to make a common purse to oppose and withstand them by Appeals to the Pope, whom they hoped would back them for money, as the Bishops combined together to withstand the Archbishops Visitation in his Province.

Anno quoque sub eodem, quidam Prælati & Religiosi Ecclesiarum Conventualium liquido temperientes, quod undique quos solebant habere defensores, censerunt jam manifestos persecutores Episcopos, et Laicis ac secularibus nociviores, necnon Summum Pontificem, qui quanto potentior est, tanto gravior ad opprimendum, studuerunt confederari, ut alterutrum onera portantes, minus gravarentur. Concederati sunt igitur cum Abbate & Conventu de Waltham, Conventus Ecclesie Episcopi Cantuariensis. Ipsum genus quoque subsidij & consolationis sibi impendi, tam ipsi, quam alij, à Cœnobio Sancti Albani, humilliter postularunt: of which more hereafter.

Mar. Paris Hist. p. 783. Confederatio aliquorum Religiosorum.

Notwithstanding this combination, Grosthed Bishop of Lincoln proceeded to visit both the Monasteries and Nunneries in his Diocese, with great severity and tyranny, thus related by Matthew Paris in his History.

Diebus quoque sub eisdem, Episcopus Lincolniensis Visitacionem fecit in domibus Religiosorum in Diocesi sua constitutis. In qua, si quis omnes tyrannides quas exercuit, recitaret, non levis, sed potius austerus et inhumanus censeretur. Cum enim inter cætera ad Ramsiam pervenisset, stipatus secularibus, in dormitorio lectos Monachorum in propria persona percutando, omnia circuit, universa revolvit, & si quid communium inveniret, demoliebatur, & quasi effractarius scrinia dissipans, ciphos quos invenit circularis vel pedibus redimitos, comminuit conculcatos, quos, si circumspicius fecisset, posset pauperibus integros erogasse. Et quod indignum est scribi, ad domos Religiosarum veniens, fecit exprimi mamillas earundem, ut sic physice si esset inter eas corruptela, experiretur. Addiditque horribiles maledictiones, quas super capita transgredientium statuta sua congestit, quas Moses scripsit, et benedictiones Mosaicæ super eos qui eadem fuerant obsecraturi. In Quadragesima vero sequente, suspensus est ab officio Episcopali, pro eo quod noluit admittere quendam Italicum Anglicanæ linguæ ignarum, ad quoddam opimum beneficium in Episcopatu suo. Sed hæc omnia fecisse creditur, ut subjectos de quorum animabus habet respondere à peccatis coerceret.

Mar. Paris Hist. p. 789. Visitatio Episcopi Lincoln.

Diebus etiam sub eisdem, Episcopus Lincolniensis facto scrutinio et diligenti inquisitione et excussione per suam Diocesim, beneficiatos cogit esse continentes, et suspectas etiam mulierculas ab ipsis longius amoveri. Transgressores autem per beneficiorum suorum privationem puniens, Episcopatum suum à vitiis studuit emundare. Precibus quoque blandis & austeris persuasionibus multos trahens & impellens, ad ordinem & officium subvexit sacerdotale.

tale. Frequenter quoque sermonem fecit populo, quem circum degentes sub poenis taxatis Sacerdotes convocatos, coëgit audire. Improbos autem Romanos præceptum habentes Papale, ut eis prohiberetur, quasi venenum odisset serpentinum. Dicebat enim, quod si animarum custodiam ipsis traderet, Sathanizaret. Unde sæpe projectis Literis Papalibus Bullis, talibus mandatis præcise contradixit.

These fierce illegal proceedings of his in Visitations, as well against Noblemen, Women, and other Laymen, as Monks and Religious persons, summoning them personally to make Inquisitions upon his Visitation Articles, and give in testimony against themselves and others upon Oath this year, notwithstanding former Prohibitions, occasioned the * forecited complaints to, and Prohibitions, Attachments of the King against him, Claus. Anno 34 H. 3. m. 11. dorso, & Claus. 36 H. 3. m. 14. dorso, on which you may reflect, as his opposition against the Popes Provisions to Benefices, exasperated the Pope to suspend him from his Bishoprick.

As the Bishop of Lincoln vexed the Monks, Nuns, Nobility, Gentry, and Commons of his Diocese with his Visitations, Appeals to Rome, and Excommunications on the one hand; so the Archbishop of Canterbury molested the Dean and Canons of Pauls, and other his Suffragans, with his Excommunications and Suits, by his power, friends, and money in the Court of Rome, on the other hand; Excommunicating them afresh for one cause, as soon as they were * absolved by the Popes command for another, to the great scandal of the Court of Rome and English Clergy, worrying and vexing one another with perpetual contests, thus recorded.

Eodem quoque tempore, Decanus Ecclesiæ Sancti Pauls London. & Canonici, de quibus in antecedentibus facta est mentio, auctoritate Domini Papæ, per Dominum Abbatem Sancti Albani, & per Dominum Abbatem de Walsham, & Archidiaconum Sancti Albani, sunt absoluti à sententia, qua Dominus Archiepiscopus Cantuariensis Bonifacius, ipsos innodaverat. Sed postea alia ratione sunt innodati; Thus related.

Tunc verò temporis, procuravit Archiepiscopus Cantuariensis, mediante Magistro Enfachio de Len, Officiali suo, (super quo mirabantur multi) ut Decanus, & memorati Canonici Londinenses, ratione proprioꝝum delictoꝝum denunciarentur excommunicati. Insuper, ut coram Papa apparerent, sunt citati. Ortum est igitur turpe scandalum, dum nunc ab his denunciabantur excommunicati in his, nunc in aliis ab his partibus absoluti. Canonici vero non mediocriter perturbati, omnes Anglia Episcopos super hac oppressione in magna mentis amaritudine precabantur, ut tanto impetui resistentes imminenti, cum paries proximus arderet, subvenirent. Rex autem, quia ipsum Archiepiscopum creaverat, & Regina, quia ejus fuit avunculus, erubescerent, non poterant ipsum Archiepiscopum, licet causa ejus fuisset injusta, relinquere desolatam. Who to maintain his suits, and feed the Cormorants at Rome to obtain his will, made havock of his Woods and Temporalities in England, residing at Rome, but exposing his flock to the rapine of Wolves, without taking the least care for their souls or bodies.

Temporibus quoque sub eisdem, Archiepiscopatus nemora succiduntur, homines depauperantur. Reditus vacantes ad arbitrium alienigenarum alienis distribuuntur, de quorum moribus vel scientia nihil constat distributoribus, & sic absente Pastore, oves lupis exponuntur.

On the other hand the Dean of Pauls, though aged, is enforced to travel to Rome to defend the Rights and Liberties of his Church, and purchase a new absolution.

Ipso quoque tempore, Decanus Londinensis ætate grandævus, toties pro libertate Ecclesiæ suæ vexatus, adhuc pro juribus Ecclesiæ suæ contuendis Romanam Curiam adiit, pro scandalo multiplici jam per Archiepiscopum exorto. Quos enim Dominus Papa præcepit absolvi, adversarii eorum ex parte Domini Papæ, præceperunt alia ratione excommunicari. Ita quod Laicis esset eorum lris, nec mirum, ridiculosa. Archiepiscopus Cantuariensis Canonicos London. eo quod illos visitare vellet, cum maximo gravamine potenter conatur confundere, (addes * Mathew Westminster) tandem visitavit sed cum moderamine.

Neither were the Abbots and Covents lesse schismatical and litigious then the Bishops, Deans and Canons, persecuting, suing, yea murdering each other in sundry places, places, of which * Matthew Paris renders some sad instances, to the great scandal of Religion. I shall only instance one contest between the Abbot and Convent of Westminster, wherein the King withstood the Popes Bulls granted in the Abbots favour, to the prejudice of his Prerogative, discovering the insatiable avarice, rapine of the Pope and Court of Rome.

Diebus autem sub eisdem, ortum est scandalum in nobili Cœnobio Westmonasteriensi, eo quod discordia partibus nimis damnosa & indecens est exorta. Abbas enim, vir quidam literatus & prudens, conabatur factum antecessoris sui, Authozitate Apostolica iuritate, qui bona Ecclesiæ suæ in usus suos, & usus Conventus, ut majori pice gauderent, separaverat. Et summo conamine nitebatur, divisa solidare, & omnia nutibus suis inclinare. Et idcirco Dominus Papæ adherens, ipsum pedetentim sequebatur, et moram non minimam in Curia, non sine multarum expensarum profusione, continuabat. Unde propter suam prudentiam, facundiam, & elegantiam, inter familiares Papæ annumerabatur, & Capellanus Domini Papæ meruit esse & appellari, & multa de suo proposito ad votum impetrare. Quod audiens Conventus, non mediocriter formidare, ne quod prædecessor istius Abbatis, scilicet Richardus Abbas, piè ordinaverat, infirmaretur, & eorum conditio deterioraretur. Missis igitur aliquibus de Conventu præstantioribus ad Regem facta lachrymabili querela dixerunt ei: O Domine, Abbas, quem nobis habere fecistis, domum nostram imò potius vestram specialem, nititur perturbare, & quod ad quietem nostram ordinatum piè extulit, infirmare: vestrum est, domum vestram Regaleque vestrum domicilium protegere, ne nullo adversantium impulsu labes vel labor. Quibus Dominus Rex, addito magno Sacramento, ait: Nunquam certe prævalebit. Et concepta indignatione cum ira et odio palam protesta- tus est, dicens: Pœnitent me fecisse hominem.

Discordia inter
Abbatem &
Conventum

Circa idem tempus Abbas Westmonasteriensis Domini Papæ Capellanus à Curia Romana rediit, non minimis debitis involutus et obligationibus innodatus: (by bribes to the Pope and Cardinals.) Moram enim diutinam in Curia continuaverat, & multorum Curialium sibi corda conciliaverat, ita quod cerè credebatur, quod cum Domino Papa penitus, quia vir fuit arduus idoneus satis consiliis, moraretur. Venit autem multiplici armatus potentia, ut Conventum suum suæ incurvaret voluntati. Et illico accedens ad Regem apud Windesores, ipsi celebriter nimis & Pontificaliter, Missam cantavit. Erat utique tam voce quàm corporali elegantia, vir desideriorum. Confidenter igitur Regem aggressus est, multorum potentum illi Literas ostendens, ut liceret ei totaliter domum Westmonasterii, quam Dominus Rex illi regendam commiserat, sane administrando gubernare, et divisa solidando possessiones redintegrare. Dominus Rex cujus cor aversum fuit ab eo, ipsum Abbatem obliquo ac torvo intuitu respiciens, elevata voce, multis irrecitabilibus probris lacessivit. Inter cætera improperans, quod ipsum immerito exaltaverat, addens, quod ad consilium suum arcanum inconsulte advocaverat. Et quomodo de tua fidelitate confidere possem, qui fratres tuos socios ab antiquo & commensales, gravare niteris & molestare? Et licet multi amicorum suorum, videlicet Johannes Mansell, & multi alii, quos longum esset nominare, intercederent pro ipso Abbate, Rex iratus valdè, ipsum tam à consilio suo quàm dilectione, expulit elongatum. Tandem Abbas molestè ferens Regis indignationem, consensit in arbitros, ut quod ipsi disponderent, si Domino Regi complaceret, ipse ratum haberet & acceptum, videlicet Comitem Richardum & Johannem. Quod Conventus, licet ipsi duo Abbati fuissent amicissimi, benignè acceptavit, & Rex benè comprobavit. Ipsi igitur, post multas disceptationes, penitus Conventus desiderio & postulationi excluso Abbate, consenserunt: Quia sic Regi sciebant complacere. Sed hæc controversia hoc anno non terminabatur.

HENRICUS Dei gratia, &c. Omnibus ad quas presentes Litera pervenerint, salutem. Cum bona Abbatis Westmonasteriensis & ejusdem loci Prioris & Conventus discreta sunt ab invicem, & separata, volentes indemnitati & tranquillitati eorundem Prioris & Conventus providere, contedimus eis pro nobis & Hæredibus nostris, quod quotiescunque Abbatiam vacare contigerit per cessionem vel decessum Abbatum suorum, habeant ipsi Prior & Conventus liberam administrationem de bonis suis separatis: salva nobis et Hæredibus nostris tempore vacationis prædictæ domus custodia de bonis ad prædictos Abbates pertinentibus. In cuius rei testimonium, &c. Teste meipso apud Sanctum Edmundum, Anno Regni mei trigésimo sexto. Hæc autem acta sunt apud Sanctum Edmundum, ubi Dominus Rex, ad magnum domus illius incommodum, ferè tribus septimanis morabatur infirmatus.

After this, Dominus autem Rex, timens ne Abbas Westmonasteriensis Curiam Romanam, quam jam benè noverat, ut Domini Papæ Capellanus, contra ipsum, maxime quia idem Abbas appellaverat, exasperaret, & domum Westmonasteriensem irremediabiliter debitis obligaret, concessit in ipsum probra iterum & maledicta in ira magna, quæ constat fuisse nulla subnixâ veritate, sed ipsa solummodò iracundia ebullire. Fecit insuper Dominus Rex per totam Londinensem Civitatem voce præconia acclamari, ne quis Abbati Westmonasteriensi quomodolibet pecuniam accommodaret, nec scripto vel sigillo ejusdem fidem aliquatenus adhiberet. Quod in magnum opprobrium Abbatis videbatur redundare. Hujus autem rei auditores universi supra modum admirantur, quod de Regi amicissimo factus est Abbas reprobis & alienus. Prout Poëta introducit amicam de amico conquerente dicere:

Westmonaster.

REX Omnibus & singulis Mercatoribus ultra-marinis London, commorantibus, salutem. Quoniam Monasterium Westmonaster, quæ nostra Capella est, & cuius sumus Patroni, specialiter reputamus nostrum, & speciali diligimus affectione, nolentes illud ære nimis obligari alieno, vobis præcisè mandamus, quod Monachis ejusdem Monasterii super sigillum Capituli, sine nostro, & Abbatis consensu, nec etiam ipsi Abbati, nostro assensu serequisito, pecuniam ullam mutuare præsumatis. Hoc idem locis vestris in Curia Papali, seu alibi commorantibus intimantes. Teste Rege apud Rading, 17 die Junii.

I pretermitt the complaints to the King by the Nobility, Commonalty and others of the Diocese of Lincoln, against the Bishop, his Deans and Officials, for vexing them with Citations from place to place, and enforcing them to make Inquisitions and give testimony against their wills upon Oath, and the memorable forecited Prohibitions issued to him thereupon, which you may peruse p. 705, 706.

What strange Dispensations for Pluralities and Commendæ the Pope then granted to Foreigners and unworthy persons (and the King by his example) to the oppression of the English Clergy and Religious persons, and how one ill president, usurpation, Non obstante produced another, will appear by this relation.

Eodemque tempore, electus Wintoniensis Ethelmarius, de partibus veniens transmarinis cum Comitatu copioso & pomposo, applicuit in Anglia. Cui adventanti Rex lætabundus cum nobilibus, & præcipuè Pictavensium multitudine copiosa occurrit. Auxit autem causas lætitiæ gratia Papalis, quam sibi electus memoratus comparaverat cum gratia Regali, quam singulis fraternus excitaverat. Quibus cooperantibus, meruit obtinere redditus prius obtentos, quæ ad plusquam mille marcarum summam ascenderunt, quas ipse egenus electus, dignos-citur ex fratribus sui Domini Regis extorsione possedisse. Nulla enim creditur fuisse notabilis Ecclesia, de cujus uberibus in Anglia lac non creditur exuisse. Unde huic libello quiddam, quod lachrymas excutere debeat ab oculis audientium, duximus inferendum. Abbas Ecclesie Sancti Albani per extorsionem Domini Regis satis enormem & impudentem, ad opus Simonis de Norwico Clerici de Pincerna sua, solvit de Camera sua centum solidos. Ipso nempe Simone vicesimo anno sequente decedente, & vix sepulto, postulavit idem Dominus Rex precibus armatis, ut translatus redditus ille quendam alium & alienum saginaret. Quod & invito Abbate & ingemisciente factum est. Rogaverat insuper Dominus Rex, ut fratri suo Aimerio jam Wintoniensi electo decem marca annua de Camera concederentur ac solverentur. Ipso igitur Aimerio in Præsulatum Wintoniensem electo, illico postulavit, ut cuidam Clerico Pistavensi, ipse eadem decem marca, quas per aliquot annos receperat Aimerius memoratus, facta tali translatione, Dominus Rex non erubuit postulare. Quod in periculum Ecclesie, præter damnum, dignoscitur redundare. Sic enim servitus indelebilis & damnum irreparabile subrepere minabatur. Et præter hæc, alias quamplures & pluries multas & multiformes Ecclesie beati Prothomartyris Anglorum Albani injurias & gravamina, Rex tyrannizans non est veritus irrogare. Quæ scribenti, tedious foret enumerando scribere, & auditoribus audire foret onerosum. To which * Matthew Westminster subjoyns; Prælati et viri Religiosi, Papa jubente, et Rege spoliante, in ultimam servitutem detruduntur. Hæc detestabilis adjectio (Non obstante) enerbat Sanctorum scripta et facta.

How strangely and unworthily this Pope, against his own former expresse Bulls and Grants, not to grant Provisions to Italians and other Foreigners in succession, presumed by his Non obstante to grant Provisions to them of any Churches voyd or to be void, in the gift of Abbots and other Religious persons, against their Charters, Priviledges; and what great scandal and schism they produced, inducing men to depart from the Pope and Church of Rome as Antichristian, this Bull of Pope Innocent, and subsequent relation will inform us.

Tempore quoque sub eodem, transmisit Dominus Papa Abbati sancti Albani literas sub hac forma. INNOCENTIUS Episcopus, &c. Dilectis filiis Abbati & Conventui S. Albani, Lincolnienfis Diocesis, Salutem & Apostolicam benedictionem. Cum dilectus filius Iohannes de Camecana, nepos & Capellanus noster, Ecclesiam de Wengrave, in qua, sicut intelliximus, ius patronatus ad vos dignoscatur pertinere; discretionem vestram affectione paterna rogamus, per Apostolica vobis scripta mandantes, quatenus eidem Capellano, dictam Ecclesiam cum alia Ecclesia primo vacatura, qua ad presentationem vestram spectare noscatur, quam etiam dictus Capellanus vel ejus procurator duxerit acceptandum, commutetis, illam donationi nostre nihilominus reservando. Inhibitione seu reservatione quælibet non obstante, aut etiam indulgentia illa quæ dicitur Anglicis esse concessa; Ne beneficia Clericorum Italicorum cedentium vel decedentium, immediate alicui Clerico Italicæ conferantur. Datum Lugduni, secundo Idus Decembris. Hoc verò huic libro duximus inferendum, ut legentibus innotescat, quot angariis et injuriis nos miseros Anglos exagitat curia Romana. Dependens enim hujus literæ tenorem, multiplicem poterit considerare contemptum, injuriam, et oppressionem. Sed ut Apostoli adimpleatur sententia comminatoria: Nisi prius venerit discessio, non revelabitur filius iniquitatis. Ecce causa, ecce materia quare recedunt corda, etsi non corpora, a patre nostro Papa, qui in vitricalem exasperatur austeritatem, et a matre nostra Ecclesia Romana, quæ in novercalem delabitur persecutionem.

Transit igitur annus illæ frugifer & fructifer usque ad sufficientiam, & potius abundantiam quamvis procellolus, turbidus, & fulgure formidabilis. Domino vero Papæ et curiæ Romanæ, laboriosus, sumptuosus, et propter transmigrationem periculolus.

The

The Pope pilling and polling the Bishops, Archbishops, and extorting great summs of money from them, for their confirmation in their Sees, (no Symony or sin at all in his Holiness, but a Papal vertue) to make them some recompence to reimburse their monies, granted them not only Licenses to hold all their former Livings and Revenues in Commenda with their Bishopricks, but likewise to extort annual pensions from their Clergy who had benefices, to their great oppression; as in the cases of Archbishop Boniface, Grosthead, Arhelmar, and others forecited, so of the New Bishop of Rockester Anno. 1252.

Anno 1252.
Mat. Paris
p. 804.
Episcopus Rosfensis colligit quintam par-tem reddituum suorum subje-

Anno quoque sub eodem, scilicet primo quo creatus extitit, adquisivit sibi Episcopus Roffensis adhuc novellus à curia Romana, ubi notus fuerat, ob hoc quia Domini Regis ibi diu extiterat procurator, potestatem, non sine multorum admiratione, extorquendi a beneficiatis in suo Episcopatu quintam partem reddituum suorum usque in quinquennium: licet idem Episcopus pristinos redditus suos, quos antequam ad Episcopatum promoveretur ex indulgentia Papali sibi retinisset: necesse enim habuit, ut asserui, Episcopatum suum exilem a paupertate relebare. Opprobrium enim ei videbatur, quod ille Episcopatus inter omnes Anglia Episcopatus pauperimus diceretur, et a Karleolensi jam superaretur. Erigebat igitur sibi summam memoratam exhsberi, non secundum estimationem bonorum Ecclesiasticorum a subjectis, sed quocunque modo ex bonis Ecclesiasticis emergentium.

The Pope under pretence of relieving the King of France, who was taken captive in the Holy Land, and the distressed Christians there, but in truth to promote his own designs, earnestly pressed the King of England, to expedire his voyage to the Holy Land which he had long delayed, retarding others who were ready to march to its assistance. Who joyfull of his opportunity, made good use of it for his own advantage to pillage both the Jews and Christians. Thus related.

Mat. Paris Hist.
p. 801.
Regem Angliæ
ad Peregrinandum.

Ipsius quoque diebus, misit dominus Papa Domino Regi Anglia persuasoriam & efficacem valde Epistolam, ut idem Rex viriliter accingeret, & sine damnosa dilatione ad Terram sanctam adjuvandam, & ut Domino Regi Francorum auxilium præstolanti, oportunum ac festinum impenderet adminiculum. Quod si nollet, saltem alios transfretari & peregrinari paratos & desiderantes, non impediret. Hæc autem clausula finalis adjecta fuit, quia quosdam Magnates Terram sanctam adire paratos, in magnum damnum & jacturam eorundem, retardavit. Dominus autem Rex, ut Papali desiderio & persuasioni obtemperaret, à Judeis quicquid ipsi miseri habere videbantur, non tantum abradendo vel excoriando, sed eviscerando extorsit. Auri quoque sititoz Hydropicus, talenta, vel crusta, aut scallia, adeo abide tam a Christianis quam Judeis emunxit, ut videretur Grassum a mortuis nobis resuscitatus.

To colour this his rapine the better, to make all his subjects believe he really intended a speedy passage to the Holy Land, and induce them to take up the crosse, to extort more money from them by dispensations with their vows.

Mat. Paris Hist.
p. 807.
Rex Angliæ
jurat peregrinaturum in Terram Sanctam.

Anni quoque sub ejusdem circulo, die videlicet Lunæ, quæ ipsam diem præcedit proximo quem Hokedai vulgariter appellamus, fecit Dominus Rex omnes Londonenses à minimo usque ad maximum voce præconia convocari, præcipiendo sub edito Regio ut omnes ad Westmonasterium voluntatem suam audiri convenirent. Quibus congregatis, iussit Rex, ut Wigorniensis, & Cicestrensis Episcopi, & Abbas Westmonasteriensis, sermonem facerent populo solennem nimis & efficacem, de cruce suscipienda. Ad quorum prædicationem, propter Romana curiæ varias pecuniæ extorsiones et illusiones, pauci de civibus vel compatriotis crucem susceperunt. Veruntamen de curialibus, Richardus de Gray, Johannes frater ejus, & I. de Plexeto, ad crucis susceptionem avolarunt. Quos illico Rex accurrens cum amplexibus, osculabatur, vocans eos fratres suos. Et objurgans vocavit Londonenses ignobiles mercenarios, eo quod eorum pauci crucem susceperunt. Audacissimi autem hanc, imo pertinaciam Roma parturivit, eo quod a Papa a Papa jam impetraverat, ut per triennium decimam reciperet a Regni clero et populo, quæ si colligeretur, ad plusquam sexcenta millia totalis ejus summa ascendere, in perpetuum Regni detrimen- tum, videretur. Unde dictum est secretius, quod piis mentibus est incredibile, * ipsum non ob aliud Regem crucem humeris susce- pisse, nisi ut regnum tali argumento bonis spoliaret. Tamen pas- sagium suum juravit à die sancti Johannis Baptista in sequens triennium, nisi morte vel gravi infirmitate vel alia rationabili causa impediretur: (by which conditions inserted he easily evaded his Oath.) Et jurans hoc, apposuit manum suam dexteram ad pectus suum more sacerdotis, & postea supra Evangelia apposita, & osculatus est ea more laici. Nec tamen hoc circumstantes reddidit certi- ores. Præteritarum enim transgressionum memoria, suspicionem in præsentibus suscitabit.

The Pope to animate the King to undertake this voyage, (at least wise in pre- text) had granted him a new Triennial Disme upon the Clergy of England and Ire- land, towards this expedition, whereupon the King summoning the Bishops of the Province of Canterbury, to appear before him to collect and levie this Disme, they all made answer, that they could not do it without the Archbishops assent who was their head (then absent at Rome,) wherefore the King sent this Writ unto him for his assent and assistance in promoting this affair.

The King soon after sent these ensuing Letters to the King and Queen of France, the Patriarch of Jerusalem, the Archbishop of Tyre, the King of Cyprus, with other Princes, and to the Master of the Templers and Hospitalers, concerning this his intended voyage to the Holy Land, thus recorded.

Excellentissimo Principi L. Dei gratia Regi Franciæ, H. eadem gratia Rex Angliæ, &c. salutem. Requisiti dudum per Literas vestras, quod adventum nostrum acceleraremus in succursum Terræ Sanctæ, recolimus Serenitati vestræ rescriptisse, quod si terras nostras per vos & Progenitores vestros occupatas freti salubri consilio nobis redderetis, passagium nostrum acceleraremus, & personam & res nostras exponeremus in obsequium crucifixi, ad honoris vestri incrementum. Et si cet jam passagium nostrum sit juratum, et certo tempore statutum, idem tamen passagium anticipabimus, potenter nos accingendo ad prædictæ terræ succursum, dum tamen occupata prædicta nobis benigne restituantis. Quod vestræ Regiæ dignitati ad salutem cedit perpetuam, & ad laudem famæ temporalis. Teste Rege apud Westm. 8. die Junii.

The Archbishops, Bishops, and Clergy being very averse and backwards to assent to, or levy the Triennial Disme granted by the Pope to the King, towards his voyage to the Holy Land, he thereupon summoned all or most of them then in England to a Parliament at London, where he pressed them to give their assents to the Popes grant for his supply; the proceedings therein, and great oppositions made against it by the Bishops and Lords, is thus at large related by our Historians.

Festo autem beati Edwardi imminente, (quod de consuetudine Dominus Rex consuevit semper in magno Comitatu & apparatu splendido celebrare) convenerunt, veluti ex Fdicto Regio convocati, totius Angliæ Prælati ferè universi. Omnes nempe Episcopi, præter Cestrensem valetudinarium, & Archiepiscopum Cantuariensem, qui in partibus tum temporis agebat transmarinis, simul & Herefordensem, & præter Archiepiscopum Eboracensem, qui ob incertam nobis causam, nisi fortè quia remotus abest, remansit, ibidem præsentem exsistere. Protulit igitur in medium Dominus Rex coram omnibus ibidem congregatis, Papale mandatum, omnibus Regni æmulatoribus exosum & detestabile. Quod videlicet contulerat Dominus Papa totam Regni decimam, videlicet proventuum totius Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ, de potestate sibi à Deo concessa, per triennium, ad Regia viatica peregrinationis, adjuncto magnæ verbo offensionis, scilicet, non secundum æstimationem Ecclesiarum præstamam, sed secundum æstimationem novam ad inquisitionem strictissimam, ad voluntatem et arbitrium Regiorum satellitum et extortorum faciendum, qui acute nimis et damnum Ecclesiæ inestimabile, et servitutem perpetuam procurantes, suis semper primum propriis, deinde vero etiam Regis emolumentis inhiarent. Argumentosè igitur Regii Nuntii Episcopis congregatis supponentes, quod tali ac tantæ contributioni consensissent, vulpina calliditate exigebant, quod soluta pecunia duorum annorum, secundum Papale mandatum, pecunia tertii anni ante peregrinationem nem, licet hoc in Papali mandato autentico non contineatur, pecunia totaliter, secundum formam prætaxatam collecta, solvatur peregrinatur, vel saltem ejus pars dimidia, Regi benigna gratuitate ac benignitate gratuita concederetur. Tunc enim, ut dicebant, Dominus Rex versus Orientem iter dirigeret & vexilla. Quod cum inter alios Episcopus **Lincolniensis*, admirans verba tam venerata, & ad subversionem Ecclesiæ intoxicata, audiret, in ira magna respondit: O quid est hoc pro nostra Domina? Vos ex inconcessis proceditis. Supponitisne vos, quod nos in hanc maledictam contributionem consenserimus? Absit hæc à nobis ad Baal genuum incurvatio. Cui electus Wintoniensis ait: Pater, quomodo poterimus resistere voluntati Papali ac Regiæ? Unus impellit, alter attrahit. Consenserunt Franci in hoc casu contributioni contumeli, ut videlicet Regi suo peregrinatur subvenirent. Fortiores nobis sunt, & ad resistendum consueverunt esse proniores. Et nos qualiter valemus illis resistere? Ad hæc respondit iterum Lincolniensis Episcopus: Eo ipso resistendum est, quod Franci contribuerunt. Vnus enim actus inducit consuetudinem. Præterea, luce clarius videmus, prohodolo! qualem finem sortita est tyrannica Regis Francorum extorsio pecunialis. Terreant nos exempla præambula. Ne igitur et Rex et nos gravem Dei offensam incurramus, pro me dico voce libera, huic injuriosæ contributioni contradico. Sententiæ igitur huic consensum præbuerunt alacriter et incunctanter, Londinensis, Cicestrensis, Wigorniensis Episcopi, et electus Wintoniensis, et fere omnes alii. Sarisburiensis autem fluctuabat. Et addidit Lincolniensis Episcopus, Supplicemus omnes Domino nostro Regi, quatenus de salute animæ suæ sollicitetur, impetum tantæ refrænanans temeritatis.

Hæc autem omnia cum fida relatione nunciarentur Domino Regi, quasi furia infectus, nec se præ ira capiens, vocem cum clamore exaltavit, & omnes, qui in sua Camera fuerunt, velut furiosus aufugavit. Tandem suis familiaribus aulicis ipsum blandius mitigantibus, significavit Prælati, quatenus non quasi Domino proterbienti, et de præcepto Papali exigenti, sed tanquam supplicanti, et Jesu Christo in Terra Sancta militaturo, et in ipsam pro honore universalis Ecclesiæ peregrinatur, competens auxilium pecuniare liberaliter et benigniter largirentur. (A clear demonstration, that the Pope had then no legal Authority to impose any Disme or Tax upon the Clergy by his Bulls; for the King himself, without their common consent thereto.)

Quod cum Prælati renunciaretur, mitius se habentes, responderunt: Credimus indubitanter, quod si Dominus Papa veraciter intelligeret, quot angariis, quot exactionibus damnosis Anglicana gravatur et opprimitur Ecclesia, nunquam talia Dominus Rex in curia Romana impetrasset. Et si ipsum Dominum Papam super his plenius certificemus, haud dubito factum suum, nec est mirandum, tanquam ex suppressa veritate, et suggesta falsitate deceptus, illico revocaret. Nunc enim Dominus Rex per Forestarum suarum ampliationes, nunc per Justiciarios suos itinerantes, nunc novis placitis excogitatis, nunc modis aliis Regnum suum depauperat. Quo exinanito, necesse est consequenter Ecclesiam quoque depauperari & egere. Quid de Prælati referemus, quos idem Dominus Rex in nobilibus intrudit Ecclesiis? Quam miserabiliter extorsit bona terræ, suis Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus Bonifacius, qui se propterea debitis tot finxit obligatum, ut sine totius Ecclesiæ Anglicana adjutorio non poterat ullo modo respirare? Nec adhuc cessat Dominus Rex, ipsi modo fas est talia recitare. Quotidie aliis atque innumeris argumentis Regnum suum & Ecclesiam, contra sacramentum & juramentum suum primitivum, tam pecunia quam libertate privare antiqua & consueta. Et præterea iam ab omnibus creditur et dicitur, quod non ob aliud, ut videtur, se Cruce signabit, nisi ut hoc nobis modo et prætextu omnem substantiosam in Anglia, quæ remansit, valeat asportare; sicque redigat mellissimum, et abundantissimum Angliæ Regnum, in desertum: vel saltem subrogatis et introductis alienigenis, suis incolis viduet in eo natis et educatis. Nonne dudum in pueritia sua, quando in Regem feliciter creabatur Crucem utique patris sui Regis Johannis, tunc etiam Crucesignati humero suo pro ipso assumpsit, unde timendum, ne ipsam Crucem eodem modo, & ea intentione Dominus iste Rex, qua Pater ejus eam assumpserat, patris sine assumpserit. Ut & iste Rex videlicet, quod absit, suos supprimat, & contrariat naturales & fideles subditos. Veruntamen quicquid hactenus egerit, quantumcunque Ecclesiam Anglicanam, & Regnum suum Anglia oppresserit & affixerit, quod postulat a nobis adhuc impendimus & desiderio suo pro posse obsecundabimur, si quod multoties promisit, velit chartam toties pactam, totiesque debitam libertatum nobis juratarum inviolabiliter posthac observare. Necnon & aliam chartam conficere, ne alia vice sub pretextu hujus gratia talia exigat, ut Ecclesia Anglicana tam execrabili tributo & exactioni supponatur. Ceterum requirimus, ut si concedatur pecunia, quam Dominus Rex in presentiarum nunc a nobis petit, & exigit, colligatur diligenter ac fideliter ad opus Domini Regis utiliter distribuenda, in Terram Sanctam profecturo, prout fidelibus suis cautius solito videbitur expedire, et sic eadem pecunia Domino Regi liberetur. Hæc autem propterea addebant, quia totum thesaurum suum quem ab Anglia Dominus Rex extorserat, indammum Regni & suorum fidelium periculum, in usus hostium & inimicorum suorum tam prodigialiter quam prodigialiter distribuerat; ac si arma sua quis hostibus suis in suum sponte distribuat detrimentum & exitium. Hæc salubriter inter filios pacis Prælatos tractabantur, ut hæc Regi ex parte eorum significarentur.

Postquam Domino Regi talia ex parte Prælatorum nunciarentur, & plenius intermeante Episcopo Sariseniensi recitarentur, ita incanduit vehementiori: cozzugansque nates, juravit horribiliter, quod nunquam dum vitales aures carperet, in talem mergeretur servitutem. In hoc patris sequens vestigia pedetentim. Significavit autem eisdem iterato, si aliter vellent respondere, quam sic tergiversando. Sed ne frontosè viderentur, cum præcisa negatione respondisse, Domino suo Regi dixerunt, se non posse plenum aut perfectum consilium inire absque Domini Cantuariensis Archiepiscopi, qui totius Britannia primas esse dignoscitur, & Prælatorum omnium Anglia excellentissimus, præsentia & assensu, & Domini Archiepiscopi Eboracensis, qui primus, vel de primis est totius Regni, consensu & Providentia, quorum unus in partibus agebat transmarinis, alter absens in partibus remotis commorans causis ignotis impeditus. Upon which Answer the King issued the * premised Writs to the Archbishops of Canterbury and York.

Mat. Paris Hist. p. 823, 824. Rex digreditur ad materiam.

Rex igitur pecunie factus sititor avidissimus, ad solitas vulpinas fraudis versutias conversus, quos non potuit in consilio communi frangere congregatos, cogitavit divisos frangere sigillatim. Vocavit igitur, antequam a London recessissent, soluto Concilio memorato, Elyensem Episcopum, ut cum ipso seereticus loqueretur. Adventanti igitur Episcopo, Rex reverenter, & honorifice nimis assurgens advocavit eum, & cessit ei ut juxta ipsum eundem Episcopum familiariter collocaret. Et satis humili, & sereno vultu, ait ad eum, Domine Charissime Episcope, difficile mihi foret omnia beneficia, liberalitates, & obsequia mihi a vobis multoties impensa recitare. In Provinciam enim itinere laborioso ac periculoso, ut mihi uxorem meam adduceres, sumptibus propriis vestris animo libenti perrexisti. Mihi insuper in ultramarinas partes profecturo semel & iterum auxilium efficax infatigabiliter impendisti. Quid plura? Nunquam auxilio indigui, quin prompto favore meam præveniretis, vel saltem prosequeremini indigentiam. Nunc autem plusquam unquam vestra indigeo munificentia & solita benignitate. Assumpsit enim, ut vestra nobis paternitas, Crucem Domini humeris meis, pro honore universalis Ecclesiæ, et Regni prosperitate in Terram Sanctam magnifice bajulandam. Cujus peregrinationis vos meos fideles, & benefactores desidero & oro specialiter fore participes. Supplico igitur modis omnibus quibus possum, quatenus in bonum cæteris exemplum me in instanti necessitate quæ multas postulat expensas juvare non omitteretis, aliorum teporem non respicientes. Ego verò nacta temporis opportunitate, vobis in uberibus beneficiis condignam rependam vicissitudinem. Episcopus autem in hac stabilis existens temptatione, istis nugatoriis sermocinationibus, respondit dicens (subti-gens moderatè damnum sibi illatum de nundinis S. Aetheldredi pro nundinis S. Edwardi, apud Westmonasterium innovatis) Domine, si aliquando vobis servivi, multum mihi complacet, sed noverit serenitas vestra, quod à forma quam universitas compromisit, & in fide propositum roboravit, nullatenus volo nec valeo, quia inhonestum mihi foret, recedere vel sequestari. Si autem nos Prælati, vestro voluntario impetui succederemur, Ecclesia depauperaretur, & in læsionem fidei ac Sacramenti vestri perpetuè servituti subiaceret ac tributo. Ad memoriam si placet revocandum est, qualiter Sancti multi pro Sanctæ Ecclesiæ libertate feliciter exularunt & gloriosè occubuerunt interempti. Quid beatum Thomam commemorem Martyrem gloriosum? quid successorem suum beatum Edmundum nobis contemporaneum? Coruscant copia exemplorum, quæ omnia in vestrum opprobrium redundare comprobantur. Terrere vos deceret Regis Francorum, vobis pro speculo à Deo demonstratum, qui extortam à Regno suo pecuniam in suam hostibus distribuit redemptionem, & inde nostros inimicos, scilicet Saracenos, amplius saginavit. Unde qui prosequuntur nos veloces erant, & qui oderunt nos victores gloriantur. Imo armis & pecunia nostra dñati gratulantur. Et quicquid de Rege deinceps contingat memorato, opprobrium indelebile contraxit ex præteritis, scilicet, quod Christianorum Nobilissimus præda factus est Saracenis, propter quod nonnulli à fide recedentes (pro dolor!) apostatarunt. Et hæc omnia rapinæ impunitas prætaratæ.

Cum autem hæc audisset Rex, quasi alto vulnere saucius, nec adhuc rationi adquefiscens, exclamavit inordinatè nimis, dicens Ministris; Ejicite rusticum hunc, ejicite, & ejectum excludite ut amplius coram me non compareat; qui et solamen mihi denegat, et jubamen. Et sic qui ingrediens satisturialiter fuerat advocatus, probis exitu lacessitus. Simili quoque modo quorundam aliorum quos secretius ad se fecit accersiri, moliebatur constantiam enervare, quorum verba licet pondere non carentia, causa brevitate præterimus. Hac autem versutia summopere conabatur Prælatorum sibi mentes inclinare, ut sic consequenter Nobilium Corda ad consensum suum incurvaret contributionis, sed ipsorum Consilium a Prælatorum sententia dependebat.

Eodemque die venit Electus Wint. ad Dominum Regem fratrem suum ut valedictio licentias repatriaret. Rex autem non prout decuit ipsum facie serena appellavit, nec assurrexit sicut consuevit venienti. Cui ait Electus, Domine, mihi videtur, solvitur Concilium, patefactum est vobis prout ut mihi videtur Prælatorum incommutabile propositum. In procinctu sum, ut de vestra licentia redeam præmaturus. Non enim placida mihi est in hac urbe mora diuturnior: Domino Deo vos commendo. At Rex. Et ego te Diabolo vivo. Deberes mecum stare, etsi totus mundus mihi adversaretur, qui frater meus es uterinus. Et ego te malo grato Dei & ejus Sanctorum, & eorum ad quos spectat de jure electio promoveri, & ad tantam prope dignitatem, ut nulli de Clerico in divitiis secundus in Anglia videaris. Cui electus de illepidio verbo commotus, respondit. Domine, annis sum juvenis, placere vobis quia me creasti, ut & ego factus sim puerilis, absit ut ab universitatis quæ Dominum & vestrum honorem diligit sententia recedam. Et sic recessit ad iracundiam provocatus.

Mat. Paris Hist. p. 814. 815. Constantia Wint. Clericorum.

Rex autem eodem tempore a Civibus Londinensibus, qui secundum Chartarum suarum tenorem, & antiquam consuetudinem fore deberent liberrimi, viginti Marcas auri precibus extorsit imperiosis, velut a servis ultimæ conditionis; ut jamjam viderentur servilibus Judeis paulò minus æquiparari; besides other oppressions there at large related.

Interim igitur tam Papæ quam Regi in sua tyrannide mutua favorem et fomentum præbenti, ira suscitatur, et odium internum accumulatur, quos omnes molesti hominum vocabunt perturbatores; ut quasi completum videretur illud Apostolicum, Nisi discessio venerit, non revelabitur filius iniquitatis. Jam utique imminet discessio manifesta, etsi non corporum, cordium tamen (quod gravius est) exasperatio fere Generalis contra Romanam Ecclesiam suscitatur, et igniculus extinguitur devotionis.

The

The King receiving a peremptory denial of this Triennial Disme from the Bishops, as aforesaid: Rex igitur ne viderentur quidam Magnates qui jam illuc adveniant inaniter fuisse convocati, districtè tractatum suscitavit, quid agendum de terra sua Gasconia, &c. Et dum super his inter omnes anceps penderet sententia, Rex in calce sermonis, auxilium pecuniare ac militare redibit spiritui instantissime flagitavit sibi peregrinato impendi, ac Christo pro salute communi militaturo. Ad quod communiter responderunt quod eorum responsio à Prælatorum responsione dependebat, nec voluerunt ab eorum assertionem discrepantes sequestrari. Et sese mutuo intuentes, secreto auribus instillarunt dicentes: Quæ spes rationabilis istum erigit Regulum, qui nunquam militari edoctus disciplina in Martio certamine, equum admisit, gladium eduxit, hastam vibravit, aut Clypeum ventilavit, ut triumphet, ubi capto Francorum Rege occubuit militia Gallicana, aut in qua confidit temeritate terras transmarinas potenter acquirere quas possessas nequivit retinere! Et sic cum magna indignatione oburgantes, et asserentes ipsum natum tantum ad pecuniam emungendam crumenis evacuatis, et debitis multiplicatis, ad propria remeant.

Mat. Paris Hist. p. 825, 826. Solvitur Concilium cum Regis indignatione. Exitus Concilii.

Solutum igitur cum Regis, Cleri, & Magnatum indignatione Concilio, Rex iram & odium præcordiale thesaurizavit; credens hæc omnia sibi facta & dicta in spiritu maligno & exoso, malignam materiam parturire. Unde incorrigibilis, adhuc quæ conceperat tempore nato oportuno, circinando proposuit consummare.

Solutum est igitur Concilium; Rex hinc inde, tam contra Magnates, quam contra Prælatos, ira succensus vehementi; cogitavitque Legatum vocare, qui Clerum compelleret ad prædictæ postulationis contributionem auctoritate Apostolica; licet grave foret tributum, et Ecclesiæ servitus nova et intolerabilis. Et sic mala malis imminabant: cumulanda. Taliter igitur Causis & Judeis, & aliis creditoribus impinguatis; Prælati cum Magnatibus elitellis evacuatis, dolentes et egentes, recesserunt.

This year the Bishop of Lincoln out of a pious zeal endeavouring to enforce many who had Benefices in his Diocese, to take upon them the Order of Priesthood against their wills, they thereupon collecting a great sum of money, sent it to the Court of Rome, and therewith procured a license to teach School for some years, without taking Orders, money being there more prevalent than piety, or the peoples souls.

Mat. Paris Hist. Angl. p. 806. Beneficiarii renuunt ad Sacerdotium promovere.

Diebus quoque sub eisdem, cum multi Beneficiarii in Diocesi Lincolniensi, persuadente efficaci admonitione Episcopi Lincolniensis, ut ad gradum Sacerdotii volentes aut nolentes promoverentur, fuerunt multi colla jugo Domini supponere super hac forma renuentes, qui contributionem communi assensu inter se colligerent, thesaurumque non minimum coadunantes, ad Romanam Curiam miserunt, et Papali auctoritate, effusa pecunia quæ multum in ipsa Curia potest, huic Episcopali decreto resisterunt; et licentiam impetrarunt, per aliquot annos sine Sacerdotio Scholas exercere. Et sic specie honestatis, de sub jugo Domini colla vulpinis calliditatibus excusserunt.

He likewise out of his hatred to Religious persons, (write the Monks) after long expectation obtained a Bull from this Pope, to augment the small scandalous endowments of Vicaridges in Churches, appropriated to Religious Houses throughout his Diocese, which procured their hatred against him, rather than pure real love.

Mat. Paris Hist. Angl. p. 813. Episcopus Lincolniensis potestatem impetrat à Papa vicarios ordinandi.

Sub ejusdem autem anni circulo, Episcopus Lincolniensis Robertus, ut Religiosorum proventus mutaret, & partes vicariorum adaugeret, hujusmodi mandatum à sede Apostolica ante expectatum est adeptus.

INNOCENTIUS Episcopus, &c. Venerabili fratri Lincolniensi Episcopo, &c. Cum, sicut accepimus, in tua Civitate & Diocesi nonnulli Religiosi & alii collegiati Ecclesias Parochiales in proprios usus obtineant, in quibus nimis exiles, aut nulla taxata sunt vicaria, fraternitati tuae per Apostolica scripta mandamus, quatenus in eisdem Ecclesiis de ipsarum proventus vicarias instituas, et institutas exiles adaugreas vice nostra:

nostra: prout juxta consuetudinem patrie secundum Deum videris expedire. Non obstantibus si predicti exempti sint, aut alias muniti Apostolicis privilegiis, sive indulgentiis, per quae id impediri vel differri possit: et de quibus speciale oporteat in presentibus fieri mentionem: contradictores per censuram Ecclesiasticam, appellatione postposita, compescendo. Datum Lugduni, 7 Calend. Octobr. Pontificatus nostri anno octavo.

Episcopus igitur memoratus (plus, ut dicitur & videtur, in obitum Religiosorum, quam vicariorum dilectionem et promotionem) multis hujus auctoritate mandati Religiosis damna intulit & gravamina.

Simili quoque modo, imminet jactura magna nobili Ecclesiae Sancti Edmundi Regis & Martyris, cum ventilata fuisset causa de Manerio de Mildenbale. Et ut brevibus concludamus, sic jam vergit mundus ad praedas et rapinas, ut quicumque Religiosis aliquid extorqueat, non demereri, sed mereri potius videretur.

Mar. Paris Hist. Angl. p. 834. Jactura & infamia Ecclesiae Sancti Mariae Eboraci.

Tempore quoque sub eodem, subiit Abbas & Conventus Ecclesiae Sancti Mariae Eboraci, maximam cum infamia jacturam, propter quandam Chartam quam adversarii eorundem (quorum maximus fuit Johannes Franciscus Clericus Regis de Scaccario) judicarunt fore reprobendam. Creditur autem indubitanter eundem Johannem, qui natione Borealis, redditus suos de bonis Ecclesiae memoratae in partibus illis sitienter desideravit ampliare, illud secus quam animae suae expediret procurasse, cum scribatur, Va homini, per quem aliquod scandalum generatur. Coacti sunt igitur, maximam pecuniae summam Regi numerare. Insuper terras & redditus opimos, perpetuo amittere, & infamia indelebili deturpari. Dispersi sunt igitur Monachi & illa nobilis Ecclesia omnimodam induens confusionem, discrimini patuit & ruinae. Simili quoque modo, Abbatiam de Selebi, ob causam consimilem memoratus persecutor Johannes (quem ultro Dominus monoculaverat propter praecedentia merita) irreparabilibus damnis laesit.

How the Popes example in conferring Ecclesiastical Benefices on Italians and other illiterate persons, unfit for the Ministry, and no wayes minding the cure of souls, by his Provisors, induced the King to do the like, this Narrative will inform us.

Rex autem solitis insistentis deliramentis, eschaetas & redditus vacantes quasi in hujusmodi contradictionis ultionem, alienigenis ignotis, illiteratis, scurrilibus, & penitus indignis non destitit distribuere, ut sic suorum naturalium corda insanabilis sauciaret. Et si de aliis sileamus, unum huic volumini duximus annotandum, Capellano siquidem fratris sui Gulfridi de Lixinum, quo utebantur Dominus Rex, & Dominus ejusdem Capellani Gulfridus memoratus, & tota eorundem Curia tanquam stulto & nebulone infatuato, ut ejus nugis veluti jocalatoris desipientis, & clavigeri omnes cachinnarent, contulit Dominus Rex bonam Ecclesiam de Prestona, quae fuerat Willielmi de Haverhulle Regii Thesaurarii nuper defuncti, cujus fructus annui ad pretium plusquam Centum Librarum ascendere dignoscuntur. Istum nempe Capellanum natione Pictavensem, mores ac Literas penitus ignorantem, vidimus lapidantem Dominum Regem & Gulfridum fratrem ejus, & alios Magnates, dum in Pomærio Sancti Albani spatiarentur, cespitibus, lapidibus, & pomis viridibus, & acerbis uvas in oculos eorundem exprimentem, tanquam expertem rationis. Gestu quoque, verbis & habitu, necnon corporis qualitate & quantitate despicabilis, histrio potius quam Sacerdos in dedecus ordinis Sacerdotalis poterat judicari. Ecce quibus Dominus Rex multa animarum millia committit et committi procurat custodienda, spernens tot literatorum, tot discretorum, tot idoneorum, quam Anglia genuit, numerositatem. Quae et linguam novit indigenarum, et ruditatem infornare. Similiter & alia Ecclesiarum beneficia, quae ejusdem Willielmi memorati extiterant, contulit Rex inconsulte, velut ad provocandum sponte iram et odium dignorum, indignis et ultramarinis, quorum insufficientiani et inutilitatem gestus inordinati, et verba non tantum scurrilia, sed delirica et obscœna reprobos indicabant. Hanc autem materiae digressionem, genialia suspiria elicerunt.

How;

How proud, insolent and refractory to our Kings, the great possessions, Liberties, Franchises granted by Kings to Prelates and Religious persons, made them, will appear by this answer of King Henry the 3d. to the Master of the Hospital of St. Johns of Hierusalem; the true cause why he began to check and controule them by Non obstantes, by the Popes example.

Verba Magistri Hospitalis cum Rege habita.

Tempore quoque sub eodem, Magister Hospitalis Hierosolymitani in domo de Clerkenwelle, in pace expectans donec tempus quietis idonee inveniret confabulandi cum Rege, de quadam manifesta injuria ipsi illata querulus patefecit: Chartas quoque Regum & suam de protectione ostendit. Cui Rex voce elevata, iratus respondit, praevio magno Juramento: Vos Praesati et Religiosi, maxime tamen Templarii et Hospitalarii, tot habetis Libertates et Chartas, quod superfluae possessiones vos faciunt superbire, et superbientes insanire. Revocanda sunt igitur prudenter quae imprudenter sunt concessa, et revocanda consulte, quae inconsulte sunt dispersa. Et addidit; Nonne Dominus Papa quandoque, imo multoties factum suum revocat? Nonne appposito hoc repagulo, Non obstante, Chartas cassat praecedentes? Sic et ego infringam hanc et alias Chartas, quas praedecessores mei, et ego temere concessimus. Cui Magister Hospitalis, quem Priorem appellant, respondit alacriter vultu elevato: Quid est quod dicis, Domine Rex? Absit, ut in ore tuo recitetur hoc verbum illepidum & absurdum. Quamdiu iustitiam observas, Rex esse poteris; & quam cito hanc infregeris, Rex esse desines. Ad quod Rex nimis incircumspecte respondit; O quid tibi vult istud, vos Anglici! vultis ne me, sicut quondam patrem meum, à Regno precipitare, atque necare precipitatum?

The same year the Pope to promote his own designs to the prejudice of the King, in vindicating his Rights in France, and to empty Earl Richards coffers, and imploy him in his Wars, by proffering him a Crown, which he had no lawfull title to dispose of, like the Devil when he tempted our Saviour to fall down and worship him, sent his Notary into England to effect these designs.

Albertus Papae
Notarius venit
in Angliam.

Circa festum quoque Sancti Martini, venit Magister Albertus Domini Papae Notarius in Angliam, qui jam biennio elapso venerat, quando scilicet parabatur Rex Francorum transfretare, ex parte Domini Papae prohibiturus, ne Rex Anglorum terras Regis Francorum Deo militaturi quomodolibet infestaret. Causa autem adventus sui, multos latuit in principio; sed effectus per opera causam postea patefecit. Dominus autem Papa, sciens Comitem Richardum fratrem Domini Regis praeter omnibus optimatibus Occidentis pecunia abundare (non curans qualiter adquisita) satis astute providit, ut ipsum ad Regnum Apuliae, Siciliae, & Calabriae eligeret et vocaret, ut ipse Comes Papae militans, exposita sua pecunia dubilis Partis casibus, et corpore suo periculis praesentato, haec omnia adquireret ad Romanae Curiae emolumentum, et thesauros in sui damnum maximum accumulandos. Hujus fretus sophistica deceptione, qui dixit, Hac omnia tibi dabo, si cadens adoraveris me. Moverat enim Papa, quod Comes Hydrophis pecuniali insatiabiliter laborabat, et dignitate temporali. Tali igitur edulio hamum recurvum fecit concupiscibilem, quo credidit eum citius inescare. Et tunc mysterium manifestatum est, quare Dominus quondam apud Lugdunum tantum honorem fecerit Comiti Richardo; ut cum ipso prudenter collateraliter, & tantum applausum ei fecerit, ut omnes mirarentur; sed non credebatur aliquatenus à quampluribus, ut consentiret aliquatenus Comes Papalibus promissionibus; tum quia corpore sanus & integer nullatenus extitit, tum quia in armis strenuus nec exercitatus extitit, tum quia inhonestum videretur nepotem suum Henricum supplantare, tum quia certa pro incertis non est sapientis commutare. Sed haec omnia Dominus Papa tollerabilia, sed nec inconvenientia fuisse judicabit. Sciendumque, quod ea die qua Comes Richardus epulabatur cum Papa, captus est infelici sidere Rex Francorum. Hoc mihi haec scribenti, idem Comes assertive narravit. **Matthew Westminster* addes, Sed cum Comes exigisset securitatem, videlicet quaedam castra Domini Papae & obfides ut esset in possessione, & aliqua saltem securitate de Papali promisso:

misso. Respondit Albertus se Papam super hæc convenire. Albertus interim multa sibi beneficia acquisivit, quibus acquisitis, transalpinauit: Et audita (Dominus Papa) Comitibus responsione, noluit aliquod propositum continuare de præmissis.

I find that the King upon this Popes proffer of the Kingdom of Sicily to Earl Richard his Brother, returned him special thanks: assenting that he should grant to his Brother, or his Heir, a competent Ayde from the Clergy of his Realm to gain this Kingdom, alwayes saving the Ayde formerly granted to himself for his voyage to the Holy Land, thus entred in the Clause Rolls.

Bishop Groffhead being suspended his Bishoprick this year by the Pope, for opposing his provisions, and trampling them under his feet, as you heard * before, caused his Clerks to make a diligent inquiry to what an annual summe they amounted to, who found them to exceed about 70. thousand Marks, and treble the summs of the King ordinary revenues, wherewith he enriched his kindred and attendants three times more then any his predecessors had done.

Ipslo quoque Anno in tantum permissa est Romanorum avaritia, et in tantum adeo ascendisse, quod Episcopus Rob. Lincolnensis super hoc stupefactus, fecit a suis Clericis diligenter computari et considerari alienorum proventus in Anglia, per istum Papam, scilicet Innocentium promotorum, et inventum est et veraciter compertum, quod nunquam aliquis prædecessorum suorum in triplo aliquos sui generis vel patriæ tot ditaverit: et quod iste Papa præsens videlicet Innocentius quartus, plus Ecclesiam Universalem depauperaverat quam * omnes prædecessores a tempore Papatus primitivi (propterea manifeste patet in lugubri querimonia quam posuerunt Franci, contra Papam pro suis intolerabilibus oppressionibus: quæ reducta est in scriptum Epistolæ admodum prolixæ, As Matthew Paris addes in his Historia minori.) Redditusque Clericorum per ipsum in Anglia alienorum, quos Ecclesia Romana ditaverat ad plusquam 70. Millia Barcarum ascendit. Redditus Regis merus, non ad ejus partem tertiam computatur.

As this Pope multiplied his Provisions in England, more then all his predecessors, so did he likewise in France, as the French agent told him to his face this year, in the name of the whole Realm, who by a publick letter and remonstrance, thus protested against his intollerable innovations, oppressions, which they neither would nor could tolerate any longer.

bendam aut aliud beneficium ipse Papa dederit ibi, sed nec aliquis prædecessor suus, nec multi etiam de successoribus dederunt in sua Auctoritate beneficium aliquod, usque ad tempora Domini Innocentii 3. qui primus assumpsit sibi jus istud: in tempore suo, Rebera dedit multas præbendas, et similiter post ipsum Dominus Honorius, et Dominus Gregorius simili modo fecerunt, sed omnes prædecessores vestri, ut publice dicitur, non dederunt tot beneficia ut vos solus dedistis. &c. as well in England as in France.

Annalis Con-

We therefore might Matthew Paris thus conclude this year in relation to England. * Anglia vero ab alienigenis conculcata, et multis Dominis inclinata, sui que Regis sincera dilectione viduata, extremis quoque subjacens conditionibus, inconsolabiliter contabuit desperata. Et quod gravissimum est, diatim inter Ecclesiam et populum odium venenosum suscipit incrementum.

(b) Here I may observe, that at first when even the Pope made void an Election, he did not take upon him to appoint another in the place vacant, but either sent to the Clergy of the same Church to chuse another, as those to whom it appertained; so did (c) Eugenius, to York, when Henry Murdac was chosen, Innocentius 3d. when Stephen Langton, or else the Bishoprick lay vacant, as London after Anselme, from 1139. to 1141. But Elections being with much struggling settled wholly in the Clergy, and Innocentius 3. having by definitive sentence excluded the English Bishops from having any part in that of the Archbishop of Canterbury, they becoming wholly appropriated to the Chapters, and Cathedrals, the Pope began to creep in, & ex concessa plenitudine Ecclesiasticæ potestatis, as he speaks, without any formality of choice, to conferre not only Bishopricks, but other Ecclesiastical promotions, within the precincts of Dioceses, by that meanes to fill the fat benefices of the Nation. The first Archbishop of Canterbury promoted by this absolute power of the Church of Rome, seems to have been Richard Anno 1229. non electo sed dato ad Archiepiscopatum.

The French Agent in his Remonstrance to Innocent 4. attributes the beginning of these Collations to Innocent the 3. (whose words forecited he recites at large, with those of Matthew Paris.) By which it appears, that great liberty the Pope took in conferring Ecclesiastical preferments within the Dioceses of others, took its rise from Pope Innocent 3. and as it seems to me, not at the beginning of his time; for Anno 1199. Gelardus Archbishop of St. Davids coming from Rome, quia idem G. Mekevensis Ecclesiæ in Curia Romana se dicebat electum, hoc ipsum cassavit Archiepiscopus, & alium sacrauit Canonice electum: though he afterwards bestowed on him a Church of 25. marks; and this in a case the Pope had so earnestly espoused, as he writes to the Bishops of Durham, Lincoln, and Ely, si Archiepiscopus sæpè dictum Gelardum consecrare differret, ipsi Apostolica autoritate freti, illum consecrare non differrent; which yet the Archbishop as against the English Liberty, did not doubt to oppose and disannull.

But this it continued not long, for Honorius the immediate successor to Innocentius, showing such as served the Apostolick See, and resided with it were worthy, congruis beneficiis honorari, and were therefore possessed of divers both in England and other parts, wth. they did administer with so great care, quod non minus beneficiantibus quam beneniciatis utiliter est provisum, unde, quia nonnunquam beneficiatis hujusmodi decedentibus beneficia quæ obtinuerunt, inconsultis hiis ad quos eorum donatio pertinebat aliis successivè collatis, perpetuo illis ad quos pertinent videbantur amitti, propter quod etiam in murmurabant plurimi, et alii se difficilliores ad conferendum talibus beneficia exhibebant: Nos volentes, super hoc

Which the Popes by wisdom, and joining the Regal authority with their Spiritual, found means to bring to nought, and pursuing the Papal Interest without regarding what had past from them, gave the 9 Kingdom occasion Anno 1241. to observe, that in only three years Otho had remained Legate here, he bestowed more then 300. Spiritual promotions, ad suam vel Papæ voluntatem, the Pope having contracted (as the report went) with the Romans to conferre to none but their Children and Allies the Rich Benefices here, specially of Religious Houses, (as tho's perhaps he had most power over) and to that effect had written to the Bishops of Canterbury and Salisbury, ut trecentis Romanis in primis beneficiis vacantibus providerent. So that in the Council at Lyons An. 1242. they complained of these Exorbitances, and shew the Revenues the Italians received in England, not to be lesse then 60 or 70 thousand Marks. And in the year following An. 1246. reiterated their griefs to Innocent 4. Quod Italicus Italico succedit, which yet was with little successe, for the Popes having (as we have heard) first settled all Elections in the Ecclesiasticks, and after upon several occasions, on the submitting of the English to his desires, bestowed the Benefices in this and other Kingdoms on his Dependents, John the 22. (or as some think Clement 5. his immediate predecessor) endeavoured the breaking of Elections by Cathedrals and Convents, reserving the free Donation of all preferments to himself alone. From whence proceeded the reiterated complaints against Papal Provisions, in the Parliaments of Edward the 3. and Richard the 2. for this Kingdom never received his attempts in that kind. Of which (God willing) I shall render you a full account in due place and time, out of our Parliament Rolls and other Records.*

Upon the great complaints and opposition then made against the multitudes of Popes Provisions for foreigners both in France, and England, the Pope was enforced to grant some seeming mitigation and relaxation of them this year, thus related by Matthew Paris.

Tempore quoque sub eodem, concessit Dominus Papa his qui dignitatibus gaudebant, & supra modum, in partibus maximè Transalpinis opprimebantur, ut ritè de ipsis dignitatibus, ipsi, ad quos pertinebat electio, Deum habentes præ oculis, ordinarerent. The Bishop of Lincoln, and Vicar-general of the Bishop of Hereford, by new tricks and devices endeavouring to deprive the King of his Right of presentations, and to vex his Clerks presented to them in their Courts, in derogation of his Crown and its Rights; the King thereupon issued these two Writs against them, to answer their contempts and redresse these abuses, under pain of seising their Baronies.

You heard * before what tumults Archbishop Boniface had raised in his Visitation, about which he went to Rome; upon his return into England, Anno 1252. there fell out a very high contest and fray between him and the Bishop elect of Winchester, and their parties, Excommunicating, Imprisoning, and assaulting each other, to the high violation of the publicke peace, the scandal of the Church, Government, and derision of all sober persons, thus recorded to posterity.

Anno quoque sub eodem, infra Octavis Sancti Martini, quidam Sacerdos autoritate electi Wintoniensis, se ingessit in custodiam cujusdam Hospitalis in Sumere, quod in Episcopatu Wintonensi esse dignoscitur. Vocatur autem Prior qui custos est ipsius Xenodochii, de consuetudine cohabitantium, quod beatus Thomas Martyr fundasse perhibetur. Magister autem Eustachius de Leu Archiepiscopi Cantuariensis Officialis, videns sibi in hoc facto derogari, eo quod ratione patronatus debebat ejus assensus intervenisse, quod per contemptum omisum est, admonuit dictum cedere Sacerdotem, iterum & tertio; eo quod introitus ejus exstitit injuriosus & presumptuosus. Sacerdos autem, qui & Prior dicitur, hoc facere renuit, suæ intumens possessioni. Officialis autem ratione contumaciæ, ipsum fecit excommunicari. In qua excommunicatione, dictus Prior stetit diebus quadraginta, multiplicans minas et convitia. Officialis igitur talem non ferens superbiam, iussit ipsum tanquam contumacem capi. Quod audiens Prior, se vestimentis Sacerdotalibus intrans Ecclesiam communiavit. Ministri autem ad hoc missi ut ipsum caperent, ipsi minime pepererunt, quia claves Ecclesiæ excommunicatus contempserat. Iussit igitur Officialis ipsum duci apud Maidensstone Manerium Archiepiscopi donec deliberaretur quid super hoc faciendum, quia dicebatur, quod Archiepiscopus prope jam erat, reservaturum.

Mar. Paris Hist. p. 830, 831. Discordia inter Archiepiscopum & Winton. electum.

Hoc autem audiens electus Wintoniensis, secus quam decuit ira excaudit. Et quasi magnam cum dedecore passus injuriam, fratribus suis gravem præsentavit querimoniam. Quorum elatus auxilio et consilio, convocata manu militari armata, cum Comitatu non minime consequente, missit eos ut quærerent et caperent hujusmodi auctores violentiæ. Ipsi igitur cum magno impetu et tumultu quasi in hostili bello, venerunt apud Sumere, credentes ipsos illic invenisse. Omnia igitur perfrustrantes, cum nullum invenissent, festinanter ad Maidensstonenses, ut Priorem captum & retentum potenter liberarent, rapido cursu pervenerunt. Et obstantia violenter confringentes, & abdita rimantes, cum quem quærebant non invenissent, quia absconditus extitit, ignem postularunt, ut omnia redigerent in favillam. Et post multas injurias ibi perpetratas, postquam quæsierant non invenerunt, certificati per aliquem susurrionem ubi tunc extitit quæsitus Officialis, scilicet apud Lambet, juxta London. illuc glomeratim avolarunt. Ubi subvectis à vectibus ostiis vel contractis, intrantes catervatim, subito ante horam prandii, ipsum Officialem, nil tale præmeditatum, hostiliter ceperunt & indecenter. Et captum trahentes, imposuerunt cum quasi vilissimum mancipium furto deprehensum, quo volebant abducendum. Nec permissum est ad ipsum equiferum dirigendum lora retinere. O temeraria præsumptio! O inexcusabilis irreverentia! quæ tam autenticum virum, tam excellenter literatum, tam perspicue famosum, personamque Archiepiscopi representantem, tam ignominiose tractavit et fatigavit. Capellanum insuper qui Capellæ deserviebat, ad cornu altaris confugientem, convitiis affectum inhumanè tractaverunt: Manibus sacrilegis res Ecclesiasticas invadentes. Magister autem Henricus de Gaunt hunc audiens tumultum, pavore qui poterat in constantem cadere perterritus, cautè effugiens, elapsus est; ne in manus caderet animam ejus requirementum. Officialem igitur, postquam omnia quæ ira, imò furor persuaserat, perpetraverant, usque Fernham traxerunt per habenas; donec de restitutione capti Prioris certificarentur, violenter invitum retinentes. Tandem permissus abire, abjectè & viliter est expulsus. Qui pro tempore gaudens, quod manus aduncas & hamatas evasisset, pedes, nec ausus retrospicere ne in statuam verteretur, usque Waleria, domum Cisterciensium, licet senex, avolvit. Quem cum viderent Monachi, admirabantur, quoniam casus ipsum solum & fugitivum ad ipsos sic fugarat. Ibi igitur consolatione suscepta, respiravit.

Querimonia
episcopo.

Passi igitur tantam injuriam Archiepiscopales, coram ipso Archiepiscopo super tanta præsumptione, de magnis majora, & de gravibus graviora derivantes, cum fletibus & suspiriis gravissimam reponunt querimoniam. Archiepiscopus igitur plusquam dici potest ira motus, ait: Hi sunt duri rumores, in primo adventu nostro. Assumptis igitur secum Cicestrensi & Heresfordensi Episcopis, Londonium profectus est. Et ipse et duo Episcopi memorati, Pontificalibus redimitti, eorum innumerabilibus, quos ad hoc fecerant voce præconia convocari, concessa advenientibus venia triginta dierum; apud Sanctam Mariam de Arcubus, horribiliter nimis ac solenniter omnes hujus temeritatis auctores et fautores (exceptis duntaxat Domino Rege et Regina cum liberis eorum, et Comite Richardo et Comitissa uxor ejus, et liberis eorundem) excommunicavit. Scripsit insuper omnibus Episcopis Suffraganeis suis, quatenus in virtute obedientiæ, qua tenerentur Ecclesiæ Cantuariensis obligati, similia facerent in Ecclesiis suis singulis diebus dominicis et festivis, districtè præcipiendo. Et contra electus Wintoniensis confestim demandavit Decano de Saveric, & quibusdam sibi subjectis aliis, ut ipsi Archiepiscopo contradicentes, in faciem denuntiarent palam, ipsam sententiam penitus nullam esse: Imò inane et frivolum, in peccatis esse vulpinam exculationem. Sed Archiepiscopales de hac injuria et scandalo jam inde orto, ad summum Pontificem appellarunt. Fuerunt equidem nonnulli neutri partium faventes, qui dicerent Archiepiscopum manifestè injuriatum fuisse electo. Quia ut cessarent tales controversiæ, procuratum fuerat, ut fieret compositio quædam, quod tota domus memorata non obstante titulo patronatus, dispositioni Episcopi Wintoniensis solvendo inde tres solidos annuos pro recognitione, subiaceret. Et ita uterque diffamatus notam incurrit injuriæ violentiæ, dum Cives memores procacitatis, quam Archiepiscopus in primo suo impetu Londoni fecerat, et extorsiones pecuniæ infinitas, quas idem procuraverat, necnon violentiam Regis in sui creatione, et suorum beneficiorum enormem collationem, recitarent. Et ex alia parte Regales, scilicet Pictavenfes notam prodicionis sibi innatæ, cum aliis convitiis, sicut moris est objurgantium, sortiuntur. Fueruntque de Civibus hæc audientibus non pauci qui optarent, ut hæc illos excerebrassent, alii reliquos ebullerantes. Et cum scribatur, Va illi, vel illis, per quas scandalum venit: utraq;

utraq; partes ortis opprobriis et scandalis non minimis periclitabantur. Sic igitur Regales contra Reginales, Pisavenses contra Provinciales, quos multæ faciunt possessiones insanire, miseris Anglis dormientibus debacchantur, ac si certarent qui eorum eliminatis indigentis, Regno præfere excellentius mererentur. Veruntamen famæ ventilatio Pisavenses plus condemnabit, quia Electus contra superiorem suum, tam superbe excedendo modum, confusus de fratre suo Rege, qui ipsum ut Deus nobis, creaverat. Et sic maxime, quia per prodicionem patris dicimur Pisaviam amisisse.

Archiepiscopus autem Bonifacius ignem iræ conceptæ sub cinere thesaurizans, & condigne insistens; prout Magister Eustachius qui magis lædabatur, & magis doluit, intelligit ultioni de tam enormi transgressione, versus Oxoniam gressus maturavit, ut ibidem convocata Scholiarum universitate, quæ de diversis mundi partibus illic studuit congregata, factum tam nefarium seriatim in publico propalaret. Ut sic non lateret per relationes eorum tanta culpa remotas etiam nationes. Qui cum illuc veniens, Civitati appropinquaret, perrexit ei obviam in equis saleratis & præelectis indumentis, innumerabilis Cleri multatudo; & ei, ut decuit, tanquam Archiepiscopo & totius Anglia primati, ac genere præclarissimo reverenter occurrendo, applausum fecit & honorem, & pransurum in esculentis & poculentis abundanter respexerunt. Quorum faciem, gestus maturitatem, vestium compositionem, morum severitatem cum Archiepiscopo & ejus umbratiles Clerici Provinciales considerassent, confiteri cogebantur, quod Oxonienfis universitas æmula Parisiensis censeretur.

In crastino igitur beati Nicholai, coram universis Clericis, quos pulsato signo communi fecerat ad hoc congregari, præsumptuosam temeritatem, ac temerariam præsumptionem electi Wintoniensis, sumens ex Rege confidentiæ audaciam, fratrumque suorum & complicum, in propatulo fecit recitari, & nomina transgressorum expressè publicari, & sententiam sæpeditam innovavit, quæ in Literis plenius conscribuntur, quas idem Archiepiscopus constituit Episcopis suis Suffraganeis transmitti universis. In quibus plenius nomina transgressorum exprimuntur. Quas qui intuitu desiderat, librum requirat Additamentorum, qui apud Sanctum Albanum repositus, omnem hujus negotii summam plenius declarabit. Constat autem universis & singulis, electum & fratres ejus, hujus factonis auctores extitisse.

The Archbishop's Narrative in his Addimenta to which he referres, followeth in these words.

Humani generis inimicus modernis non cessat temporibus subtiliter indagare modos, quibus in Dei Ecclesiam seminet zizaniam, ut ea pullulante; in ipsius densitate pacis tranquillitas & virtutum suavitas, in agro Domini suffocentur. Cujus tortuosæ calliditati est remedio celeri obviandum: ut sic principiis occurratur morbo, ne in immensum augmentato, serò medicina paretur. Cum igitur tot & tanta enormia, necnon & plura alia non solum contra nos, & Ecclesiam Cantuariensem, verumetiam contra universalem Ecclesiam, & Clerum Cantuariensis Provinciae, evidenter appareant perpetrata: Nos attendentes dictos malefactores, propter injectionem manuum in Clericos violentam, in Canonem latae sententiae incidisse: Et quia libertates & immunitates Ecclesiae violarunt, incurrisse Excommunicationis sententiam, in Concilio Oxonia contra malefactores huiusmodi promulgatam. Insuper quia sacrilegia in hiis multipliciter commiserunt, ac pacem Domini Regis ac Regni vi & armis timore Dei postposito, & abjecta principis reverentia, ausu temerario infregerunt: ipsos & omnes illos qui eis in dicto maleficio asteterunt, necnon & qui opem, auctoritatem, & consilium, & assensum praeberunt, auctoritate Dei Omnipotentis, Patris, & Filii, & Spiritus Sancti, & Beatae Dei genetricis Mariae, Beati Thomae Martyris, Sancti Edmundi Confessoris, & omnium Sanctorum, Excommunicatos denunciavimus: Vobis mandantes in virtute obedientiae qua tenemini Ecclesiae Cantuariensi, firmiter injungentes, quatenus praefatos malefactores in vestra Cathedrali Ecclesia solemniter ac publice Excommunicatos denunciatis, ac per vestram Diocesim Excommunicatos denunciari publice faciatis: pulsatis campanis, candelis accensis, singulis diebus Dominicis & festivis, & tanquam Excommunicatos ab omnibus arctius evitari. Ceterum, quia vicini res agitur, paries cum proximo inflammatur, & merito timeatur, quod si haec impune fiant in viridi, hiis deteriora perpetrentur in arido, cum impunitas delicti incentivum pariat delinquendi, fraternitatem vestram de qua plenam in Domino gerimus fiduciam, rogamus, quatenus adversus malignantes pro domo Domini, nobiscum viriliter assurgentes, nobis consulatis, & per Literas vestras certificetis, qualiter in hoc negotio ulterius fuerit procedendum. Datum apud Croindenam in crastino Sanctae Catharinae, Anno Domini 1252. Ab hac denuntiatione tamen excipimus Dominum Regem, Dominam Reginam, et liberos eorumdem, Dominum Richardum Comitem Cornubiae, et Dominam Comitissam uxorem ejus. Has quidem Literas missas ab Archiepiscopo, transmittit Episcopus Elensis suo Archidiacono.

During this contest between the Archbishop of Canterbury and Bishop of Winchester, the King fearing it might draw the Nobles into parties, and raise a War between them, for preserving the Kingdoms peace, by his supreme power issued these Writs to several Nobles to take part with neither side, and to raise no armes nor tumults by reason of this quarrel, being merely Ecclesiastical.

REX Com. Glouc. salutem. Quia contentio inter Venerabiles Patres B. Cantuar. Archiepiscopum & A. Winton. electum nuper orta, ex causa spirituali sumpsit exordium, ad nos vel ad vos, vel ad alias personas Laicales non pertinet, alteram partem juvare, seu fovere, per quod huiusmodi contentio inter eos acrius convalescat, & Regni nostri tranquillitas perturbetur. Et ideo vobis mandamus, in fide qua nobis tenemini firmiter injungentes, quod super praemissis in nullo vos intromittatis, firmiter inhibentes omnibus vestris ex parte nostra, sub amissione terrarum & tenementorum suorum, ne propter hoc arma portent vel tumultum faciant, ad perturbationem pacis nostrae, neutri partium vel eorum fautoribus auxilium impendendo. What high * contests then likewise grew, between the Archbishop of Canterbury his suffragans, and religious houses of his Province, the Bishop of Lincoln, the Canon nons, Priests, Monks, Nuns, of his Diocese and others, and what confederacies, expensive Appeals, Journies to, and bribing in the Court of Rome, concerning Visitations, procurtaions, purchasing moderations of, or exemptions from them, to the great disturbance of the Church and State, through their covetousness, pride, oppression, ambition, you have heard already in part, of which our Histories render us this further account. I shall begin with those relating to religious persons or orders first, in all which we find no inquisitions upon oath; being expressly prohibited by the * Popes Decretals prescribing the manner and form of visitations.

Diebus quoque sub eisdem, Abbas Clunias. venit Angliam, Monachorum suorum visitator, ordinis retractor, et pecuniæ sedulus investigator. Et dum in Anglicanis partibus emolumentis intentus, moraretur, quidam continēs sui in ultramarinis partibus quædam sua castra cum peruentis violenter occuparunt. Unde oportuit ipsum, festinanter remeare.

Advenit Abbas Cluniacensis in Angliam.

Anno quoque sub eodem circa festum sancti Michaelis significabant literatoriē Monachis sancti Albani, Dominus Theobaldus Prior de Hurleia, & Dominus Jacobus Supprior Ecclesiæ sancti Augustini Cantuariensis, Domini Papæ Capellanus, quod venturi erant ad sanctum Albanum ad visitationem ibidem faciendam, sicut provissum fuit apud sanctum Salvatore Londini. Et postulare sunt induciæ apud Sunerc in Ecclesia sanctæ Mariæ ex parte Conventus, usque in diem Dominicam proximam ante diem omnium Sanctorum, quod concessum est ab eisdem, qui proposuerant & mandaverant, quod in die sancti Dionysii advenirent. Interim promisit Dominus Abbas sancti Albani, ut quicquid emendabile foret, laudabiliter ante adventum eorum declararetur, & ipse procul dubio processu temporis, omnia emendanda emendaret. Quod & compromissum est, ne aliquid scrupulosam querelam suscitaret tumultuosam. Cumque dicto die ambo venirent, in crastino fecit Supprior sermonem in Capitulo. Deinde fecit legi suum autenticum. Postea statuta quæ in Provinciali capitulo, celebrato Londini, salubria fuerant, & ordine Monastico valde necessaria, prout patet in libro * Addamentorum, ubi plenè scribuntur. Et cum nullum offendiculum invenissent, licet per singulos requisitos diligens fecissent scrutinium Monachos, per moram quatuor dierum, in pace recesserunt. Aliqui autem de Monachis Ecclesiæ sancti Albani, ad visitationem apud sanctum Edmundum & alibi faciendam sunt directi. Abbas autem sancti Albani Johannes secundus, eodem modo satisfecit Conventui in omnibus quæ se promiserat ante visitationem emendaturum postea, sicut satisfecerat suus prædecessor Abbas Willielmus, quando fuerat ab Abbate de Boxle & Abbate de Begeham auctoritate Papali visitandus.

Mat. Paris Hist. Angl. p. 799.

Scilicet neuter bene: promisit enim Conventui inter alia, quod generale suum & pitantias, quas primus omnium ad cameram suam attraxerat, omnino remitteret, nisi in refectorio vel oriole cum sociis suis pranderet: & quod pitantias, quas Willielmus Abbas prædecessor suus à fratribus infirmis abstulerat, & pretium earum in vinum suum convertebat, integraliter restitueret: sed completa visitatione, cum nihil de præmissis sibi objectum fuerat, promissa sua ad effectum minime perducebat. Such was the faith, integrity, honesty, of those religious Persons promises to each other in that age.

Concerning the Archbishop of Canterbury and his suffragans, contests, appeals, about their visitations, the Popes moderating of them, and procurators with the bribes and proceedings therein this year, our Historians render us this account.

Tempore quoque sub eodem fuit quidam procurator Generalis Magister I. ex parte Episcoporum Angliæ, contra Archiepiscopum Cantuariensem exigentem totalem Angliæ visitationem, in gravamen Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ intolerabile, in curia Romana. Qui ut gravamini tanto resisteret, contulit Domino Papæ sex millia marcarum ( No mean bribe in that age ) Et sic moderata est visitatio Archiepiscopi, exigentis visitationem plenariam: ita scilicet, quod nullam Ecclesiæ visitabit parochialem, nisi vocatus per loci rectorem, sed tantummodo Ecclesias Conventuales, non exemptas: & tunc non debet recipere pro procuratore sua, nisi quatuor tantum marcas. Hujus negotii tenor propensius intelligi potest per literas Domini Papæ, quæ in libro scribuntur Addamentorum. Diligens autem intentionum in ipsius perscrutator bene poterit intelligere, qualiter Episcopi

Angliam.

In Octavis autem beati Martini, applicuit in Anglia Archiepiscopus Canuariensis Bonifacius: cujus adventus nullum penitus lætificavit, imo, quod inviti dicimus, potius perturbavit. Reducebant enim omnes et singuli ad memoriam, quam inordinate, quam crudeliter se gerebat Londini, cum visitationem a viris religiosiis ibidem exigisset. Imo et qualiter Regnum multipliciter depauperaret, et Ecclesiam nunc undecim millia marcarum, et nuper sex millibus marcarum, quæ occasione suæ visitationis tyrannice extorquebantur. Necnon et qualiter nobilem Ecclesiam Canuariensem, cui tot sancti præfuerunt, enormiter succisis sylvis, et conculcato Conventu, depauperavit. Qualiter quoque optimos redditus alienigenis penitus, in suo tempore vacantes contulerit. Unde credebatur quod super Palustre fundamentum debile surgeret ædificium. Sed hoc Altissimi dispositioni est relinquendum.

Diebus sub eisdem, Dominus Papa ut ambabus partibus satisfaceret, & tolerabiliter providere & decrevit, ut Archiepisc. & alii Prælati ad quod spectat visitatio, visitationem facerent debitam & consuetam. Ita tamen, ut visitati non gravarentur in procurationibus visitantium, limitando taxavit pretium cujuscunque visitationis, prout literæ Addamentorum libri declarent, where they are thus recorded.

Volentes libertatem quam nonnullis Apostolica sedes privilegium exemptionis indulgit, sic integrum conservari, ut & illam alii non infringant, & ipsi ejus limites non excedant, declaratione irrefragabili diffinimus, quod quantacunque sic exempti gaudeant libertate, nihilominus tamen ratione delicti sive contractus aut rei de qua contra ipsos agitur, rite possunt eorum Ordinario conveniri: Et illi quoque ad hoc in suam ipsos *juramentum, prout jus exigit, exercere. Nunquid ergo carent omnino in iis commodo libertatis? Non utique: quia nec coram Ordinariis ipsis, dum sit in loco exempto commissum delictum, vel contractus initus, aut res litigiosa, nec ubi domicilium habent si alibi delinquant vel contrahant, aut res ipsa consistat, conveniri possunt aliquatenus super illis domiciliis prætextu locorum Diocesanorum. Si ubi delinquerunt vel contraxerint, aut res ipsa consistit, illi conveniantur remittendi, eos illuc vel ipsis, ut illuc respondeant, injungendi aliquam habent potestatem. Salvis nihilominus casibus aliis, in quibus eos Episcoporum jurisdictioni subesse Canonica præcipiunt instituta. Et id ipsum decrevimus circa illos, quibus ut non nisi sub uno judice teneantur de se conquerentibus respondere, Apostolico privilegio est commissum in eos, quibus ne interdici, suspendi vel excommunicari, à quoquam valeant, à sede Apostolica est indultum. Sicut sunt religiosi quamplures, in quorum privilegiis continetur, ne quisquam Episcopus vel Archiepiscopus, monasteriorum suorum monachos, pro ulla causa quantum ad ista, ubicunque illi fuerint, penitus exercere non possunt; nisi forsitan ipsi monachi ad monasteriorum suorum Prioratus eisdem Ordinariis subjectos, ut vel gerant ipsorum regimen, vel in eis tanquam locorum ipsorum proprii monachi resideant, fuerint destinati. Tunc enim, etsi liberè possint ad eadem monasteria revocari, ac tam illorum quam ipsorum Prioratum monachi recipi, cum non sit inconvegens aliquem utrobique locum habere monachi, cum unum alteri subesse monasterio vel ab alio noscitur dependere. Ratione tamen eorundem Prioratum, dicti Ordinarii sui jurisdictionem in ipsis, quoad præmissa quamdiu morantur in illis, licite uti possunt.

Sed in locis in quibus major fertilitas vel copia rerum haberetur, & ubi minores ſunt redditus, & Eccleſiaſticæ facultates, minus ſecundum ampliorem neceſſariorum ubertatem, & parvitatem proventuum, in ipſis procurationibus expendatur. The Abböt and Monks of Canterbury to make ſure work, not willing to fall under the Archbiſhops laſh, by great ſums of money procured ſeveral Bulls of Exemption and Priviledge from Pope Innocent 4. relating to Procurations, and likewise Exemptions from Popes Proviſions to their Benefices, at which the Archbiſhop grew ſo angry, that he burnt them at St. Albans before he had ſcarce read them over, as we are thus informed.

ANno Domini 1252. die Sancti Laurentii Archiepiscopi, electus est in Abbatem Rogerus de Cicestria Camerarius per viam compromissi, pro cuius benedictione Innocentius Papa 4. scripsit Bonifacio Archiepiscopo Cantuariensi inter cetera sic.

Quocirca fraternitatem tuam rogamus & monemus attentè, per Apostolica scripta tibi mandantes, quatenus eidem Rogero in Monasterio supradicto juxta tenorem compositionis inter Sanctam memoriam beati Edmundum Cantuariensem Archiepiscopum & Monasterium ipsum inita, ac per sedem Apostolicam, ut dicitur, confirmata, munus benedictionis impendas, recepturus ab ipso postmodum pro nobis & Romana Ecclesia fidelitatis debita iuramentum, secundum formam quam tibi sub Bulla nostra mittimus interclusam. Formam autem iuramenti quod ipse prestabit de verbo ad verbum per ejusdem Patentes Literas suo sigillo signatas per proprium nuncium nobis quantocius fudeas destinare. Alioquin liceas es quicumque malueris Ca holicum adire amissitum gratiam & communionem ejusdem sedis habentem, qui nostra fretus auctoritate sibi quod postulat impendat.

Archiepiscopo vero eidem electo in suo Monasterio sine professionis præstatione benedicere penitus recusante, die decollationis Sancti Johannis Baptista in Ecclesia sua ab Episcopo Lincolniensi benedictus, prælationis accepit dignitatem. Item, Innocentius 4. indulget etiam huic Ecclesie quod non tenemur ad provisiones nec provisiones admittere nisi sub certa forma. Tenor hujus talis.

INNOCENTIUS. Dilectorum filiorum precibus inclinati, eis per nostras Literas duximus indulgendum, ut per reservationes & inhibitiones quas sibi prætextu Literarum super quorumcumque provisionibus à sede Apostolica obtinentur per quas non sit plenum sui alteri adquisitum, seu impetrandarum, in posterum fieri contigerit, nullum possit eidem Abbati & Conventui fieri obstaculum interponi, quo minus Ecclesie & alia beneficia Ecclesiastica ad ipsorum collationem spectantia cum vacaverint conferre, ac ad Ecclesias que ad præsentationem ipsorum pertinent, personas idoneas presentare libere valeant, nisi eadem Litera impetranda plenam & expressam ac de verbo ad verbum de indulto hujusmodi & toto tenore ipsius fecerint mentionem. Hujus privilegii Abbas & Prior Sancti Edmundi existunt conservatores.

Idem indulget huic Monasterio autenticum privilegium, quod cum pensionarii nostri eliguntur in Episcopos, cessabit pensio eorundem, unde sic.

INNOCENTIUS Episcopus: & infra, Nos vestris supplicationibus annuentes, pensionem aliquam prætextu prioris concessionis cuiquam electo in Pontificem de cetero solvere minime teneamini. (A pretty Postern to evade this Bull.)

Item ne aliquis delegatus vel subdelegatus, executor vel conservator possit nos excommunicare. INNOCENTIUS Episcopus: & infra, Ut igitur ex speciali devotione quam ad nos & Romanam Ecclesiam ad quam Monasterium tuum, sicut dicitur, nullo medio pertinet, habere dignosceris, sentias tibi favorem Apostolicum acceperisse, ut nullus delegatus vel subdelegatus, executor aut etiam conservator auctoritate sedis Apostolicæ vel delegatorum ipsius, in te vel Ecclesiam tuam excommunicationis, suspensionis, cui interditi sententia valeat promulgare absque mandato sedis Apostolicæ speciali, faciente plenam de hac indulgentia mentionem, auctoritate tibi presentium indulgemus.

Item, aliud de procuracionibus non dandis de Ecclesiis quas habemus in proprios usus, illo tenore. INNOCENTIUS. Principalem causam: & infra, Ecclesia igitur vestra sedi Apostolicæ immediatè subiecta, à futuris gravaminibus quibus tales, impellente plerisque ad hac res invidia, interdum solent affici, providere volentes, auctoritate presentium districte inhibemus, ne quis prætextu Ecclesiarum quas sunt vobis in usus proprios per sedem Apostolicam deputata, procuraciones rantes visitationis à vobis exigere vel extorquere, seu alia vobis aut Ecclesiis ipsis imponere onera contra iustitiam quous

INNOCENTIUS Episcopus servus servorum Dei, venerabili fratri Bonifacio Archiepiscopo, &c. Licet Monasterium Sancti Augustini Cantuar. ordinis Sancti Benedicti eo favorabiliter prosequi debeamus quod ad Romanam Ecclesiam nullo pertinet mediante, inde tamen illud specialiori amplectamur in Domino charitate, quod inter alia ejusdem ordinis Monasteria, & regularis observantia, & hospitalitatis bonum, prout accepimus, præcipue locum obtinet in eodem. Sanè olim sub certa forma per nostras tibi Literas dedimus in præceptis, ut statuta pro reformatione dicti ordinis à felicitis recordationis Gregorio Papa prædecessore nostro edita, faceres ab universis personis ejusdem ordinis in Civitate & Diocesi exacta diligentia observari. Quorum Literarum auctoritate super hoc præceptum Apostolicum exequens, diligenter in præfato Monasterio, ut dicitur, processisti: cum igitur de ipsius Monasterii personarum religione ac vita bonam habentes opinionem fide dignorum testimoniis informatam, sententias si quas ob hoc in personas sepelidicti Monasterii promulgasti, relaxari mandamus, fraternitatem tuam rogandam duximus & orandam per Apostolica scripta mandantes, quatenus prædictarum Literarum occasione ipsius personas Monasterii ulterius non molestes, sed habas ipsas cum eodem Monasterio pro nostra & Apostolica sedis reverentia, in suis iuribus propensius commendatas, adversus aliorum molestias ejusdem, quantum in te est, favorabilem & benivolum te impendens. Sed idem Archiepiscopus mandatis Apostolicis non parens, prædictas sententias in Monasterium & diversas personas ejusdem latas non revocavit, sed easdem ratas & firmas esse promulgavit; unde Abbas Rogerus pro remedio salubriori Dominum Papam iterum consultare coactus est.

Anno igitur Domini 1253. ab Abbate de Waltham in hujusmodi negotio per Dominum Innocentium Papam 4. delegato, emanavit eidem Archiepiscopo mandatum sub hac forma. Venerabili in Christo Patri Bonifacio, &c. E. eadem gratia Abbas de Waltham, &c. Mandatum Domini Papa suscepimus in hac verba. Nos igitur dilectorum filiorum Abbatis & Conventus Monasterii Sancti Augustini Cantuarie dicti ordinis precibus inclinati, præsentium vobis auctoritate mandamus, quatenus si quas excommunicationis, suspensionis vel interdicti sententias idem Archiepiscopus in eundem Abbatem vel personas alias ejusdem Monasterii, ipsumque Monasterium, Literarum auctoritate hujusmodi, per se vel per alium promulgavit, vos ipsas vice nostra sine difficultate aliqua relaxantes, non permittatis eosdem Literarum vel sententiarum ipsarum prætextu ab aliis quibus molestari, molestatores hujusmodi per censuram Ecclesiasticam appellatione postposita compescendo, Non obitante, &c. Hujus igitur auctoritatis mandati si quas suspensionis, excommunicationis, vel interdicti sententias, mandando Abbatem vel personas alias ejusdem Monasterii, ipsumque Monasterium protulisti, ipsas secundum formam præscripti mandati relaxamus, paternitatem vestram rogantes, vobisque firmiter injungentes, quatenus ipsos occasione dictarum sententiarum nullatenus molestatis, prædictam relaxationem in singulis Ecclesiis vestre Civitatis & Diocesis publicè denunciari facientes.

auctoritate praesentium facultatem, non obstantibus aliquibus Literis venerabilis fratri nodirectis, & processibus habitis per easdem, de quibus forsitan oporteat fieri mentionem, & eti-am obtinendis, licet contineatur in eisdem Literis Apostolicis non obstante, si aliquibus Abbatibus, Prioribus, aut Monachis, & eorum collegiis quod excommunicari, suspendi, vel interdicti non valeant à sede Apostolica sit indultum, siue quibuscunque indulgentiis, privilegiis, immunitatibus seu Literis Apostolicis obtentis vel etiam obtinendis, & aliis etiam per quae hoc impediri vel deferri valeat, & de quibus vel de quorumlibet ordinibus vel locis, aut eorum nominibus in nostris Literis specialem & expressam oporteat fieri mentionem. Hujus privilegii sunt conservatores Abbas de Waltham & de Bello.*

Indulgit etiam huic Monasterio idem Papa, quod per Literas Apostolicas vel Legatorias de Ecclesiis nostris vel pensionibus non tenemur providere. Istam sequens formam.

INNOCENTIUS Episcopus, &c. Devotionis vestrae merita: & infra. Hinc
est quod nos vestris supplicationibus inclinati, devotioni vestrae auctoritate praesentium indulgemus, ut nulli de cetero per Literas Apostolicas vel Legatorias Apostolica sedis impetratas, nisi jam sit earum auctoritate processum, vel etiam impetrandas, de beneficiis Ecclesiasticis in quibus jus patronatus habetis, aut pensionibus in Monasterio vestro vel
Ecclesiis vestris provideri valeat, nec vos vel rectores Ecclesiarum ipsarum per huiusmodi Literas ad cuiuscunque provisionem in praedictis beneficiis vel pensionibus compelli possitis, nisi plena & expressa in eisdem Literis Apostolicis de Monasterio Sancti Augustini Cantuarie, & huiusmodi toto tenore indulgentia mentio habeatur, etiam si in eisdem Literis continetur expressum, quod ipsis aliqua sedis Apostolica indulgentia non obstat sub qua-cunque forma vel expressione verborum aliquibus concessa, per quam facta eis gratia impediri valeat vel differri, aut de qua vel de cuius tenore specialem vel expressam, seu de verbo ad verbum fieri oporteat in nostris Literis mentionem. Conservatores huius privilegii Abbas Sancti Edmundi cum suo Priore.

Idem concessit huic Monasterio suum autenticum privilegium, scilicet quod possu-mus semper providere de Ecclesiis vacantibus, quamvis Papa suspendit et reservat tibi collationem, sub isto tenore.

INNOCENTIUS Episcopus. Devotionis vestrae: & infra. Vestris itaque pro-

curam animarum annexam, nunc vacantes vel in posterum vacaturas, in quibus jus patrona-generales vel speciales factis aut in posterum faciendis; etiam si in eisdem Literis continetur expressio, quod aliqua ipsis Apostolica sedis indulgentia non obstat, de qua oporteat etiam de verbo ad verbum fieri mentionem. Conservatores huius illi qui supra.

Idem etiam, quod nec per generales nec per speciales Literas Papa vel Legati de Ecclesiis nostris prohibere non debemus.

INNOCENTIUS, & infra, Vestris itaque precibus inclinati, auctoritate vestris presentium indulgemus, ut per Apostolica sedis vel legatorum ipsius literas generales vel etiam speciales cuiuscunque tenoris existant, nulli vobis in viciis de Ecclesiis in quibus iam patronatus habeatis valeat provideri, nec vos ad providendum de illis cogi aliquatenus valeatis, nisi eadem litera Apostolica plenam & expressam de vestro monasterio & hac indulgentia usque toto tenore fecerint mentionem, etiam citatur in illis quod eis aliqua indulgentia sedis Apostolica non obstat, de qua oporteat etiam de verbo ad verbum fieri mentionem. Defensores huius privilegii, conservatores suprascripti.

Idem etiam concessit Abbati & huius loci Monachis, & indulgit ne ultra duas digtas à nostro Monasterio super hiis quæ idem obtinet negotii trahi in causas vel ad iudicium per Apostolicas literas, nisi eadem literæ plenam & expressam fecerint de indulgencia mentionem. Conservatores huius Abbas & Prior prænominati.

Item de confirmatione libertatum huius monasterii sic.

INNOCENTIUS Episcopus: & infra. Propterea dilecti in Domino filii, vestris iustis postulacionibus grato concurrentes assensu, libertates & immunitates ac iura à prædecessoribus nostris Monasterio vestro concessa, necnon exemptiones secularium exaltionum a regibus, principibus, & aliis Christi fidelibus rationabiliter vobis indultas, ter-ras quoque, possessiones & alia bona vestra, sicut ea omnia iuste ac pacifice optinatis, vobis & per vos eidem Monasterio auctoritate Apostolica confirmamus.

The procuring of these exemptions, involved the Abbot & Covent of Canterbury in debts amounting to above 4000 Marks, for discharge whereof they were inforced to mortgage six of their best manors to * John de Galesden Knight upon very hard prejudicial termes, ne penitus in abyssum confusionis demergerentur.

The Prelates and Nobles refusing to grant the King any ayde toward his voyage to the Holy Land, upon the forementioned Bulls to the King, he was enforced to summon them to a new Parliament, and there to crave an ayde of them in a legall Parliamentary way, which they after many debates condescended to grant, upon the Kings promise to ratify the Great Charter of Liberties and the Forreist, and the free-

mutaverint clam vel palam, facto, verbo, vel consilio, contra illas vel earum aliquam, in quocunque articulo temere veniendo. Item, in illos qui contra illas vel earum statuta, aliqua ediderint vel edicta servaverint, consuetudines introduxerint, vel servaverint introductas, scriptores statutorum, necnon consiliarios & executores, & qui secundum ea præsumpserint judicare. Qui omnes & singuli superius memorati, hanc sententiam incursuros se noverint ipso facto, qui sciens aliquid commiserint de prædictis, qui vero ignoranter, nisi commotis, infra quindenam a tempore commotionis se correxerint, ex tunc sint hac sententia involuti. Eadem etiam sententia innodamus omnes illos, qui pacem Regis & Regni præsumpserint perturbare. In cuius memoriam sempiternam nos sigilla nostra presentibus duximus apponenda. Pro-taque fuit in medium Charta patris sui I. in qua iterum concessit idem Rex I. mera voluntate, & recitari fecit libertates supradictas. Dum autem Rex memoratam sententiam audisset, tenuit manum suam ad pectus suum sereno vultu, voluntario, & alacri. Et cum in fine projecissent candelas extinctas & fumigantes, & diceretur, & forteant hujus sententiae incursores in inferno, & campanæ pulsarentur, dixit ipse Rex: Sic me Deus adiuvet, hæc omnia illibata servabo fideliter, sicut sum homo, sicut sum Christianus, sicut sum miles, & sicut sum Rex coronatus, & inunctus. Et scendum quod in principio sententiae ferendæ, cum traderentur omnibus candelæ accensæ, tradita fuit Regi una, & cum accepisset eam, noluit eam tenere, sed tradidit cuidam Prælatorum, dicens: Non decet me candelam talem tenere, non enim sum Sacerdos; Cor autem majus perhibet testimonium. Et ex tunc tenuit manum expansam ad pectus, donec tota sententia finiretur. Episcopus autem Lincolniensis Robertus præconizans in corde suo, & timens ne Rex à pactis resiliret, fecit illico cum rediret in Episcopatum suum excommunicari solenniter, in qualibet Ecclesia Parochiali per Diocesim suam, quæ præ numerositate sua vix possunt æstimari, & præcipue Sacerdotes omnes supradictarum Chartarum infractores, quæ sententia potuit aures audientium tinnire, & corda non mediocriter formidare. Yet none violated these Charters more then the Pope and his instruments; and the King by the Popes own instigations.

The King having imployed the Bishop of Chichester, as his prime agent to preach up and collect the monies granted him by the Prelates and Popes Croysado towards the relief of the Holy Land, sent this Letter to the Pope in his favour, to bestow Provisions of Beneficies and livings on some of his Chaplains, for their encouragement and recompence of this service, within the Diocese of Canterbury not Chichester.

REX Domino Papæ salutem. Hinc est, quod pro venerabili patre Episcopo Cyestr. qui ad mandatum vestrum & instantiam nostram præ aliis terræ nostræ Prælati quibus idem mandastis officium prædicationis Crucis Christi, devotius assumpsit & laboriosè exequitur diligentius, Sanctitati vestræ cum ea qua possumus affectione supplicamus, quatinus devotionem ipsius, tenuitatem ac raritatem beneficiorum, Episcopatus sui, onus quod gratis subit & exequitur, in negotio Crucis attendentes, ac eidem precum nostrarum interventu compatiens, per literas vestras sibi concedere dignemini, ut ad exonerationem suæ Ecclesiæ sibi committæ Theodos. de Lavan. Capellano vestro in provincia Canuar. secundum directarum ad ipsum prius super ejusdem Capellani provisione, in Civitate vel Diocesi Cicest. continentiam literarum, auctoritate vestra valeat providere. I. Dei gratia summo Pontifici, H. Dei gratia Rex Anglie; &c. salutem. Non ignorat sanctitas vestra quod cum Dominus I. Rex pater noster vitam excessit, præsentem nobis adhuc infra adultam ætatem existentibus, sub alis sedis Apostolicæ defensi fuimus contra multorum inimicorum incursum, & tunc caractere Crucis insigniti, quem postea consilio quorundam ab humeris nostris deponentes, meruimus à vobis Crucis ad tempus absolvi. Sed jam non immemores horum quæ tunc nobis acciderunt, Crucem de novo saluberrimo voto, sicut sanctitati vestræ non est incognitum, humeris nostris assumpsimus. Verum cum non sit tantum unitus Principis opus negotium Crucis ut tanta res exposulat adimplere, sanctitatem vestram cum mentis affectu devouissimè rogamus, quatinus generaliter per cetera Regna Christianorum, Crucis negotium solempniter prædicari simul, & passagium nostrum quod statutum est à festo Nativitatis sancti Johannis Baptista proximo futuro in tres annos, per prædicatores publicari fac. Principes etiam & alios Christianos Crucesignatos modis quibus expedire videritis moveri jubeatis & induci, quod ad terminum prædictum secundum votorum suorum exigentiam, proficiantur ad impendendum una nobiscum negotio Crucis subsidium desideratum. Nos etiam per Crucifixi misericordiam totis viribus mentis & Corporis, cæterisque adminiculis secularibus iter nostrum præparabimus exequendum, prædictum negotium Crucis ad excellentiam honoris ipsius, cujus amore Crucem bajulamus. Cæterum cum soli non valeamus sine cæterorum fidelium auxilio, votum Crucis ut deceret expedire, perquam durum nobis esset quod gens nostra propria crucesignata se diverteret alias quam nobiscum in Terram sanctam, cum præcipue de gente propria majorem geramus fiduciam quam aliena; super prædictis igitur tam sancta Terra quam nobis solita clementiæ vestræ providentia salubriter prospicere non omittat. Teste Rege apud Westm. 28. die Januarii.

The King to ingratiate himself with the Clergy of Ireland, the better to promote the levying of his disme there towards his voyage to the Holy Land, commanded his Justice in Ireland to provide cups for the Eucharist for all Cathedrals there, and to bestow almes on the Freres Minorites and Preachers, who were principally employed to preach up that Croyssado.

What occurrences and bribes to the Pope hapned this year concerning visitations and exemptions from them, is thus related.

Mat. Paris Hist.

Tunc quoque temporis, Papa argumentose nimis intendens, injunxit Episcopis, ut quilibet Abbates et Conventus in sua Diocesi constitutos visitaret. Injungens eisdem, ut cogerent eos sub pena excommunicationis observare quoddam articulos regulæ sancti Benedicti impertinentes, nec sunt de regulæ substantia, quos iidem Monachi nunquam tenere consueverunt, nec voverunt. Francia vero Monachi Nigri ordinis, videntes se Regali munimine penitus destitutos, ne arbitrio Episcoporum, quibus exoti sunt maxime privilegii, exponerentur, cogitaverunt sibi pacem redimere. Datæ igitur quatuor millibus librarum Turonensium Papæ, sic hujusmodi tyrannidis impetum compescuerunt. Cujus rei series & articuli, in libro Adalamentorum plenius describuntur. (where you may peruse them at your leisure, p. 173. to 179.) Abbas autem & Conventus sancti Albani, appellaverunt ad præsentiam Domini Papæ, ne ab Episcopo Lincolnensi

mensi visitarentur, quia sic eorum privilegia cassarentur. The form of their procuration you may find in his Addamenta, p. 184.

Per idem tempus, Archiepiscopus B. facta visitatione apud Feverham & Rossam, visitavit Canonicos sancti Pauli & alios in urbe. Et propter moderationem admissus est benigne. Et hæc caute fecit, ut scilicet sic visitandi haberet ingressum et possessionem.

You heard before, * how much Groshead Bishop of Lincolne opposed the Popes Provisions, directed to him, for which the Pope suspended him from his Bishoprick; whereupon he Writ, and sent this notable Epistle to Pope Innocent, rendering him the reasons why he was bound in conscience to disobey his unjust Letters and provisions, as most contrary to the Doctrin and practise of Christ and his Apostles; and most great and heinous offences, tending to the destruction of peoples souls; and that no Bishop or other person, was bound to obey any of the Popes Mandates as Apostolical, but what were warranted by the Doctrin and Practise of Christ and his Apostles, thus recorded by Matthæw Paris.

*Diebus sub eisdem, cum Dominus Papa Innocentius 4. significasset per Apostolicam scriptam, precipiendo Episc. Lincoln. R. quatenus quiddam faceret, quod ei videbatur injustum et rationi dissonum, prout frequenter fecerat illi et aliis Anglia Prelatis, rescripsit ei in hæc verba, Salutem. Noverit discretio vestra, quod Mandatis Apostolicis affectione filiali devotè & reverenter obedio. His quoque quæ Mandatis Apostolicis adversantur paternum zelans honorem, adversor & obsto. Ad utrumque enim teneor ex divino Mandato. Apostolica enim Mandata, non sunt, nec esse possunt alia, quam Apostolorum doctrinæ; et ipsius Domini nostri Jesu Christi Apost. magistri et Domini, cujus typum et personam maxime gerit in Hierarchia Ecclesiæ Dominus Papa consona et conforini.*

*Ait enim Dominus ipse noster Jesus Christus Qui non est mecum, contra me est.* Contra ipsum autem nec est, nec esse potest Apostolicæ sedis sanctitas divinissima. Non est igitur prædictæ literæ tenor, Apostolicæ sanctitati consonus, sed absonus plurimum & discors. Primo quia de illius literæ & ei consimilium longè lateque dispersarum superaccumulato * Non obstant te, nec ex legis naturalis observanda necessitate inducto, scatet cataclysmus inconstantiæ, audaciæ, et procacitatis, inberecundiæ, mentiendi, fallendi, dissidenter alicui credendi, vel fidem adhibendi: et ex his consequentium vitiozum, quorum non est numerus, Christianæ religionis puritatem, et socialis conversationis hominum tranquillitatem commovens et perturbans. Præterea, post peccatum Luciferi, quod idem erit in fine temporum ipsius filii perditionis Antichristi, quem interficiet Dominus spiritu oris sui, non est, nec esse potest alterum genus peccati, tam adversum et contrarium Apostolorum doctrinæ et Evangelicæ, et ipsi Domino Jesu Christo tam odibile, detestabile, et tam adominabile, quam animas curæ Pastoralis officii et Ministerii defraudatione mortificare et perdere. Quod peccatum evidentiissimis scripturæ sacræ testimoniis committere dignoscuntur, qui in potestate curæ pastoralis constituti, de lace et lana ovium Christi bibificandarum et salvandarum pastoralis officii et Ministerii salarium comparant, debita non administrant. Ipsa enim ministeriorum pastoralium non administratio, est scripturæ testimonio, ovium occisio & perditio. Quod autem hæc duo genera peccatorum, licet dispariter sint pessima, & omne alterum genus peccati inæstimabiliter superexcedentia, manifestum ex hoc, quod ipsa sunt duobus existentibus & dictis, licet dispariter & dissimiliter, optimis directè contraria: pessimum enim est, quod optimo contrarium. Quantum autem est indictis peccantibus, unum peccaminum est ipsius Deitatis supersentialiter & supernaturaliter optima. Alterum verò deformitatis & deificationis, ex divini radii gratifica participatione essentialiter & naturaliter optimæ interemptio; & quia sicut in bonis, causa boni melior est suo causato, sic & in malis, causa mali pejor est suo causato. Manifestum, quoniam talium pessimorum interemptorum deformitatis & deificationis in ovibus ovibus Christi in Ecclesia Dei introductiones, ipsius pessimis interemptoribus sunt peiores, Lucifero et Antichristo proximiores, et in hac pejoritate gradatim, quanto magis superexcellentes, quia ex majore et divinis potestate sibi divinitus in ædificationem, non in destructionem, tradita, magis tenerentur ab Ecclesia Dei tales interemptores pessimos excludere et extirpare. Non potest igitur sanctissima sedes Apostolica, cui à sancto sanctorum Domino Jesu Christo tradita est potestas omnimoda, testante Apostolo in ædificationem, non in destructionem, aliquid urgens in hujusmodi peccatum, Domino Jesu Christo tam odibile, detestabile, & abominabile, & humano generi summè perniciosum, vel mandare, vel præcipere, vel quoque modo ad aliquid tale conari. Hoc enim esset suæ potestatis evidenter sanctissimæ et plenissimæ, vel defectio, vel corruptio, vel abusus, vel a throno gloriæ Domini nostri Jesu Christi omnimodo elongatio, et in Cathedra pestilentis, poenarum gehennarum duobus prædictis tenebrarum principibus proximo coaccessio. Nec potest quis immaculata et sincera obedientia eidem sedi subditus et fidelis, et a corpore Christi, et eadem sancta sedi per schisma non abscissus, mandatis vel præceptis, vel quibuscunque conaminibus, undecunque emanantibus, et si a supremo Angelorum ordine, obtemperare, sed necesse habet totis viribus contradicere et rebellare. Propter hoc, reverendi Domini, ego ex debito obedientiæ & fidelitatis qua teneor verique parenti Apostolicæ sedi sanctissimæ, & ex amore unionis in corpore Christi cum ea, his quæ in prædicta litera continentur, & maximè, quia, ut prædictum, ad peccatum Domino Jesu Christo abominabilissimum, et humano generi perniciosissimum evidenter vergunt, et Apostolicæ sedis sanctitati omnino adverfantur, et contrariantur Catholicæ fidei, unice, filialiter, et obedienter non obedio, contradico et rebello. Nec ob hoc potest inde vestra discretio quicquam durum contra me statuere, quia omnis mea in hac parte & contradictio & actio, nec contradictio est nec rebellio, sed filialis divino mandato debita patri & vestri honoratio. Breviter autem recolligens dico, Apostolicæ sedis sanctitas non potest nisi quæ in ædificationem sunt, et non destructionem: hæc enim est potestatis plenitudo, omnia posse in ædificationem. Hæc autem quas vocant provisiones, non sunt in ædificationem, sed in manifestissimam destructionem. Non igitur eas potest beata sedes Apostolica acceptare, quia caro et sanguis, quæ Regnum Dei non possidebunt, eas revelabit, et non Pater Domini nostri Jesu Christi, qui est in cælis.

Mat. 16. 17.

How strangely passionate Pope Innocent grew upon the reading of these Letters, what Oathes, yea most proud insolent speeches, he used both of the King of England, styling him not only his vassal, but slave, and of this Learned conscientious Bishop for reprehending, disobeying his impious, unapostolical mandates; and how unlike he was to our Saviour Jesus Christ, or St. Peter, whose Vicar and Successor he pretended himself, this ensuing narrative will discover.

Papa indignatur valde lectis
Literis Episcopi
Lincoln.

Hæc cum ad Domini Papæ audientiam pervenissent, non se capiens præ ita et indignatione, torbo aspectu et superbo animo ait: Quis est iste senex delirus, surdus & absurdus, qui facta audax, imò temerarius, judicat? Per Petrum et Paulum, nisi moveret nos innata ingenuitas, ipsum in tantam confusionem præcipitarem, ut toti mundo fabula foret, stupor, exemplum, et prodigium. Nonne Rex Anglorum noster est Assallus, et ut plus dicam, mancipium, qui potest eum nutu nostro incarcerare, et ignominie mancipare? Et cum hæc inter fratres Cardinales recitarentur, vix compescentes impetum Papæ, dixerunt ei, Non expediret, Domine, ut aliquid durum contra ipsum Episcopum statueremus, ut enim vera fateamur, vera sunt quæ dicit. Non possumus eum condemnare. Catholicus est, imò et sanctissimus, nobis religiosior, nobis et sanctior, excellentior, et excelcellentioris vite, ita ut non credatur inter omnes Prælatos majorem, imo nec parem habere. Novit hoc Gallicana & Anglicana Cleri universitas, nostra non prævaleret-contradictio. Hujusmodi Epistolæ veritas, quæ jam fortè multis innotuit, multos contra nos poterit commovere. Magnus enim habetur Philosophus, Latinis & Græcis Literis ad plenum eruditus, zelator justitiæ, lector in Theologiæ Scholis, prædicator in populo, castitatis amator, persecutor simoniacum. Hæc dixerunt Dominus Egidius Hispanus Cardinalis, & alii, quos propria tangebant conscientia. Consilium dederunt Domino Papæ, ut omnia hæc conniventibus oculis sub dissimulatione transire permitteret, ne super hoc tumultus excitaretur. Maxime propter hoc, quia scitur, quod quandoque discessio est ventura.

Diebus sub eisdem, cum dies caniculares suam exercuissent malitiam, Episcopus Lincolniensis Robertus apud Bukelonam Manerium suum, decubuit graviter infirmatus. Vocavit igitur ad se quendam fratrem de ordine Prædicatorum, Magistrum Johannem de Sancto Egidio, in arte peritum Medicinali, & in Theologia lectorem, eleganter eruditum & erudientem, ut ab eo corporis & animæ reciperet consolationem. Novit enim in spiritu, tribulationem in proximo Ecclesiæ ingruere, quam non providimus. Unde præcepit Sacerdotibus per suam Diocesim constitutis, ut solenniter in omnes Chartarum Magnarum de Regni libertatibus violatores, ubicunque cognoscerent homines conventuros, sententiam Excommunicationis indefessè innovarent. Cui præcepto quidam aulici tam Clerici quam Laici, procaciter resistentes, Presbyteris contumelias inferebant. Unde ex ipso facto, ipsos novimus vinculo anathematis irretitos. Et cum una dierum confabularetur Episcopus cum memorato fratre Johanne physico, recitando facta Papæ, redarguit graviter confratres suos Prædicatores, & alios, similiter Minoribus non pepercit, eo quod ordo eorum idcirco in paupertate voluntaria, quæ est paupertas spiritus, salubriter constituitur, ut liberius vitia potentum non palpent, sed censoria austeritate acriter reprehendant. Quia

In hoc autem, quod tu frater Johannes, & alii Prædicatores peccata magnatum audacter non redarguis, & facinora non detunicatis, hæreticos censo manifestos. Et addidit Episcopus, Quid est hæresis? Da definitionem. Et cum hæsitasset frater, non recolens authenticam ipsius rei rationem ac definitionem, subjunxit Episcopus fidei interpretatione Græci idiomatis in Latinum: Hæresis est sententia humano sensu electa, scriptura sacra contraria, palam edocta, pertinaciter defensa. Hæresis Græcè, electio Latine. Et consequenter subjunxit, reprehendens Prælatos maxime Romanos; qui consanguineis suis indignis, ætate et scientia insufficientibus, curam committunt animarum. Dare curam animarum parvulo, sententia est alicujus Prælati, humano sensu electa propter carnem vel terrenitatem. Et est contraria scripturæ sanctæ, quæ prohibet fieri Pastores, qui non sunt idonei ad arcendum lupos: & est palam edocta, quia manifeste portatur Charta sigillata vel Bullata, et est pertinaciter defensa, quia si quis voluerit contradicere, suspenditur, excommunicatur, et super eum præsum sanctificatur. Cui tota definitio hæretici convenit, hæreticus est. Sed quisquæ fidelis tenetur opponere se hæretico quantum potest, qui ergo potest contradicere, & non contradicit, peccat, & videtur fautor esse, secundum illud Gregorii: Non caret scrupulo societatis occultæ, qui manifesto facinori desinit obviare. Sed fratres tam Minores quam Prædicatoris maxime obligantur ad oppositionem contra talem, cum utrique habeant ex officio gratiam prædicandi, sunt ad illud officium per paupertatem liberiores: non solum peccant, si ei non contradicunt, imo fautores ipsius existunt, sicut & Apostolus ad Romanos, id est, non solum qui talia agunt, sed qui consentiunt, digni sunt morte. Potest ergo concludi, quod tantum Papa, nisi ab hoc vitio cesset, quam dicat fratres, nisi curiosos se exhibeant ad arcendum talem, digni sunt morte, scilicet perpetua. Item dicit Decretalis, quod super tali vitio, videlicet hæresi, potest et debet Papa accusari.

Et quia noctes tunc temporis in longum protrahebantur, erat autem tertia nox ante festum Sancti Dionysii, Episcopus lethali tædio & infirmitate prægravatus, accersiri præcepit aliquos de Clericis suis, ut saltem mutuis colloquutionibus recrearentur, quibus Episcopus dolens de iactura animarum per Papalis Curie avaritiam, suspirans ait, *Christus venit in mundum ut animas lucraretur: Ergo si quis animas perdere non formidet, nonne Antichristus merito est detestendus? Dominus sex diebus mundum condidit universum, sedus hominem reparare plus quam triginta annis laboravit; nonne ergo animarum destrudor inimicus Dei et Antichristus censetur? Privilegia Sanctorum Pontificum Romanorum prædecessorum suorum, Papa impudenter annullare per hoc repagulum, Non obstante, non erubescit, quod non sit sine eorum præiudicio et injuria manifesta: sic enim reprobat et diruit, quod tanti et tot Sancti edificarunt; ecce Sanctorum contemptus! Merito igitur contemptor contemnetur, secundum illud Isaia, Va qui spernis, nonne contemneris? Quis ejus privilegia conservabit? Errorem suum ad hoc respondens Papa sic tuetur, Par in parem non habes imperium: Ergo Papa me Papam minime prævalet obligare. Ad hoc respondeo, ait Episcopus, Mibi videtur, non sunt pariter navigans in mundi periculo, & gratulans in portus securitate. Da, ut aliquis Papa salvetur. Absit dicere contrarium; dicit Salvator, Qui minor est in Regno celorum, major est Johanne Baptista, quo major inter natos mulierum nemo surrexit. Nonne major est ergo aliquis Papa dator privilegiorum vel confirmator, isto vivente? Profecto, major mihi videtur, ergo in minorem habet imperium, non igitur debet præteritorum. Nonne dicit Papa de suis plerisque prædecessoribus, ille vel ille pia recordationis prædecessor noster, &c. & sæpè, auctoritate Sancti prædecessoris nostri vestigiis, &c. Quare ergo quæ jecerunt, diruunt fundamenta quæ sequuntur? Plures Apostolici viri unum aliquod privilegium prius pie concessum confirmarunt. Nonne plures divina gratia salvati, majores sunt uno solo adhuc periclitante? Item, antiqui Patres nostri viri Apostolici tempore sunt priores; et quos antiqui temporis attollit reverentia, venerabiles habere tenemur. Hoc bene attendebat Sanctus virtute venerabilis Benedictus, omnium spiritu sanctorum repletus in regula sua; qui prius venientes qualescunque authenticis viris tardius ad ordinem accedentibus præponit, & esse præcipit venerabiles & priores. Unde ergo hæc injuriosa temeritas, privilegia antiquorum sanctorum multorum in irritum revocare?*

p. 847, 848.
Lugubris querimonia de oppressionibus Ecclesiarum.

Præterea, etsi multi alii viri Apostolici Ecclesiam affligerint, ille gravius aliis coegit ancillari, et inconvenientia multiplicavit. Causæ enim manifestæ usurariis, quos Sancti Patres & Doctores nostris, quos vidimus & audimus, videlicet Magister eximius in Francia Prædicator, Abbas quoque de Flay Cisterciensis ordinis, Magister Jacobus de Viteri, Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus Stephanus exulans, Magister Robertus de Curcum, prædicando à partibus Francia ejecerunt, quia antea hæc pesse Anglia non laborabat, iste Papa suscitavit et protegit suscitatos; et si quis obloquatur, damnis et laboribus, teste Episcopo Londinensi Rogero, fatigatur. Novit mundus, quod usura detestabilis habetur in utroque Testamento et a Deo prohibetur, nunc Domini Papæ Mercatores vel Scambiatores, obmurmurantibus Judæis, palam Londini scenantur, viris Ecclesiasticis et maxime religiosis diversa machinantur grabamina, cogentes quos gravat egestas mentiri, et signa sua scriptis mendacibus appendere: quod est idololatrare; et veritati, quæ Deus est abrenunciare. Verbi gratia, mutuo accipio marcas per annum pro centum libris: cogor conficere scriptum & signare, in quo confiteor me centum libras mutuo in fine anni solvendas recepisse. Et si fortè sortem pecuniæ tibi infra mensem vel dies pauciores adquisi tam usurario Papali solvere volueris, non recipiet, nisi integraliter centum libras: Quæ conditio gravior est quam Judæorum, quia quandocunque sortem Judæo attuleris, recipiet benigrè, cum tanto lucro quod tempore tanto se commensurat. Præterea, novimus Papam fratribus Prædicatorum & Minoribus præcepisse, ut morituris assistentes, quos inquirant diligenter, persuadeant urgens, ut condant testamenta sua ad commodum & subsidium Terræ Sanctæ, & crucem assumant, assumant, ut cum convaluerint substantiolas eorum emungant, vel si moriantur ab executoribus tantum recipiantur vel extorqueatur. Cruce quoque signatos personis Laicis, sicut quondam in templo oves et boves venditari consueverunt, vendit apponendo. Inspeimusque Literam Papalem, in qua insertum reperimus, quod testamenta condentes, vel crucem suscipientes, et subsidium Terræ Sanctæ impendentes, tantundem recipient indulgentiæ, quantum pecuniæ largientur. Præcepit insuper Papa multis suis scriptis, Prælati, ut tali vel tali alieno et absenti et penitus indigno, qui nec Literas vel linguam nobis indigenarum, ut prædicare posset vel confessiones recipere, vel saltem propter pauperes reficiendos et transeuntes suscipiendos, residentiarii facere, providere in Ecclesiastico beneficio, quantum vel quale duceret acceptandum. Item scimus Dominum Papam scripsisse Abbati de Santo Albano, ut provideret cuidam Johanni de Camezani, quem nunquam viderat, in beneficio competenti: et infra hęc tempus provisum est ei in Ecclesia, quæ annuatim 40. marcas et amplius valebat: sed ipse eam non contentus, conquestus est Papæ. Scripsit igitur Papa Abbati memorato, ut dicto Clerico uberius provideretur: nihilominus tamen reservata eidem Domino Papæ prioris Ecclesiæ donatione. Et non post hæc dies multos venerunt ad prædicti Abbatis coenobium, duæ satis despicabiles personæ Literas Papales deferentes; in quarum tenore insertum fuit, ut illico ipsis viris nobilibus ad sua negotia expedienda sine difficultate ad manum decem marcas Abbas conferret, quibus ampullosa et minantia verba proferentibus, Abbas finem fecit. De viris quoque sanctis et literatis, qui sæculum ordine irreversibili pro Deo imitando reliquerunt, suos facit Papæ telonarios, ad pecuniam argumentose extorquendam. Quod & ipsi onus inviti suscipiunt, ne inobedientes esse videantur. Et sic de secularibus sunt seculariores, & mentitur in eis tragulorum vilitas, dum sub habitu paupertatis spiritus habitat elationis; et quia non debet mitti in Angliam Legatus, nisi a Rege postulatus, mittit Papa Legatos sophisticos et transformatos, sed non rubellis vestibus redimitos, magnis armatos potestatibus, nec est difficile exemplum invenire. Tot enim frequenter adveniunt hujusmodi, ut eorum nomina audientibus tædium generaret. Cæterum, quod videre non consuevi, concedit Papa ob favorem secularem, ut aliquis Episcopatum obtineat, nec tamen Episcopus existat; sed electus sempiternus: quod tantundem significat, ut lac et lanam habeat ovium, lupos tamen non abigendo, pristinos etiam redditus retinendo. Et cum hæc et alia enormia, videlicet omne genus avaritiæ, usuram, symoniam et rapinam, omne genus luxuriæ, libidinem, gulam, et ornatum, quæ in Curia illa regnant, detestaretur, ut vere de ipsa judicatur,

Ejus avaritiæ totus non sufficit orbis,
Ejus luxuriæ meretricis non sufficit omnis.

Restebatur prosequi, quomodo consilia Curia illa, ut Jordani inquit in os ejus, patulo hiatu aspirabat, ut etiam bona intestatorum et distinate legatorum sibi usurparent; et ut licentius hoc facerent, Regem in rapinis suis consortem facerent et participem. Nec liberabitur Ecclesia ab Egyptiæ servitute, nisi in ore gladii cruciendâ. Sed hæc profecto levia, sed in brevi, scilicet hoc triennio, ventura sunt graviora. In calce vero hujusmodi prophetiæ locutionis, quem præsumptibus singulis, lachrymis, & suspiriis vix pronunciaſſet, abbreviata eſt lingua ejus, & deficiente habitu, organum vocis ſiluit mutilatum.

Mort. Episcopii
Lincolniensis Roberti.

Migravit igitur ab hujusmodi mundi, quem nunquam dilexit, exilio, Sanctus Lincolniensis Episcopus Robertus secundus, apud Bugdenam Manerium suum in nocte Sancti Dionysii. Domini Papæ et Regis redargutor, manifestus, Pælatorum corrector, Monachorum corrector, Presbyterorum director, Clericorum instructor, Scholarium sustentator, Populi prædicator, Incontinentium persecutor, Scripturarum sedulus perscrutator, liber verſarum, Romanorum malleus et contemptor. In mensa refectionis corporalis, dapilis, copiosus, & civilis, hilaris & affabilis. In mensa vero spiritali devotus, lachrymosus, & contritus. In officio Pontificali sedulus, venerabilis, & infatigabilis.

What melody was heard in the ayre near Bugden, ravishing the ears and hearts of the hearers, what ringing of Bells to the astonishment of the Auditors, that night this Bishop dyed and passed from Earth to Heaven, what miracles upon miracles were wrought at his Tomb after his decease, you may read at large in Matthew Paris, he being generally reputed a Saint worthy Canonization; therefore his declamations against the Pope and his premised exorbitances, whiles ready to give up the ghost, must needs be real, weighty, and worthy consideration.

Mat. Paris Hiſt.

Annalis con-

These his oppositions and declamations against the Pope, induced Mat. Paris to give this character of the year 1253. (wherein he dyed) at the close whereof, * Transit igitur annus ille Papæ et Papalibus, arcus et auguralis. The Pope being extremely angry with Groſthead, writ a Letter to the King of England; to digg up his bones and cast them out of the Church, as if he were a Heathen; whereupon this Bishops ghost appeared to him that night, expostulated with him, pricked him in the side, and haunted him till his death, thus related by Matthew Paris and others.

Dirum somni-
quarti Papæ.

Hoc etiam anno, Dominus Papa dum una dierum iratus supra modum, vellet cum mala gratia omnium fratrum Cardinalium ossa Episcopi Lincolniensis corporis extra Ecclesiam projicere, et ipsum in tantam infamiam præcipitare, ut Ethnicus, rebellis, et inobediens per totum mundum acclamaretur: jussit talem Literam scribi Domino Regi Anglia transmittendam, sciens quod ipse Rex libenter deserviret in ipsum, & in Ecclesiam deprædandam. Sed nocte sequenti apparuit ei idem Episcopus Lincolniensis Pontificalibus redimitus, vultuque severo, intuituque austero, ac voce terribili, ipsum Papam in lecto sine quiete quiescentem aggreditur & assatur, pungens ipsum in latere ictu impetuoso suo cuspidis baculi, quem bajulabat, pastorali. Et dixit ei: Senebalde Papa miserrime, proposuisse ossa mea in mei & Ecclesie Lincolniensis opprobrium extra Ecclesiam projicere? unde hac tibi temeritas? Dignum foret, ut tu, a Deo sublimatus & honoratus, Dezelatores, licet defunctos, coleres. Nullam potestatem in me habere, si Dominus amodo patietur. Scripsi tibi in spiritu humilitatis & dilectionis, ut errores tuos crebros corrigeres. Sed tu monita salubria superbo oculo, & fascinati corde contempsisti. Va qui spernis, nonne & tu contemneris? Et sic recedens Pontifex Robertum, ipsum Papam, qui quando, ut dictum est, pungebatur, ab alto ingemuit, quasi lancea transverberatus, dereliquit seminecem, & voce flebili cum suspiriis ingemiscentem. Unde Camerarii ejus hæc audientes, attoniti interrogaverunt, quidnam hoc sibi vellet? Papa verò cum gemitibus & suspiriis respondit, dicens: Terroris nocturni conturbaverunt me vehementer. Nec mihi penitus ut prius restitutor resistens, ben, ben, quantum latus dolor, sum lancea gens lanceatum. Nec comedit nec bibit illa die, fingens se anhelis febribus inflammatum. Nec adhuc quievit Domini super eum ultio, cum indignatione.

Nec multo post, Papa non sentiens divinas per servum suum admonitiones, sed bellicis nimis & secularibus negotiis intendens, minus in eis prosperatur, licet curam, laborem, & sumptus non paucos expendendo. Sed Marte ei, imò Domina exercituum adversante, exercitus ejus, quem contra Apulos maximis sumptibus discesserat, sub ducatu consanguinei nepotis sui Willielmi, dissipatus, victus & confusus, cum ejus Duce lethaliter vulnerato occubuit. Referuntur ibidem interfecti Christiani milites & servientes prævalidi stipendiarii Papæ militantes, ad quatuor mille viro- rum. Et luxit tantum sanguinem Christianum effusum tota patria Romanorum. Direxerat autem autem Papa iter illis diebus versus Neapolim: licet in latere quasi pleuresi infirmatus, vel lancea fauciat. Nec potuit ei Cardinalis Albi physica suffragari. Non enim peperit Robertus Lincolnensis Senethaldo Jannensi. Et qui vivum noluerat audire corripientem, fenserat mortuum impingentem. Nec unquam postea, ipse Papa unum bonum diem vel prosperum continuavit usque ad noctem, vel noctem usque ad diem, sed insomnem & molestatam.

This History is thus related by <sup>a</sup>Ranulphus Cestrensis, and <sup>b</sup>Henry de Knighton. Hoc anno obiit sanctus Robertus dictus Grofteste Episcopus Lincolniensis 7. Idus Octobris, qui in cunctis liberalibus artibus excellenter eruditus, præcipue in Logica, & Astrologia plurima commentatus est, ad Innocentium Papam misit Epistolam satis rotundam, quæ sic incipit. Dominus noster Iesus Christus pro eo quod Ecclesias Anglicanas indebitis, & insolitis exactionibus gravare videretur, & quia nepotulo suo Pueri Papa contulisset Canonatum cum proxima præbenda vocatura in Ecclesia Lincolniensi, quem tamen Robertus admittere noluit, rescribens Papæ, nec velle debere tales ad curas animarum admittere; qui se nescirent nec possent regere, Qua de causa ad Curiam vocatus et excommunicatus, appellabit a Curia Innocentii, ad tribunal Christi, unde conigit ut post biennium mortis Roberti, apparuit Papæ de Nocte quiescenti quidam Episcopus Pontificaliibus indutus sic inquit, Surge miser veni ad iudicium. Et statim cum baculo pastorali pupugit Papam in latere sinistro usque ad cor, unde & lectisternium Papæ inventum est mane sanguinolentum, & ipse defunctus hac de causa, quamvis Robertus perspicuis effulgeret miraculis, non est permixtus a Curia Canonizari.

What passages fell out between the King, Archbishop and Canons of Lincoln about electing a new Bishop and Archdeacon after Grofteste's death, I find thus related.

In crastino verò beati Thome Martyris, Canonici Lincolnienses elegerunt sibi in Episcopum Magistrum Henricum de Lexingtona, ejusdem Ecclesiæ Decanum, & transfretavit electus ut Regem videret, & ut à Rege videretur & acceptaretur, tam electo quam electione approbata vel reprobata. Formidabat autem apparere coram Rege, qui secundum consuetudinem suam, ipsum Decanum, et totum presbiteribus sollicitaverat urgentissimis Capitulum, ut Episcopum Herefordensem (qui manifestè reprobatus fuerat, tum quia alienigena Anglium idioma ignoravit, tum quod fama, vel potius infamia ejus extitit, quod Regno fuerat inimicissimus & infidelissimus) eligerent in Episcopum & suarum pastorem animarum; Cui licet Regiæ petitioni instantissimæ, nullatenus voluerunt Canonici electores favorem exhibere. Ipse enim per manum secularem, in ipsum Episcopatum violenter intrusus Herefordensem, tam religiosos quam seculares in partibus ultramarinis (utinam honeste commozans) gregem sibi commissum, lacte, lana, et aruina saginatus, lupinis dentibus dereliquit. Veruntamen Rex non inveniens in dicto electo, causam reprobationis, ipsum, licet non sereno corde, admisit: being consecrated soon after by Archbishop Boniface beyond the Seas.

Ipsisque diebus, revertente Archiepiscopo Canuariensi Bonifacio, à sepultura Episcopi Lincolniensis Roberti, orta est discordia inter ipsum & Capitulum Lincolniensem. Vendicabat enim sibi Archiepiscopus de jure communi, potestatem conferendi præbendas & redditus in Episcopatu Lincolniensi, pastore suo viduato. Decanus verò & Capitulum speciali beneficio innitentes, & consuetudini approbatæ & antiquæ, e contra dicebant. Quibus testimonium perhibebat Magister Walterus de Billesdon, vir Jurisperitus & fidedignus, qui enumeravit tres Ecclesias à Decano sede vacante collatas. Et multi alii, qui hoc noverant, & viderant. Archiepiscopus de multiplici consilio potestate, contradiutores omnes excommunicabit. Solus autem Lincolniensis Archidiaconus, Magister videlicet Willielmus Lupus, vir quidem Jurisperitus, eleganter literatus, & magnæ auctoritatis, contradicens Archiepiscopo in faciem, pro jure et libertate Ecclesiæ constanter appellabit ad Summi Pontificis præsentiam. Unde quoniam solus se mutum opposuit pro suæ possessione & libertate Ecclesiæ, usque ad mortem miserabilis, sicut sequens sermo declarabit, tribulationes toleravit. Canonici verò ex antiquis causis causis inutiliter ventilatis fatigati, nec valentes nec volentes contra tantum aduersarium dubia causarum fata contendentes expectari, succubuerunt, et succumbentes, absolutionis beneficium promeruerunt. Archidiaconus vero consistens stabilis in proposito, quasi interim disverticula. Tandem tutum credens habere refugium apud Sanctum Edmundum, quia illic & in terra Sancti Albani consueverant esse afflictorum refugia & protectiones, postquam steterat quadraginta diebus in sententia iuste vel iniuste, se ad protectionem dicti Sancti Edmundi contulit & Civitatem. Ubi persequente Archiepiscopo, cum ibi non asylum refugii, sed carceris invenisset duritiam: nec cum poterat Abbas Sancti Edmundi protegere vel receptare: Archidiaconus pauper, profugus, et exul, Romam adit, a Domino Papa aliquam saltem consolationem adepturus. Papa autem misertus ac miseratus, cognita veritate, pusillanimitatem Canonorum, & Archipræsulis redarguens austeritatem, & Archidiaconi constantiam commendans, paternum sibi providit remedium. Archidiaconus vero nactus spe meliori, cum rediens à Curia in partes cisalpinas pervenisset, post tot labores & dolores, quos pro suæ libertate Ecclesiæ sustinisset, viam universæ carnis est ingressus, merito beato Thoma Martyri, qui ob similem causam occubuit, associandus. Sed ante mortem, fere triennem suffinuit in hac causa tribulationem. Such was the Archbishop's Tyranny.

Regnum Siciliæ Regi An-glorum.

Diebus sub eisdem, cum Magister Albertus ad Curiam Romanam perveniens, nun-ciasset Papæ, quod nullo modo poterat Comitem Richardum flectere ad consensum, ut Regnum Siciliæ & Apulia sibi oblatum vellet recipere, & seipsum & omnia sua ambiguis casibus exponere, nisi primò Papa sibi de suo genere optimos præstaret obfides de securitate fidelitatis. Et præterea, juvaret eum de aliqua quantitate pecunie, in negotio Mario illo exponenda. Et insuper traderet ei quadam Castra, qua Papa in confiniis habebat, ut secunda sibi inveniret receptacula. Papa autem hoc videns sibi esse difficile, respondit: Nolumus tot subiacere conditionibus. Cui Magister Albertus: Comes mihi dixit, si sic non feceris, ut prælibatum est, idem est, ac si quis diceret, Vendo vel do tibi Lunam, ascende, & apprehende eam. At Papa considerans suam in dicto Comite admoni-tionem non valere, subiunxit: Non curamus cum ipso confederari, vel aliquid commune habere. Cum igitur certificaretur Papa, quod frustra jecisset res ante oculos pennatorum, missis secretis punitis ad Dominum Regem Angliæ, ut simplicitatem ejus circumveniret (quoniam sciebat semper ad damna propria prout & credulum) obtulit et concessit ei Regnum Siciliæ & Apuliæ: & ad hoc acquirendum,

juvamen præstaret tale, quale poterat sine aliquo gravamine. Retorqueret enim omnes Crucesignatos à principali eorum proposito, videlicet ne transirent in Terram Sanctam, sed omnes communiter Regem Angliæ sequerentur, & juvarent Sicilianæ & Apulianæ ad præturum. Unde hoc audientes Templarii & Hospitalarii, patriarcha Hierosolymitanus, & omnes Sanctæ Terræ Prælati & incolæ, qui hostibus Christo opponuntur, & jam pejora formidabant, usque ad mortem doluerunt, Romanas fallacias detestantes. Rex autem de promisso Papali umbratili adeo exultatus est, & adeo dilatarum est cor suum inani gaudio, quod voce, gestu, & r. su exultationem protestans, filium suum Edmundum Regem Siciliæ palam vocaret, credens pro facto se jam de ipso Regno subarratum. Nuntius vero Papalis infillavit auribus ejus, ne hoc arcenum divulgaret, ne videlicet ad notitiam amicorum suorum, qui pedicæ Romanas cognoverant, perveniret, et sic præmuniretur. Rex igitur quicquid de thesauro suo, quicquid de scaccario, quicquid mutuo potuit à fratre suo Comite Richardo recipere, quicquid poterat à Judeis abradere, quicquid de rapinis Jusitaniarum itinerantium valuit extorquere, misit Papæ, ut Conradum impugnaret, et omnes suos Siculos et Apulos expugnaret. Conradus autem voluit, quod Rex Angliæ in retiacula Romane Curie cecidisset: & grates retulit Comiti Richardo, quod se non permitteret irretiri. Significans ei, quod sapienter fecisset, quod non confusus in verbis Papalibus, et pecuniæ thesauris se à temeraria præsumptione retraxisset prudenter, quia ubi Comes habuit unum argenteum, Rex Conradus unum aureum poterat invenire exponendum. Papa autem pecuniarum multitudine saginatus, erectus est in confidentiam. Et infinitum, quem congregavit exercitum de conductis stipendiariis, ducatu & regimini Othaviani Cardinalis commisit, & copiose sterlingos distribuit, & cum detecissent, significavit Regi, quod defuit illi pecunia. Rex autem, instindu Diaboli et avaritiæ referens Papæ, mittebat ei literas patentes obligatorias, Regio sigillo consignatas, ut sufficienter, imo abundanter, mutuo caperet a mercatoribus Italicis. Nec timeret thesauri quantitatem, vel usurarum multitudinem, ipse enim omnia plene adquietarat, et se ad hoc obligavit sub pœna excommunicationis. Papa autem his omnibus consentiens, hoc mandatum acceptabit: si bene fecerit, judicet Judex omnium judiciorum Dominus, cui cura est de omnibus; non autem meum est facta Papalia judicare. Fecit igitur quasi edicto Imperiali vel Regali publice accipiam, ut omnes qui desiderabant optima stipendia recipere, venirent ad Papalem exercitum. Habebat enim jam quoniam mutuo recuperat ab usuariis Italicis thesaurum inestimabilem. Confluebat igitur ad stipendia Papalia, Italicorum ignobilium multitudo copiosa. Qui desides & imbelles, nec non & infideles, nulli Domini Regis Angliæ, vel etiam Papali commodo, sed tantum denariis deglutendis intendebant, prout rei exitus comprobavit.

Rex igitur Conradus, potenter se opponens, exhortatus est suos naturales commilitones & indigenas regionum illarum, ut stent viriliter & pugnent pro patria sua, nec colla subdant Dominis alienis: & exercitum Papalem diutius diminuit & enervavit. Sed amor denariorum Anglicorum hostium multitudinem gravavit. Papa enim bursa Regis minime pepercit, et infinitam pecuniam consumpsit, cupiens Regem Seculorum expugnare, et Regem Angliæ in prædictum Dominium subrogare. Omnes tamen voluit à Corona commovere, & solum Edmundum Creare, ut de ipso & his quæ ipsius forent, tanquam de creatura sua, secundum sui arbitrii fateretur voluntatem. Interim Papa, (quicquid contrarium to St. Peters Doctrinæ, 2 Pet. 2. 10. to 20. and St. Pauls too, Ti. 3. 1, 2, 3. whose successor he pretended himself) non mediocriter diffamavit Regem Conradum, imponens ei enormia crimina, scilicet eadem fratris sui Henrici, ut sic provocaret Regem Anglorum & omnes Anglos contra eum, & quod contemptor extitit clavium Ecclesiæ, & multa alia, quæ non oportet recitare, scripta autem sunt in libro Addamentorum, & in hoc præacta. Rex igitur Conradus, irruptiones hostiles, comminationem, opprobria Papæ sustinens, & diffamationes, coepit supra modum contristari, et gravi dolore contage-hescere. Et, ut dicitur, veneno propinato impellente, gravi dolore caput contabescere, & lethali leſſo decumbere, dicebatque, Va mihi misero, va va mihi misero! ut quid me fudit Mater mea à gremio? ut quid Pater meus me genuit, tot ærumnis exponendum? Ecclesia, quæ Pater Patri meo et mihi esse debuit, potius novercatur. Imperium, quod ante Christi nativitatem, usque nunc floruit, modo marcescit, et datur lethææ oblivioni. Maledicens ergo diei nativitatis suæ, miseram & afflictam animam exhalavit.

Exultat Papa de morte Conrad Regis.

Quod audito, Papa de morte ejus certificatus, cum magno cordis jubilo, oris risu, & vocis exultatione, ait: Gaudeo plane, & gaudeamus Universi Ecclesia Romanæ alumni, quia jam sublatis sunt de medio duo maximi inimici nostri, nunc Ecclesiæ æmuli, alter secularis: Episcopum Lincolnienſis Robertus. & Rex Sicularum Conradus. Obiit autem memoratus Rex Conradus mense Junii. Et illico Papa ad ultteriores partes Apulia se transferens, totum ferè Regnum illud sibi subdidit in brevi, & usurpavit. Quod videntes optimates illius Regionis, quæ quondam Ducatus extitit, indignati sunt vehementer. Et suscitantes quendam filium Frederici naturalem, nomine Manfredum, adhæserunt ei, facientes ei homagium tanquam Domino & ligantiam. Et factus est error novissimus pejor priore. Et insurrexerunt Papæ hostes redibit.

The calumnies raised against Conrad by this implacable malicious Pope Innocent, were thus publicly answered and refuted by him before his death, wherein the Popes unchristian slanders, impiety, tyranny, injustice, and Conrad's innocency will most evidently appear.

Matthæi Paris. Additamenta p. 192, 193, 194.

SIC Respondit procurator Domini Conradi, in præsentia Domini Papæ & fratrum suorum, Senatoris & Concilii, ad Articulos datos contra ipsum, cum esset ad hoc specialiter vocatus. Hæc omnia proponunt citra formam judicii, cum nunquam fuerit Dominus Rex citatus: sed tanquam zelator famæ suæ, ad solum rumorem miserit pro sua innocentia ostendenda.

* The Pope's Will must be preferred before God's public worship.

Primum. Quod Regno **Sicilie* interdicto supposito, & Rege, Anathematis vinculo innodato, facit sibi celebrari divina, & Regni ipsius Clericos ad celebrandum coerces, claves Ecclesiæ contemnendo. Quod cum non careat scrupulo hæreticæ pravitatis, de hæresi & hæresis suspitione, intendit inquirere contra ipsum.

Responsio ad hoc, quod Dominus Rex in contemptu clavium, nunquam sibi vel aliis celebrari divina mandavit, vel immiscuit se divinis: sed cum ipsum in nullo conscientia remorderet nec remordeat, quod contra Sanctam Catholicam & Apostolicam Romanam Ecclesiam Matrem suam, cogitasset aliquid vel egisset: posito quod aliquando divinis interfuit (quod non fatetur in contemptu clavium suæ fidei ut falso sibi impingitur, sed ob fervorem amoris fidei Christianæ) omni devotione, reverentia, & honore, ut verus Christianus & princeps Catholicus poterat interesse. Pro cujus fidei orthodoxæ irrefragabili veritate & charitate, cum necesse fuerit, paratus est exponere se & sua. Addit etiam, quod eo in Germania existente, & postquam venit in regnum, per Nuncios aut per litteras de excommunicatione quæ lata proponitur contra eum, monitio, denuntiatio, aut citatio non pervenit ad eum. Nec obstat ei, quod dicitur fuisse Anathematis vinculo innodatus, cum ante excommunicationem aliquam (si qua contra processit, quam ignorat) idem Dominus Rex Dei timore accensus, dubitans ne ad instantiam & falsam suggestionem proditorum & æmulorum suorum, & etiam patris sui, qui ad summum Pontificem se contulerat post detectam prodicionem & conjurationem, quam in necem contrectaverant patris sui, & falsa contra ipsum Dominum Regem quotidie confingere, non cessabant, coram suis proceribus tam in Germania quam in regno, à quocunque gravamine legitime appellaverit, & appellatione ipsa per suos solemnes nuncios fecit solemniter publicari: sicut opportuno tempore probare poterit per legitima documenta. Unde post appellationem suam legitimam si processum fuit, processum fuit indebitè contra ipsum: nec credit se in aliquo ligari.

Ad id autem quod sibi impingitur, videlicet, quod Regno interdicto (quod Dominus non fatetur) compulerit Clericos celebrare divina, taliter respondetur, quod eo veniente in Regnum invenit Clericos celebrantes, & prout ipsos invenit, sic eos celecelebrare permittit: nullam alicui, propter hoc, correptionem vel violentiam inferendo. Posito tamen, quod super hoc aliqua literarum contrariarum apparerent, dicit eas de sua conscientia minimè emanasse: sicut apparet evidenter per literas missas Justiciariis & Officialibus Regni omnibus quam cito id ex fabuloso colloquio ad ejus pervenit notitiam. Quod idem probare vult tam per ipsas literas, quam per legitima documenta: ut nullus eorum aliquem Clericum compelleret celebrare divina, contra voluntatem suam.

Ad aliud Capitulum quod opponitur subsequenter, quod in terris Lombardia ad hærentibus & faventibus sibi, publicè hæresis prædicatur: Respondetur sic, Quod semper persecutus est Dominus Rex hæreticos quarumlibet Sectarum in Alemannia, quamdiu moratus est ibi, & postquam venit in regnum: & paratus eos persequi tam in Lombardia quam alibi, tanquam princeps Catholicus & Christianissimus: Dolens quamplurimum, quod non potest eos persequi cum effectu in partibus Lombardia: sed ut constat publicè toti mundo, Mediolani, Brissa & Mantua, prædicatur publicè hæresis, quia salva reverentia Præsentis, dicuntur Ecclesiæ filii speciales.

Ad aliud capitulum, quod dicunt quia favet Est. de Roman. quem Dominus Papa pro hæretico reputat sicut ponit, Respondetur sic, Quod semper Dominus hæreticos odit, nec unquam novit eum hæreticum esse, nec fuit, nec favet ei tanquam hæreticus.

Ad aliud vero, quod nequissimè & falsissimè ponitur, quod sanguinis fœdere violato toxicari fecit Fredericum nepotem suum, licet non videretur necessarium respondere ad tam manifestissimam & apertissimam falsitatem: tamen ne simplices & vulgus, quod de facili credere consuevit, aliud crederet quam deberet: Dicit Dominus Rex, quicquid super hoc per quemcunque sibi opponitur, penitus esse falsum, ritè probabit.

Ad aliud Capitulum consimilis falsitatis, quod contra naturale amoris vinculum Henricum fratrem suum detinet captivatum, Dominus Rex respondet: quod nunquam dictum fratrem suum tenuit captivatum, imò tractavit eum honorificè, & dilexit ut fratrem, & si hodiè viveret, faceret illud idem. Sed Dominus, in cujus manu sunt omnium potestates & omnium corda regum, prout sibi placuit, de hujus mundi ergastulo ipsum ad æternam patriam revocavit. In cujus obitu, partem sui corporis reputat diminutam.

Super eo vero, quod in ipsorum capitulorum serie subsequenter adjungitur, quod bona Ecclesiarum vacantium & non vacantium, ac domus Templi, Hospitalis, & aliorum religiosorum in regno occupavit, & detinet occupata: Prælatos & rectores in Ecclesiis canonicè institutos non permittens in ipsis Ecclesiis residere, alios præficiens in eisdem: Respondetur, Quod bona Ecclesiarum Cathedralium vacantium & non vacantium, in regno suo nec occupavit, nec detinet occupata, sed in Ecclesiis ipsis vacantibus ipsius Regni, ratione antiquæ dignitatis competentis sibi & prædecessoribus suis tantum utitur jure suo, faciens bona eadem per procuratores suos idoneos commodè procurari. Quod si videtur absonum Apostolicæ Sedi, contentus est Dominus Rex illo jure in prædictis Ecclesiis vacantibus, quo ntitur Rex Francia & Anglia in Ecclesiis vacantibus regni sui.

Ad hoc autem quod dicitur, quod de bonis Hospitalis & Templi facit dissipationes taliter respondetur, videlicet, quod bona prædictarum domuum nec occupavit nec detinet occupata: sed si aliquis de dictis domibus velit conqueri de Domino Rege, paratus est ei facere omne justitiæ complementum. Idem respondet; de bonis aliorum Religiosorum locorum.

Ad id verò quod subdit, quod Prælatos & rectores institutos Canonicè, in Ecclesiis Regni non permittit residere in Ecclesiis ipsis, sed alios præficit in eisdem, taliter respondetur, quod nullum in Ecclesiis ipsis institutum Canonicè abiecit, non prohibuit in ipsis Ecclesiis residere: Dicit quod in Ecclesiis ipsis nullum præfecit; sed in Ecclesiis vacantibus (sicut dictum est) bona ipsarum facit per procuratores idoneos commodè procurari, prout competit ex antiqua consuetudine dignitatis, quam habet in Ecclesiis vacantibus Regni sui.

Ad aliud autem quod dicit, quod cum Regnum ipsum sit Sedes Apostolicæ, Dominus Rex plura gravia præsumpsit contra Romanam Ecclesiam, & præsumit, duras & abominabiles exercens ibi sævities, & alia pessima & enormia: propter quæ (si etiam dictum Regnum pertineret ad eum ) deberet inde illo privari. Respondet Dominus Rex, Quod in Regno Sicilie tanquam hæreditario Regno suo, quod a prædecessoribus suis a tempore quo non extat memoria, ad eum * legitima successione pervenit, nulla gravia præsumit, nec sævitias aliquas exercuit vel exercet, sed cum Regnum ipsum in bono et pacifico statu gubernans, omnibus indifferenter monstrat justitiæ complementum.

* This only of the Pope not him.

* Therefore the Popes grant to the King of England was merely void.

* Was not this Pope the grand delinquent, guilty of this charge?

Ad hoc autem quod dicit, * quod attemptat multa contra Romani Imperii dignitatem, Respondet Dominus Rex, quod contra Romani Imperii dignitatem non attemptavit aliquid nec attemptat, sed cum sit in Romani Regem electus legitime (prout plenè constat per legitima documenta) in eodem Imperio utitur jure suo.

Ad aliud quod vult & petit Dominus Papa, ut omnibus volentibus ire ad depouendum contra Dominum Regem, inquisitionem quam intendit facere contra ipsum super capitulis supradictis, Dominus Rex respondet. Quod cum nullo modo Inquisitio super præmissis debeat de jure procedere contra ipsum, eo quod causa propter quam in talibus Inquisitio debeat fieri, non præcessit, videlicet fama publica quæ à bonis & gravibus ortum habuerit, & non semel, sed sæpius, nec ab æmulis & inimicis, (prout jura Canonica & Civillia insinuant manifestè) non tenetur Dominus Rex securitatem præstare petitam, quia sic videretur annuere, & consentire inquisitioni, quæ de jure non debet fieri contra ipsum. Subest etiam alia causa, quæ juxta movet et movere debet Dominum Regem, quod petitam securitatem præstare non debeat: quod cum Angeli tenebrarum sæpe in Angelos se transformant, et sub prætextu liciti, illicita committere non verentur, occasione hujusmodi possent alia tractare latenter, quæ Domino Regi essent onerosa plurimum et damnosa.

The death of this most nocent, malicious, King-traducing, King-deposing, turbulent Pope, and his condition after it, is thus related.

Mat. Paris Hist. p. 868. 869. Innocentius quartus moritur.

Tempore quoque sub eodem, in crastino videlicet beati Nicolai, obiit Papa Innocentius quartus, apud Neapolim, duplici incommodo sauciatus. Postquam enim Escopus Lincolnienfis Robertus in visione nocturna cuspide baculi sui pastoralis ipsum in latere iratus pupugit, & impetuosè, ut prædictum est, impexit, pleuresi laboraverat irremediabiliter. Et postquam exercitus suus à Conrado adversario suo victus est & dissipatus, nunquam postea mente vel corpore prosperè egit, sed ad mortem sensim declinavit. Ille semivivus, jam moriturus, cum videret consanguineos suos circumstantes lugere, plangere, & ut moris est ibi, ululare, & vestes & capillos decerpere: ille sublevans oculos in morte natantes, ait, Quid plangitis miseri? Nonne vos omnes divites relinquo? Quid amplius exigitis? Et hæc dicens districtum Dei judicium subituram animam exhalavit.

Cecidit autem eadem septimana, qua Papa Innocentius quartus migravit ab hoc sæculo, visio quædam nocturna mirabilis cuidam Cardinali, cujus nomen suppressitur ad cautelam. Videbatur enim sibi, quod fuerat in cælo coram majestate Domini sedentis pro tribunali, à cujus dextris stabat beata Virgo Mater ejus, à sinistris verò quædam Matrona nobilissima corpore, & habitu venerabilis. Quæ extenso brachio supra manum sinistram deferebat quasi Templum, & scribebatur in fronte Templi illius literis aureis, Ecclesia. Coram verò Majestate divina, incurvatus Innocentius 4. junctis manibus & erectis, flexisque genibus petens veniam, & non judicium; Nobilissima autem mulier ait ex adverso: Iuste Judex, rectè redde judicium, Accuso enim eum super tribus. Primò, cum in terris Ecclesiam fundasses, libertatibus eam donasti, quæ à teipso processerunt: hic vero eam reddidit ancillam vilissimam. Secundo, fundata est Ecclesia salus peccatorum, ut scilicet lucrifaceret * animos miserorum: hic vero fecit eam mentam nummulariorum. Tertiò, fundata est Ecclesia in fidei firmitate, justitia, & veritate: hic vero fidem et mores fecit vacillare, justitiam sustulit, veritatem obumbravit: justum ergo judicium redde mihi. Ait autem Dominus: Uade et pro meritis tuis mercedem apprehende. Et sic ablatus est. Cum vero ex terrore sententiæ evigilasset Cardinalis, clamans, effectus est quasi extra se, ut ut omnes sui dicerent, ipsum furere. Tandem mitigato dolore, visionem suam plenius cepit enarrare, & publica facta est in partibus illis. Ista visio (nescitur si fantastica) multos perterritur, & unam cum effectu, castigans emendavit.

Sublato igitur de medio Innocentio 4. Papa, subrogatus est alius vir, ut aiunt, satis benignus, & bene religiosus, assiduus in orationibus, in abstinentia strenuus: sed sibilis adulantium seducibilis, & pravis avarorum suggestionibus inclinativus. Episcopus videlicet Ostiensis, nepos Gregorii Papæ pridem defuncti, qui ipsum in Episcopatum promoverat: & vocatus est Alexander, videlicet quartus. Scripsit autem in principio creationis suæ, cunctis Ecclesiarum Prælati; postulans humiliter, ut orarent pro ipso, ut Dominus daret ei potestatem, gratiam, & voluntatem, Ecclesiam Dei congruè gubernaret: & vicarius Dei, & Petri successor competenter appellari. In quo facto novo (alii enim ejus successores nil tale fecerunt) multorum corda in spem erexit meliorem. Veruntamen à collateralibus fratribus suis, decipit se permisit ejus simplicitas. Et de bulla sua, quæ est pignus fidei Papalis, & testimonium, facta est, ut dicitur, fraus inopinata, non tamen in his ipsum excusato. Papa enim talis esse debet, ut non decipiat, vel decipiatur: utrumque enim in tanto viro reprehensibile est. Consilio nempe aliquorum, in quos confisa anima ejus requievit confiderent, & persuasum prædecessoris sui Papæ Innocentii 4. qui fratres Cardinales ad hoc moriturus animaverat, bellum inchoatum contra Fredericales, & præcipuè Manfredum, filium Frederici naturalem, sed legitimatum, potenter continuare præsumpsit. Quibus cum videretur Domino Papæ durum in primitiis suis contradicere, ratum & gratum habuit, quod viri secularibus pompis dediti consuluerunt: maxime cum dixissent, quod absurdum esset, et manifeste Ecclesiasticæ Religionis contrarium, unam Civitatem Saracenis inhabitatam et refertam, quam revera Fredericum fundaverat, in finibus Christianorum tolerare. Quo colore inductus Papa, simul cum quodam alio, videlicet quod inhumanum esset Dominum Regem Angliæ de sua spe fraudari concepta, ex promissione Ecclesiæ, de Regno Sicilia obtinendo, propter quod jam thesaurum exposuit infinitum, The Pope having given this Realm to King Henry, and he to his Son;

Post festum vero S. Luca, edicto Regio convocata convenit Magnatum numerosa multitudo. Venerat autem illuc ad Regem Episcopus Romania, ex parte Papæ: qui apportans secum annulum, vice ejusdem Papæ, contulit ipsum annulum Edmundo filio Regis, investiens eum se solenniter de Regno Sicilia & Apulia. U. de elevatum est cor Regis in sublime, & exultavit, tanquam jam recepis Siciliam & Apulorum omnium homagus, civitatibus, & castris, in Regem coronaretur. Et in propatulo Rex pater vocavit filium suum Edmundum Regem Sicilia. Nesciebatur autem, ut creditur, memoratus Episcopus quod contrita fuit Papalis expeditio, & effusus totaliter thesaurus Regis Anglorum, insuper alieno ære terribiliter obligabatur: & si forte sciret, scire hoc cautè dissimulavit, ne munera perderet sibi præparata. Hoc autem nimis profectò Regem lauit, & Magnates, Episcopus autem antequam rei veritas in Angliam sciretur, pretiosis ornatus muneribus, illico repartiavit. Rex autem nimis propere coram optimatibus, ad altare prostratus, confusus nimis de Papali adjutorio, juravit transitum in Apuliam per S. Edwardum, de uno tantum habens sollicitudinem, scilicet, qualiter transiret in pace cum exercitu suo & thesauro Regnum Francorum. Unde statim cogitavit, quem ad hoc impetrandum ad Regem Francorum destinaret. Cogitavit insuper consequenter jura sua ultramarina imperiosè reposcere ab eodem, & potenter readquirere. Quia inter Apuliam & Angliam, foret quasi inter duas molas Francia conterenda. Misitque illuc Dominum Johannem Mansell.

What power the King then exercised over the elections and vacations of Bishops, is thus related.

Tempore quoque sub eodem, Rex in quantum potuit, electionem Eboracensis Archiepiscopi fecit differri & impediri, ut diutius & liberius bona diriperet Archiepiscopus. Ait enim: Nunquam illum Archiepiscopatum antea in manu tenui; ideo cavendum est, ne nimis cito elabatur. Elegerunt autem tandem, live postularunt Canonici unanimiter, magistrum Sivalum ejusdem Ecclesiæ Decanum, virum modestum, sanctum, & in jure & aliis scientiis eleganter eruditum. Et misso magistro Rogero de Holderness, viro perito & gratiofo, res sollicitè perducitur ad effectum, prout dicitur in sequentibus, he being consecrated not long after.

Quia Rex proponit per auxilium divinum, quod Ecclesia Westm. dedicetur, antequam iter arripiat in Terram Sanctam, videlicet à die Sancti Edwardi, Anno Regni, &c. Tricesimo octavo, in unum annum, quo die per Dei gratiam Regia Corona decorabitur. Mandatum est Phil. Luvel Thesaurario, & omnibus Baronibus suis de Scaccario, quod tria millia Marc. per annum assignari fac. ad opus Ecclesie prædictæ promovendum & expediendum. In cujus, &c. Et mandatum est Regine & Com. quod hoc fieri fac. Dar. per manum nostram apud Milan. 20 die Marci, Anno Regni nostri 38.

The King by vertue of his Prerogative Royal, issued Writs to enquire of the real values of the Mannors, Lands, Rents, and Revenues of Religious persons, (in nature of Doomsday Book) that he might the better improve them when they fell into his hands by vacancies, or deaths of Abbots and Priors, towards the debts he contracted by his foreign Wars, which the Monkish Historians thus relate.

Circa idem tempus, scilicet in festo Sancti Edwardi, egressum est breve inaudicum à Cancellaria Domini Regis, in quo nil boni poterat sperari vel autumari. Henricus Deigratia, &c. Inquiratur in Maneriis Religiosorum, quot sint caruce propria ad colendum Dominicum, & quot sint consuetudinaria, & utrum illa ex sui diminutione possint constitutere unam carucam per annum, vel majus vel minus? Similiter inquiratur de carucis precariis. Iterum inquiratur cuius estimationis sit, quilibet per se communibus annis singillatim, deductis expensis necessariis impensis. Item inquiratur cuius estimationis sint opera & servitia rusticorum per annum qua præstantur Dominis pro terris suis. Item, qui, & quanti & quales sint redditus eorum in singulis Maneriis per annum. Ista inquisitio fiat per quatuor viros fideles & prepositos loci ex singulis Maneriis Religiosorum.

Abbatum va-cantium solvit
suis debitoribus

Rex interea moram in Gasconia protrahens infructuosam, Thesauri sui non tantum habiti, sed habendi inestimabilem summam consumpsit. Et se suumque Regnum & Ecclesiam Anglicanam gravibus debitis irretivit: & si esset venalis Gasconia, non tanti esset, ut arbitramur. Et cum de morte Abbatum memoratorum certificaretur, & quorundam aliorum Prælatorum defunctorum, utpote Episcopi Eliensis, & Abbatis Seleby, & multorum aliorum, quorum memores non sumus in præsentiarum, bona Ecclesiarum eorum iussit in fiscum redigi, et usurariis, quibus tenebatur debitis obligatus, non veritus horribilem sententiam Londini latam, persolvere. Nec tamen aliquatenus Chartas pactas observavit.

What new unheard of forgeries, and unjust devices were set on foot by the Pope and his Agents to oppress the Clergy of England, and involve them in bonds and debts to the Pope and King, (who served each others turns) and that by the treachery of the Bishop of Hereford and other Prelates, to ingratiate themselves with both, these passages fully relate,

Diebus

Diebus autem sub eisdem, Episcopus Herefordensis Petrus de Eborac (cujus memoria sulphureum fastorem exhalat ac deterruit) ad Regem venit, quem novit totis visibus thesauros desiderare, & eis indigere: illiusque auribus instillavit hoc virosum consilium, dicens: *Consenti Domine mi propositum meo, & inopiam tuam non tamquam relevabo, sed te faciam usque ad summam abundantiam thesauris abundare. Si enim quasi ad aliquod leve negotium mihi feceris tria vel quatuor sigilla de aliquibus authenticis Angliæ Prælatibus habere: ego nova interpretatione inducam Dominum Papam (ut firmiter spero) ad hoc, ut obligent se singuli Angliæ Prælati, quasi coacti nolentes, ad maximam pecunie solutionem, ut indigentia tua at plenum satisfiat. Et cum inclinasset cor Regis ad consensum, gavisus fuit quamplurimum. Et confestim transalpini videlicet Walerano, ut efficacius Dominum Papam fascinaret. Et cum Romanam pervenisset, invenit Papam moestum & confusum, pro adversis quæ Ecclesiæ nuper contigerunt. Erat insuper tot debitis innodatus, quod audientium mentibus merito stuporem poterant generare. Quæ omnia, Rex Angliæ sub poena exheredationis solvere tenebatur. Instabant insuper Mercatores transalpini usurarii, exigentes urgentissime & assidue, ut persolverantur eis debita sua: quæ quotidie sic angeretur Papa, respondit Episcopus: *Sancte Pater, ne sollicitatur paternitas tua de quantitate & numero debitorum, licet inestimabili: quia ante recessum nostrum ab Anglia, Dominus Rex, ego & hic miles perisissimus, providimus tuam viam & certam formam, qualiter omnia sine difficultate solvantur; dummodo de favore & licentia tua, liceat mihi, quæ cor meum parturiunt, prosequi cum effectu. Dominus enim Rex tibi & Ecclesiæ Romanæ devotissimus, adeo Ecclesiæ & viris Ecclesiasticis pronus est & munificus, tot exhibeat officia, tot conferens beneficia, in holocaustis, adificiis, cereis, donativis, pretiosis & variis, quod Deus & omnium hominum sibi gratiam comparavit. Similiter & Nobilibus suis tot confert munera, interris, gardis, & redditibus, ut meritis debeat charissimus omnibus reputari. Nuper per Franciam transiens, tot Ecclesiis cyphos argenteos, pallas, monilia, & Magnatibus Francorum & Prælatibus tot contulit donativa in vasis, annulis, zonis, & firmaculis, tam opere quam materia pretiosis: ut Francis suscitaret laudem & admirationem, per quod nomen Anglorum famosum sydera penetravit. Hinc est quod desiderant Angli sitienter, & multum complaceret eis, ex præcepto tuo seipso exinanire & gravare, & al hoc obligare, ut cogerentur pia voluntate ipsum jam dilectum Regem a debitis omnibus liberare. Et ostendens Literas, quas vulpina calliditate de quibusdam Prælatibus extorserat, & sigillis eorum consignaverat, se reddidit de prædictis commentis credibilem, & Papam fallacis proniorem. Cui Papa: *Frater & amice charissime, fac super hoc quod industria vestra quamplurimum commendamus, viderit exp. dire.

Episcopus igitur Herefordensis adjunctis sibi quibusdam Cardinalibus, quorum arbitrio bulla exponebatur, quorumque consilio Papa prædecessoris sui præsumptuosum factum exequabatur, Prælatos Angliæ hujus fraudis penitus ignaros ad libitum obligavit, ita graviter, ut si omnia retroacta gravamina recenserentur, hujus exactionis respectu levia posset reputari, annexens in Literis quædam mendacia manifesta. Quod scilicet tenebantur Prælati singuli, ad solvendum tali & tali Mercatori Senensi, aut Florentino, tantam pecuniam; quam mutuo, ad expedienda quædam utiliter negotia Ecclesiarum suarum, receperunt; cum tamen nullum eorum unquam vidisset, vel cognovisset, vel de aliqua pecunia facta fuisset. Sin autem infra brevissimum terminum injuncta non persolverent, plenam habebant potestatem ipsi usurarii, (quos Franci Bugei vulgarij appellent) infantes Dei famulos, Ecclesiæ Prælatos, omnimodis punire sententiis, jacturis gravibus condemnare, & angariis fatigare, sicut sequens sermo loco suo & tempore declarabit. To promote these Papal frauds and other Exactions, fit obstaculo. Dedit etiam eisdem Dominus Papa potestatem absolventi Dominum Regem cruce signatum a voto suo, * ne iret in terram Hierosolymitanam, ita tamen ut iret in Apuliam hostiliter, ad debellandum Manfredum filium Frederici quondam Imperatoris validum Ecclesie Romanae inimicum. Accepto à Domino Rege Sacramento per Episcopum Bononiensem, specialiter ad hoc à Domino Papa destinatum, & ad invetiendum Edmundum de Regno Sicilia, ut prædictum est.

Circa dies eosdem, Dominus Papa Alexander destinavit ad partes Anglicanas, Magistrum Rustandum Legistam, natione Gasconensem, Subdiaconum suum, dans Domino Archiepiscopo Canuariensi, & Episcopo Herefordensi, & eidem Rustando potestatem colligendi decimam de Anglia, de Scotia, & de Hibernia, ad opus Domini Papæ vel Regis indifferenter, non obstantibus aliquibus Literis indulgentiis prius directis, sub quacunque forma verborum, vel etiam causa, pro qua concessa sunt; vel omni quod intelligi possit

The Pope having conferred Sicily and Apulia upon the King, to engage him against Conrade and Manfred, writ Letters to Richard Earl of Cornwall to lend him monies and promote an ayd to carry on that War, which the Earl, Nobles and Prelates assembled in Parliament utterly refused to lend or grant upon the Popes account.

Anno verò sub eodem, ad festum Sancti Edwardi, fuerunt apud Westmonasterium omnes ferè Anglia Magnates. Inter quos prius Rex alloquebatur fratrem suum Comitem Cornubie Richardum, petens ab eo instantissime auxilium pecuniare. Cui Comiti Dominus Papa similiter Literas deprecatorias direxerat, supplicans in quadraginta millibus, salvo fratri suo, mutuo subveniret, ut quasi dans ea eidem, pium daret aliis exemplum subveniendi. Comes autem nec preces Regis, nec Papæ voluit exaudire, & eo maxime, quod negotium eundi in Apuliam assumpsit sine consilio suo & assensu Baronagii sui, sibilis Transalpinantium fastidatus. Ab aliis autem interpellatum fuit, de subventionem faciendam. Et responsum fuit, quod omnes tunc temporis non fuerunt iuxta tenorem Magnæ Chartæ sua vocati, & ideo sine paribus suis tunc absentibus, nullum voluerunt tunc responsum dare, vel auxilium concedere, vel præstare. Rex itaque ad consuetas conversus cavillationes, ut Magnates flecteret ad consensum, per multos dies negotium Parliamenti distulit inchoati, ita ut usque in mensem, fictis occasionibus negotium protelarret. Et tunc ad alium locum conciliaturos, evacuatis in Civitate Londinensi crumenis, potius provocavit, quam convocavit. Comes verò Richardus, vir cautus & circum spectus, Episcopum Herefordensem, & Robertum Walcrannum socium suum, acriter & merito redarguit, eo quod tam enormiter in Regni subversionem, Regem infatuarent. Et sic infecto negotio singuli provocati, ad propria remearunt. Sciendumque quod quando Dominus Rex rediit de Gasconia, tenebatur debito trecentarum millium Marcarum & quinquaginta. Nec tamen idcirco defuit inconsultè, tam prodigialiter, quam prodigialiter quotidie Thesaurum suum habitum & habendum alienigenis distribuere, quem Angliam, quam puteum reputavit inexhaustum, fuerat ejectura. Electo etenim Tholotano, redditum & Thesaurum contulit non modicum. Similiter & Episcopo Bononiensi, Rustando quoque cum donativis charissimis, contulit unam opimam Præbendam in Ecclesia Eboracensi.

How much the Bishop of Hereford, and Rustand the Popes Legate, abused, oppressed the Religious persons and Clergy of England this year, and what complaints they made against them, these passages discover.

Literæ Papales impetratæ per Episcopum Herefordensem.

Episcopus Herefordensis cum suo Rustando in Prælatos Angliæ, maxime Religiosos, autoritate Apostolica roboratus, deservire cœpit his Literis. ALEXANDER Episcopus servus servorum Dei, Episcopo Herefordensi, &c. Cum te sciamus pro utilitatibus & Conventui Sancti — ac Monasterii Sancti — pro quibus ad sedem Apostolicam accessisti, magna oportere subire gravamina expensarum, ne pro defectu ipsarum eadem in expedita remanere contingat, fraternitati tuæ contrahendi mutuum propter hoc usque ad summam quingentarum, vel sexcentarum, vel septingentarum, vel amplius Marcarum sterlingorum, nomine dictorum Abbatis et Conventus, et Monasterii, et ipsos Abbatem et Conventum, ac successores eorundem, et ejusdem Monasterii bona creditoribus obligandi, ac renunciandi constitutioni de duabus diæti editæ in Concilio generali, & beneficio restitutionis in integrum & omnibus Literis indulgentiæ Apostolicis impetratis, & impetrandis, necnon & conventioni judicium, si ipsorum creditorum nomine Apostolicas Literas super hoc cujusunque tenoris in posterum impetrari contigerit, plenam auctoritate presentium concedimus facultatem. Ita tamen, quod ipsi & successores eorum creditoribus hujusmodi pecuniam solvere, necnon ad damna & expensas ac interesse, si à termino à te statuendo, pecuniam eandem non solverint, super quibus juramento ipsorum vel eorum eorum alicujus, sine aliqua probatione, qui dictam pecuniam mutuaverint, credi volumus, teneantur. Et dictis creditoribus prout alicujus constitutionis Canonica vel civilis, aut cujuscunque privilegii vel indulgentie, de quibus in nostris literis plenam & expressam oportet fieri mentionem. Et ne ipsi successores eorum, amplius in aliquo valeant se tueri, dictam pecuniam in utilitatem ipsorum Abbatis & Conventus, & Monasterii versam esse, probandi necessitas non incumbat. Data, &c.

Eodem tempore, petiit Papa pecuniam sibi commodari à Comite Richardo, scilicet quinque millia Marcinarum, ad promotionem nepotis sui Edmundi. Cui Comes: Nolo thesaurum superiori commodare, quem non possum distringere. Hæc et alia detestabilia, a sulphureo fonte Romana Ecclesiæ, pro pudor, imo et pro dolo, tunc temporis emanarunt.

Hereupon, Rustandus tunc temporis universos Angliæ Prælatos convocavit au-toritate Papali Londinum conveniendos; ut ibi Domini Papæ præceptum obedienter audirent, in quindena sancti Michaelis. Et de arduis tam Domini Regis quam Papæ negotiis contrectantes, tanquam filii obedientiæ, discretè ac favorabiliter de rebus postularis & postulandis responderent: Ubi cum dictis loco & tempore convenissent, lectis & intellectis Rustandi potestatibus, fecit idem sermonem fieri ab Universis, exigendo infinitam pecuniam per scripta plena injuriis et iniquitate, quæ possent patientissimi cor virulenter san-ciare. Quæ pecunia, si consideretur et colligeretur, Ecclesiæ Anglicana, imo totum Regnum vilissimæ subjaceret servituti, et irre-staurabili læderetur paupertate. Erat autem onus importabile, quod aliis imposuit bajulandum, nolens illud digito movere. At enim de aliis sileam, soli domui Sancti Albani injuncit sexcentas Mar-cas Domino Papæ numerare; exceptis usuris et gravibus conditionibus; quibus ipsam domum ardeant Mercatores usurarii, quibus concessa potestas ad suæ voluntatis fuerit arbitrium Ecclesias opprimendi. Præterea conabantur Rustandus & Episcopus Herefordiensis, & eorum complices, terminum solutionis festinando abbreviare, sub pœna suspensionis et excommunicationis. Quem terminum, nullo modo tene-re possent Obligati. Sed hoc factum est, ut cogerentur Prælati mutuo accipere ipsam pecuniam a Mercatoribus, et eorum usuris illico intricari subiacere. Quod omnibus & singulis non tam difficile, sed impossibile videbatur. Et cum strictissimum consilium super his per plures dies ha-beretur, longa trahens, præcordialiter suspitia Episcopus Londinensis Fulco, ait. Antequam tantæ Ecclesiæ consentiam servituti et injuriæ, ab intolerabili oppresseione profecto decapitabor. Cujus constantiam cum audisset Episcopus Wygorniensis Walterus, ait in propatulo; Et ego priusquam tali subiaceat Ecclesia sancta subversioni, suspensio condemnabo. Quorum salubribus assertionibus omnes alii firmiter animati, constanter promiserunt se vestigia beati Thomæ Martyris, qui pro libertate Ecclesiæ se permisit excerebri; pedetentim sequi-turos. Attamen ardebantur undique, Rex adversabatur, Papa pecuniæ inhians inimicabatur, Magnates matri suæ Ecclesiæ non compatiebantur. Rustandus homo literatus & efficax ad nocendum stimulabar.
Archiepiscopus Cantuariensis, qui vacillantis Ecclesiæ Petri ac naviculæ fluctuantis naucerus esse teneretur; in partibus transmarinis ac remotis, terrenis negotiis im-piscopus, vir magni consilii & profundi pectoris, in fata concessit. Electus Winto-niensis, tum quia Pictaviensis, tum quia frater Regis persequentis, tum quia nou non suspectus, sed manifestus adversarius habebatur. Invocata igitur

qui sinum refugii pandere habet omni oppresso, super tam intole-

Et quod efficaciter pro uraris, ut Papa animadverteret in ipsum et puniret. Ad quod Episcopus, Auferant Episcopatum, quem tamen, non possunt de jure auferre, Papa et Rex qui me fortiores sunt. Tollant mitram, galea remanebit. Ipso etiam tempore instillatum est multorum auribus quoddam incredibile, quod quidem absurdum est & nefas credere, quod scilicet quidam falsarii Bulla nequiter abutebantur. Et scedulis vacuis, Bullam appendebant; ut quid placeret, postea inscriberetur. Dicebant enim ad invicem: Non placeat Christo, ut Dominus Papa, qui proculdubio vir sanctissimus est, talibus consentiret enormitatibus, quem constat esse ad tantum apicem divinitus sublimatum. Quisfecit, quod nunquam aliquem Papam fecisse meminimus, postulavit enim ab Ecclesia præcui devotionem sibi impendi. Et quomodo credi potest, quod hic faciat peiora prioribus? ablit. Et ita querentes solatium suæ imperitiæ et angustiae, falsariis talia deliramenta sub involucrio imputabant.

Mat. Paris Hist. p. 888, 889. Secunda congressio Prælatorum coram Rustando.

Procurare interim summopere nitebantur Episcopus Herefordensis & Rustandus, & alii Transalpini, suscitare schisma & divisionem inter Prælatos Anglia, ne concorderet coherentes, Dominum Papam in viam dirigerent veritatis. Et sic à proposito frustrarentur, pecuniis inhiantes, secundum illud Evangelicum: Omnis Regnum in se divisum desolabitur.

Per idem tempus, dum omnium Anglia Prælatorum universitas iterum coram magistro Rustando Londini congregarentur, & nimis quotidianis deceptionibus vexarentur: Tandem propter absentiam Archiepiscopi Cantuariensis, qui in ultramarinis partibus morabatur, & propter Ecclesiam Eboracensem, quæ secunda est in Regno, vacantem, & propter aliquorum Episcoporum absentiam, cepit certa responsio super postularis à Domino Papa per magistrum Rustandum, dilationem usque ad festum Sancti Hilarii, ut tunc omnes ibidem congregati, efficaciter & precise responderent. Et sic divisi, singuli post multa damna, expensas, & tardia, nescientes quid acturi forent, ad propria remearunt. Sic enim sive iuste, sive iniuste, per dictum magistrum Rustandum suspenderetur quis, vel excommunicaretur, Rex quasi lesus in abscondito, querens quem devoraret, post quadraginta dies omnia diriperet infiscata. Papa et Rex, velut Pastor et Lupus, in odium exterminium confederati, omnibus ruinam minabantur. Ex tunc igitur quasi cæci palpantes ad parietem, divisi sunt; & quilibet sibi consulere more Anglicorum satagebat. Qui si de communi assensu communem syndicum & prolocutorem ad Romanam Curiam destinassent, felici pace congauderent communiter.

Anni Conclusio.

Transit igitur annus ille Romana Ecclesiæ, et Papali Curia, si devotionem Populi reputet, vitulentissimus. Expirabit enim, quæ consuevit haberi devotio habita a Prælati et populo penes matrem nostram Romanam Ecclesiam, et patrem et pastorem nostrum, Dominum videlicet Papam. Et si illa Curia fideles Christi multoties usque ad amaritudinem spiritus cruentaverit, nunquam tamen, sicut hoc, et sequenti anno, tam lethaliter Univerfos Christi servos et singulos laiciabit. Coguntur enim infantes idololatrare, et quasi Apostata, veritati, quæ Deus, abrenunciare. Et præter hoc, quod et si intolerabile sit, tamen tolerabilius reputatur, bonis temporalibus violenter deprestantur. Quæ autem inconvenientia Annus iste Anglia præsentavit, præsentis pagina duximus inserenda. Cassantur Sanctorum eorum privilegia indulgentiæ, nec reputantur, et hoc non sine injuria eorundem; Potestatem habet Papa in his quæ operantur in edificationem, non in his quæ ad ruinam, secundum Episcopum Lincolniensem Robertum. Pro triennio commutatur quinquennium, in promissione decimæ, subito, et tacite quia promissa sit per triennium. Novum super terram, consueverunt semper laici Prælati decimare tantum, nunc Prælati laicis decimare coguntur. Concessa fuit decima in subsidium Terræ Sanctæ, cogimur transferre eam in subsidium Apuliæ contra Christianos. Concessa fuit decima pro observatione Chartæ, quam tenere prædictus Rex Henricus tenebatur, quæ tamen non observatur. Concessa fuit decima ut Regi in Terram Sanctam peregrinanti, particulatim secundum provisionem distribueretur, non uti nunc; de Obligatione injustissime gravioza subire cogimur, multipliciter mentiri, falso profecto juramento, quod cælitus prohibetur in utroque testamento. Concedere cogimur terminos solutionis, quos nullo modo tenere possumus, ut intidamus in laqueos usurariorum suorum, quos socios eorum novimus, & participes. Datur potestas personis prorsus indignis super Nobiles Ecclesias, & eorum Prælatos excellentes. Venduntur Prælati ut Boves et Asini. Ecce ultimæ conditionis servitutis. Ecce venditores ejiciendi a Templo, flagellandi. Sed quia ignobilius est facere injuriam violenter, quam pati cum innocentia, credendum est, quod super hoc Clamor ascendat quæculus ad Deum Dominum ultionum.

There being many suits and controversies between the Archbishop of Canterbury, and Bishop of Rochester, (much vexed, oppressed by his power) the King upon the Bishops complaint, as Supream Patron and Ordinary, to preserve publick peace, issued this Writ to the Justices Itinerant, to stay all suites between them; to summon the Archbishops Bayliffes, and the Bishop and their witnesses before him, his Nobles and Council the next Parliament, where he would hear and decide all differences between them by their and the Justices advice.

Quia vero dicta transgressio in pacis nostræ læsionem enormem redundat quam incoirectam relinquere nolumus, sicut nec debemus; vobis Mandamus firmiter injungentes, quod prædictos imprisonatos à prisiona qua detinentur sine dilatione deliberari, & præfato Episcopo & suis de tam enormibus excessibus & injuriis, eis per vos et vestros illatis, competentes emendas sine dilatione exhiberi faciatis, quod pro defectu vestri iterata ad nos inde querela non perveniat, per quod manum ad hoc aliter apponere debeamus. Upon the complaint of the Archbishop of Tuam, and his suffragans, and likewise of all the other Bishops and Clergy of Ireland, of severall grievances, oppressions suffered by them and their Courts against Law, and the liberties of the Church of Ireland, particularly related, the King issued this Writ to Prince Edward his Son then in Ireland, to hear and redresse the same by advice of the Judges, Barons, Nobles, and his Counsil in Ireland.

Eodem modo mandatum est Abbati Sanctæ Mariæ Eborum, & Priori Sanctæ Trinitatis, & Magistro Hospitalis Sancti Leonardi Eborum, eo excepto, quod in Literis istis nulla sit mentio de sententia Excommunicationis lata in Majorem, Cives & Ballivos ejusdem Civitatis. Those Prohibitions were seconded with these ensuing of like nature, upon the complaints of particular persons unjustly prosecuted in the Courts Christian at York, for Chattels and Debts, not in cases of Matrimony or Testament, to the prejudice of the Kings Crown and Dignity.

REX Decano & * Præceptori S. Petri Eborum, & eorum Commissariis, salutem. Prohibemus vobis ne teneatis placitum in Curia Christianitatis de Catallis vel Debitis unde Walterus de Rudham Clericus, si cut ex relatu quorundam fidelium nostrorum intelleximus, trahitur in placitum coram vobis in Curia Christianitatis auctoritate Literarum Domini Papæ, per Abbatem et Conventum de Fontibus, nisi Catalla illa vel Debita sint de Testamento vel Matrimonio, quia placita de Catallis et Debitis quæ non sunt de Testamento vel Matrimonio, spectant ad Coronam et dignitatem nostram: inhibemus etiam prædicto Waltero ne in Curia Christianitatis super hujusmodi Catallis vel Debitis examen Ecclesiasticum in iuris et dignitatis Regiæ præiudicium aliquatenus subire præsumat.

* Præcentori

Eodem modo scribitur Abbati & Conventui de Fontibus.

By which several Writs it is most apparent, that there was a strong combination and endeavour at this time between the Bishops, Abbots, Deans, Chapters, and others who had Ecclesiastical Courts and Jurisdiction, and the Court of Rome, to usurpe and engrosse the cognisance of most Temporal causes concerning Lands or Goods (especially of Clergymen and Religious persons) into their own hands; and to trample the Kings Temporal Courts, Officers, Crown, Dignity, and Lay-Subjects under their feet; which they unanimously and strenuously opposed, and endeavoured to prevent by the precedent, and these subsequent Prohibitions to them, in the case of the Monks of Winton, who suing the Bishop elect of Winton in the Court of Rome, and before the Popes Delegates, touching the propriety of the Mannour of Taunton, and other Lands held immediately of the King, moving from him, and part of the Barony of the Bishop, to the prejudice of the Kings Crown and dignity, whereof neither the Pope nor any Court Christian had or ought to have any cognisance or jurisdiction, but only himself and his own Courts, the King thereupon issued this memorable Prohibition to the Bishop, not to appear or answer to

to any such Suit before the Pope, or in any Court Christian, under pain of seising his Temporalities, being contrary to his Oath of Fealty to the King, and to the prejudice both of his Crown and Realm.

De Prohibitione.

REX A. Winton. electo, salutem. Intelleximus ex relatu quorundam fidelium nostrorum, quod Monachi Winton. vos super Manerio de Tannion, & quibusdam aliis quæ de nobis immediate tenetis, & quæ à nobis indubitanter movere noscuntur, coram Domino Papa vel auditoribus suis in Curia Romana trahunt in causam, et super proprietate Maneriorum ipsorum sibi cum instantia a vobis postulant responderi. Quia vero ad nos tanquam ad Dominum principalem cognitio prædictorum, sicut et aliorum feodaliū Regni nostri, indubitanter noscitur pertinere; vobis sub debito fidelitatis in qua nobis tenemini, et sub pœna ansmadverſionis debitæ et condignæ, in temporalia et feodalia quæ de nobis tenetis, districtius inhibemus, ne de prædictis in foro Ecclesiastico, seu coram alio quam coram nobis, in nostrum et Regni nostri præjudiciū et gravamen, aliquatenus respondere præsumatis, præsertim cum hoc sine transgressionem Juramenti quo nobis tenemini facere non possitis, sicut nec debetis: Pro certo tenentes, quod si secus egeritis, omittere nec volumus nec valemus, quin nos ad temporalia et feodalia vestra secundum legem et consuetudinem Regni nostri capiemus. In cujus, &c. Teste Rege apud Novum Castrum super Tyam, 29 die Augusti.

The King being further informed, that the Monks of Winton in this Suit between the Bishop and them, had procured a sequestration of the Temporal goods belonging to the Priory, to the Abbots of Stafford and Boxley, towards the satisfaction of the debts of the Priory, and expenses of the Monks in this Suit, which they intended to execute in derogation of the Rights of his Crown, and contrary to the Law and Custom of the Realm, issued this Prohibition to them, not to proceed therein under pain of seising their Temporalities.

REX Abbatibus de Stafford & de Boxlegh Cisterciensis ordinis, salutem. Intelleximus & miramur plurimum et movemur, quod in causa quæ vertitur inter venerabilem Patrem electum Winton. ex una parte, & Monachos loci ejusdem ex altera, Dominus Papa, non intelligens nec advertens qualiter et quantum negotium hujusmodi nos tangebatur, in nostrum præjudiciū et gravamen ordinat vel ordinare proponit, Quod facta sequestratione bonorum Temporalium ad Prioratum Ecclesiæ Winton. spectantium, vobis eorundem bonorum custodia assignetur, de quibus secundum quod fieri poterit, fiat solutio debitorum, et provideatur Monachis hinc inde sibi adverbantibus in expensis, sicque durante sequestratione hujusmodi, Prior ibi non existeret qui possessionem Temporalium obtineret. Cum autem Prior Winton. in Curia nostra certis temporibus satisfacere, et multa nobis alia consueta servitia exhibere, et coram nobis et Justitiariis nostris respondere omnibus de se conquerentibus teneatur, nec ad hæc de consuetudine Regni nostri insolabiliter hactenus observata, procuratorem vel atornatum possit constituere loco suo, nisi præsens in Curia ipsum constitueret viva voce, et quociens in aliquo prædictorum defecerit in amerciamen- tum nostrum incidat, et nobis debeat propter hoc certam pecuniæ quantitatem, per ordinationem et sequestrationem hujusmodi, cum non esset qui prædicta faceret, nos debitis consuetudinibus et servitiis contingeret defraudari. Præterea cum bona temporalia Prioratus Prioratus prædicti, de Baronia nostra esse et a nobis teneri noscantur, et non existente ibi Priori ad Episcopum Winton. vel si Episcopus ibi non existeret, ad nos honorum custodia pertineat eorundem, Dominus Papa de bonis ipsis quæ de Baronia nostra existunt, nobis irrequisitis in nostrum præjudicium nihil potuit aut debuit ordinare. Nec aliquid sine dubio, ut credimus, ordinasset si veritatem super hoc cognovisset, cum nullus alius, ubi nos maxime in iustitiam non deficiamus, iudicare vel ordinare habeat de eisdem. Unde vobis mandamus prout districtius possumus inhibendo, quatenus si Literas forte super hoc receperitis, vos de bonis prædictis donec saltem Dominum Papam super hoc consulueritis, nullatenus intramittere præsumatis: pro certo tenentes, quod si secus egeritis, in omnibus et singulis consuetudinibus, iuribus et servitiis a Priori Winton. nobis debitibus quibus propter hoc nos defraudari contingeret, habebimus quantum districte poterimus, ad vos et bona vestra recursum, et vobis super hiis in aliquo non parcemus. Telle Rege apud Woodst. 18 die Junii.

He likewise as supreme Ordinary and Patron of the Monastery, to preserve it from ruine, issued this Writ to all Merchants, Citizens and others, not to lend the Monks any money upon their Common Seal, in deference of the Prior justly removed, or on any other occasion.

REX Universis Mercatoribus, Civibus, & aliis Christi fidelibus, salutem. Contradicentes et inhibentes, ne Monachis ejusdem Ecclesiæ, vel Willielmo de Tann'on, qui iuste ab administratione Prioratus ejusdem Ecclesiæ est amotus, si pro Priori se gerit, aliquid mutuo sub sigillo ejusdem Capituli, vel alio modo concedatis. Si vero contra hanc inhibitionem nostram feceritis, hoc ipso nostram Regiam Majestatem offenderitis, et vobis in repetitione pecuniæ eidem creditæ quibuscunque modis poterimus opponemus, et etiam in aliis si locus affuerit, vobis utpote nostro Edicto et voluntati contrariis, curabimus ut decebit, pro meritis respondere. The Bishops having unanimously and resolutely withstood the Popes and Rustands demanded Exactions the year before, as you have heard, being adjourned to a further day, were so terrified and divided in the interim by Rustands policy, power, and the Kings, who joyned with him for his own advantage, that they durst scarce open their mouths or mutter against him, but only appeal.

In festo autem Sancti Hilaris, congregati sunt Londini Episcopi Angliae & Archidiaconi, undique vehementer angustati, ut darent responsum Magistro Rustando, Papæ et Regis Clerico, Papæ Nuntio, Regis Procuratori. Coram quo, cum Magister Leonardus, de quo prius fit mentio, quasi Clerici advocatus, & Proloquutor universitatis, verba faceret pro Episcopis; & inter cætera responderet Rustando, qui se erigebat contra Magistrum Leonardum; dicens, quod omnes Ecclesiæ sint Domini Papæ; & diceret satis modeste, verum est, ad tuitionem, non fruitionem, vel appropriationem: secundum quod dicimus, omnia esse Principis; ac si diceretur, defensione, non dispersione. Et hæc intentio fundatorum. Ad hæc iratus Magister Rustandus, ait: Loquatur de cætero quisque pro se, ut sciat tam Papam, quam Regem, quid quis in eorum dicat negotio. In quo verbo omnes ita fuerunt attoniti, quod mutire vel non audebant, vel ignorabant. Patuit enim jam luce clarius, quod Papa et Rex in gravamen Ecclesiæ et Clerici confoederabantur. Contra igitur postulata appellatum est. Voluit enim Magister Rustandus mutare unum iota unius scripti quod scripserat: in quo inseritum fuit, ut affirmarent Prelati, se recepisse mutuo a Mercatoribus Transalpinis pecuniæ memoratæ quantitatem non minimam, et ipsam fuisse conuersam in suarum commodum Ecclesiarum; quod profecto manifeste falsum esse constitit universis. Unde affirmabant, nec sine ratione, quod mori in hac causa, via fuisset martyrii manifestior, quam fuerat in causa beati Thomæ Martyris. Cum autem Magister Rustandus videret omnes usque ad amaritudinem spiritus contristari, mansuetior effectus, dissimulavit, dicens, se velle cum Domino Papa super hoc habere colloquium. Veruntamen missus est Romam Decanus Londinensis, scilicet Sancti Pauli, & quidam alii, pro universitate Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ. Timebatur autem super omnia, ne in hac causa occumberent Prelati præ duplici impetu tam validorum adversariorum, videlicet Papæ et Regis, et ne hæc servitus detestanda, et oppressio Ecclesiæ et Clerici, traheretur in consequentia; quod esset per sæcula deploandum.

At last, Episcopi Angliae, variis eragitati angariis, in quindena Paschæ convenerunt Londini, Rustando præcisè super exactione postulata responsuri. Qui primo fracti et discordes, fuerant recessuri. Postea vero, animati per Barones, contradixerunt; ne Domino Regi de Baronis suis aliquid contribuerent.

The Nobles and Prelates to preserve their Liberties against all Papal and Regal encroachments, procured the Great Charter of Liberties, and another for free Elections, to be again ratified, and a * solemn Excommunication denounced again in Westminster-Hall against all infringers of them, agreeing verbatim with the last * fore-cited; which Charters being sent to Pope Alexander to ratifie, (as heretofore they were confirmed by Pope Innocent) what cold entertainment and answer they there found and received, is thus related.

Provisumque est salubriter, ut Magnæ Chartæ Regis Johannis, quas sponte promissit Baronagio Angliae, & iste Rex præsens iterum, & nunc iterum de novo in magna aula Westmonasteriensis sponte & liberaliter concessit, sub pœna horribilis Anathematis conserventur. Et propter Regis tyrannidem, quam non desinit exercere in Ecclesiis vacantibus; alia Charta, quam memoratus Rex Johannes concessit Regno, conspectibus Papæ præsentaretur: concerning the freedom of Elections, which I have already cited, p. 336, 337, 338.

Hæc & alia Romam deferenda, salubriter à Summo Pontifice discutienda, providebantur. Sed quid juvat? Hæc adjectio detestabilis (Non obstante) omnia infirmat. Prævaricatores, susurriones, & Magnatum adulatores, pervertentes omnia, sinistra interpretantur universa. Repertantque frequenter queruli a Romana Curia tale responsum, videlicet a Domino Papa et fratribus: Nolamus his diebus principes offendere: & addunt, Oportet multa dissimulare, & conniventibus oculis (licet lædant) pertransire. Et sic, pro dolo, per meticulous rigorem justitiæ, maxime in illa Curia, cernitur vacillare.

Mat. Paris Hist. Angl. p. 892. Johannes Romanus Archidiaconus Richemundiz mortuus.

Eisdemque diebus, obiit Johannes Romanus Archidiaconus Richemundiz, quamplurimis saginatus redditibus & thesauris, hominum avarissimus. Hic ferme quinquaginta annis thesauris incumbens acervandis, unus de nobilioribus Canonicis Eboracensis Ecclesiæ, primus, vel de primis fuit, qui quasi explozator impiissimus arcana Angliæ reſeravit, et provocavit Romanos, ut redditibus Angliæ solito avidius et thesauris per fas et nefas inhiarent. Quo defuncto, Rex illico ejus præbendam & alia bona, quæ poterat occupare, ad suum contulit, ratione vacationis Archiepiscopatus, beneplacitum.

The Archbishop of Canterbury oppressing the Bishop of Rocheſter, notwithstanding the Kings premised Writs, by reason of the Queens power and favour, reiterated his complaint to the King against him, thus related.

Mat. Paris Hist. p. 893, 894. Archiepiscopus Cantuariensis vexat Ecclesiam Roſſen.

Diebus sub eisdem, Archiepiscopus Cantuariensis Bonifacius, Ecclesiam Roſſensem prægravans, ejusque invadens possessiones, tantam de facto suo notam incurrit vituperii, ut Ecclesia, cujus esse debet defensor, per eum dicatur vexari. Episcopus autem Roſſensis, cum Domino Regi hujus ultori, lachrymabiliter super tanta injuria conquereretur, Rex demisso vultu respondit: Non possum cum ſectere ad justitiam vel humilitatem, ne ipsum tam generosum, & genus suum tam magnificum, præcipue Regiam, offendam vel contristem.

Anno 1256. John de Camezane an Italian, by pretext of Pope Innocents Bull of Provision, prosecuting the Abbot and Covent of St. Albans in the Court of Rome, to hold the Church of Herteburne by Provision, though impropriated, to the great prejudice of the Abby and right of the Kings Crown; they thereupon sent their Proctors to Rome, together with the Kings Letters to the Pope and Cardinals, in their behalf, thus related.

Mat. Paris Hist. p. 894. W. de Hort, & W. de S. Edwardo Monachi Sancti Albani Romam missi.

Et circa idem tempus, cum quidam Clericus Transalpinus, Ecclesiæ beati Albani nocumenta & damna machinaretur, missus est unus fratrum ejusdem Ecclesiæ ad Romanam Curiam, ut contra dictum Clericum, qui Johannes de Camezana dicebatur, quod justum erat, impetraret. Dicitur igitur frater, videlicet Dominus Willielmus de Hortuna, memoratæ Ecclesiæ Cellerarius, assumpto secum Magistro Willielmo de Sancto Edwardo, Dominica Palmarum iter arripuit Transalpinum. Habuit etiam secum Literas Domini Regis elegantissimas, pro ipso deprecatorias, tam Domino Papæ, quam Cardinalibus. Quas quia Rhetoricè & optimè conceptæ & compositæ fuerunt, redarguit ille Johannes cavillator, falsitatis: asserens quod tam magnus intercessor, tam specialiter, tam familiariter, nunquam pro quodam simplici Monacho literatoriè Domino Papæ & aliis gravibus & autenticis personis intercessit. Sed ipsius versuta redargutio, Regis postea testimonio patuit denudata. Si quis illas Literas videre desiderat, in libris Additamentorum poterit reperire; thus registrat therein.

Domino Papæ Rex Angliæ salutem, cum reverentia & honore. Dilectionis prærogativa specialis, qua inter cætera nostræ ditionis Collegia Abbatem & Monachos Sancti Albani Lincolniensis Diocæseos, charius amplexamur, ad providendum utilitati & tranquillitati ipsorum cum opus est, multipliciter nos inducit. Cum igitur venerabilis pater Dunelmensis Episcopus, non absque consensu & consilio Capituli sui, ad sustentationem hospitalitatis quæ apud dictos Abbatem & Monachos specialiter vigere dignoscitur, & ad quam suarum possessionum facultas sufficere nequiverat, duas partes Ecclesiæ de Herteburne, Dunelmensis Diocæseos, ipsorum usibus, interveniente consensu Prioris & Conventus de Thinemna (qui unâ cum Abbate prædicto jus patronatus obtinuerant in eadem) & residuum, usibus vicarii in ea ministrantis, dudum charitative, necnon et precum nostrarum instantia, duxerit ordinandum: Magister Johannes de Camezane, cui in Ecclesia de Wengrave extat proviſum, prætextu cujusdam Literæ Papalis, quâ scilicet recordationis Innocentius quartus prædecessor vester, ultimus, sibi à dictis Abbate & suo Conventu, Ecclesiam suam prædictam in beneficium uberius mandaverat commutari, mutari, ipsos super dicta Ecclesia de Herteburne, in ipsorum grabe dispendium, et nostræ mentis turbationem non modicam, aggravat et molestat. Sed et causam ipsam, in læsionem juris nostri et privilegiorum nostrorum, extra Regnum nostrum trahi procurans; suppressa Litera contra ipsos impetrata, per quam in Anglia iidem Abbas & Conventus, infra certum tempus in eadem Litera comprehensum, poterant conveniri, & causa ipsa similiter ibidem terminari, nullo sibi die infra dictum tempus præfixo, causam eandem a suo iudice, nullis rationibus vel causis legitimis admittis, ab eodem ad Curiam Romanam nequiter obtinuit remitti. Sanctitati igitur vestræ, quæ nobis & nostris toties extitit gratiosa, cum quanta possumus affectione supplicamus, quatenus Monasterium supradictum, quod & de nostro extat patronatu, & vobis est immediatè subjectum, suo jure destitui non permittatis, sed potius ordinationem prædictam, de consueta benignitate sedis Apostolicæ confirmare, & in aliis ejusdem Monasterii negotiis coram Sancta paternitate vestra expediendis, sibi favorem & gratiam impertiri velitis. Super quo, vestris beneplacitis cum gratiarum actione multiplici, uberius reddamur astricti. Teste meipso apud Leystonam, primo die Aprilis.

Litera Regis ad Cardinalem J.

HENRICUS Dei gratia Rex Anglia, &c. Venerabili Patri J. eadem gratia titulo Sancti Laurentii in Lucina, Presbytero Cardinali, salutem, & sinceræ dilectionis affectum. Dilectionis Prærogativa specialis, qua inter cætera nostræ ditionis Collegia, Abbatem & Monachos Sancti Albani Lincolniensis Diocæseos, charius amplexamur, ad eorum indemnitate (cum opus fuerit) providendum multipliciter nos inducit. Cum igitur Magister Johannes de Camerane, Domini Papæ Capellanus, Abbatem & Conventum Sancti Albani super commutatione Ecclesiæ de Wengrave sibi faciendæ, de Ecclesia de Herteburne, quam Episcopus Dunelmensis ad exhibitionem hospitum, eis ad precum nostrarum instantiam charitatis intuitu concessit, nos, Abbatem & Conventum intolerabiliter aggravet & moleste, trahendo ipsos in causam extra Regnum nostrum, contra indulgentiam nobis a sede Apostolicâ concessam, quod grave ferimus et molestum, ac idem Abbas dilectum nostrum fratrem Willielmum de Horton commoniachum suum, ad præsentiam Domini Papæ transmittat, tam pro prædicto negotio, quàm aliis utilitatem Ecclesiæ suæ contingentibus (prout idem Willielmus vobis vivâ voce intimabit) dilectionem vestram, de qua plenam gerimus fiduciam, affectuosè rogamus; quatenus eundem Willielmum habere velitis in præmissis specialiter recommendatum, consilium & juvamen vestrum ei pro amore nostro taliter impensuri, quod vobis propter hoc ad retributionem condignam, & ad gratiarum merita oportunis temporibus teneamur. Teste meipso apud Framlingham, 11. die Aprilis, Anno Regni nostri 40.

To these precedent vexations of the Abböt by Suits at Rome, they superadded the payment of a great sum of money to the Popes Merchants within one month, by a forged Obligation, under pain of suspension, notwithstanding all their former Priviledges and Bulls.

Eodemque die missæ fuerunt Literæ a Domino Papa, Abbati & Conventui memoratæ Ecclesiæ Sancti scilicet Albani, ut infra mensem solberent quibusdam Mercatoribus quingentas Marcas, in quibus tenebantur eisdem Mercatoribus. Quem terminum si transgrederentur, scirent se ex tunc suspensos. Hoc insertum fuit in tenore Literarum, cum tamen nunquam scirent se alicui obligari. Et simili modo multis aliis Cœnobiis factum est, ut videlicet sic cogerentur jugum subire Mercatorum sceneratorum. Et ut efficacius pecuniam extorquerent exactores, dicebant omnia exigi ad opus Domini Regis, præparati ad iter peregrinationis accipiendum.

That Pope Alexander himself was the original fountain of these forged Obligations, made and sealed in the names of Abbots and others, for great sums of money supposed to be borrowed by them from the Popes Merchants, was thus evidenced:

ALEXANDER, &c. Dilecto filio Magistro Ruffando, &c. cum olim Bertolde, Marchioni de Cambrigia, pro negotii Regni Sicilia procuratione, duo Millia unciarum auri per dilectos filios, Reinaldum, Remerum, Pervium, Scottum, & Christophorum Colum, eorumque socios, Cives & Mercatores Senenses, persolvi mandaverimus, & propter hoc quædam Monasteria Ecclesiæ Regni Anglia fuerunt in duobus Millibus Marcarum sterlingorum novorum, de mandato nostri eisdem Mercatoribus obligata. Quia prædictus Marchio & fratres sui multorum & beneficiorum quæ a nobis & Ecclesia Romana receperant, immemores existentes, manifestam prodicionem adversus nos & eandem Ecclesiam, & Charissimum in Christo filium nostrum Regem Anglia illustrem commiserunt in Regno prædicto Sicilia, propter quod omnibus beneficiis & gratiis à nobis impensis eisdem, meritò sunt privandi. Et de huiusmodi pecunia non nisi tantum trecentæ uncia fuerunt per dictos Mercatores eisdem Marchioni & fratribus persolutæ; discretioni tuæ in virtute obedientia per Apostolica scripta firmiter præcipimus, quatenus prædicta duo Millia Marcarum, ab huiusmodi Monasteriis et Ecclesiis colligas, vel per alium colligi facias, et hoc per dilectum filium Magistrum Bernardum de Sen. Capellanum et nuncium nostrum, vel per quemcunque alium Collegam suum, et eisdem Mercatoribus antedictis assignata, valore prædictarum trecentarum Marcarum auri demisso Mercatoribus sepelitis, residuum tibi facias a detentoribus exhiberi, contradictores et detentores huiusmodi per censuram Ecclesiasticam appellatione postposita compescendo, non obstantibus aliquibus literis Apostolicis vel indulgentiis cuiuscunque tenoris existant impetratis, vel in posterum impetrandis, per quas huiusmodi solutio impediri valeat vel differri, seu si aliquibus literis Apostolicis a sede Apostolica sit indultum, quod excommunicari, interdicti nequeant vel suspendi. Postquam vero prædictam pecuniam collegeris vel receperis ab ejusdem detentoribus quibuscunque, tu Monasteria ipsa, & Ecclesias supradictas ab obligatione qua super solutione facienda Mercatoribus ipsis de supradicta summa pecuniæ tenebantur, Apostolica auctoritate absolvens, instrumenta publica, et literas super huiusmodi obligatione confectas, vitibus in posterum carere decernas. Quid autem & quantum ab huiusmodi Monasteriis & Ecclesiis, vel Magistro Bernardo, & Mercatoribus supradictis, & aliis detentoribus quibuscunque receperis, dilectis filiis Carbucco, & Jacobo de Last, vel eorum alteri, I. Remero, Gilberto Cremonensi, & Mercatoribus Florentinis, qui pro munitionibus civitatum & castrorum aliorum & locorum ejusdem Regni Sicilia, duo Millia Marcarum sterlingorum nobis liberaliter mutuarunt, ad quorum solutionem nos & Ecclesiam Romanam eis certo termino faciendam obligati sumus eisdem, sicut caram gratiam nostram habes, assignare procures. Non obstante quòd tibi super solutionibus quibusdam pecuniarum summis eis & quibus aliis communiter faciendis, alias direximus scripta nostra, quantitatem pecuniæ, quam eis duxeris assignandam, tuis nobis patentibus literis intimando. Nos igitur de huiusmodi summa pecuniæ in prædictis Carbo & Jacobo, vel eorum alteri, fuerit nostro & Ecclesiæ Romane nomine persoluta, reputabimus nobis et Ecclesiæ prædictæ fore plenarie satisfactum. Cum autem audissent Prælati Anglia, ut prædictum est, quod Papa & Rex confederarentur in subversionem Anglicana Ecclesiæ, quod intelligi potest per prædicta, adeo in ambiguum rotabantur, et quasi inter duas molas conterebantur, ut cæci nescirent penitus quid agendum. Veruntamen Prior et Conventus Dunelmensis, neque Prior vel Conventus de Gisburnia, aliquo modo voluerunt flecti, ut consentirent illi virulentæ obligationi, ut ipsi suas Ecclesiæ tam enormi servitutis inclinarent, licet omnes fere alii genera Baal incurbarunt. Sed steterunt, et suspensionem diutinam, et Romana Curie persecutionem, et Mercatorum id est, usurariorum Conbitia, iurgia, et comminationes alacriter et viriliter; pro libertate suæ Ecclesiæ dimicantes sustinuerunt. Et sicut ipsi voluerunt non habere in tali certamine consortes, ita timuerunt super omnia Papales, ne alii præstarent illis in tribulatione subsidium compatiendo, et similia cum suis fratribus aggrediendo. Sed pusillanimes et meticulosi incurvari sunt, ut ab hostibus calcarentur. Et sic non erat qui solatium impenderet, vel subsidium exhiberet; sed divisi, quasi vento agitati, quilibet quæ sua fuerunt, Charitatis expertes, defendebant, et defendendo succumbebant. Et hæc cornua præstabant inimicis.

Ecclesia S. Albani supponitur interdicto.

Eodem anno, proterventibus Papalibus exactoribus, Ecclesia Beati Albani, circa festum Simonis & Jude, per quindecim dies supposita est interdicto, non quia magnificis destituta sit privilegiis, sed quia hæc adjectio detestabilis, Non obstante, omnium sanctorum Patrum piæ enervat concessiones, et annullat auctoritatem. Maluit igitur Conventus injustam ac violentam sententiam, ne contemptus tribulationem suscitaret, observare reverenter, quam temerè non tenere. Cessavit igitur à campanarum pulsatione, divinarumque celebratione: & interim in Capitulo horas Canonicas cum Matutinis, complevit voce demissa. Animante igitur fratre Johanne de Dia, qui quasi vices egit Legati tunc in Anglia, Conventus divina modo consuecto celebravit. The like opposition was made by the Cistercian Abbats, thus related.

Ret

Rex igitur iratus iuravit, quod singulos damnificaret, quos omnes nequiverat fidere ad consensum. Et quia dixerant, quod Regem plus decuit orationes ab iisdem exigere, quam pecuniam: iuravit, quod voluit et orationes habere ab eis, et pecunia non destitui. Erat autem tunc fortè in Curia Abbas de Bildemas ordinis Cisterciensis; quem Rex objurgans iussit sibi accersiri, & ait: Quid est Abbas, quod mihi indigenti & humiliter postulanti, auxilium pecuniare denegasti? Nonne sum patronus vester? Cui Abbas: Usinam patronus, pater, & defensor. Veruntamen non expedit vobis nos in extorsione pecunia damnificare, sed potius cum devotione orationum suffragia postulare, exemplo pii Regis Francorum salubriter informatus. Cui Rex: Utrumque exigo, pecuniam videlicet cum orationibus. Cui Abbas: Non credo hoc posse contingere. Alterutro oportet te carere. Si enim substantiolas nostras a nobis violenter extorqueas, quomodo devotè & sinceris cordibus pro te orabimus? Oratio nempe sine devotione parum vel nihil prodesse prævalebit. Rex autem, licet satis eleganter respondisset Abbas, tamen Abbatibus Cisterciensibus tacitus insidiabatur universis.

Erat autem tunc temporis quidam Miles dives, Willielmus de Bello Campo dictus, uxorem habens nomine Tam, genere nobilem, sed moribus degenerem nimis, & religiosorum & religiosarum, persecutrix fuerat indefessa. Hæc igitur nacta jam nocendi Abbati de Wared de Regis ira oportunitate, more femineo nocere machinans, gravem movit contra dictum Abbatem in Regis Curia quæstionem; sciens quod Rex ipsum iustè vel iniustè, quia iratus, damnificaret. Et cum ex causa pusilla, vel nulla, in misericordiam Regis cecidisset, & necesse haberet Abbas à Rege ipso, quia alias Rex vias præcluserat, misericordiam humiliter postulare, Rex torvo vultu iurando horribiliter respondit; Qua fronte, Abbas, misericordiam postulas? Qui nuper mihi indigenti misericordiam cum tuis Coabbatibus denegasti. Et damnificavit eum Rex in multæ pecuniæ, ad arbitrium & persequentem voluntatem, effusione. Similiter autem & Abbas de Rafere Cisterciensis ordinis, pro quadum non causa, ut causa, quam provocarunt & excitarunt duæ viles personæ, quas garciones vocant, ad solutionem non minimæ pecuniæ, licet iniustè, cogebatur. Similiter & alii Cisterciensis ordinis Abbates, damna & injurias & subire multipliciter compellebantur.

Missi sunt igitur viri discreti de ordine Cisterciensis ad curiam Romanam, ut super hoc gravamine remedium impetrarent. Contra quos & Rex pro eo Dominum Willielmum Boncoque, Militem & Jurisperitum, ad eandem curiam, & ob alia negotia destinavit. Impetratio autem Cisterciensium talis erat. Alexander Episcopus, servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis Abbatibus & Conventibus Cisterciensium ordinis in Regno Anglia, ac locis qui sub eisdem Regni Dominio subsistunt constituti, salutem & Apostolicam benedictionem. Quanto excelsiorem eximæ religionis gradum ordo vester gratia divina conscendit, & sublimius suæ conversationis stationem ac sanctimonix collocavit: tanto eum amplius sedes Apostolica, pii mater, continuis semper promovit augmentis & spiritualibus favoribus communivit. Nos igitur, qui eundem ordinem affectu prosequimur intimæ charitatis, attendentes ejusdem ordinis Monasteria Regni Francia, à præstatione decimæ Ecclesiasticorum proventuum, à felicis recordationis Innocentio Papa prædecessore nostro, charissimo in Christo filio nostro Regi Francorum illustri concessæ in Terra sancta subsidium, excepta fuisse, eodem Rege devotarum orationum ejusdem ordinis suffragia pluris quàm temporalia subsidia æstimante. Ac volentes quieti vestræ, quantum cum Deo possumus, providere, specialem gratiam vobis faciendo, ne prætextu concessionis charissimo in Christo filio nostro Regi Anglia illustri à prædicta sede factæ, de decimis Ecclesiasticorum proventuum Regni sui & locorum suo Domino subiectorum certò percipiendis ab eo tempore, in subsidium Terra sancta, decimam reddituum & proventuum vestrorum ipsi Regi seu alii solvere teneamini, nec ad ipsarum solutionem compelli possitis, auctoritate præsentium vobis indulgemus. Monachi Cistercienses vestigal solvere coguntur.

Misit insuper eodem tempore Papa Literas Regi deprecatorias (prædictas) pro ordine Cisterciensi. Scripsit insuper Albui Cardinalis Regi devotissime pro ordine Cisterciensi, ne pro Deo ipsum sacrum ordinem talibus vexaret exactionibus, & sic ad horam Cistercienses respirarunt, qualiquali pace gaudentes.

But soon after, Rex præcepit, ne aliqua gratia exhiberetur Cisterciensibus, sed ut vexarent eos Vicecomites & alii Regii satellites, nec fieret eis jus, nisi commune. Et iratus quia intercessores procurabant pro eis, permisit, ut exigeretur & extorqueretur ab illis, cum redirent de generali eorum Capitulo, Telonium, quod vulgariter dicitur Paagium, contra libertatem & antiquam, & approbatam eorum consuetudinem. Unde multi super hoc non præmuniti, cucullas & tunicas vendere cogeantur.

Modificatio Papalis.

Qui verò ex parte universitatis Prælatorum ad Romanam Ecclesiam destinabantur, talem adepti sunt modificationem, & de intolerabili rigore remedium. Alexander, &c. Prælati, &c. Provisionis nostra provenire debet auxilio, ut unde nullum est commodum assequuti, detrimentum minimè sentiant. Cum igitur venerabilis frater noster Herefordensis Episcopus, de nostra licentia sibi per Literas nostras concessa, à dilectis filiis specialibus, Olivero Rosa, ac eorum sociis, Civibus ac Mercatoribus Florentinis, quingentas Marcas sterlingorum mutuo receperit, pro negotiis charissimi in Christo filii nostri Anglorum Regis illustris: quanquam in Literis ipsis & instrumento publico confecto super hujusmodi mutuo continetur expresse, quod non pro vestris & Monasterii vestri negotiis fuit hujusmodi pecunia mutuata, pro qua etiam idem Episcopus vos ac dictum Monasterium & ejus bona, prælati Mercatoribus obligavit. Nos volentes super hoc taliter providere, quod vos vel dictum Monasterium ex hoc non incurritis aliquam lesionem, auctoritate præsentium vobis indulgemus, ut si eundem Regem in prædicta pecunia solutione cessare contigerit, & vos de ipsa Mercatoribus satisfacere memoratis, liceat vobis decimam vestrorum proventuum Ecclesiasticorum, dicto Regi ab Apostolica sede pro Terræ Sanctæ subsidio deputatam, usque ad quantitatem prædictæ pecunie, quam Mercatoribus solvetis eisdem, ac damnorum & expensarum, quæ foris propter hoc incurretis, liberè retinere: non obstantibus aliquibus Literis super executione prædictæ decimæ, sub quacunque forma verborum, ad quoscunque Judices seu executores, à sede impetratis, vel etiam impetrandis. Cæterum, si occasione hujus retractionis prædictæ decimæ, fuerint in vos vel aliquem vestrum per quoscunque suspensionis, excommunicationis, vel interdicti sententiæ promulgatæ, decernimus eas auctoritate præsentium nullas esse, et vos ad ipsorum conservationem non teneri.

What an opinion many had of this Pope hypocrisie, occasioned by his rapines, this passage clearly discovers.

Mat. Paris Hist.

Tepuit multorum devotio erga Papam.

Diebus sub eisdem, tepuit devotio multorum, quem de Papa nostro patre, et Ecclesia Romana matre nostra habere consueverant. Ex quo enim in principio creationis suæ precum suffragia exigebat à fidelibus; hypocrisis reputant et secularitatis palliationem quamplurimam, sed de sua suspitione decepti: cum sanctus nos admoneat, dicens: Cum quid inceperis bonum, instanter Deum posce, ut ipse perficiat, &c. Sed quia hujusmodi devotionem opera subsequuntur contraria, verba de eo percurrunt incongrua. Spes igitur præconcepta de sanctitate Papæ, propterea evanuit elusivata. Veruntamen multorum auribus veraciter instillatum est, quod de Bulla decepto Papa fraudis committitur multiformis. Sed hæc ratio, si tamen ratio est, Papam non excusat.

What ill successe Boniface Archbishop of Canterbury and his Brother had in their Wars, supported with the Archbishops rapines in England, and what a flattering consolatory consolatory Letter Pope Alexander writ to the King and Queen of England, to allay their grief for this losse, to seise the goods of these Delinquents, and promote his rapines by their favour, is thus related by Matthew Paris.

Petrus autem de Subandia constantissime cum Magnatibus generis sui, videlicet Archiepiscopo Canuariensi, & electo Lugdunensi, & aliis Subandianis, Urbem Taurinam infestat, ita ut deficientibus victualibus, nec poterat eis pondus proficere, Urbem suam imbelli populo vacuarent. Cives igitur quanto plus ardebantur, tanto firmius Comitem Thomam tenuerunt vinculum: ut si Cives puniendi forte caperentur, ipse Comes, qui primus & ultimus causam perturbationis suscitaverat, primitus puniretur. Dominus autem Papa, ut videretur Domino Regi Anglorum & Regine in hoc casu profuisse, ipsos blandis consolationibus demulcendo, scripsit eisdem sic.

Mat. Paris Hist. p. 899, 900, Papa scribit Reginæ & Regi Angliæ.

ALXANDER Episcopus, &c. Charissimæ in Christo filie illustri Regine Anglorum, salutem & Apostolicam benedictionem. Nimis amaræ nimiumque molestæ sunt nobis injuriæ, quæ devotis Ecclesiæ filiis irrogantur: valde cor nostrum offensa fidelibus Apostolicæ sedis illarum conturbant. Sed de illorum molestiis plus dolemus, quorum circa sedem Apostolicam semper devotio servavit, clarisque sinceritas, quod inter alios puritatis titulo præsignari meruerunt, & uberiori ab eadem sede fulciri favore, & attolli honorificentia potiori. Horum namque gravamina illico sentimus in nobis, qui mox cum læduntur, degustamus suarum amaritudinem læsionum. Sanè ad audientiam nostram, non sine cordis amaritudine, & mentis tribulatione pervenit, quod nuper Astensis Civibus ad depopulationem Castri Montis Calerii hostiliter procedentibus, dilectus filius nobilis vir Thomas de Subandia Comes, avunculus tuus, qui in eodem Castro tunc temporis morabatur, recedens exinde, ad Civitatem se transtulit Taurinensem, sperans cum auxilio Civium Civitatis ejusdem, suorum utique Vassallorum, in successu prædicti Castri, quod ad eum spectare dignoscitur, recuperare. Sed dicti Cives, tanquam contemptores divini timoris, & famæ propriæ neglectores, * fidelitatis juramento, quo prædicto Comiti tenebantur astricti, temerè violato, eisdem Astensibus procurantibus, & ad id auxilium impendentibus, ipsum capere & detinere, non sine prodicionis nota, nequiter præsumpserunt. Et quidam rumor jam sinister, interiora nostra dolore immani acriter vulneravit: quia tanto venit auribus nostris acerbior, quanto detenti nobis clarior est persona. Tristamur itaque, nec indignè, quod filius, quem inter alios præcipue complectimur, taliter detinetur. Dolemus, nec mirum, quod tanti persona Magnatis, de ejus sincero confidebamus obsequio, in manus suorum incidit proditorum: arctiusque tenetur, quia devotione assidua invalescens, ad prædictæ sedis exaltationem indefessa sollicitudine laborabat. Cum enim prædictum Comitem suumque genus singulari benevolentia prosequimur, cum ejusdem domum propter suæ devotionis merita quodam semper affectu prætulerimus speciali, magis ex hoc suarum sentimus aculeos passionum, amplius ob id adversitatum ipsius amaritudinem delibamus. Quin imò sic proximo nos ejus detrimenta contingunt, quod ea patienti compatiatur statim: similiter non potest unquam adversitatis flagello feriri, quin percutiamur protinus cum eodem. Similes quippe nobis affectus commisit, propriosque dolores amara nobis transfusione partitur. Ideo serenitatem tuam rogandam intentius duximus, & hortandam, quatenus personas & bona Civium Taurinensium & Astensium, in terris tuæ ditioni subjectis existentium, capi facias, & tam diu detineri, donec prædictus Comes restituitur pristina libertati. Regi quoque consimilis Epistola est transmissa.

Circa festum beatæ Catharinæ applicuit Canuariensis Archiepiscopus de partibus Italia, post multas inutiles Anglicanæ pecuniæ effusiones, et labores instructuosos, qui parum profecit in bellicis negotiis apud Taurinam Civitatem. Nec est liberatus frater ejus Thomas, quandoque Comes, à carcere Civium, licet Subandianis omnes vires effuderint ad ipsius liberationem, & quamvis Papa ipsum liberare conaretur, scribens Regine Anglorum contra Cives, ad eorum impedimentum: as aforesaid.

Romanam Curiam, de qua venerant, adeuntes, illum bonum virum et modestum Archiepiscopum, interdicti fecerunt, et damnis et laboribus immensis fatigarunt. Quæ omnia Sanctus Præsul sustinuit in patientia, ut immineret ei evidenter tribulatio, quam Magister, ejus amicus quondam & socius, Sanctus Edmundus, prædixerat profuturam. Hæc autem fraudulenta præsumptio, omnes Canonicos ita reddidit attonitos, quod quid agendum penitus ignorarunt. Absurdum namque et omni rationi dissonum, imo detestabile eis merito videbatur, tam nobilem Præbendam, tam arduum officium, de spicabili et ignoto, sic intruso, conferri permittere, ut in tam nobili Ecclesia fieret talis et taliter suo Archiepiscopo secundarius. Auctoritatem tamen tyrannicam Domini Papæ, cui se Rex totum inclinabit, et ut aptius dicam, incurbavit, vehementer formidabant.

What Bishops and other Ecclesiastical persons died this year, how the King and Pope disposed of their Temporalities, Goods, Elections of their Successors, and Suits against each other, the continuer of Matthæi Paris thus relates.

Eodemque anno cœpit ægrotare lethaliter Archiepiscopus Burdegalensis, jam senex & decrepitus. Et cum penitus crederetur, qui semivivus extitit, mortuus Episcopus Herefordensis (qui summo desiderio ad illum Archiepiscopatum ambiens anhelabat) impetratis Literis Domini Regis, quem habuit favorabilem, utpote Celohæartius ejus, cum veritas pateret quod viveret, iter, laborem, operam perdidit, & expensas, multis fannis appetitus, sicut de quodam Magistro Lambino dicitur contigisse, de quo licet tantillum à materia digrediar, duo versiculi componebantur :

Eodemque tempore obiit Laudanus, & alius est substitutus. Eodem quoque anno Episcopus Karlesensis Magister Thomas in principio Octobris, qui sicut Episcopus Elensis, vix uno anno suum rexerat Præsulatum, de medio sublatus est. In quibus pendula gloria dignitatis secularis, quàm sit transitoria, luce clarius declaratur. Episcopus autem Elyensis Willielmus, in itinere Hispaniensi, dum Regi terreno ministraret obsecundans, ad tribunal summi tractus Imperatoris, in fata concessit peregrinus. Cor autem ipsius ad suam Ecclesiam Elyensem deferretur tumulandum solenniter in eadem. Episcopus quoque Cestrensis, Magister videlicet Rogerus de Westham, die Omnium Sanctorum, ultro suo concessit Episcopatu. Obiit quoque eodem tempore Prior de Newburgo Johannes Canonicus, qui sicut Episcopus Elyensis Willielmus de quo prædictum est, Domino Regi familiaris, & consiliarius extitit specialis.

Eodem anno, quibusdam controversiis inter Episcopum Bathoniensem & Conventum Glastonensem exortis, intrusus quidam in illud Cœnobium violenter, & invito Episcopo, autoritate Regia, cœpit omnia ausu temerario ordinare, sigillum sibi adulterinum fabricare. Interim dum Episcopus, pro jure suo prosequendo, Romam peteret, rerum fiebat utrobique distractio. Intrusus autem quoscunque poterat convocat nebulones & gyrovagos, & convocatos indignos, in læsionem honoris Monastici, (ut suam partem contra Episcopum roboraret) Monachavit decem & octo, & tertia die fecit professos, non veritus istam Dominicam comminationem, imo potius maledictionem, Va homini per quem scandalum suscitatur. Similique modo nobilis Ecclesia Wintoniensis schismate turpabatur. Et sicut illi histriones, quos electus Wintoniensis in contumeliam Prioris convocatos Monachaverat, apostatantes recesserunt, sic non aliud ab istis sperabatur.

It seems there was a Suit pending in the Archbishops Court, prosecuted by the Bishop of Bath and Wells against this Abbot, * to deprive and excommunicate him, and another Suit at the same time in the Kings Court, for the Temporalities of the Abbey, whereupon the King issued this Prohibition to stay the proceedings touching the Deprivation and Excommunication.

Ipsa quoque anno muneribus Electi Wintoniensis in Curia Romana discurrantibus, et Simonialibus præmiis et precibus Prioris intrusi Wintoniensis, quem idem Electus creaverat, intermeantibus, stabilitur intrusus, scilicet Andreas. Alteri autem post labores transalpinos, & pecuniæ infinitam effusionem, & enormem sui Prioratus læsionem, quoddam manerium ad sui sustentationem providetur. Conventus autem dispersus, imperiose sub pœna anathematis convocatur ab Electo: & sic diatim in Nobilibus Ecclesiis Conventuabilibus, opprobria per schismata suscitantur. Quæ propter discordias et ambitiones, Curia Romana pabula ministrantur: ita videlicet ut per hanc solam discordiam, additus est annuus redditus mensæ Papali qualibet die una marca argenti.

After long expensive suites between the Bishop Elect of Winton, and the Monks of St. Swithin about deposing of the old, and enforcing of a new Prior on them by the Bishop in the Court of Rome, upon a Reference from Pope Alexander, they came to this final accord, which the King himself thus recited and ratified under his great Seal.

Et insuper à singulis pñctus cultellis, qui dicuntur Anelarii, potatus felle, derisus probris & blasphemis, & crebrò ab eisdem, frendentibus dentibus, Jesum Pseudo-propheta vocatus. Et postquam diversimodè illuserant ei, crucifixerunt. Et Lancea ad cor pupugerunt. Et cum expirasset puer, deposuerunt corpus de Cruce, & nescitur qua ratione eviscerarunt corpusculum: dicitur autem, quod ad Magicas artes exercendas. Mater autem pueri filium suum absentem per aliquot dies diligenter quæsit, dictamque ei à vicinis, quod ultimo viderunt puerum, quem quæsit, ludentem cum pueris Judæorum sibi coætaneis, & domum Judæi cujusdam intrantem. Intravit igitur mulier subito domum illam, & vidit corpus pueri in quendam puteum præcipitatum. Et contè convocatis Civitatis Ballivis, inventum est corpus & extractum. Et factum est mirabile spectaculum in populo: Mulier autem mater pueri, querula, & clamorosa omnes Cives in uno convenientes, ad lacrymas & suspiria provocavit. Erat autem ibidem Dominus Johannes de Lexingtona, vir quidem circumspexius & discretus, insuper eleganter literatus. Quia ait: Audivimus quandoque quod talia Judæi in opprobrium Jesu Christi domini Crucifixi, non sunt veriti attemptare. Et èptro uno Judæo, in cujus domum scilicet intravit puer ludens, & ideo aliis inspectior, ait illi: Miser, nescis quod te festinus manet interitus? Totum aurum Angliæ non sufficeret ad redemptionem tuam aut redemptionem. Veruntamen dicam tibi, licet indigno, qualiter poteris vitam tuam reservare, & membra ut mulieris. Utrumque tibi salvabo, si quacunque in hoc casu agueris, sine falsi flamine mihi pandere non formides. Judæus respondit ille, cui nomen Copinus, sic credens viam invenisse evasivis, respondit, dicens: Domine Johannes, si dictis facta compensas, panderam tibi mirabilia. Et animavit eum & stimulavit ad hoc Domini Johannis industria. Et ait Judæus: Vera sunt qua dicunt cant Christiani. Judæi ferè quolibet anno, annum puerum in injuriam & contumeliam Jesu crucifigunt: Sed non quolibet anno comperitur. Occultè enim hoc faciunt, & locis absconditis & secretissimis. Hunc autem puerum, quem Hagonem vocant, immiseri- corditer nostri Judæi crucifixerunt, & cum obisset, & mortuum vellent abscondere, non potuit obrui in terra, nec abscondi. Inutile enim reputabatur corpus infantis angurio, ad hoc enim eviscerabatur. Et cum manè putaretur absconditum, edidit illud terra & eva- nuist, & apparuit corpus aliquoties inhumatum supra terram, unde abhorrerunt Judæi. Tandem in puteum precipitatum est, nec adhuc tamen poterat occultari. Mater enim improba omnia persequenda, tandem corpus inventum Ballivus intimavit. Dominus autem Johannes tenuit Judæum vinculis mancipatum. Et cum hæc Canonicis Ecclesiæ Lincolnensis Cathedralis innotuissent, petierunt corpusculum sibi dari, & concessum est illi. Et cum ab infinitis satis consideraretur, honorificè in Ecclesia Lincolnensi, tanquam pretiosi martyris, humabatur. Sciendum, quod Judæi tenuerant puerum vivum per decem dies, ut tot diebus pastus lacte, tormenta vivus multiformia tole- rarer. Cum Rex redisset de partibus Borealibus Angliæ, & certificaretur de præ- missis, increpavit Dominum Johannem, quod tam flagitioso vitam & membra polli- ceretur, quod dare nequiverat. Dignus enim erat blasphemus ille & homicida, mortis poena multiformi. Et cum judicium reo immineret irremediabile, ait: Im- minet mihi mors mea, nec potest mihi Dominus Johannes perituro suffragari. Nunc dico vobis omnibus veritatem: Hujus pueri, de quo calumiantur Judæi, morti consencie- bant omnes ferè Judæi Angliæ. Et cujuslibet ferè Civitatis Angliæ, in qua Judæi habi- tant, quidam electi convocabantur ad illius pueri immolationem, quasi ad Paschale sacri- ficium. Et cum hæc dixisset simul cum aliis deliramentis, ligatus ad caudam equinam, & tractus ad patibulum, aëreis cacodæmonibus in corpore & anima præsentatur. Et alii Judæi, hujus facinoris participes, quaterviginti & undecim, in bigis Londinum ducti, carcerali custodiæ mancipantur. Qui si fortè ab aliquibus Christianis plan- gerentur, ab ætulis eorum Casus suis sicis lachrymis deplorabantur.

Postea verò, per inquisitionem Justiciariorum Domini Regis præceptum fuit & inventum, quod Judæi Angliæ communi consilio puerum innocentem, pluribus die- bus flagellatum, interemerunt crucifixum. Sed postea pro iniquitate illa, matre dicti pueri contra ipsos de tali morte appellationem suam coram Rege constanter prosequente, Deus ultionum Dominus dignam pro meritis reddidit retributionem. Nam in die Sancti Clementis, octodecim de d tioribus & Majoribus Civitatis Lincoln- ensis fuerunt tracti, & ad fureas novas, ad hoc specialiter præparatas vento præ- sentati. Et in Turri Londinensi, plusquam viginti tres ad simile judicium in carcere sunt reservati.

dæi tracti ad
suspensi.

The Bishop of Ely being content to go Embassador into Spain about the Kings important affaires, was sued before the Popes Delegate by some of the Popes Merchants for 300. marks principal, and 100. marks interest, and threatned to be tryed and excommunicated by others of them for the like sum in Court Christian, for which debts he and others were obliged to the said Merchants by the Pope and his Agents, without their privy, for the Kings use. The Bishop thereupon refused to go Embassador, unlesse the King would first free him from these debts and suits; whereupon he issued these Letters Patents to his Treasurer, to satisfy these Merchants out of the first monies received in the Exchequer at Michaelmas following.

No wonder then if the continuer of Matthew Paris renders us this account of this Bishops employment this year, instead of preaching Gods word, and discharging his Episcopal duty, which he neither minded nor prosecuted.

Episcopus Herefordensis, non considerans Reipublicae utilitatem, sed quae sua esse possent, investigans, de licentia Papae & Regis, decimam sibi collegit in finibus Hibernia & partium conterminarum: Videlicet non minimam pecuniae quantitatem, quam pretium sui laboris reputavit, et suae praemium praedicationis, fecitque ipsam sibi tam districte colligi, ut pudor prohibuerat modum extorquendi recitare. Et quia fraus metu carere non consuevit, meticolosus armatis, & armatus vallatus incessit.

How egregiously Pope Alexander and his Cardinals exacted upon, abused and cheated King Henry in the businesse of Sicily, which he pretended freely to bestow on him and his son, putting hard and impossible conditions on them, and that after sundry great sums of money received from him, demanding no lesse then 135 thousand 500 and 40 marks to be fully satisfied him, after the Popes forces routed, before he should send any more forces to gain it; and how the King notwithstanding all these abuses and discouragements, was resolved to prosecute this unfortunate affair, against the advice of his Counsil and Nobles, these Letters of his to the Pope and some of his Cardinals, registred in the Clause Rolls, will evidence to the world.

Ceterum Proceres & Majores Consilii nostri, super casu qui post gratiam nobis factam de Regno Sicilia contigit per prodicionem Marchionis de Herebroke, mirabiliter stupefacti, vix negotium audent assumere in hoc statu, præsertim cum inter ceteras Conditiones in privilegio vestro contentas illa contineatur expresse: Quod non eamus vel mittamus donec vobis et Ecclesiæ Romana de 135 millibus 500 et 40 Marcarum plene fuerit satisfactum. Unde cum occasione negotii supradicti Mercatoribus Senen. & Florentin. in nonnullis pecuniarum summis quas Venerabile Pater Sanctæ Maria in vialata Diac. Card. Apostolicæ sedis Legatus, de manu Hereford. Episcopi, Procur. & Nuncii nostri recepit, sumus sub pœnis gravissimis obligati, quas incessanter solvi facimus juxta vestri tenorem mandati, super ordinatione Capitanei destinandi nondum potuimus complere tractatum, cujus consummatio non modicum desiderat pecuniæ interuentum. Non enim credimus, quod hodie Princeps aliquis regnat in terris qui ita subito tantam pecuniam possit habere ad manum: Dicunt ergo illi apud quos laboramus ut vadent, frustra illuc ibimus, in hancum istud negotium assumemus quousque prænominata summa plene fuerit persoluta. Ecce quod huic negotio celeriter succurrere cupientes juxta verum beneplacitum et mandatum, huic vero prædictum periculum formidantes, cujusdam perplexitatis laqueis intricamur, inter grandes et graves angustias constituti. Veruntamen ad Apostolicæ clementiæ benevolentiam considerationis oculum retorquentes, magis elegimus vestræ pietatis providentiam nos et nostra exponere liberaliter et libenter, quam in tanto periculo negotium deserere indefensum: Sperantes vos nolle beneficiis vestris nos decipi, sed jubari. Hinc est clementissime Pater, quod licet inspecto statu negotii per aliquorum injuriam et nequitiam, sine culpa nostra non modicum deformatæ conditiones sub quibus Regnum Sicilia, et nato nostro concessum, non solum difficiles sed fere impossibiles ab aliquibus censeantur, volentes tamen in sinceritate cordis, et favoris promptitudine accingi ad obsequium Jesu Christi, de sedis Apostolicæ benignitate confisi, quæ non consuevit irritum facere quod semel ratum esse decreverit, juxta formam ordinationis vestræ negotium et omnia quæ ipsum contingunt, complebimus, per Venerabilem Patrem Bonon. Episcopum, quem ad hoc specialiter destinatis, privilegia nostra et filiorum nostrorum sub sigillo nostro et Bulla aurea transmittentes, circa Capitaneum destinandum, cum militia competenti iugiter insistendo: Unde Sanitati vestre humiliter supplicamus, quatenus attendatis quam multipliciter sumus gravati nisi pietatis vestre dextra nos sublevare dignetur. Nam sicut scitis, occasione istius negotii Perceptoribus Senen. et Florentin. infra Kalend. Junii tenemur persolvere 60. millia Marcarum ab 10. millibus quas nunc vobis et fratribus vestris solvere nos oportet: Item in apparatu Capitanei transmittendi opus est magna pecunia; unde si placet vos ipsi videre potestis, quam difficile infra festum Sancti Michaelis proximo venturum mittere prout decet, & summam solvere quæ in vestro privilegio continetur. Hoc autem totum statum nostrum vestre Beatitudini duximus committendum, ut sicut placet prout vestra possibilitas potest pati, ordinare curetis; nam omnes vires nostras prompti sumus congerere, et etiam experiri circa prosecutionem negotii memorati, vestris beneplacitis semel humiles et devoti, & jam Nuncios solempnes vidissetis, nisi captio charissimi nostri Com. Sabald. nos impedivisset cum unum de fratribus suis ad Sanctitatis vestre presentiam mittere vellemus: quando hoc impedimentum occurrit, petitiones vero quasdam quæ præfatum tangunt negotium vestre beatitudini recommendamus, supplicantes, ut illas ad exauditionis gratiam admittatis. Teste Rege apud Norwic. 27 die Martii.

The continuer of Matthew Paris renders us this account of the Kings Letters to the Pope, containing some clauses not extant in the precedent.

Diebus sub eisdem, Dominus Rex pessimo fretus consilio, tantam pecuniam a Papalibus negotiatoribus mutuo accepit, ut filium suum Edmundum in Regnum Sicilia promoveret, ut seipsum in summæ paupertatis vinculo irretiret. Papa autem, qui nec falli debuit, nec fallere, Regis fidem adhibuit assertionibus, quas liquido scire potuit, si vellet, fuisse penitus umbratiles et fallaces. Dedit enim intelligi in mandatis ipsi Papæ Dominus Rex, quod Anglia pecuniæ puteus extitit inerschatus, quem nullus poterat exsiccare. Item, quod nunquam in Anglia Rex tam dilectus, tam preciosus, sicut ipse, prædixisset: cum tamen Papa per multos sibi familiares, qui tunc Rome fuerant, contrarium poterat didicisse: (Therefore Popes no doubt may erre and be deceived, as well as deceive others.) Muræ igitur pecuniæ Regem obligantes cum poenis, ad plusquam centum quotidie libras ascenderunt; ita ut immineret tam Clero quam populo Anglico desolatio cum ruina.

eundem terminum, sub pœna annullationis totius negotiis, nobis in super remanentibus excommunicatis, et toto Regno nostro supposito Ecclesiastico interdicto. Has utique conditiones et pœnam durissimas judicabant, cum præter dictam summam, sicut Nuncii nostri referent, ad aliam summam non modicam teneamur. Quis enim Princeps infra tam breve temporis spacium cum pecunia, quam eundo vel mittendo noliter desiderat apparatus, posset ita repente habere ad manum tam immensas pecuniarum quantitates? Formidantes igitur pericula quæ incumbunt, nobis dissuadebant omnino, ut nequaquam subsiceremus tanto discrimini statum nostrum. Nos vero sperantes in illo qui est in se sperantium fortitudo, dictum negotium per Procuratores & Nuncios inceptum, & quantum in se fuerat consummatum, confisi quod sedes Apostolica nullum opprimit, sed potius oppressos relevare intendit, ad plenum complevimus, sicut per privilegia nostra & filiorum nostrorum quæ per dictum Bonon. Episcopum, Domino Papæ & fratribus destinamus vobis, fiet plenissima certitudo. Cæterum dicto tractatu pendente, super venit rumor terribilis de jactura et damnis Ecclesiæ Romanæ et nobis illatis, per prodicionem Marchionum de Herebroke, qui se mentiebantur fideles Ecclesiæ et devotos: super quo Dominus Papa nobis mandavit, ut dicto negotio tam dampnabiliter deformato festino subsidio succurrentes, statim competentem militiam mitteremus. Quotissimi et funesto rumore ad nos perlato, qui prius propter difficultatem conditionum de negotio diffidebant, modo desperant in tantum, quod vir aliqui in soliditate constantiæ et voluntate prosequendi nobiscum illud negotium remanserunt. Nos autem in Regem Cœli & Ducem Syderum considerationis oculos dirigentes, qui cum possit imperare mari & ventis, tempestates istas sedare poterit; & quod turbatum est in tranquillum, quod nubilosum convertere in serenum; Nolumus desistere ab inceptis, fortiores sumentes animum in adversis, confestim super Capitaneo mittendo cum decenti militia conferentes, cui tractatui adhuc incessanter insistimus, sicut dilecti Nuncii nostri latores præsentium plenius vobis dicent. Sanè, quod sine turbatione animi recensere non possumus nec debemus; Nonnulli Episcopi Regni nostri per quos nos et Ecclesiam in tantæ necessitatis articulo constitutam sperabamus juvari, afflictionem superaddentes afflictioni, retardationem subsidii ad prosecutionem hujus negotii deputati, temere molientes quasi ad subversionem intentionis nostræ et vestræ totaliter aspirarent, per discretum virum Magistrum Rustandum diligentem et fidelem executozem officii sibi injuncti Canonicè moniti, decimam proventuum suorum, sine qua quod intendimus perficere non valemus, hactenus reddere recusarunt; sed nunc speramus, quod obedient vestris in hac parte mandatis, sicut eidem Magistro Rustando firmiter promiserunt: Hinc est igitur, quod inter hujusmodi angustias constituti, ad vestræ circuminspectionis prudentiam recurrimus confidenter, rogantes vestram mansuetudinem ut si tacito Capitaneum non mittimus sicut necessitas exposcit negotii, nos excusatos habentes, apud Dominum Papam et fratres super hoc excusare velitis. Scientes quod quilibet in hoc statu hoc negotium assumere, illa potissima ratione quia inter cæteras Conditiones illa habetur expressè, quod non eamus, nec mittamus aliquem donec de totali summa prædicta Domino Papæ et Ecclesiæ plene fuerit satisfactum, nec de isto impedimento Dominus Papa cum nobis nuper mandavit, ut statim deberemus mittere, fecit aliquam mentionem, nec tamen propter hoc omittimus quin super mittendo solliciti laboremus, & vos de quo plenè confidimus dignemini laborare, ut illa conditio quæ quasi inclinationem negotii continere videtur in melius reformetur. Ad hoc igitur laborantes fideliter nobis per latorem præsentium, quem super hoc & quibusdam aliis ad vos specialiter duximus destinandum, celeriter rescribatis vestræ beneplacitum

By these Writs and Letters it is most apparent, what vast sums of money the Pope and Court of Rome drayned from the King, Kingdom, Clergy, and Religious persons of England this year, by intollerable forgeries, extortions, and impious frauds, only to wrest the Kingdom of Sicily out of Manfreds hands, in which design God blasted both the Popes forces, and Kings rapines, to their perpetual infamy.

BOOK IV. CHAP. III.

Comprising sundry Evidences out of Law-books, Histories, and Records, manifesting our Kings Sovereign Ecclesiastical as well as Temporal Authority, over all Ecclesiastical Persons, Courts, Causes in England and Ireland; The Popes and his Instruments intollerable Extortions, Oppressions, Innovations, Enchroachments both upon the Kings Prerogative, and Subjects Liberties, Properties, and their respective Oppositions, Complaints against them: Together with our Popish Prelates, and Ecclesiastical Synods, Courts, illegal Usurpations upon the Kings Temporal Rights, Courts, Crown, Dignity, and Peoples Priviledges, with the several Prohibitions, Mandates issued to restrain them; And some other Ecclesiastical affaires, transactions between the King, Pope, and Court of Rome, of most concernment, from the end of the 40th year of King Henry the 3<sup>d</sup>, till the expiration of his Reign, Anno Domini 1272.

I Have presented you in the precedent Chapters with many memorable Records, Writs, Prohibitions, restraining the Popes and Prelates Usurpations upon the Rights, Crown, Courts of King Henry the 3<sup>d</sup>, and his Subjects Liberties, till the 40. year of his Reign; about which time, or soon after, Henry de Bracton, a famous Judge under him, learned both in the Civil, Canon, and Common Laws of the Realm, published five most excellent Books, De Legibus & Consuetudinibus Anglia, wherein he asserts the Kings Supremacy over all persons whatsoever, as having no Peer at all, much less any Superior, within his Realm, styling him Dei Vicarius several times in sundry places, already transcribed in my Second Book, chap. 2. p. 30, 31, 32. concerning King Lucius, which I shall not here repeat. Which passages of his will well explain those clauses in him, which seem to patronize the Popes Supremacy, viz.

eorum faciem immittat in messem alienam. Et sicut Papa potest ordinare in spiritualibus, quoad ordines et dignitates, ita potest Rex in temporalibus in hereditatibus dandis vel heredibus constituendis secundum consuetudinem Regni sui. Which passages as they absolutely refute the Popes Temporal Supremacy and Jurisdiction in England, upon pretext of K. Johns Charter, or the grant of Peter-pence, so they admit the Popes Supremacy only in Spiritual things, to wit, in consecrating, depriving Bishops, Priests, administering Sacraments, inflicting Ecclesiastical censures, & exercising their Ministerial function, but not in the supreme Ecclesiastical Government of the Church or Clergy of England, vested only in the King, not Pope, as Gods Vicar, to whom all the Archbishops, Bishops and Prelates of the Realm were then immediately subject, as to their Sovereign Lord and Patron, not so unto the Pope, who (notwithstanding his encroachments on the Crown in King Johns Reign, which were regained only by degrees in those bad times by his successors) could make no Archbishop, Bishop in England or Ireland, nor call Synods, nor enact Laws or Canons to bind the Church or Clergy of England or Ireland, without the Kings Royal assent, who by his Writs of Prohibition controlled both the Popes, his Legates, Delegates, and Archbishops, Bishops, yea Synods Jurisdictions and extravagant proceedings beyond their legal bounds, as Bracton himself informs us in his Treatise of Jurisdictions and Prohibitions, pertinent to my Theam, wherein you may most clearly discern a combination between the Pope, Bishops, and Ecclesiastical Courts, especially by Bulls and Delegations from the Pope, totally to subvert the Jurisdiction of the Kings Temporal Courts in that age, and to engross them into their own hands, to the prejudice of the King, his Crown and Dignity, and subversion of the antient Laws, Customs, Rights, Privileges of the Kingdom, and Kings Officers, Subjects, and their diligence, vigilancy, courage to prevent it, by several Writs and forms of Prohibitions, thus digested into a perspicuous method and recorded to posterity by Judge Bracton.

1. Est etiam jurisdictio quædam ordinaria, quædam delegata quæ pertinet ad sacerdotium & forum Ecclesiasticum, sicut in causis spiritualibus & spiritualitati annexis. Est etiam alia jurisdictio ordinaria vel delegata quæ pertinet ad Coronam & dignitatem Regis ad Regnum, in causis & placitis rerum & temporalium in foro seculari, & unde videndum cujus iudicium & forum actor adire debeat. Et verum est quod siue Laicum siue Clericum velit quis convenire, debet adire iudicem & sequi forum rei, & iudicium habebit illum apud quem reus habet domicilium, siue domicilium habuerit sub jurisditione unius vel duorum. 2. Et licet generaliter verum sit quod actor forum rei sequi debeat, fallit tamen in casibus propter diversitatem jurisditionum & causarum de rebus spiritualibus & temporalibus, & earum sequela, sicut in causa matrimoniali, & rebus permissis ob causam matrimonii, quæ in foro Ecclesiastico terminari debent, quia cujus juris, i. jurisditionis est principale, ejusdem juris erit accessorium. Et eodem modo sicut in foro seculari agatur de aliquo placito quod pertinet ad Coronam & dignitatem Regis, & fides fuerit opposita in contractu, non propter hoc pertinebit cognitio super principali ad iudicem Ecclesiasticum. 3. Item fallit in causa testamentaria & aliis pluribus causis Ecclesiasticis. Item ratione criminis convenitur quis ubi deliquit, ut si quis crimen commiserit in terra aliena, quia ubi deliquit ibi subiceat juri, sicut videri poterit de Assangthes, per exemplum. Item ratione contractus quia conveniendus ubi contraxit. Item ratione rei petite, ut si Clericus petat versus Clericum & Laicum debitum quod non sit de Testamento vel de Matrimonio, sequi debet forum laicale, & eodem modo si petat Laicum feudum, sub Domino feodi erit actio, sicut petitio hereditatis per breve de recto erit tractanda coram Domino feodi, vel coram Vicecomite si Dominus negligens fuerit, quia ratione negligentie proprii iudicis v. delicti Domini, transferatur loquela ad Comitatum, & sic coram Rege & suis Justiciariis, multis & variis de causis. 4. Item si quis unum iudicem de voluntate sua elegerit, ad alterius audientiam recurrere non debet voluntate propria, cum talis per consensum effectus sit suus iudex, quamvis generaliter verum sit, quod sententia non à suo iudice lata non teneat. Et hoc verum est nisi hoc faciat Regia prohibitio, quia jurisditionem Regis non potest quis mutare per renunciationem in præiudicium Regiæ dignitatis, secundum quod inferius dicitur: quamvis expediat aliquando actori convenire reum sub iudice de cujus factus est jurisdictioone per consensum, magis quam sub eo cui subest domicilij ratione, quia si proprius iudex fuerit negligens, alius iudex (licet non suus) poterit esse diligentior, dum tamen coercionem habeat quod possit iudicium suum demandare executioni. Et unde cum diversæ sint hinc inde jurisdictiones, & diversi iudices, & diversæ causæ, debet quilibet ipsorum imprimis æstimare an sua sit jurisdictio, ne scilicet videatur ponere in messem alienam. 5. Quia Clericus in nullo conveniendus est coram iudice seculari quod pertineat ad forum Ecclesiasticum, sicut in causis spiritualibus vel spiritualitati annexis, ut si pro peccatis vel transgressionibus fuerit penitentia iniungenda, & quo casu iudex Ecclesiasticus habet cognitionem, quia non pertinet ad Regem injungere penitentias, nec ad iudicem secularem, nec etiam ad eos pertinet cognoscere de iis quæ sunt spiritualibus annexa, sicut de decimis & aliis Ecclesiæ proventionibus. Item nec de Catallis quæ sunt de Testamento vel Matrimonio. Item nec de pecunia, promissa ob causam Matrimonii, quæ est quasi sequela Matrimonii, ut superius dictum est, & huiusmodi, quia iudex Ecclesiasticus in iis omnibus habet jus revocandi donum, & quamvis in omnibus aliis actionibus sive placitis ad forum seculare pertinentibus videatur quod Clericus sequi debeat forum seculare, & iis agere & respondere ratione rei vel contractus, ubi agitur realiter vel personaliter, sicut in actione injuriarum vel criminis dum tamen civiliter agatur, secundum quod videre poterit tota die, quod si Clericus conveniendus, quia Laicum scilicet non habet, summonitionem suscipere noluerit, nec plegios invenire, mandabitur. Episcopo vel ordinario loci, quod faciat talem venire coram Rege vel Justitiariis suis ad respondendum et satisfaciendum de quocunque placito ad intentionem petentis vel querentis; quambis sunt, qui dicunt, quod de nullo placito tenentur respondere, nec ratione rei, contractus, vel delicti coram iudice seculari; et salva pace eorum, videtur, quod sit in omnibus actionibus et placitis Civilibus, et Criminalibus, præterquam in executione iudicii in causa Criminali ubi Laicus condemnandus esset, ad amissionem vite vel membrorum; & quo casu, quamvis iudex secularis habet cognitionem & cognoscat de crimine, tamen non habet potestatem exequendi iudicium, sicut in causis Civilibus, non enim possit degradare Clericum, magis quam ad ordines promoveri. Et ideo propter ejus defectum habet ordinarius executionem iudicii, licet aliter observetur quod in causa criminali, ubi poena Capitalis infligenda est, habet ordinarius utramque, videlicet cognitionem, & * iudicii executionem. 6. Vice versa, non est Laicus conveniendus coram iudice Ecclesiastico de aliquo quod pertineat ad Coronam et Regiam dignitatem, et ad Regnum, quod in foro seculari terminari potest et debeat, sicut nec de Laico feodo vel eis pertinentis, ratione supradicta, ut si iura pertineant sicut advocatio, jus pascendi, eundi, agendi, et huiusmodi. Item nec de debitis, nec catallis nisi sunt de Testamento, vel matrimonio huiusmodi, quia Rex jus habet revocandi donum propter suum privilegium, quambis ipse qui convenitur coram iudice Ecclesiastico de placitis quæ pertinent ad Coronam et dignitatem Regiam, per se effectus sit per consensum de alterius foro et jurisdictione. 7. Poterit enim quis renunciare iis quæ pro se introducta sunt, sed tamen non in præiudicium alienum, sicut in præiudicium Regiæ dignitatis, quia iniuste non trahitur ad alienum forum ex quo renunciando privilegio suo hoc voluit, iniuste tamen propter privilegium ipsius Regis. Et unde si quis se obligaverit per scripturam ad respondendum in foro verito, non obstante privilegio (i.) Regiæ prohibitionem obisgat et non Regem. Et unde si ille idem postmodum prohibitionem impetraverit quod iudices non procedant, et contra factum suum multipliciter delinquit; delinquit enim per hoc quod placita quæ pertinent ad Coronam et dignitatem Regis trahit ad alienum forum: Delinquit * enim ex hoc quod venit contra factum suum proprium, et unde cum iudices et partes comparuerint, iudices puniuntur,

* To wit, as to degradation, not execution; for the Ordinarie in cases of Heresie cannot burn an Heretick but only condemn him to be burnt by the Sheriff or civil Magistrate, by the Kings Writ de Hæretico comburendo, which he may deny to grant, and then the Bishop or Ordinarie cannot burn him, much lesse hang or behead a Priest for felony or Treason.

niuntur, eo quod post prohibitionem processerunt, et si convincantur, *Exco*mmunicentur, *Exco*mmunicentur, poena pecuniaria graviter puniantur, et ille eodem modo de quo queritur qui hoc procurabit, sed non propter querelam querentis et injuriam ei factam, sed propter injuriam factam ipsi Regi; non est enim ei aliqua injuria facta propter consensum, quia trahi voluit ad alienum forum, & quia sic voluit, puniatur ut primi, & quia venit contra factum suum, & per impetrationem suam jam rediit ad forum debitum, ut ibi respondeat de placito principali, etiam sine alio brevi, & iudices, & ille de quo queritur quantum ad placitum prohibitionis recedant versus eum sine die, & ipse in misericordia versus eos pro falso clameo.

Dictum est qualiter per consensum sit de alterius jurisdictione. Nunc enim dicendum si contra voluntatem trahatur in placitum coram iudice Ecclesiastico de placitis quæ pertinent ad Coronam et dignitatem Regis, unde cum quis ita tractus fuerit coram iudice Ecclesiastico contra voluntatem suam qui æstimare noluerit, an sua sit jurisdictio, sed jurisdictionem Regis sibi usurpaverit, et delinquant tam Iudices qui placitum tenent, quam ille qui sequitur, ad querelam illius qui sic ad non suum iudicem trahitur, fiat breve Domini Regis iudicibus ne procedant, et ei qui sequitur ne sequatur, in hac forma. Et si iudicassent, iudicium eque non possent, quia Uiccomes nihil faceret ad mandatum ipsorum. 2. Rex talibus Iudicibus salutem, Prohibemus vobis ne placitum teneatis in Curia Christianitatis inter A. petentem, & B. teneantem de tanta terra cum pertinentiis, vel de Laico feodo ipsius B. in tali Villa, vel aliter, de Catallis vel debitis quæ non sunt ex Testamento vel Matrimonio, & unde prædictus B. queritur, quod prædictus A. eum injustè trahit in placitum coram vobis, quia placita de Laico feodo & de debitis & Catallis quæ non sunt de Testamento & Matrimonio, spectant ad Coronam et dignitatem nostram. Et huiusmodi prohibitio locum habet cum scribitur iudicibus qui ordinariam habent jurisdictionem, si autem delegatam, ut si delegati fuerint a Domino Papa, vel a suo ordinario, tunc sic. 3. Rex talibus Iudicibus salutem, Prohibemus vobis ne teneatis placitum in Curia Christianitatis de Laico feodo, A. in tali Villa, & unde idem A. queritur quod B. de N. trahit eum in placitum coram vobis in Curia Christianitatis auctoritate Literarum Domini Papæ, de Laico feodo suo vel debitis et Catallis, &c. ut supra. Et idem dici poterit de advocacionibus Ecclesiarum vel de aliis placitis, quæ pertinent ad Coronam et dignitatem Domini Regis; et tunc sic, ne teneatis placitum in Curia Christianitatis de advocacione Ecclesiæ, de tali loco, unde talis queritur &c. ut supra, quia placita de advocacionibus Ecclesiarum spectant ad Coronam et dignitatem nostram. C. &c. Et sic fiet de omni iure quod pertinere potest ad Laicum feodum, de quo Rex habere debet cognitionem. Et eodem modo scribatur parti adversæ ne sequatur, in hac forma. 4. Rex tali salutem, Prohibemus tibi ne sequaris placitum in Curia Christianitatis, de Laico feodo tali in Villa, vel de debitis, Catallis vel advocacione Ecclesiæ, & huiusmodi, & unde prædictus talis queritur, quod tu trahis eum in placitum talibus Iudicibus, videlicet delegatis, auctoritate literarum Domini Papæ, vel auctoritate literarum alicujus alterius Ordinarii, vel auctoritate literarum alterius subdelegati a Iudicibus, a Domino Papa delegatis, quia huiusmodi placita, ut supra, & ita quod huiusmodi brevibus semper conveniant brevibus ad iudices transmissis.

Sunt etiam alia genera prohibitionum quam plura & diversa, quarum quedam sunt de advocacionibus Ecclesiarum, ubi non agitur directè inter patronos, ut hic, sed indirectè; ut si inter Rectores qui tenent Ecclesias de advocacione & donatione diversorum Patronorum, inter se contendant de decimis, oblationibus, & obventionibus Ecclesiarum. Et ita quod si petens obtineret, posset patronus iacturam suæ advocacionis incurrere, fit iudicibus ne procedat prohibitio in hac forma, si de tota advocacione fiat contentio. 2. Rex talibus salutem, Indicavit nobis A. quod cum B. talis Clericus, viz. tenet Ecclesiam de tali loco de advocacione sua C. talis Clericus, viz. Clamans eam de advocacione D. trahi eum in placitum coram vobis in Curia Christianitatis authoritate literarum Domini Papæ. Quia vero manifestum est, quod præfatus A. iacturam advocacionis suæ incurreret si prædictus C. in causa ista obtineret, vobis prohibemus ne in causa illa procedatis, donec discussum fuerit in Curia nostra, ad quem illorum, scilicet A. vel B. pertineat ejusdem Ecclesiæ advocatio, quia placitum de advocacione, &c. ut supra. Teste &c. Est & alia prohibitio de eodem ubi agitur indirectè de parte sicut de toto, ut si agant rectores de medietate alicujus Ecclesiæ, vel de tertia parte inter se de Ecclesia quæ divisa fuit ab antiquo inter patronos, & de advocacione ratione diversorum feodorum, & tunc fiat prohibitio in forma supradicta. Si autem contentio fuerit inter rectores de aliquibus decimis quæ æstimari possunt usque ad quartam, quintam, vel sextam partem advocacionis, & ultra quam partem non extenditur prohibitio ut videtur, tunc fiat judicibus prohibitio in hac forma. 3. Rex talibus judicibus salutem. Indicavit nobis A. quod cum B. teneat de advocacione sua sextam partem Ecclesiæ de M. talis Abbas clamans prædictam sextam partem de advocacione B. trahit eum in placitum coram vobis in Curia Christianitatis; quia verò manifestum est quod prædictus A. iacturam advocacionis prædictæ sextæ partis illius Ecclesiæ incurreret si prædictus Abbas in causa illa obtineret, vobis prohibemus, ne in causa illa procedatis donec discussum fuerit ad quem illorum pertineat prædictæ sextæ partis advocatio, quia placitum, &c. ut supra. Et fiat Clerico prohibitio qui sequitur in forma quæ consona sit prohibitioni factæ Judicibus. Poterit aliquando sine præjudicio alicujus de consensu patronorum ad breve quod dicitur indicavit, si contingat quod decimæ petantur in foro Ecclesiastico, quæ sunt de alterius advocacione live in toto, live pro parte majore fieri, inquisitio in Curia Domini Regis, tanquam de advocacione propter æstimationem decimatum, ubi Ecclesia enormiter læsa est, ut si Ecclesia recenter spoliata fuerit, in hac forma, utrum viz. talis præsentatus à tali patrono, recenter fuerit in seysina de talibus decimis tanquam spectantibus ad Ecclesiam suam, quam tenet de præsentatione talis patroni sui, vel, si talis alia persona inde fuit in seysina tali tempore, ut de decimis spectantibus ad Ecclesiam suam talem quam tenet, de advocacione talis patroni sui. 4. Est & aliud genus prohibitionis, ut cum inter patronos contentio fuerit aliquando de jure præsentationis, & quilibet eorum Clericum suum præsentaverit, & pendente præsentatione unus obtinuerit ad cujus præsentationem Clericus admissus fuerit, si Clericus qui ab aliquo alio patrono præsentatus fuerit Clericum ita admissum coram judicibus Ecclesiasticis implacitaverit ratione præsentationis ejus qui amisit, fiat eis prohibitio talis in hac forma. 5. Rex tali Priori & judicibus suis salutem. Ostendit nobis A. quod cum ipse ad Ecclesiam talem vacantem aliquando præsentasset, B. C. gerens se patronum illius Ecclesiæ ad eandem Ecclesiam præsentavit Clericum suum, scilicet D. & cum idem A. seysinam præsentandi, in Curia nostra, &c. recuperasset versus ipsum C. & B. Clericus ad præsentationem suam ad mandatum nostrum sic admissus, idem D. trahit eum in placitum in Curia Christianitatis coram vobis, ratione præsentationis de se factæ authoritate Literarum Domini Papæ, et quia ea quæ in Curia nostra rite acta sunt irritari non debent; Vobis prohibemus ne in causa illa procedatis ad irritanda ea quæ in Curia nostra rite acta sunt. Teste, &c. Item alia forma de eodem & quasi per breve de Indicavit. 6. Rex tali Priori & conjudicibus suis salutem. Ostendit nobis A. Prior, de N. quod cum nuper in Curia nostra coram Justic, nostris, &c. recuperasset versus B. Priorem de tali loco Advocacionem Capellæ de M. ut pertinentem ad matricem Ecclesiam ipsius A. Prioris per recognitionem magnæ Assisæ inde ibi inter eosdem in proprios usus per ordinarium loci, cui per considerationem Curie nostræ Mandavimus processum illius sequelæ, ut quod suum esset inde exquereretur, C. Clericus de N. trahit ipsum A. priorem de tali loco in placitum coram vobis, petens Capellam illam ut persona ejusdem, ex advocacione & donacione prædicti B. prioris de tali loco, qui advocacionem illam in Curia nostra amisit, per recognitionem magnæ assisæ, & tanquam inde spoliatus de sicut nunquam fuit in eadem institutus, ut prædictus A. Prior de tali loco dicit. Et quia prædictus B. Prior de tali loco (de cujus advocacione dictus C. petit Capellam illam) nihil juris habet in illa, sicut recognitum est per assisam, et ea quæ in Curia nostra rite acta sunt non debent in foro Ecclesiastico ab aliquo infirmari: Vobis mandamus, quod si ad mandatum dicti Ordinarii vobis constiterit, quod prædictus C. Clericus nunquam quam fuit in eadem Capella institutus tempore quo prædictus A. Prior de tali loco, nec ante recuperavit in Curia nostra prædictam advocationem, Vobis prohibemus quod in causa illa quæ est coram vobis (ut dicitur) non procedatis, quia hoc esset manifeste contra Coronam et dignitatem nostram. Teste, &c. Item, quod ea quæ in Curia Domini Regis ritè acta sunt irritari non debent, & ubi consensus est in aliquem Clericum eo quod hæres alicujus fuerit infra ætatem, si Clerici primo præsentati velint institutum implacitare, tunc fiat prohibitio in hac forma. 7. Rex talibus iudicibus salutem. Prohibemus vobis ne teneatis placitum in Curia Christianitatis Ecclesiæ de N. de cujus advocatione nuper placitum fuit in Curia nostra coram Justic. &c. inter A. querentem, & B. Custodem C. filii & hæredis A. impediens, ratione juris quod idem B. dicebat eundem C. habere in prædicta advocatione, & unde inter eosdem A. & B. convenit in Curia nostra coram Justic. nostris, quod uterque illorum consensit in E. cancellarium talem, eo quod iudicium procedere non potuit, quia prædictus C. (de quo dicitur quod jus habet in prædicta advocatione) ad Chartas antecessoris sui vel huiusmodi respondere non potest, cum sit infra ætatem. Et quia si placitum quod est coram vobis in Curia Christianitatis procederet, idem C. dum infra ætatem fuerit iacturam advocationis suæ posset incurrere, et placita de advocationibus Ecclesiarum pertinent ad Coronam et dignitatem nostram. Teste, &c. Est & aliud genus prohibitionis ratione rerum temporalium, quæ ad ipsum Regem pertinere possunt ratione custodiæ Archiepiscopatum, et Episcopatum vacantium, et quæ occasionem inducunt prohibendi, sicut pro Sancto Edmundo Archiepiscopo Cantuar. & sit prohibitio in hac forma. 8. Rex Priori & Conventui Roffen. salutem. Ex relatione quorundem nuper didicimus quod cum Venerabilis Pater **E. Cantuar.* Archiepiscopus habeat Custodiam Episcopatus Roffen. nunc vacantis cum omnibus exilibus & proficiis ad dictum Episcopatum spectantibus, vos trahitis in placitum in Curia Christianitatis eundem Archiepiscopum, authoritate literarum Domini Papæ, super quibusdam exennis quæ præstanda sunt de Maneris nostris, et eodem modo consuetudo quo alii annui redditus reddi solent Episcopo si viveret, eo quod idem Archiepiscopus ea sibi reddi postulat ratione Custodiæ ejusdem Episcopatus tempore vacationis. Et quoniam si vos in causa illa obtineretis, manifestum esset nobis inde damnum incurreret si contingeret aliquando Archiepiscopum Cantuar. simul cum Episcopatu Roffen. vacare, & utrumque in manu nostra existere, vobis prohibemus ne placitum illud sequamini in Curia Christianitatis quia hoc esset contra Coronam et dignitatem nostram, et ad damnum nostrum et præjudicium libertatis nostræ quam habemus de Episcopatibus vacantibus in Regno nostro. Teste &c. Et fiat aliud breve in eadem forma iudicibus ne procedant. Est & aliud genus prohibitionis ubi quis Clericus præsentatus ad Ecclesiam per Dominum Regem propter insufficientiam recusatus fuerit, & alius idoneus institutus, si velit inquietare institutum, & tunc fiat prohibitio in hac forma. 9. Rex talibus iudicibus salutem. Satis meminimus nos jam pridem præsentasse Venerabili Patri, E. Cantuar. Archiepiscopo A. de N. ad Ecclesiam talem tunc vacantem, quem quidem cum idem Archiepiscopus minus idoneum invenisset, ipsum ad eandem admittere recusavit, & cum idem Archiepiscopus à nobis licentiam obtineret de idonea persona eidem Ecclesiæ providenda, illam B. de N. viro provideo, & honesto & laudabilis conversationis contulit, cujus collationi & ordinationi de eadem factæ Regium adhibuimus assensum & favorem. Et cum idem A. jam pristinæ præsentationi ad dictam Ecclesiam de persona sua per nos factæ adhæreat, & de qua nihil consequi potuit propter suam insufficientiam, trahit ipsum, B. in placitum de eadem Ecclesia coram vobis, Authoritate literarum Domini Papæ, et quoniam injustum est et contra dignitatem nostram quod idem A. cui fuit propter insufficientiam institutio denegata, ipsum B. implacitet & inquietet qui per ipsum Archiepiscopum sicut persona idonea ad eandem admissus, & Canonice institutus nostro interveniente assensu & favore, Vobis prohibemus, quod de cætero placitum illud non teneatis. Teste &c. Et fiat breve in consimili forma Clerico ne procedat. Est & aliud genus prohibitionis, cum ipse Rex vel aliquis antecessor suus ratione alicujus vacationis alicujus Episcopatus, Abbatia batiz vel Prioratus, et in manu sua existentis presentaverit Clericum, & qui ad presentationem suam fuerit institutus, & Episcopus vel Abbas, vel Prior substitutus veniat contra presentationem Regis vel patris sui, tunc fiat Prohibitio in hac forma. 10. Rex talibus Judicibus salutem. Monstravit nobis A. de N. quod cum teneat advocationem talis Ecclesie de donatione I. Regis Patris nostri, quam ei contulit ratione talis Prioratus vacantis & in manu sua existentis, Prior illius loci jam infirmare nititur institutionem illius A. de predicta Ecclesia, quam sic ad presentationem dicti Patris nostri Canonice est adeptus, & gravans & inquietans eum multipliciter, trahit eum coram vobis in Curiam Christianitatis Auctoritate literarum Domini Papae, de eadem Ecclesia. Et quoniam hoc est manifeste in opprobrium et prejudicium Regiae dignitatis si predictus Prior in causa illa obtineat, vobis prohibemus, ne in causa illa procedatis, cum vobis et universis de Regno nostro notorium sit et esse debet, quod Ecclesie vacantes et pertinentes ad Collationem Episcoporum, Abbatum et Priorum sede non vacante dum viverent, pertinere debent ad nos ratione custodiarum, tempore vacationis. Teste &c. Et quod dictum est de Episcopis, Abbatibus, Prioratibus, dici poterit de Baronibus, & aliis dum fuerint in Custodia Domini Regis.

Bracton l. 5. c. 5 Est etiam inter alias prohibitiones quedam prohibitio, ubi videlicet Clericus implicaverit Ballivum Domini Regis in Curia Christianitatis, aliqua de causa, eo forte quod idem Ballivus eum arrestavit pro aliqua transgressionem, et pro pace Regis, et de quo petita fuit Curia Christianitatis per Episcopum, et forma prohibitionis talis est. 2. Rex talibus Judicibus salutem. Monstravit nobis talis Vic. Major, praepositus talis Villae vel Ballivus quilibet, quod cum A. Clericum tanquam Malefactorem & reatum, de Roberia, & societate latronum, vel inventum tali loco in Conventu & societate latronum, & certa suspitione notatum, pro officii debito, & pro pace nostra per legem terrarum secundum Regni nostri consuetudinem nuper arrestari fecisset, quoniam etiam postmodum tali Episcopo qui ipsum petiit sibi liberari, tanquam Clericum a Carcere & Custodia nostra fecimus liberari. Idem A. Clericus praefatum Ballivum nostrum, occasione praedicta trahit in placitum, coram vobis auctoritate literarum Domini Papae, et quoniam hoc est manifeste contra Coronam et dignitatem nostram, et etiam contra pacem nostram quod aliquis Ballivus noster occasione Ministerii sui, vel pro aliquo quod ad conservationem pacis nostrae pertineat, vel pro Iustitia facienda, trahatur in placitum in Curia Christianitatis, cum eorum facta nostra reputemus in hac parte, vobis prohibemus &c. ut supra. Teste &c. Et consimile breve fiat Clerico qui sequitur, & qui potius capi debeat & in prisonam mitti.

Est etiam breve prohibitionis in casu ubi quis tenere se dicebat, per legem Angliae, & cum disseyfuitus esset & tulisset breve de nova disseyfina ad seyfinam recuperandam, obiectum esset ei quod recuperare non potuit, eo quod pueri ratione quorum ad vitam suam tenere debeat, cum Curia Christianitatis illos probare velit ad legitimos, quod facere non debuit, secuta fuit prohibitio in hac forma. Rex tali Episcopo salutem. Ostensum est nobis ex parte A. quod cum B. nuper in Curia nostra &c. nuper arramaverit Assi. No. dissi. versus eundem A. de tenemento in tali Villa, quod idem B. dicebat se tenuisse per Legem Angliae, & idem A. per considerationem ejusdem Curiae nostrae idem recessisset sine die versus eundem B. eo quod pueri quos habuerat de Uxore sua tali, cujus hereditas tenementum illud fuerat, & ratione quorum puerorum idem B. clamavit tenere illud tenementum ad vitam suam per Legem Angliae, secundum regni nostri consuetudinem, * nati fuerint ante matrimonium contractum inter ipsum B. & talem uxorem suam, sicut in eadem Curia nostra recognitum fuit per confessionem ipsius B. & etiam contra eum praesumptum, eo quod idem B. prius fuit in Curia nostra cum praefata tali quam nunc dicit uxorem & cum in probatione esset in Curia nostra idem B. venit cum ea sicut serviens, & non ut maritus, nec aliqua facta fuit mentio in brevi per quod ipsa placitaret quod virum haberet: praedictus B. postea ad deceptionem Curiae nostrae, et ad infirmandum iudicium in Curia nostra factum, trahit ipsum A. in placitum coram vobis in Curia Christianitatis, Auctoritate Literarum Domini Papae,

Pape, ad predictos pueros legitimandos, ut sic per aliam viam rehabere posset tenementum quodammodo, et quod pueri sui sic succedere valeant in bonis paternis et maternis. Et cum non possunt iudices aliqui de legitimitate cognoscere quoad hereditatem et successionem habendam, nisi fuerit loquela prius in Curia nostra incepta per breve, et ibi bastardia objecta, et postea ad Curiam Christianitatis transmissa; vobis prohibemus quod in placito illo ulterius non procedatis, nos enim cum predicti pueri ad nos venerint in predicta Curia nostra de predicto tenemento, eis iustitiam exhibeamus, secundum consuetudinem regni nostri, ubi si eis bastardia objecta fuerit, mandabimus ordinario loci ut de ipsorum legitimatione cognoscat, si ad ipsum fuerit in hac parte cognitio demandanda. Est enim Prohibitio hinc consimilis & magis aperta de quodam Waltero Muschet, quod non valet cognitio de legitimitate quoad successionem, nisi sic fuerit a Curia Regis demandata, & est prohibitio talis. 2. Rex talibus iudicibus salutem. Ostensum est nobis ex parte A. quod cum Curia nostra coram iusticiariis nostris proximo itinerantibus in tali Com. arramavit quandam Assisam mortis antecessoris versus B. de quadam terra in N. idem B. timens sibi posse opponi notam Bastardie in eadem assisa, & ante predictum adventum iusticiariorum; & antequam ei Bastardia opponatur in Curia nostra in eadem Assisa, & antequam fuerit per nos ordinario loci inquisitio de legitimitate probanda secundum Regni nostri consuetudinem demandata, litteras Domini Pape ad vos directas impetrabit ut de legitimitate sua cognoscatis, et ad probationem illius testes admittatis, ut per hoc remaneat hereditas et successio contra consuetudinem Regni nostri quae huc usque obtinuit, ut approbata, et a sede Apostolica confirmata, quod in causa successionis & hereditatis petitione debet prius placitum moveri in Curia nostra. Et cum ibi objecta fuerit Bastardia, tunc deinde transmitti debet Recordum loquela & cognitio Bastardie ad Curiam Christianitatis, ut ibi ad mandatum nostrum de legitimitate inquiratur, quod quidem non est in hac parte observatum. Et cum hoc sit manifeste contra consuetudinem Regni nostri, quod habita vel habenda inter alios contentione de iure successionis debeat ad inquisitionem de legitimatione procedere antequam a nobis hoc fuerit vobis demandatum, vobis prohibemus, &c. ut supra. 3. Est etiam alterius modi prohibitio, cum petens tenenti Bastardiam objecerit, & ordinario loci fuerit inquisitio demandata in persona heredis ad inquisitionem procedere. Rex tali Ordinario salutem. Ostendit nobis A. filius & heres B. quod cum C. in Curia nostra coram Justic. B. tantum terrae, &c. per Assisam mortis antecessoris inde ibi inter eos summonitam; & idem B. objecerit eidem C. Bastardiam in eadem Curia, & cognitio vobis esset demandata & pendente inquisitione illa idem B. diem clausit extremum, vos prefatum A. filium & heredem predicti B. vocari fecistis in iudicium predicta occasione, ut in persona heredis defuncti. procedat inquisitio sine alio mandato; Et quia si contingat quod altera partium inter quas agitur in Curia nostra decedat, tota loquela illa cadit & remanet, nec super eodem procedere poterit contra heredem defuncti, nisi per breve nostrum de novo contra ipsum perpetratum, vobis mandamus quod in cognitione predictae causae contra prefatum A. de cetero non procedatis, donec a nobis aliud inde habueritis mandatum. Teste.

Quibus fieri debet Prohibitio videndum; & sciendum quod tam ei qui tenet placitum, quam ei qui sequitur, sive plures, sicut iudices delegati sive subdelegati, sive unus, sicut ordinarius quicumque, si unus qui sequitur sive plures, licet prima facie videatur quod sufficere debeat si tantum iudici fiat prohibitio, quia si Iudex procedere noluerit, non valebit, quamvis, querens sequi velit, quia non ibi erit iudicium quasi deficiente iudice; si autem pari tantum & ipse sequi voluerit, nullum erit iudicium ratione supradicta, quia non vellet si iudex tenere vale, si non erit iudicium, Melius tamen erit quod omnibus fiat generaliter ne iudices vel querens impune posset procedere. Sed quid si iudices delegati alios sibi subdelegaverint, & qui cognoverunt de causa, videndum quibus fieri debeat prohibitio, utrum viz. principalibus vel subdelegatis, & tunc refert utrum ita subdelegaverint, viz. ad certum diem, vel sic quod sibi reservaverint principalia iudiciorum, videlicet principium, medium & finem, scilicet contestationem & dispensationem super contestationibus, & diffinitio-vam sententiam, & quo casu videtur quod locum habere debet prohibitio cum sic sibi aliquid reservaverint, & ipsi auctoritatem subdelegatis prastiterint, cum ipse facere videtur cujus Auctoritate sit, si autem se ad totam causam excusaverint & nihil sibi reservaverint, tunc refert utrum hoc fecerint ante prohibitionem vel post. Si autem ante prohibitionem, non credentes aliquam intervenire posse prohibitionem, tunc sufficit si prohibitio fiat subdelegatis. Si vero post prohibitionem, tunc prastumi possit, quod hoc fecerit per fraudem. Et ideo tenebit prohibitio facta in personis eorum, quasi nulla facta subdelegatione.

Proposita exceptione contra jurisdictionem (ut prædictum est) & cum illam admittere recusaverint, superveniat prohibitio, & facta examinatione an eorum sit jurisdictio vel non, decreverit supersedendum, tunc remaneat querentis prosecutio: Si autem dubitaverint utrum supersedendum sit vel non, solent judices aliquando justiciarios consulere, utrum procedere possent, vel necesse haberent supersedere, & utrum ad eos pertinet cognitio, vel non pertinet, & quo casu sit eorum consultationibus per judices multis modis responsum, secundum quod prohibitio locum habere debet vel non habere, & sit breve hujusmodi de responsione facienda sub nomine Justiciarium. 2. Viris Venerabilibus, vel dilectis sibi in Christo tali & conjudicibus suis salutem. Literas vestras suscepi continentes, quod cum quædam causa quæ vertitur coram vobis inter A. Priorem & Conventum talem, & B. talem Clericum, vel Laicum, facta vobis editione (ut dicitis) super nova Garbateræ ipsius B. prædictis A. Priori & Conventui quondam in perpetuam Eleemosynam collata, Auctoritate literarum Domini Papæ examini vestro sit commissa, et cum ex earundem Auctoritate Literarum in eadem causa jam inceperitis procedere: Idem B. de Laico feodo suo in Curia Christianitatis procedere, vobis Literas Domini Regis prohibitorias porrexerat, unde à nobis Consilium requiritis, vel petitis. utrum in causa illa procedendum sit vel supersedendum? ad quod vobis vel constitutioni vestræ duximus respondendum, vel aliter sic. Desiderio igitur vestro in hac parte satisfacere cupientes, vel volentes Consultationi vestræ in hac parte sic duximus respondendum, quod si prædictus A. Prior & Conventus novam garbam illam, aliquo tempore perceperunt, & inde in possessione pacifica fuerint per aliquod tempus & inde spoliati injustè, super restitutione illius novæ Garbæ si vobis hoc confliterit in veritate, in foro Ecclesiastico securè potestis procedere non obstante Regia prohibitione. Si autem in possessione inde non fuerint, nec inde recenter spoliati injustè, tunc magis expedit vobis supersedere quàm procedere, quia si procederitis, hoc esset in præjudicium Regiæ dignitatis. Fiat quandoque responsio consultationibus sub nomine Regis, quandoque sub nomine Justiciar. brevius tamen & rectius poterit Consultationibus responderi examinata judicum consultatione hoc modo. Talibus Judicibus salutem. Inspectis Literis vestris quas nobis transmisistis, & plenius intellectis (sine præjudicio melioris sententiæ) consultationi vestræ duximus respondendum, quod si res ita se habet sicut in consultatione vestra nobis exposuistis, videtur nobis, quod in causa ista benè potestis procedere non obstante Regia prohibitione. Est etiam alius modus Consultationis & responsionis per M. de B. quod prohibitio locum non habet inter Ecclesiasticas personas, ut si viri Religiosi teneantur alicui Clerico in annuo redditu per Chartam & sub protestatione Sacramenti, si Clericus velit agere in foro Ecclesiastico. 3. Tali N. & Conjudicibus suis talibus salutem. Literas consultationis vestras benignè suscepi, & qua decuit diligentia inspexi, & quibus inspectis & intellectis, vobis & consultationi vestræ sic duximus respondendum; quod cum juri Canonico sit contrarium quod si Clericus Clericum & maxime viros Religiosos convenerit coram iudice Ecclesiastico, quod iidem Religiosi quasi religionis suæ immemores, & de Ecclesia (salva pace eorum) malè scientes ut negotii processum impendant, & iudicium Ecclesiasticum subterfugiant, & maxime super annuo redditu per eorum Chartam, & juramento obligati, ad prohibitionem Regiam maliciose recurrant, advertat discretio vestra quod in casu proposito non obstat Regia prohibitio, & procedatis securè, ne subterfugendi detur perniciofa occasio: quia si ipsi conveniantur in seculari iudicio, se ibi tuerentur fori privilegio, quia forte dicerent quod Clerici essent, & ideo quod non tenerentur respondere in foro seculari ratione ordinis Clericalis & personæ suæ, & sic videtur quod causa secularis & res trahitur ad forum Ecclesiasticum propter privilegium personæ Ecclesiasticæ quod esse non deberet (ut videtur) quia si illud privilegium haberet pro se ne

responderet in foro seculari, meritò illud contrà se haberet, ne ei in eodem foro responderetur. Nec etiam valere deberet (ut videtur) illud quod superius dictum est quod propter recentem spoliatiōē mutari debet iurisdīctio de re temporali non magis de reddito quàm de Laico Feodo ubi remedium habere posset in foro seculari per Assisum novæ disseysinæ, vel huiusmodi secundum quod redditus fuerit talis vel talis.

Ut autem Consultationibus Judicum melius possit responderi, videre non est inutile, ubi & quando locum habere debeat Prohibitio, & de quibus rebus, & quando non: Et si non in toto, in parte tamen per exceptionem. Et sciendum, quod locum habet Prohibitio ne iudicium procedat in foro Ecclesiastico quandoque ratione personarum & rei de qua agitur, ut ubi cognitio mere pertinet ad Coronam et dignitatem Regiam, ut si Laicus Laicum implacitaverit coram Iudice Ecclesiastico de aliquo Laico feodo, vel de aliquo quod ad Laicum feodum pertineat, quia Jurisdictionem Regiam in hac parte mutare non poterit aliquod privilegium sicut privilegium crucesignatorum, vel alicujus alterius, etiam etsi Rex hoc vellet, dissimulat tamen hoc quandoque, quamvis hoc sit contra privilegium Coronæ et dignitatis suæ. Item, Jurisdictionem suam non mutat fidei interpositio, Sacramentum præstitum, nec spontanea renunciatio partium quamvis sibi ipsis in hac parte præjudicent per consensum. Et illud idem dicendum erit de debitis & catallis quæ non sunt de Testamento vel Matrimonio, vel eorum sequela. Item locum habet Prohibitio ratione personarum vel rei, ut si Clericus Laicum vel Laicus Clericum in foro Ecclesiastico traxerit de aliquo prædictorum. Item ratione rei tantum, ut si de aliquo prædictorum Clericus in foro Ecclesiastico Clericum traxerit in placitum, quia si Iudex Ecclesiasticus inter tales judicaverit, iudicium suum executioni mandare non poterit quia non est Vicecom. nec alius Minister qui in executione facienda ei obtemperet. Et si ipse exequi voluerit, locum habebit contra ipsum Assisa novæ disseysinæ, & contra eum qui sequitur de Laico feodo, dico ad differentiam liberæ elemosynæ quæ magis propriè dicitur libera cum sit quasi Deo dedicata, sicut terra data Ecclesiæ nomine dotis tempore dedicationis, quæ magis privilegiata est, & cujus cognitio ad forum spectat Ecclesiasticum, quam sit pura & libera elemosyna data Ecclesiis & viris religiosiis, & de qua iurisdīctio & cognitio pertinet ad forumulare. Item locum habet Prohibitio ratione rei, sicut de Laico feodo, quod alicui descendit ex causa successionis. Ut si Iudex Ecclesiasticus cognoscere vellet de successionem ad querelam Clerici vel Laici, locum habet Prohibitio ratione rei. 2. Item, & eodem modo venditionis de aliqua re seculari, de qua cognitio pertinet ad forumulare. 3. Item, & eodem modo locum habet Prohibitio ratione delicti, ut si Clericus delinquat contra Clericum vel Laicum, vel Laicus contra Laicum in re temporali; ratione delicti vel facti, pertinet cognitio ad forumulare, tam in actione injuriarum quàm criminis, dum tamen civiliter agatur, & in quibus casibus omnibus Iudex secularis habet cognitionem & coercionem, & Iudex Ecclesiasticus non nisi per dissimulationem. Si autem criminaliter agatur & super crimine Iudex Ecclesiasticus non habebit Jurisdictionem, licet habere debeat iudicii executionem. In causa enim sanguinis judicare non potest nec debet, ne committat irregularitatem; pertinet igitur (ut videtur) ad Iudicem secularem cognitio, & ad Iudicem Ecclesiasticum iudicii executio, quia Iudex secularis degradare non potest, non magis quam ad ordines promovere, sicut superius dictum est in parte.

Quando & in quibus locum non habeat Prohibitio dicendum. Et sciendum, quod locum non habebit Prohibitio in Curia Christianitatis de aliquo spirituali, vel spiritualitati annexo, sive agatur inter Clericos, sive inter Clericum & Laicum, vel ubi agatur ex causa Testamentaria vel Matrimoniali, vel de aliquo de quo sit pœnitentia injungenda pro peccato. Item locum non habebit Prohibitio si in Curia Christianitatis agatur de aliquo tenemento, quod si sacrum, et per Pontifices Deo dedicatum, sicut sunt Abbatiz, Prioratus, & Monasteria & horum Cœmeteria. Item quasi sacra, quia spiritualitati annexa, sicut sunt terræ datæ Ecclesiis tempore dedicationis, cum ædificiis in eadem contentis & in pertinentiis eorum: Unde si Ecclesia vel Monasterium de huiusmodi terra in dotem data, vel de ejus pertinentiis sicut de communia pasturæ, & huiusmodi fuerit spoliata, si in foro Ecclesiastico de restitutione agatur, locum non habebit Prohibitio, quod quidem non est intelligendum de libera elemosyna quamvis sit pura. Nota quod non jacet Prohibitio in dote Ecclesiæ, jacet tamen in libera & pura elemosyna. Et de hac materia habetis de term. Pasch. Anno.

Regis H. 15. in Com. Somers. de Richardo persona de Hidsford. Et ad hoc facit expresse, quod habetis de term. S. Hilar. Anno Regis H. 8. in Com. Bedf. de Gylberto persona de Dunham. Item nec locum habebit Prohibitio si in foro Ecclesiastico agatur & hoc ratione personarum, sicut de catallis Clericorum eis violenter ablati, ut de term. S. Hilar. Anno Regis H. 8. in Com. Cornub. de Emerino de le Lind. Item locum non habebit Prohibitio si de decimis agatur, vel si erratum fuerit in forma Prohibitionis, ut si fiat Prohibitio de debitis, ubi fieri debet de catallis, vel e contrario; ut de term. S. Hilar. Anno Regis H. 6. in Com. Warr. de quodam præcentore Lyncoln. sed contra de decimis, quod locum habet Prohibitio si decimæ pantantur, vel earum partium si vendantur ex venditione, ut de term. S. Mich. Anno Regis H. 9. incipiente 10. in Com. Ebor. de Richardo persona de Mapeldon. Sed hoc solvitur sic, quod in primo casu conventus fuit primus & principalis debitor, ubi locum non tenuit Prohibitio, & in secundo casu conventi fuerint fidejussores & implacitati cum ipse principalis debitor solvendo esset, & ubi post Prohibitionem judicatum fuit in foro seculari, quod persona se caperet ad principalem debitorem, qui solvendo fuit, & fidejussores inde quieti. Et unde videtur, quod si principalis debitor solvendo non esset, quod persona agere posset in foro Ecclesiastico contra fidejussores non obstante Prohibitione. Item locum non habebit Prohibitio in causa Testamentaria vel Matrimoniali, quia hujusmodi genera placitorum specialiter excipiuntur, cum sint spiritualia vel spiritualibus annexa. Item, nec de aliquibus quæ sunt eis accessoria, vel annexa; accessaria dico, sicut est obligatio fidejussionis ut in venditione decimarum, de qua superius dictum. Item de promissionibus factis de pecunia danda ob causam Matrimonii in initio contractus nomine maritaggi. Secus autem si tenementum promittatur. Et quod hujusmodi pecunia peti possit non obstante Prohibitione, inveniri poterit de termino S. Mich. Anno Regis H. 14. incipiente 15. in Com. Suff. de Hugone de Monte Causa. Ad idem facit, quod habetis de termino S. Trinitatis Anno Regis H. 15. in Com. Oxon. & unde Prior de Bercestre fuit Judex. Et semper vivendum erit propter quid aliquid factum sit vel permittatur. 2. Item ratione accessionis in causa Testamentaria non habet locum Prohibitio, si pecunia legetur & petatur, ut debitum in foro Ecclesiastico ex causa Testamentaria. Item nec locum habebit Prohibitio, si testator pecuniam sibi debitam legaverit, dum tamen debitum in vita testatoris recognitum sit & probatum, quia hujusmodi pecunia inter bona testatoris connumeratur, & pertinet ad executores. Si autem petatur debitum per executores, de quo debitores in vita testatoris confessi non fuerint nec convicti, vel nec post mortem gratis recognoverint, hujusmodi debitum inter bona testatoris non connumeratur, etsi ab executoribus vel ab hærede in foro Ecclesiastico petantur, locum habebit Prohibitio, & in foro seculari oportebit agere; hujusmodi enim actiones hæreditariæ sunt & pertinent ad hæredes, & ideo legari non possunt, & sicut dantur hæredibus contra debitores non executoribus, ita dantur actiones creditoribus contra hæredes & non contra executores. 3. Et quod actiones legari non possunt nec Judices Ecclesiastici inde recognoscere, nec executores petere debitum quod in vita testatoris non est recognitum, probatur de termino S. Hilar. Anno Regis H. 6. in Com. North. de Radulpho persona de Irclynbourghe, & quod actiones legari non possunt nec inter bona testatoris connumerantur, maxime de antiquo debito, probatur de termino Pasche Anno Regis H. 15. in Com. Essex de Gervasio de Aldermanbury. Ad idem facit, quod habetis de termino Pasche Anno Regis H. 16. in Com. South. de Engelardo de Cygoing. 4. Item nec locum habet Prohibitio in causa Testamentaria, si catalla legentur & inde agatur in foro Ecclesiastico. Item nec si in Civitatibus & Burgis legentur domus vel ædificia quæ habuit testator de perquisito, cum sint quasi catalla testatoris. Secus tamen est in quibusdam locis si proveniant ex descensu antecessoris, in quibusdam locis sicut in Civitate London. ubi locum habet Prohibitio si inde agatur. Item locum non habet Prohibitio, si legetur usus fructus alicujus terræ, ut si testator aliquam terram tenuerit ad terminum annorum & usum fructum legaverit, quia usus fructus inter catalla connumeratur, tenemento in suo statu duratur sicut Laicum feodum. Sed cum terra ad terminum ita alicui data fuerit, refert utrum testatori tantum, vel testatori & hæredibus suis. Si autem testatori tantum, tunc poterit testator in vita dare & in morte legare sine præjudicio hæredum. Si autem sibi & hæredibus suis non sic nisi in vita dederit, ubi hæredes tenentur ad Warrantiam, & eodem modo si legaverit expresse, si autem nullam mentionem inde fecerit, tunc transit usus fructus ad hæredes. 5. Item locum non habet Prohibitio, ubi quis de facto & consensu suo proprio effectus est alterius Jurisdictionis, scilicet quantum ad seipsum, sed non quantum ad Regem ad quem pertinet jurisdictio secundum quod superius dictum est, & ibi iudicium de renunciatione, quod non potest quis in praejudicium alterius renunciare, factum tamen fuit contrarium, ut in Rotulo de term. Pasch. Anno Regis H. 16. in Com. Devon. de Thoma de Buryll, Alfrido in Costons, quod renunciatio aliis praejudicat quam renuncianti. Item & eodem modo non habebit locum Prohibitio, si quis effectus fuerit de alterius jurisdictione de facto suo proprio per Appellationem, ut si implacitatus fueri coram Iudice Ecclesiastico, & non suo, appellaverit ad alium Iudicem non suum, si ad Prohibitionem Regiam convolverit ratione rei secularis qua petitur, quantum ad personam suam audiri non debet, licet non quantum ad personam Regis, ut supradictum est, quia quos semel approbavit eos post reprobare non potest. 6. Item locum non habebit Prohibitio de recenti spoliacione, ut si Clericus Clericum spoliaverit de decimis vel aliis de quibus cognitio pertinet ad forum Ecclesiasticum, quia de huiusmodi restitutione non generatur praejudicium patronis, quantum ad jus advocacionis. 7. Item nec locum habet Prohibitio in causa restitutionis cum Ecclesia recenter spoliata fuerit de aliqua libertate quae ei concessa fuerit tempore dedicationis, sicut habendi rationabile Estoverum in bosco patroni, sicut ad housbote & heybote, & ad arandum & huiusmodi. Item habendi communia Pasturae ratione terrae datae Ecclesiae in dotem: recenter dicitur, quia si non est recenter, aliter erit. Item nec locum habebit Prohibitio, ubi quis negligens & juris sui contemptor tardius sibi prospexerit quam deberet, quia tunc primo tulit Prohibitionem cum proventum esset ad sententiam diffinitivam ferendam, vel fortè cum lata esset sententia, quia ex tunc non esset qui sequeretur placitum, quia prius fuit placitum, vel Iudex qui placitum teneret, quod post Prohibitionem non fuit secutum, quod quidem querens propriae poterit imputare negligentiae, quod si tempestivè fecisset non esset ei implacitandum, & quod iudicibus non sit negligentia querentis imputanda, habetis de termino Sancti Hilar. Anno Regis H. 10. in Com. North: de Richardo Oliver.

Et quia non debet fraus sua alicui patrocinari nec valere, tibi praecipimus, quod ipsum A. occasione Brevis nostri, quod tibi venit de capiendo eum non capias, quo magis impediatur in causa sua prosecutione, & si occasione praedicta capius fueris.*

Rex Vic. salutem. Si A. fecerit se securum de clamore suo prosequendo, tunc pone per Vadium & saluos Plegios B. talem Ordinarium, quod sit coram nobis vel Justic. nostris apud Westm. vel coram Justic. nostris ad primam Assisam, &c. ostensurus, quare teneat placitum in Curia Christianitatis de Laico feodo ipsius A. in tali Villa contra Prohibitionem nostram, vel de advocatione talis Ecclesie, vel de debitu & catallis, quæ non sunt de Testamento vel Matrimonio, & hujusmodi pone per Vadium & saluos Plegios. Et quod tunc sit ibi ostensurus quare secutus est idem placitum in eadem Curia Christianitatis, contra prohibitionem nostram, & habeas ibi nomina Plegiorum, & hoc Breve. Teste, &c. Et ita fiunt Brevia de Attachiameto quæ convenient cum Brevibus de Prohibitione. Si autem fieri debeat Attachiameto de Judicibus Delegatis, vel Subdelegatis, tunc fiat breve in hac forma. 2. Rex Vic. salutem. Si A. fecerit se securum de clamore suo prosequendo, tunc pone per Vadium & saluos Plegios B. C. D. (nominibus propriis expressè, videlicet B. Episcopum, vel Abbatem, vel Priorem talem, Archidiaconum talem, & D. Officalem talem) quod sint coram nobis, vel Justic. nostris, &c. ut supra, ostensuri, quare tenuerunt placitum in Curia Christianitatis de Laico feodo & hujusmodi, &c. ut supra, Auctoritate Literarum Domini Papæ, et hujusmodi contra Prohibitionem nostram. Pone etiam per Vadium & saluos Plegios, quod tunc sit ibi ostensurus, quare secutus est idem placitum in Curia Christianitatis, contra Prohibitionem nostram. Et habeas ibi, &c. ut supra. Et ita fiat Attachiameto si Judices & ille qui sequitur manentes fuerint in eodem Com. si autem in diversis, tunc fiant Brevia diversa singulis Vic. per se. 3. Si autem ad diem non venerint, tunc aut Vicecomes mandat, quod attachiati sunt, in quo casu attachientur per meliores Plegios, & quod distringantur per omnes terras, &c. quod sint ad alium diem, & observetur ordo attachiametorum sicut observatur in aliis actionibus personalibus. Si autem mandaverit Vicecomes, quod Clerici sint, & Plegios invenire noluerint, nec Laicum feodum habuerint per quod possint distringi, tunc mandetur Ordinarius & Episcopo, quod faciant eos venire sicut alibi in actionibus personalibus observatur regulariter. Verum est, quod Judex Clericus cognitionem non habet de Laico feodo alicujus. Sed quid dicitur de tenementis quæ sunt in Civitatibus & Villis, quæ legari possint sicut Catalla sive Tenementa sicut de perquisito, vel hæreditas descendens, an locum habeat Prohibitio? Videtur quod non, quia de voluntate testatoris qui legare potest hujusmodi, de jure communi effecta sunt hujusmodi tenementa quasi catalla testatoris, & ideo non habet locum Prohibitio. Item de hoc, quod dicitur de Laico feodo talis oportet, quod ille qui queritur doceat Laicum tenementum illud esse suum. Et unde si quis teneatur alicui Domino suo ad redditum aliquem, tenens prohibitionem non habebit, quia redditus erit ipsius Domini non tenentis. Si autem de huiusmodi, non fiat prohibitio, cum sint quasi catalla vel pecunia promissa ob causam matrimonii, non habet locum prohibitio, cum illud quod principale est trahat ad se debitum, & catalla quasi accessoria testamento vel matrimonio. Item, si fiat prohibitio ut de laico feodo, non valet de jure, nec quantum ad petentem redditum, nec quantum ad tenentem tenementum de quo provenit, quia laicum & feodum verum est in Catallam & causam testatoris, ut cum legaretur ex tali causa obtinuerit. Item, incipit tale tenementum esse Laicum feodum & non ante, quod non erit de decimis, cum semel efficiantur Laicum feodum, nunquam reincipient esse decimæ, & hæc vera sunt secundum Bialtos, sed contra de termino S. Mich. Anno Regis H. filii Regis J. secundum, incipiente tertio in Com. Kanc de Matilda filia Simonis, quæ attachiata fuit, quia secuta fuit placitum, & Abbas Sancti Augustini, & Prior Sanctæ Trinitatis Cantuariensis, & Prior Sancti Gregorii Judices, qui tenuerint placita de quadam domo quam Matilda petiit, ex causa testamentaria London. Et unde Simon filius Simonis questus fuit, quod laico feodo suo ibi defenderunt omnes, & ad iudicatum fuerunt leges sed remissa, cum ad petitionem legati, & Judices securitatem præstiterunt quod ulterius non procedant, sed quale remedium habebit legatarius in foro laicali. Et sciendum quod semper locum habet prohibitio quousque discussum fuerit, in Curia Regis utrum Legata fuerit vel non? Et tunc primo procedant Judices de licentia, quia ipsi non possunt æstimare ab initio.

Cum autem partes comparuerint in iudicio, tam querens, quam ille de quo queritur, & Judices, vel quidam illorum, proponat querens intentionem suam in hunc modum. Ego A. conqueror de B. quod me iniuste vexavit & gravavit trahendo me in placitum in Curia Christianitatis de laico feodo meo, scilicet tali, & exprimat qualitatem terræ, vel huiusmodi, vel alterius tenementi, vel si de debitis & Catallis, quæ non sunt, &c. tunc exprimat cuiusmodi debita, & cuiusmodi catalla, de quibus implicatus fuerit, & quod hoc fecerit, contra prohibitionem, & unde damnum ad valentiam, &c. 2. Item, ad intentionem suam confirmandam & iuvandam proferat æditionem ei factam in iudicio & in scriptis redactam, si possit quod porrexit ei prohibitionem Domini Regis tali loco, tali die in pleno Consistorio tali, & ipsi nihilominus processerunt ad prosecutionem ipsius de quo queritur, ita quod amiserunt probationes testium & huiusmodi, vel quia ipse querens noluit obtemperare iudicatis, excommunicaverit eum non obstante prohibitione sua, & inde statim producat sectam sufficientem, duos ad minus, vel tres, vel plures, si possit. Et si de veritate dubitetur, examinentur diligenter, de die, & loco, & aliis Circumstantiis secundum quod observatur de testibus producendis, qui si in examinatione facienda inventi fuerint discordes, perinde erit ac si nullam sectam produxerit, & unde ad simplicem vocem querentis non habent Judices necesse, nec pars de qua queritur, defendere se per legem. Sed quoniam deficere possit probatio licet jus non deficiat, cum tales fuerint absoluti forte pro defectu probationis, dicatur eis, quod quicquid actum fuerit, non procedant de aliquo placito quod pertinet ad Coronam & dignitatem Regiam. Si autem in omnibus inveniuntur concordēs, audire debent Justitias responsiones Iudicum & partes. Respondere itaque poterunt multis modis, vel quod locum habere non potuit prohibitio, quia res quæ acta est, merè spiritualis est, vel spiritualitati annexa, & hoc docere possunt per æditionem factam, ut causa fuerit, testamentaria vel matrimonialis, in quo casu in nullo præsumptum est contra Regiam dignitatem, & sic absolvi poterunt ab observatione iudicii. Si vero per æditionem vel confessionem constiterit, quod res de qua actum fuerit, merè fuit temporalis, ita quod cognitio pertinet ad Regem, bene poterunt defendere contra querentem & sectam suam, quod nunquam prosecuti fuerint post prohibitionem, si quam inde habuerint, vel quod nullam habuerint omnino prohibitionem. 3. Et quo casu vadiet legem quilibet se 12 manu, qua vadiata & plegiis inventis de lege facienda, dabitur eis dies ad legem faciendam, ad quam si voluerint, possunt se effoniare, & habebunt alium diem per Effoniatōres suos. Et si ad diem sibi datum non venerint, nec se effoniarint, pro convictis habebuntur, iudicium habebunt, & damna querenti restituent. Cum autem comparuerint & producant compurgatores suos, quamvis familiares & amicos, secundum quod secta producta fuerit de familiaribus & amicis, facilius enim admittuntur purgatores alicujus ad legem & defensionem propriam quam recognitores ad recognitionem, & non est necesse quod omnes sint ejusdem ordinis, conditionis, vel dignitatis cujus est ille qui legem vadiat, sufficit enim si fideles sint & bonæ opinionis, ut si Episcopus, Abbas vel Prior ad legem teneatur, non oportebit, quod omnes compurgatores sint Episcopi, Abbates, vel Priores, nec si Clerici sint ordinati, Milites, vel conjugati dum tamen alio modo sint idonei, ut prædictum est. 4. Formantur autem verba legis secundam formam Recordi seu in omnibus aliis legibus faciendis observatur, in qua si quis eorum defecerit, si laicus fuerit, pro convicto habeatur de eo quod imponitur, et Gaulæ committatur, sicut præsumptor contra Regiam dignitatem, ac si crimen læsæ Majestatis commisisset. Si autem Clericus aliquando, cum eo mitius agitur de gratia, ob reverentiam ordinis Clericalis. Si autem convicti, damna restituent querent, adhibita tamen taxatione aliquando debita secundum quod Justit. viderint justum. 5. Refert (secundum quosdam) quis prius se purgaverit, Index, vel ille de quo queritur. Dicunt, quidam quod si Index se purgaverit prius unus vel plures, quod ille qui secutus est non propter hoc liberabitur, & quod quilibet in hoc casu defendat causam propriam, licet videatur prima facie, quod non est qui sequatur, cum non sit qui teneat placitum (quod non est verum secundum quosdam) sed vice versa, si ille qui sequi debeat se purgaverit, Judices pro hoc liberantur, cum non sit qui teneat placitum, cum non sit qui sequatur, quod non est ipso casu, ubi quis sequi poterit de facto suo & voluntate, licet Index in probatione defecerit, ille qui sequitur non est propter hoc condemnatus, nec eodem modo si unus ex pluribus Judicibus quia quilibet in hoc casu defendat causam suam propriam secundum quod legitur F. ad legem Julianam de adulterinis lege ult. Denunciasse C. Quare ubi dicitur quod expectabit mulier sententiam de adulterio prolatam, qui si absolutus fuerit, mulier per eum vincet, nec ultra accusari possit. Si autem condemnatus fuerit, mulier non est condemnanda, sed aget causam suam, & fortassis obtinere vel gratia, vel justitia poterit vel legis auxilio. Quid enim si adulter ab inimicis oppressus sit, aut similibus argumentis testibusque subornatis, apud præsidem gravatis, quia aut voluit, aut non potuit mulier provocare judicem religiosum. Mulier verò fertitata, quod quidem (ut videtur) melius esset observare in omnibus casibus supradictis, ut si unus iudex se purgaverit, quod hoc prodesse debet conjudicibus suis & parti. Si autem in purgatione defecerit, quod hoc aliis non noceat, quin se defendere possint, & causam suam. 6. Item, respondere possunt Judices secundum quod superius in parte dictum est, quod quamvis res de qua agitur temporalis sit & cognitio pertineat ad forum seculare, ipse querens expressè renunciavit privilegio fori in scriptura & Regiæ prohibitioni, & quod conveniri possit ubicunque Creditor vellet, & in quocunque foro. Et ideo quod ipse querens audiri non debet propter renunciationem ex quo gratis trahi voluit, ad forum vetitum & Judicem non suum. Et cum Judices super hoc & creditor, instrumentum protulerunt de renunciatione quod querens dedicere non possit, statim & ante omnia in iudicio seculari compellatur ipse querens, quod reddat illud, quod debet, vel faciat quod convenit, & sic in misericordia pro injusta retentione versus suum creditorem etiam sine alio brevi sicut supradictum est, propter dolum & malitiam suam, quia per se reversus est ad iudicium regium cui prius renunciavit in ipsius Regis præjudicium. Et iis ita peractis tunc demum procedatur in causa prohibitionis, & si convictum sit, quod aliquando gratis processit in foro Ecclesiastico, tunc prosecutione & renunciatione concurrentibus aggravetur pœna propter multiplicem injuriam, & debitor in causa prohibitionis puniatur propter renunciationem, cum pœna præcedenti propter injustam detentionem, & propter fraudem inveniendò contra factum suum proprium. Judices vero puniantur, quia tenuerunt placitum in præjudicium Domini Regis, et similiter Creditor quia debitozem traxit ad forum vetitum. Et secundum quod dicitur, quod laicus non poterit renunciare foro seculari in præjudicium Regiæ dignitatis, eodem modo videtur quod nec Clericus si vellet in causa criminali vel alia cujus cognitio pertineat ad Ecclesiasticam dignitatem & ordinem Clericalem; & est eadem ferè ratio habita inde: Index vero Ecclesiasticus si iudicaverit de laico feodo non poterit sententiam demandare executioni, quia si illam demandaverit Vicecomiti exequendam, non erit ei parendus. Si autem illam legem per ipsum vel suos exequatur, locus erit novæ desseyfinæ. Eodem modo videtur quod si laicus cognoverit in causa criminali de Clerico uti sequatur degradatio, si iudicium faciat contra Clericum, sive se gratis posuerit in inquisitionem sive non, quod

non valebit quod actum est; quia Episcopus nunquam ad mandatum iudicis secularis sine se procedet ad degradationem. Igitur alia conbatione opus erit in foro Ecclesiastico ut ipse cognoscat et iudicet, qui poterit iudicium demandare executioni. Igitur quodcumque petatur Clericus in tali actione ab Episcopo, erit illi deliberandus quia non habebit Rex personam de eo quem iudicare non poterit. In causis vero civilibus ubi non agitur ad degradationem, videtur quod Clerici se tueri non possunt, quin respondeant in foro seculari, in placitis quæ pertinent ad Coronam et dignitatem Regis, quia Rex poterit iudicium demandare executioni sine præiudicio Ecclesiasticæ dignitatis, maxime si voluerit quod Clerici in huiusmodi actionibus civilibus in foro seculari respondeatur, quod huiusmodi placita pertinent ad dignitatem et Coronam regiam ratione rei et ratione dilecti.

Superius dictum est qualiter revocatur iurisdicção, cum quis tractus fuerit in placitum ad iudicium veritum & ad iudicem non suum, scilicet ad forum Ecclesiasticum in placitis & actionibus quarum cognitio pertinet ad Coronam & regiam dignitatem, per exceptionem oppositam contra iurisdictionem. Nunc autem dicendum est qualiter excipiendum est contra iurisdictionem alicujus iudicis, qui se facit iudicem de placitis & actionibus quæ pertinent ad Coronam & regiam dignitatem, cum quis tractus fuerit in placitum coram eo. Et sciendum quod imprimis ad hoc quod rata sint iudicia, * videre oportet, an iusticiarius Warrantam habeat a Rege, quod iudicare posset, quia si Warrantum non habuerit, non valebit quod coram eo actum fuit, quasi coram non suo iudice, quia primo legi debet breve originale, et postmodum breve per quod iustic. constitutus est. Et si nullum omnino habuerit, vel si habuerit, non tamen ad manum, non erit ei parendum, nisi forte ita sit quod breve Originale de iusticiaria sua faciat mentionem, Item, nec est ei parendum si contra iurisdictionem suam excipitur, quod fuit ab eo subdelegatus qui iudicem dare non posset, * ut si iusticiarius sub se iusticiarium fecerit ad totam causam, non magis quam si procurator faceret procuratorem. Item, nec erit ei obtemperandum cum contra eum excipitur licet Warrantum ostendat, non per ipsum qui se delegavit translata fuerit iurisdicção & cognitio ad alium, quia si quis diversis temporibus duos dederit iudices, posteriorem dando videtur prohibuisse Priori. Item, nec est ei parendum si excipitur licet legatus fuerit, & Warrantum habuerit, si sub prætextu unius placiti velit cognoscere de aliis ad quæ non extenditur sua iurisdicção, vel si cum habeat iurisdictionem ad unum placitum, fides mandati excedat & iurisdictionem extendat, ad alia quæ sequuntur Assisam post captionem Assise, cum sit functus officio suo sicut ad certificationem, cum generalem non habeat iurisdictionem sibi delegatam, sicut habent iustic. Itinerantes in Comitatu ad omnia placita, vel sicut iustic. Capitales. Item, excipitur contra iurisdictionem inferioris iusticiarii ubi præfertur iurisdictioni iusticiarii, ut si quis implacitatus fuerit de una & eadem re ab una vel dictio iurisdictioni, ut si quis implacitatus fuerit de una & eadem re ab una vel inferiori Curia, sicut in Curia Domini Regis, Curia Baronis, vel alterius alicujus inferioris, quo casu majus auditorium præferri debet minori. Et si in majori Curia ostenderit tenens, quod de eadem re in minori Curia implacitatus fuerit, prohibebitur ex parte Regis quod de placito illo in inferiori Curia non procedatur, & quamvis processum fuerit, quandoque si prohibito intervenerit, si non, omnia quæ acta sunt in minori Curia revocabuntur. Item, datur exceptio contra iurisdictionem propter privilegium implacitati, ut si quis respondere non debeat de aliquo placito nisi coram ipso Rege vel Capitali iustic. suo, quale habent Hospitalarii Templarii & plures alii. Item, datur exceptio contra iurisdictionem propter privilegium proveniens ex concessa libertate, ut si universitas vel communitas Civitatis alicujus, sicut London. respondere non teneatur de aliquo placito extra Civitatem, quale habent Barones Civitatis London. qui de nullo respondebunt extra Civitatem, nisi tantum de tenuris & contractibus forinsecis. Item, exceptio datur contra iurisdictionem propter libertatem alicujus universitatis, quæ de nullo placito respondebit, nisi certo loco, qualem habet Barones de Quinque portibus qui non respondebunt de aliquo nisi apud Shypwey. Item, datur exceptio contra iurisdictionem propter unitatem alicujus universitatis, scilicet ne trahantur extra Com. ad faciendam Assisam

15. fol. 412.

2 In fine Notandum de jurisdictione Majorum & minorum, et imprimis, sicut Dominus Papa in spiritualibus super omnibus habeat ordinariam jurisdictionem, ita habet Rex in Regno suo ordinariam in temporalibus, et pares non habet neque superiores, et sunt qui sub eis ordinariam habent in multis, sed non ita meram sicut Papa vel Rex. Et pares esse poterunt illi qui inferiores sunt in jurisdictione sua multis rationibus, sed par in parem non habebit jurisdictionem non magis quam Imperium, & multo fortius nec in superiorem. 3. Item sicut a Papa poterit quis habere jurisdictionem delegatam in spiritualibus, ita poterit quis a Rege in temporalibus, sicut Justic. Majores vel minores, vel alii qui sunt quasi Justic. viz. quibus Rex concessit libertates aliquas quæ pertinent ad coronam & libertatem suam; & ideo quamvis in temporalibus sicut in spiritualibus ita poterit quis a Rege in temporalibus sicut Justic. Majores vel Minores vel alii qui sunt quasi Justic. viz. quibus Rex concessit libertates aliquas quæ pertinent ad Coronam & libertatem suam, & ideo quamvis in temporalibus sicut in spiritualibus debet Rex æstimare vel Justic. sui, an sua sit jurisdictio an non, ut sciri possit utrum summonitus venire debeat an non; Tamen si Juder Ecclesiasticus falcem ponens in messem alienam aliquid præsumpserit contra Coronam et dignitatem Regiam, sicut de Laico feodo vel de Catallis cum prohibitionem a Rege susceperit, superledere debet in omni casu, saltem donec confiteretur in Curia Regia, ad quem pertinet jurisdictionis; quia si Juder Ecclesiasticus æstimare posset an sua esset jurisdictio, in omni casu indifferenter procederet non obstante Regia prohibitione. Debet igitur vel omnino superledere, vel cum attachiatus fuerit, venire vel mittere quod examinato placito in Curia Regia de Consilio Curie superledeat, vel procedat, quod si non fuerit, poena debita puniatur, ut supra. Therefore the Kings temporal Courts, and jurisdiction within his Realm, were paramount the Popes and Prelates Ecclesiastical, since they could thus prohibit, controle, stay their Judgements, Prozesse, Suites, limit, judge, determine their jurisdictions, and attach their Persons if they exceeded them, whereas they could neither stay, censure, nor controle the Kings or his Temporal Courts proceedings or Judgements in such cases.

Mutatur quandoque jurisdictio de jurisdictione in jurisdictionem mutatis rerum nominibus, ut si de Laico Catallo fiat spirituale, ut cum res fuerint decimate, fiunt de Laico Catallo res spirituales, & sic mutatur jurisdictio secularis in spirituale. Item è converso cum decimæ venditæ fuerint, & ad alium traslatæ, reincipiunt iterum esse Laicum Catallum. Eodem modo dici poterit de Laico feodo quod mutato nomine in causa testamentaria sit Laicum feodum exequuto Testamento. Eodem modo fieri deberet (ut videtur) de rebus datis vel promissis ob causam Matrimonii principaliter, & illud idem de rebus que accidunt de Matrimonio, ut si pecunia promissa fuerit ob causam Matrimonii. Et quia ejusdem juris, id est jurisdictionis esse deberet accessorium, cujus juris fuerit principale, & quamvis prædictorum pertineat cognitio ad judicem & forum Ecclesiasticum, tamen ad prohibitionem Regiam erit superledendum, sed revera locum habet prohibitio, quia si in Burgo domus vel prædium legatum fuerit, in foro seculari terminabitur negotium, sicut de assignatione fieri oportet. Et si Legatarius fuerit in seysina, habebit exceptionem contra hæredem & Assisam novæ disseysinæ si fuerit ejectus, si autem extra seysinam, tunc habebit Actionem in foro seculari per modum donationis versus omnes. Item videndum est, an privatorum consensus commutare possit Regiam jurisdictionem in contractibus privatis; ut si quis sic consentiat ad alterius jurisdictionem ad veritum examen convolvendo non obstante prohibitione, & verum est quod non, quia imponi non potest necessitas Regi quod suam jurisdictionem amittet, secundum quod superius dictum est in parte. Item nec mutari poterit per modum donationis sive per Conventionem privatorum licet ipse qui modum imposuerit sibi & suis præjudicet: ut si privata persona Bastardo dederit, & suis hæredibus, vel cui dare vel assignare voluerit, & si hæredes non habuerit

reversura esset terra ad donatorem, sed quia donator modum adjecit, quia dare possit & assignare, valebit donatio & assignatio, quæ alias non valerent. Eodem modo videtur quod adjicere possit quod, Bastardus legare possit, sed per hujusmodi modum adjunctum non mutatur Jurisdictio Regis, sed in Curia Regis terminabitur negotium si legatarius fuerit extra feysinam, & per tale breve. Præcipe &c. Et quæ ad talem reverti debent per modum donationis quem talis ei fecit, quod illam dare potuit, legare & assignare, quia eadem ratione qua bastardus per modum donationis dare potest & assignare licet hæredes non habuerit, eadem ratione poterit legare, & ita quod res data nec ad se nec ad hæredes suos reverti possit, quia nulla ex hoc fit eis injuria, quia donator hoc voluit, & nihilominus tenentur hæredes factum illud Warrantizare legatario licet hæredes Bastardi defecerint. Et quod dicitur de Bastardo, idem observari poterit de legitimo, quia poterit in persona omnium lex imponi & modus sive donatorius liber sit vel servus, legitimus vel bastardus, quia oportet utrumque, tam donatorem quam donatorium facere quod convenit, ex quo utique ab initio voluit. 3. Item mutat aliquando jurisdictionem contractus & aliquando delictum. Ut si Clericus contraxerit aliquo modo cum Laico, conveniendus est ubi contraxerit, & aliquando ubi deliquit, dum tamen civiliter agatur, non ad pœnam corporalem infligendam, nisi degradatio vel alia capitis diminutio imponatur. Item mutat aliquando Jurisdictionem privilegium ordinis Clericalis, ut si Clericus Clericum convenerit in actione injuriæ, vel de rebus spiritualibus, sicut decimis, vel rebus mobilibus, vel hujusmodi Clericorum, sicut de catallis & debitis ubi ad vetitum examen convolare non debent. Si autem de Laico feodo agatur, aliud erit nisi fuerit dedicatum & Deo sacratum, & efficiatur res sacra; quod quidem dicti non poterit de re in liberam & perpetuam Eleemosynam datam.

The Bishops being much troubled at the Kings prohibitions issued to their Courts against their manifold encroachments on his Crown, Courts, Officers, Subjects, and with this Treatise of Bracton, then compiled in justification of them; the King then extremely wanting monyes, earnestly pressed the Cistercian Abbots and Bishops to supply his necessities, to satisfy the Popes unreasonable forced demands and his Merchants obligations: And although the Cistercians resolutely refused to grant him any ayd, yet the Bishops to avoid the Kings further displeasure, who would multiply his Prohibitions if they denyed him a supply, and being likewise more fearful of displeasing the Pope, they endeavoured to make use of his necessities, to advance their Pontifical Miters above his Crown, their Canons paramount the Laws, customs of the Realm, and all temporal Courts Jurisdictions whatsoever, granting him an ayde, in hope to obtaine his Royal assent to no lesse then so. Articles, which they prepared and put in writing not only as grievances, but high encroachments on the Churches liberties, thus related by Matthew Paris.

In Epiphania autem Domini, Dominus Rex minime considerans pluviarum inundationes, ventorum vehementiam, fluminum impetus, laborum inquietudinem, fecit convocari Abbates Cisterciensis ordinis, ut Londoniam convenirent, præceptum Regium audirent. Venerunt igitur vexati mirabiliter: quia sic oportuit, omni spe misericordie destituti. Qui cum venissent coram Rege, rogante instanter & urgenter auxilium pecuniare non modicum, responderunt omnes, quasi uno ore & spiritu, quod nec voluerunt, nec potuerunt, sine sui capituli generali provisione & consensu, vel saltem communi assensu omnium Abbatum Angliae ordinis Cisterciensis, qui tunc temporis presentes non fuerant. Et cum sine die qua convenire omnes possent, recessissent, præcepit Rex cum magno radcore, ut nullam Abbatibus Cisterciensibus gratiam faceret. Et sic tacite permisit Vicecomitibus, Forresteriis, & aliis Regis satellitibus & exactoribus, (qui tamen sine Regio favore & præcepto ad hoc poni fuerant) omnes Abbates ordinis Cisterciensis, vicinos damnificare, & causis extogitatis irretire.

Circa idem tempus Prælati Angliae miserabiliter enervati & meticulosi, constantiam Cisterciensium minime consequentes (qui Regi pecuniam inestimabilem exigenti in faciem resisterunt) concesserunt Regi quadraginta duo millia Marcarum, in enormem Ecclesie et Regni læsionem et jacturam irreparabilem, & concessa fuisset pecunia vel Domino Regi, vel ipsi, ad mancipandum Regnum Apuliae, Edmundo filio Regis. Sed illius Regni adquisitio diatim cepit incrementum desperationis. Rex autem qui parum hoc munus acceptavit promisit se citissime Ecclesie oppressione temperando ad statum debitæ libertatis revocare. Unde formati sunt Articuli circiter quinquaginta, quos Prælati in scripta redegerunt, ut apto tempore coram Rege & magnatibus & Prælati lecti, effectum debitum sortirentur. Qui Articuli, vel Capitula, similia fuerunt illis, pro quibus beatus Thomas Archiepiscopus Cantuariensis Martyr dimicabit victor gloriolus. Articuli autem tantum continent literæ, quantum duo nocturna vel tria. Quare in libro Addamentorum.

These Articles it seems were drawn up in a Convocation summoned this year by Archbishop Boniface, as Matthew Paris thus stories.

Archiepiscopus
Cant. convocavit
Prælatos suæ Provinciæ.

Diebus sub eisdem, Archiepiscopus Cantuariensis Bonifacius convocavit Episcopos & Archidiaconos provinciæ suæ, ut invocata devotè spiritus sancti gratia, Ecclesiæ jam vacillantis Anglicana, quæ nobis oppressionibus modernis annis solito gravioribus et intolerabilioribus opprimitur, statui subvenirent, communiter contradantes. Rex enim consiliis imo sibilis adulatozorum, et Regni inimicorum incurvatus, permisit quadam enormis consuetudines, tanquam spinosos frutices in horto voluptatis fructifero succrescere, et fructiferas arbores suffocare. Sperabatur igitur certissime, ut in hac Convocatione eidem Archiepiscopo daretur desuper opponere se murum pro domo Domini, ut certamen iniret contra rebelles Ecclesiæ, beati Thomæ Martyris vestigia sequendo pedetentim.

The King (it seems) understanding the Archbishops and Bishops designs intended to be prosecuted in this Council against his Crown, Dignity, Courts, Judges, Prohibitions, Laws and Customs of the Realm, prohibited him and them to meet therein under pain of forfeiting their temporalities, by these ensuing Prohibitions issued to him and them.

REX H. Lincol. Episcopo salutem. Cum pro Exercitu nostro cum quo tendimus ad partes Cestræ, contra Wallenses inimicos nostros, vos & omnes alios Prælatos & Magnates Regni nostri fecerimus summoneri, ad eundem nobiscum cum toto servitio suo, nobis debito, pro defensione terræ nostræ contra prædictos Wallenses. Et Archiepiscopus Cantuar. quandam Convocationem Episcoporum fieri fecerit London. in Octabis Assumptionis beate Mariæ, ut audivimus. Quæ quidem Convocatio aut alii tractatus, vel Concilia, nobis existentibus et agentibus in exercitu nostro fieri non debent, eo quod singuli tam Prælati, quam alii in propriis personis venire debeant ad defensionem Coronæ et Regni nostri, et per absentiam eorumdè grave nobis et terræ nostræ periculum posset imminere, inhibuimus districte præfato Archiepiscopo, ne dictam Convocationem faciat, sed Convocationem illam dum fuerimus in exercitu nostro penitus revocet, et suspendat, unde sub debito fidelitatis qua nobis tenemini et forisfactura omnium terrarum et tenementorum quæ in Regno nostro tenetis, vobis districte prohibemus, ne ad Convocationem huiusmodi dum fuerimus in exercitu nostro, accedere præsumatis, sed ad nos versus Walliam pro defensione nostra et terræ nostræ contra prædictos Wallenses, sine moræ dispendio veniatis, servitium vestrum nobis debitum personaliter impensuri, ne pro defectu vestri exheredationem perpetuam patiamur. Teste meipso apud Wodest. 19. die Julii.

Et mandatum est Officialibus Episcoporum ejusdem provinciæ agentium in partibus transmarinis, quod ad Convocationem prædictam non accedant, sed sub amissione omnium terrarum domini suorum mittant Regi servitia quæ domini sui Regi debent.

The Archbishop and Bishops notwithstanding these Writs, met and proceeded in their Convocation in a very contemptuous and presumptuous manner, as these 50. Articles then drawn up and tendered to the King, and their Treasonable Papal Decrees in pursuit of them, will most evidently demonstrate, thus registred by Matthew Paris in his Addimenta, for their eternal honour.

Imprimis, quod vacantibus Ecclesiis Cathedralibus seu Conventualibus, Conventus talliantur, terræ relinquuntur incultæ: vastantur nemora, parci & vivaria, corrunt ædificia, diripiuntur bona, depauperantur villani & maletractantur: ita quod mendicare coguntur Prælati succedentes, per tempora diuturna: quod est contra Domini Regis Chartam, & etiam Ecclesiasticam libertatem. Et in tantum jam crevit malicia, quod Escaetores non ad bona Abbatum & Priorum usui decedentium deputata, manus extendunt, verumetiam ad blada instaurata, & alia quibus Conventus sustentari debet: ita quod occasione talis Custodiæ, quandoque religiosi debitis gravibus onerati, & alias multipliciter depauperati, resurgere non possunt, nec ad statum debitum pervenire temporibus diuturnis.

p. 199, 200,
201, &c.

2. Item, cum Ecclesiæ Cathedrali seu Monasterio Ecclesiasticum beneficium sit annexum, si curam habeant animarum, illud octupant Custodes gardarum, decimas & obventiones, & alios proventus inde percipientes; contra Deum & omnia jura: cum talia beneficia non pertineant, ad baroniam, et ratione Laicalium bonorum tantum ad Dominum Regem custodem devolvuntur.

3. Item, Cum electiones in Ecclesiis Cathedralibus seu Conventualibus debeant esse libere, tot et tales preces Regales interveniunt, quibus electores perterriti, sæpius divinæ humanam præferunt voluntatem. Eodem modo fit de Ecclesiis vel Præbendis, ad opus Regalium Clericorum, cum eas vacare contingit.

4. Item, Celebratis electionibus, & præsentatis Domino Regi electis, interdum differunt adhibere consensum electo, vel electioni, absque causa rationabili se opposcentes, ut sic electi per timorem cedere, vel electores precibus Regis et voluntati acquiescere compellantur, ex quibus multa pericula, tam spiritualia quam temporalia, contingunt Ecclesiis.

5. Item, cum aliquando in casu à jure non concessio, ad Prælatum superiorem devolvitur potestas ordinandi de Ecclesia Cathedrali vel Collegiata vacante, Dominus Rex privilegium Christi concessum de licentia eligendi, ab electoribus ante electionem celebrandam, ab eo petenda, ad hujusmodi ordinationem nititur extendere, in suæ salutis dispendium, et scandalum plurimorum, et etiam contra * Patris sui Chartam super electionibus concessam.

6. Item, in Ecclesiis Parochialibus & Præbendalibus curam animarum habentibus, intrudit Clericos per Laicam potestatem; Ordinariis penitus irrequisitis: & sæpius institutos, ab Ordinariis destituit & ejicit. Destitutos etiam ab eisdem, licet degradatos, restituit, tam in Monasteriis, quam Parochialibus Ecclesiis, & sic restitutos armatâ manu defendit.

7. Item, Prælatos trahit ad forum suum ut ibi respondeant, quare subditos suos excommunicaverint vel denunciaverint excommunicatos: sicut quare non admiserit Clericum idoneum præsentatum, ad aliquam Ecclesiam etiam Parochialem.

8. Item, si quis Laicus vel etiam Clericus, sibi vel suis Justiciariis de Clerico conqueratur super aliqua violentia vel alia injuria, de debitis etiam vel aliis personalibus actionibus, si Clericus Laicum feodum habeat, per illud distringitur ad comparandum in foro suo super talibus responsurus. Quod si tale feodum non habeat, distringitur Episcopus per Baroniam suam, quod Clericum ipsum ad hoc faciendum illuc venire faciat. Idem etiam facit de religiosiis interdum.

9. Item, Cum Prælati Ecclesiastici inquirere volunt de peccatis subditoꝝ, * prohibentur Laici, ne de veritate dicenda, aut de credulitate, aliquod Juramentum exponant, aut Prælati super hujusmodi obediunt: propter quod multoꝝ excessus et peccata mortalia incorrecta et impunita relinquuntur, et sic præstatut audacia delinquendi, et peccati facultas.

10. Item, cum quis excommunicatus pro offensa vel contumacia, post 40. dies ad mandatum Ecclesiæ secundum consuetudinem, per breve Domini Regis capitur, & postea sine assensu sui Prælatis, ad cujus instantiam capitur, & absque aliqua satisfactione, contra jus et consuetudinem Regni ac Ecclesiæ libertatem, per breve Domini Regis liberatur.

11. Item, Vicecomites tales excommunicatos ad mandatum Domini Regis non capiunt, et si capiant, liberant sine mandato Regis et satisfactione.

* Their Excommunications were so unjust, illegal, execrable, frequent, that all these abhorred and slighted them.

12. Item, * Dominus Rex, Justiciarii et Ballivi sui passim et indifferenter excommunicatis communicant, tam in divinis quam in judiciis. Et etiam Dominus Rex excommunicatos et claves Ecclesiæ contemnentes, ad mandatum suum captos, facit liberari, ad causam si quam habent in Curia Laicali personaliter persequendam: Nec admittitur exceptio excommunicationis contra eos etiam probata, per Literas Ordinatioꝝ.

13. Item, Dominus Rex mandat Literis suis, quod non vitentur excommunicati, licet per Ordinarios publice denuncientur excommunicati.

14. Item, cum Clericus super aliquo crimine, furto, vel homicidio, vel aliqua alia feloniam, per Laicorum diffamationem aut latronum Appellationem irretitus existat, pro quo detentus sit in carcere Laicali, cum ab Ecclesia & suo Prælate requiritur, ipsum liberum habere non potest. Nec reddunt captos Clericos libere judicandos, sed ut eos habeant coram Justiciariis Domini Regis proꝝimo in Comitatu itinerantibus, per intervallum aliquando sex vel quinque annoꝝ, licet ab eis judicari non possit.

15. Item, Clerici sic capti plerumque in habitu clericali inventi, antequam ab Ordinariis Ecclesiasticis repetantur seu repeti possint, suspenduntur, & quandoque capita eorum raduntur ut Clerici non appareant, & sicut Laici judicentur. Quandoque cum repetuntur, differtur eorum liberatio ad tempus, & interim suspenduntur de nocte vel hora prandii, ne ad notitiam Ordinarioꝝ valeant pervenire.

16. Item, * Justiciarii & Vicecomites per Patriam itinerantes, & inquirentes de criminosis Patriæ, si Laici Clericos de crimine homicidii, rapinæ, vel latrocinii, vel aliquo alio defamant ( licet non fugitivum, non crimine repertum ) statim Clericos incarcerant & detinent. Et si non inveniuntur in Comitatu, & per quatuor Comitatus vocati non veniant, forbanant eisdem sicut Laicos, nec prodest eis ordo clericalis.

17. Item, quod si idem Clericus irretitus, super objectis sibi criminibus coram Judice suo Ecclesiastico Canonice se purgaverit, nihilominus Laica potestas ad bona sua mobilia et immobilia manum extendit.

18. Item, si Clericus criminofus pro objecto & probato contra ipsum facinore degradatus existat, Laica potestas bona sua mobilia et immobilia occupat et invadit, & sic contingit Clericum pro eodem delicto, bis in id ipsum puniri.

19. Item, cum contingit Clericum pro delicto Forestæ defamari, per inquisitionem viridarioꝝ & Forestarioꝝ super captione venationis, vocatur coram Justiciariis: et licet ab Ordinariis repetatur, nisi prius carceri Laicali mancipetur, suo Ordinario non liberatur, & post liberationem factam Episcopo, per Inquisitionem factam per Laicos, pena pecuniaria condemnatur.

20. Item, similiter condemnantur absentes & ignorantes, ad simplicem vocem viridarioꝝ viridarium & Forestariorum, cum ad inquisitionem per Laicos factam non debeant condemnari Clerici, vel aliquo modo Judicari: & tam isti quam illi compelluntur solvere merciamenta, per possessiones Laicales si quas habent. Sin autem (non) distringuntur Episcopi per Baronias suas, ut dictos Clericos compellant de suis beneficiis solvere condemnationem.

21. Item, per eandem distinctionem, attachiantur & coguntur Clerici in actionibus personalibus, & in hiis quæ ex contractibus oriuntur in foro seculari: & etiam delictis respondere querelantibus.

23. Item, cum a Regia dignitate et libera voluntate concessa sit Episcopis, libera Testamenti factio, licet hoc a jure habeant et consuetudine, et *sacrilegium sit quod semel est Ecclesiæ concessum, illud infringere vel turbare, ultimæque voluntate nihil debeat esse liberius: Dominus tamen Rex non permittit executores Testamentorum eorundem Episcoporum, de bonis ipsorum administrare, quousque causa cognita ipsius facinoris, gratiam mereantur super hiis obtinere.

* Nota

24. Item, cum quis tenens Laicum feodum de Domino Rege, decedat, Ballivi Regis omnia bona defuncti sibi habent, nec permittunt ejus executores de eis disponere, donec inquisitum fuerit a Scaccario, utrum aliquid debeat Regi. Et hoc juri dissonum est, & Chartæ contrarium, quâ caveatur, quod licet Ballivis sic facere, cum Literas Domini Regis de summonitione talis debiti patentes ostendunt, & sic possunt attachiare catalla aliqua ad honorem ipsius debiti, per visum legalium hominum, donec illud debitum persolvatur in aliis catallis: libera administratione, executoribus omnino dimissa.

25. Item, mortuo Laico intestato, Dominus Rex & ceteri Domini feodorum, bona defuncti sibi applicantes, non permittunt de ipsis debita solvi: nec residuum in usum liberorum et proximorum suorum, et alios pios usus, per loci Ordinarium quorum interest, aliqua converti.

26. Item, Ecclesiastico Judici cognoscenti super decimis vel capellis, prærigitur Regia Prohibitio: Judici videlicet, ne procedat: actori similiter, ne prosequatur. Ea tamen ratione, quod si eviscerentur decimæ vel capella, diminueretur jus patronatus illius qui est patronus Ecclesiæ, qui est in possessione capellæ petitiæ, vel decimarum, et fieret Regi præjudicium ad quem spectat juris patronatus cognitio, & sic impedit ne cognoscat Judex Ecclesiasticus de decimis: licet Rex & Justiciarii sui de hiis cognoscere non possint, per quod justitia perit.

28. Item, si Ecclesia petat ceragium vel herietum, vel alia quæ ad Ecclesiam vel ad usus Ecclesiarum deputata, ut petatur pecunia ad Ecclesiam cooperiendam, vel Cœmeterium claudendum, & Parochiani ad hujusmodi præstanda extiterint rebelles, si conveniantur coram loci Ordinariis, statim prærigitur Regia Prohibitio, et sic impeditur cultus Ecclesiæ, et honor eidem diutius impensus. Idem fit, si convicti de adulterio vel alio crimine puniantur *pecuniari-

29. Item, si quis commiserit sacrilegium res Ecclesiasticas invadendo, vel Ecclesias libertatibus suis spoliando, vel perturbando, vel etiam violaverit libertates in Chartis libertatum contentas, & propter hoc inciderit in sententiam excommunicationis, vel sit excommunicandus, & Judex Ecclesiasticus secundum formam juris velit contra tales transgressores procedere, impeditur propter Prohibitionem Regiam ne procedat: eâ assignatâ ratione, * quod delicta Laicorum, et specialiter Ballivorum Regis, ad ipsum pertinent corrigenda. Idem hic in omnibus casibus, in quibus ratione ejusdem delicti, diversâ debentur emendâ: quarum una in foro Ecclesiâ, et alia in foro Regio debet injungi.

30. Item, in quibus omnibus casibus & similibus, si Judex Ecclesiasticus contra Prohibitionem Regiam procedat, attachiatur: comparens eorum Justiciariis, compellitur Judex exhibere acta sua, ut per ea decernant utrum negotium pertineat ad forum Ecclesiasticum vel seculare. Et si videatur eis quod pertineat ad forum Regium, querelatur Judex, qui si confiteatur se post Prohibitionem processisse, ameriatur: si neget, indicitur ei purgatio per Judicem secularem, ad testimonium duorum vilissimorum ribaldorum. Et si purgare se noluerit, incarceratur donec Justiciariis Sacramentum præstiterit corporale, quod non processit contra Prohibitionem: et si facere noluerit, in carcere retinetur. Similiter actor, si sequatur.

35. Item, ratione hujusmodi possessionum, Rex et alii Magnates nituntur compellere Episcopos, Prælatos, et Religiosos, et Rectores Ecclesiarum, facere sectam ad Curiam Laicalem.

36. Item, eisdem possessionibus vel earum possessoribus ratione earum, telonium et alia onera gravioza imponunt Laici, contra Ecclesiasticam libertatem.

39. Item, si Episcopi & alii Prælati ad forum extraordinarium evocantur, non possunt attornatos per Literas seu Procuratores in causis Civilibus constituere, sed necesse habent, licet cum gravi dispendio, personaliter comparere.

* They & their Tenants only must be exempt, and all others burdened with Taxes.

44. Item, In Cancellaria Domini Regis nova brevía juri Ecclesiastico, legi terræ, et consuetudini contraria, passim fiunt: sine Concilio Regni, Principum et Prælatorum assensu, quod fieri non debet.

45. Item, cum Dominus Rex pro aliqua expeditione, vel ex quacunque causa Regnum exierit vel intraverit, vel ad diversas partes in ipso Regno se transtulerit, compellit Religiosos per Viccomites suos, & per captionem averiorum suorum, ut obsequium sibi veniant, et munera ei deferant. Idem in singulis Comitatus faciens.

47. Item

47. Item, cum non consueverint Prælati vel viri Ecclesiastici amercari, pro communibus summonitionibus in adventu Justiciariorum, modernis temporibus amerciantur passim indifferenter & graviter, si non compareant prima die, tam coram Justiciariis Itinerantibus, quam coram Justiciariis de Foresta.

48. Item, accidit interdum quod Ecclesia gavisa est aliquarum rerum possessione, seu libertatam ab antiquis temporibus, & licet Rex Ecclesiis & viris Ecclesiasticis in principio Magna Charta suæ de libertatibus datis Anglicis, dederit & confirmaverit Ecclesiis & Ecclesiasticis personis, omnes libertates quibus antea usi fuerant, passim tamen compellit Prælatos respondere, quare vel quo warranto talibus utantur libertatibus. Et si Prælatus compulsus comparens Chartam donatoris exhibeat, licet contineatur in ea, quod donator tales ac tales dederit libertates, & omnes alias quas in rebus datis habuerat, vel habere potuerat, vel aliis in Instrumento donationis, quantumcunque generali clausula contineatur, & dicat quod in illa generali clausula, Libertas de qua agitur includitur, nil proderit ei nisi in Charta de eadem libertate expressa fiat mentio. Et sic secundum opinionem Regalium, verbum illud omnino pro nihilo supponit, quod secundum jura & omnem rationem nihil exceptum reliquit, præsertim in donationibus piis locis factis.

49. Item, licet in Charta de libertate de qua agitur expressa fiat mentio, dicunt Regales, quod Charta sine possessione vel usu non valet, & quod Ecclesia non sit usi tali libertate, paratus est Rex se opponere in recognitione patriæ, licet certum sit Ecclesiam ea libertate usam fuisse. Et sic quod certum est, revocant in dubium, & jus & possessionem Ecclesiæ, ponere *nititur in ore seu judicio Laicorum & Ecclesiæ persecutorum. Si verò non fiat expressa mentio in Charta de qua contenditur libertate, sed nota sit possessio vel usus, & dicat Prælatus, quod licet non nominatim sed per generalia verba data sit libertas illa Ecclesiæ, vel quod aliquando habuit Ecclesia Chartam expressam facientem de hujusmodi libertate mentionem, quod perditum est, vel vetustate consumptum, vel alleget donationem sine scriptis factam * morte Regum antiquorum, & per hoc habuerit Ecclesia justum titulum, bonam fidem, & possessionem longissimam, & sic firmo jure tueatur: dicunt Regales, quod non sufficit, quia talis possessio est usurpatio vel occupatio illicita; cum sit Regi contraria. Et quidem mirabile est dictu, quod longissima possessio talis, non possit prodesse Ecclesiis contra Regem: Cum è contrario in hiis quæ à Rege nullatenus possideri possunt, ratione consuetudinis sive usus, jus sibi vendicet contra Ecclesias: sicut in omnibus oppressionibus supradictis, & aliis consimilibus, in quibus loco tituli succedit Sacrilegium vel injuria manifesta; loco bonæ fidei, oppressio; loco consuetudinis, actus unus vel diutina corruptela, si sæpius fuerit attemptatum.

50. Item, Cum Dominus Rex juraverit in Coronatione sua, conservare jura et libertates Ecclesiis datas, et eas confirmaverit in principio Magnæ Chartæ: incessanter tamen à Ministris suis impugnantur, turbantur, & mutantur: non solum generales, sed etiam speciales: datas scilicet à prædecessoribus suis, & ab ipso confirmatas; et etiam de novo datas, & donationes quas ipse dedit, & alias quas ipse defendere & warrantizare deberet, impugnat & sustinet impugnari, & impugnatores defendit; sicut patet in facto Beithon, & aliis casibus, quos ad præsens tacemus, sperantes, quod ad singulorum querelas, singulares injurias faciet emendari.

These were the 50. Articles tendred to the King by the Archbishops and Bishops, for which (like that Arch-traytor Becket) they resolved to contend even to death, if they could not purchase them with this gift of money: Indeed some of them were real grievances, and matter of just complaint, fit to be reformed, but the major part most injurious Prelatical, or rather Papal Encroachments upon the Rights and Prerogative of the Kings Crown, Dignity, Temporal Courts of Justice, the Laws, Statutes, Customs of the Realm, and his Writs of Prohibition in defence of the Rights of his Crown, and his Judges, Officers, Lay-Subjects Rights and Liberties, which they then endeavoured to trample under feet, or subject to their new exorbitant Jurisdictions, Canons, Courts, Excommunications, Interdicts, Censures, Oathes, Inquisitions; whereupon the King justly refusing to give or sell them these Articles for the great sum of money they then granted him, they resolved to right themselves by their own usurped Papal Authority, without the Kings, Nobles, and Commons consents in Parliament, and meeting in their prohibited Council cil at Westminster this year or Lambeth (not Anno Dom. 1270. vel 1272. as *Johannes de Aton mistakes) Enacted by their own power the ensuing Provisions, like so many domining Popes, Contra prædicta gravamina Laicorum, Printed in Matthew Paris his * Addimenta after the premised Articles; in Johannes de Aton, (a Canon of Lincoln, Doctor of both Laws) in his Constitutiones Legitimæ Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ; and in Lindwode, wherein they presume to interdict and excommunicate, not only the Kings Judges, Officers, Persons and Lands, but to interdict the King himself, his Castles, Cities, Minnors, Lands, as well as his Subjects, yea to deprive all Priests and make them incapable of any Ecclesiastical preferments, in case they neglected or refused, after admonition, to submit to their Papal Usurpations, Octobon the Popes Legat, and Bonifac Archbishop of Canterbury, under whom this Council was held, being (as Johannes de Aton informes us, in his Prologue to his Institutions,) like another Jeremiab, Constitutus super gentes et regnum istud, ut evellat, dissipet, ædificet atque plantet; sarculis, imo novaculis acutis, id est, traditionibus pænarum asperimus, in orto Dominico Anglicano jugiter laborare, felici mucrone piacula recans.

The Constitutions in Matthew Paris his Addimenta, are not so large and full as those collected and published all together by Johannes de Aton, and scatteringly in William Lindwode his Provincial Constitutions, (who peradventure made some Additions to them, for advancement of the Prelates Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction, being both Canonists) and they differ somewhat in their prologues and expressions, I shall therefore present you with the prologue and first Constitution in Matthew Paris; then with the prologue, the first and residue of the Constitutions as they are in Aton and Lindwode, adding only one in Matthew Paris concerning Oaths, which they omit.

Sunt enim quidam Articuli, in quibus Prelati nullo modo dissimulare possunt.

Sunt alii, in quibus possunt judicio charitatis, non perturbatione infirmitatis dissimulare.

Sunt & alii, in quibus dissimulare possunt, sine discrimine salutis æternæ & periculo animarum.

Articuli qui dissimulari non possunt, absque interitu salutis æternæ Animarumque periculo, et subversione Ecclesiasticæ libertatis, ac Ecclesiasticarum personarum præjudicio manifeste, proximo sunt subscripti.

Et si Clerici fuerint beneficiati, suis beneficiis priventur, non beneficiati, per quinquennium ad beneficium Ecclesiasticum in Regno Angliæ (si forte præsentati fuerint) minime admittantur; Clerici autem qui hujusmodi brevia attachionum seu districtionum dixerint, scripserint, signaverint, consilium aut auxilium adhibuerint, solemniter excommunicentur, et excommunicati denuncientur, nec aliqui de præmissis certa ratione suspecti, ad aliquod beneficium Ecclesiasticum donec se super his Canonice purgaverint, admittantur. Et si Dominus Rex monitus, hujusmodi districtiones non revocaverit, Episcopus qui distractus fuerit, terras, villas dominicas, et Castra quæ Rex habet in suo Episcopatu Ecclesiastico, supponat interdicto. Et si Rex in sua duritia perseveret, cæteri Coepiscopi, districtionem unius quasi Communem omnium, et etiam communem Injuriam Ecclesiæ reputantes, Civitates, terras Dominicas, Burgos, Castra et Villas ipsius Regis in suis Episcopatibus consistentes, simili supponant interdicto. Et si nec sic infra viginti dies postmodum attachiationes et districtiones hujusmodi revocaverit, aut ob hoc manum contra Ecclesiam aggraverit: singuli Archiepiscopi et Episcopi suas Dioceces Ecclesiastico supponant interdicto. Et si Aliquis Episcoporum in hac parte indutus fuerit negligens et remissus, per suum Metropolitanum gravatur arguatur. Et si perseveraverit in negligentia, Canonice puniatur per eundem. De iis qui Ecclesias per Laicalem potestatem accipiunt.

Item, quia frequenter accidit, quod nonnulli Clerici per Laicalem potestatem Ecclesias occupant Parochiales, & Præbendales, etiam curam animarum habentes, & in eisdem absq; autoritate Ecclesiastica intruduntur. Statuimus, quod Clericus per se vel per Laicalem potestatem intrusus in Ecclesia vel præbenda, servata juris forma excommunicetur, et excommunicatus per loci Dioecesimum publice denunci-etur et illo beneficio imperpetuum careat ipso facto. Ac post latam sententiam si in intrusione huiusmodi pertinaci animo per duos menses steterit, per locorum Diocesanos ubi habet Ecclesiastica beneficia, ad denunciationem illius Episcopi in cuius Diocesi se intrusit, cuius monitione & Excommunicatione a prædictum tempus contemserit proventus illorum beneficiorum quousq; congruè satisfecerit, subtrahantur. Et si per idem tempus, scilicet annum, intrusus in excommunicationis sententia perseveraverit, extunc ad aliud beneficium vel Ecclesiam in * Provincia Cantuarien. minime admittatur; si vero per Clericum procuratorem Clericus fuerit intrusus, contra eundem procuratorem Clericum simili modo procedatur, ut pœnis subiaceat supradictis. Si vero procurator Laicus talis fuerit, in forma juris excommunicetur, et excommunicatus publice denunciatur, Dominus autem absens citetur, qui si comparens ratificaverit factum procuratoris sui in hac parte, pœnis subiaceat supradictis; si vero per contumaciam se absentaverit, post spacium trium mensium expectatus si sit in Regno, majoris excommunicationis sententia innodetur, pœnas nihilominus prætaratas incurrat, maxime cum Sacrilegio inobedientiam adjecerit et contemptum. Si vero fuerit extra Regnum, contra ipsum vocatum post dilationes transmarinas, modo prædicto procedatur; et Præbenda vel Ecclesia in qua fuerit talis intrusio facta Ecclesiastico supponatur interdicto. Fautores vero et cooperatoros huius intrusionis, si Clerici fuerint, prætaratas pœnas contra Clericos editas perferant. Et si Laici fuerint, plectantur pœnis contra Laicos superius annotatis. Loca vero et terræ huiusmodi intrudentium, et intrusorum si intra unum mensem non satisfecerint, supponantur Ecclesiastico interdicto. Si vero huiusmodi intrusiones factæ fuerint ex Regia potestate, per loci Diocesanum moneatur Dominus Rex quod ea faciat intra tempus competens revocari. Alioquin terræ, et loca quæ Dominus Rex habet in illa Diocesi in qua facta fuerit intrusio, supponantur Ecclesiastico interdicto secundam formam superius annotatam. Si vero per alium magnatem vel potestatem fiat talis intrusio, per interdicta et excommunicationis sententias ut superius arceantur. Et si per duos menses huiusmodi sententias sustinuerit propter hoc in se latas, extunc terræ et loca quæ obtinet in illa Diocesi per loci Diocesanum supponantur Ecclesiastico interdicto, nec relaxentur præfate sententiæ donec de injuria, inobedientia et contemptu satisfecerit competenter.

Nunquam dicti etiam * Rex et Ballivi cum huiusmodi et excommunicatis et denunciatis publice communicant, Claves Ecclesiæ contemnendo, in subversionem Ecclesiasticæ Libertatis, et suarum periculum animarum. Huic ergo morbo congruam volentes adhibere medicinam; statuimus, quod excommunicati sic capti et taliter exeuntes a Carcere ad maiorem confusionem liberatorum et liberantium publice et solenniter pulsatis campanis, accensis candellis excommunicentur et denunciarentur excommunicati, in locis in quibus ordinariis eorum videbitur expedire. #### 4. De Clericis Captis a Laicis propter crimina.

Contingit aliquando, quod Clerici sine licentia Prælatorum quamquam in facto non fuerint * reprehensi nec convicti tanquam facinorosi, vel suspecti de crimine, seu delicto, vel injuria personali capiuntur per potentiam Laicalem, et in Carcere detrahuntur, ordinariis suis eos requiruntibus secundum Canones libere judicandi. Et si Clerici quibus etiam crimina imponuntur coram Judicibus secularibus evocari non comparuerint * foris bannuntur a Regno, Quia vero in hoc libertas Ecclesiastica confunditur cum Clericus a Laico judicatur; statuimus, quod Clerici Capti si noti fuerint & honesti, capientes ipsos & etiam detinentes, & contra requisitionem ordinario eos reddere recusantes, per locorum ordinarios publice excommunicati denunciarentur: loca etiam in quibus detenti fuerint, et terræ capientium eos et detinentium supponantur Ecclesiastico interdicto; donec ordinariis eorundem reddantur; et super huiusmodi excessu satisfecerit compententer. Illi autem qui taliter falsa crimina eis imposuerunt, seu maliciose confixerunt, (alias composuerunt) commenta vel fraudes propter quæ capti fuerant & in justè detenti, excommunicati similiter denunciarentur; (unde excommunicati sunt auctoritate * præsentis Concilii Oron. ipso facto.) Clerici vero vagi vel ignoti capti & ex causis aliquibus detenti, si in possessione Clericatus inventi fuerint, per locorum ordinarios requirantur à Domino Rege, vel alio qui potestatem habet reddendi eosdem, vel eos restituat libere per Ecclesiam judicandos. Et si denegetur, puniantur ut detentatores superius annotati, & si reddantur, libere indicentur non expectatis judiciariis quibuscunque. Et si iudicarii Clericis eisdem coram eis non exhibitis Episcopum condemnent in pensione pecuniaria, pænæ superioris, si Clerici fuerint, si Laici proferantur. Clerici autem Domini Regis, vel quicumque, alii qui excusationem huiusmodi poene prosequuntur dictando, scribendo, sigillando Alcomitibus vel aliis Ballivis illis hujusmodi mandata dirigendo pœnis subjaceant in Clericos promulgatis superius annotatis. Quod si iidem Clerici Ecclesiæ redditi propter transgressionem aliquando personalem vel forestant enuntiati fuerint, a iudice seculari non compellant, cum non a suis iudicibus fuerint condemnati. Et si propter hoc eos prælatos distringi aut attachiari contigerit, se defenderit contra hujusmodi attachiationes vel distractiones per remedia antedicta. Idem fiat quotiescunque annunciati fuerint viri Ecclesiastici pro hiis quæ ad forum Ecclesiasticum pertinent per Iudicem secularem, si * verò Clerici Canonice se purgaverint super sibi impositis & objectis, & nihilominus bona Laica potestate detineantur, eorundem occupantes, & detinentes bona hujusmodi Laicorum per expeditam Ecclesiasticam censuram compescantur. * Quod si sic capti Clerici tonsuram & Clericatum habentes maliciose tempore intermedio abrazi fuerint, vel suspensi, abjadentes vel suspendentes, consilium, vel favorem, seu auxilium impendentes pœnis subjaceant supradictis; forisbannientes quoque hujusmodi Clericos pœnis similibus percellantur. * Item statumus, quod si aliquis Clericus pro transgressione forestant seu partis alicujus diffamatus fuerit; vel convictus fuerit legitime coram suo ordinario, vel confessus, idem per suum ordinarium si bona habeat, illi cui noxa aut injuria illata est hujusmodi redemptio assignetur; si autem bona non habeat, suus Episcopus ipsum prout culpa poposcerit graviter puniat in persona, ne propter impunitatis fiduciam pateat præsumptoribus licentia delinquendi.

Providemus, quod si Laicus fuerit Impetrator, per excommunicationis sententiam (prout superius dicitur) arceatur. Si vero non destiterint et possessores immobilium existant, terra eorum supponatur Ecclesiastico interdicto. Si autem immobilia non habeant, mercenarii sui non vacatæ personæ moneatur, quod intra octo dies ab eo recedant. Alioquin consimilis pœna sententiæ excommunicationis majoris feratur in eosdem. Si autem Clericus reus fuerit vel religiosus, exerceantur pœna Canonice contra ipsos: si vero Clericus in sua pertinacia perseveraverit, procedatur contra eum secundum pœnas superius contra pertinaces Clericos annotatas. Si autem actor Laicus sit & non habeat Laicum feodum, Episcopus non exhibeat eum, et si distringitur Episcopus, procedatur contra * Dominum Regem et distringentem ut superius est expressum. I finde this Constitution omitted in Aton and Lindewode, extant in Matthew Paris his Addimenta, against the King and his Judges granting Prohibitions to hinder

Cum insuper Prelati Ecclesiastici, ex officii sui debito inquirant de mo-

Perchance the King & his Councils, Judges forementioned Prohibitions against such Oaths, caused Lindewode and Aton, to omit this Constitution, and most likely this Archbishop and Council to waive it, though in their Original draught.

10. De Rege Ecclesiarum aggravante Vacantem.

Contingit insuper aliquando, quod Domino Rege Ecclesiarum Cathedralium vel
Conventualium custodiam obtinente, cum secundum Chartarum libertatem ab

Et sic verbum (Omnia) secundum eos nihil contineat, nisi fuerit specialiter expressum. Et si articulus libertatis contentus in Charta specialiter exprimat, dicunt iidem Judices Chartam ipsam esse vacuum & invalidam, si Ecclesiæ vel Monasterium usæ non fuerit hujusmodi libertate. Providemus, quod Iusticiarii & alii Judices seculares, Ecclesias vel loca religiosa perversa interpretatione hujusmodi, possessionibus vel libertatibus defraudantes, moneantur per locorum Ordinarios in quibus talia iudicia exercentur, quod sub talis interpretationis velamento, possessiones, libertates et jura Ecclesiastica perturbare et invertere non præsumant. Quod si monitionibus non acquieverint eorundem, per * excommunicationis et interdicti sententias diaconum Iusticiariorum et Judicum, sive Clerici sive Laici fuerint, iniquitas secundum formam annotatam superius, comprimatur.

Ordinamus, quod si restrictio fuerit pro hujusmodi sectis, à donatoribus, fundatoribus, vel eorum hæredibus, seu aliis suis qualitercunque succedentibus, per præmissas censuras Ecclesiasticas penitus reprimantur. Si vero à Capitalibus Dominis restrictio fiat pro hujusmodi sectis faciendis, compellentes & distringentes, modo simili arceantur. Datum apud Westmonasterium in solenni Convocatione Cleri Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ, 6. Idus Junii, Anno Domini * 1261. & Anno Pontificatus Alexandri Papæ 4. septimo, & Anno Regni illustris Regis Henrici * quarto.

Per Bonifacium Cantuariensem Archiepiscopum.

In most of these Constitutions of Archbishop Boniface, and all our English Bishops and Clergy in this Convocation, (specially contrived, as I apprehend, against Judge Bracton forecited Treatise of Prohibitions, written about that time, & other Prohibitions forecited) I cannot but take notice of these particulars, worthy special observation.

1. Their high contempt and daring presumption, in holding this Convocation upon Archbishop Boniface his own summons, not only without the Kings special Writ, against Law and former presidents, but also against his express * forementioned Prohibitions issued to him and them, not to hold or resort thereto, under pain of seising or forfeiting their Temporalties. 2ly. In presuming to make such Constitutions as these, not only without the privy or consent of the King, Lords and Commons of the Realm, very highly concerned in them, in their Liberties, Properties, Consciences, but in direct avowed opposition against them, having refused from time to time upon their Petitions, to grant what they here decreed, as themselves attest in their prologue, and that upon just grounds of law, prudence, policy, right, conscience. 3ly. In exempting their persons, lands, goods from all secular persons and Courts Jurisdictions by these Constitutions, whereto they prohibited any Clergyman to submit, under severest Ecclesiastical censures. 4ly. In subjecting not only the persons of all the Nobility, Commonalty to their Ecclesiastical Excommunications with bell, book and candle, and their Mannors, Lands, Goods to their Interdicts, but even the King himself to their admonitions, and his Lands, Castels, Cities, Mannors, Subjects to their arbitrary Interdicts in several cases, for opposing their transcendent, if not treasonable encroachments upon the Ecclesiastical & Civil Rights, Prerogatives of the Crown, the Laws and antient Customs of the Realm, his Temporal Judges, Justices, Sheriffs, Bayliffs, Lay-Subjects Liberties, all prostituted to their exorbitant censures & arbitrary pleasures. 5ly. In inflicting severe penalties on all inferior Clergymen, who should not pursue, or violate these their Constitutions, by sequestrations, deprivations, disabilities to receive or enjoy any Ecclesiastical Benefices or Dignities whatsoever; & inflicting penalties on all such Bishops as should neglect or refuse to put them in execution. 6ly. In their most execrable abuse of Excommunications, Interdicts of whole Cities, Parishes, Villages from all sacred Ordinaries upon every trivial occasion, and conceived neglect or disobedience of some particular persons only, in not executing or opposing these their Constitutions; yea for the Kings, his Courts, Judges granting, and not recalling their legal Writs of Prohibition, Judgements, for defence of the Rights of the Crown, Laws, or Subjects Liberties, against their Papal Encroachments on them; and the Jurisdiction of all his Temporal Courts, in cases of Advouions of Churches, Lay-fees, Chattels, Contracts, not properly belonging to Ecclesiastical cognisance, all which they endeavoured to engrosse into their own hands. Courts. 7ly. That though all the Bishops, Clergy, Prelates, Priors formerly * opposed Archbishop Boniface his Visitations and Entroachments on themselves, and publicly declaimed against him for his rapines, covetousnesse, violence, non-residence, neglect of his Pastoral duty, oppression, and other vices, yet here they cryed him up for another St. Thomas of Becket, and canonized him as a kind of Saint before his death, for these his Antimonarchical Constitutions in defence and advancement of the Prelates, Churches, Clergies pretended Liberties, and Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction, for which they would contest even to death under this their Martial General. 8ly. That though these Constitutions were kept secret, and not publickly divulged at first, (as Mat. Paris intimates) with a clause of adding to or subtracting from them, to avoid the just censure of the King and Kingdom upon the makers of them, for their high contempts and treasonable designs against the Kings Crown, Dignity, the ancient Laws, Customs Government of the Kingdom, which they would totally subvert; upon which account John Peckham Archbishop of Canterbury was complained against in Parliament, and enforced by the King and Lords to revoke sundry of his Constitutions made in the Council at Radyng under him, Anno 7 E. 1. with a deleatur, et pro non pronunciata habeatur, illa clausula in prima sententia Excommunicationis, quæ facit mentionem impetrantibus Literas Regias ad impediendum processus, in causis quæ per sacros Canones ad forum Ecclesiasticum pertinent, &c. (relating to these Constitutions of Boniface, then first divulged as I conceive) whose Canons were not altogether so high as these of Boniface; yet their ambitious successors, and some bold Doctors of the Canon and Civil Law, (as Johannes de Aton, and William Lindwode) presumed to publish them with their expunged, revoked Clauses, and Glosses on them, some ages after, endeavouring to make them obligatory both to the English Clergy, Church, Kings, Subjects, to create every Archbishop, Bishop, Archdeacon of England a Pope, and make the Kings, Nobles, Judges, Civil Officers, Courts of Justice, and Commonalty of England, little less than their slaves and vassals: Which Constitutions, though never submitted to, nor approved, but revoked, nulled by them, yet some aspiring Prelates, and bold ignorant Canonists of late times, have cryed them up to be, and executed them as the Ecclesiastical Laws of England, though never received nor ratified as such, but always opposed in such manner as I have related; yea totally neglected, or seldome put in use in times of Popery by their makers, as Lindwode himself acknowledgeth in his Epistle to Henry Archbishop of Canterbury before his Provinciale. You may judge of these trees by their fruits, Ex cauda draconem, Pramoniti pramoniti. I now proceed to Records of this year.

The Bishop of Durham having sequestred all Benefices of the Bishop of Karleol, within the Diocese of Durham, and the Gardian of the Bishoprick of Karleol intending to sue out an Inhibition to take off the sequestration; the King issued this Writ to the Gardian to let all things continue at present in the state they then were, till the day he had appointed to hear and determin the business.

Pope Alexander being very prodigal of what he had no right to grant, and to grant the same thing to several persons, after he had granted King Henry the fruits of vacant Benefices and Ecclesiastical dignities in England and Ireland for five years, towards the Holy Wars, granted the Archbishop of Tuam in Ireland, formerly Dean of London, the profits of all Benefices before he was Archbishop for two years, not excepting his former grant to the King, whereupon the King issued this Writ to the Archbishops Proctors, not to gather the said profits for the Archbp. threatening to call them to an account, and make them return what they had or should receive thereof.

per Dominum Innocentium, & per seipsum servare, vel de novo sub aliis tolerabilibus concedere, vel saltem quod tollatur poena annullationis, et remaneat poena interdicti. bene quidem; si vero Papa nec antiquam donationem vult servare, nec novam facere nisi sub eisdem poenis, proroget terminos ne negotium rumpatur, ut interim cum voluntate Ecclesiae tractetur de pace inter Regem & Manfredum; videlicet, ut principatus & aliae terrae quas idem Manfredus habebat ante privationem suam sibi remaneant, & restituat Domino Edmundo; pro quo faciendo, Dominus Edmundus accipiat Manfredi filiam in uxorem, vel fiat Matrimonium, et Manfredus teneat Regnum quousque de proventibus ipsius Regni, soluta fuerint debita Ecclesiae in quibus Rex Anglia tenetur. Quibus solutis praeteritas quas ante privationem suam habebat Domino Edmundo totum restituat statim, caveat per obsides & per traditionem forteliciarum suarum de tunc restituendo Regnum, ut dictum est. Si vero cum Manfredo nulla compositio potest fieri, nec Papa vult facere quod superius est praemissum, componat cum Ecclesia altero trium modorum. Quod si Ecclesia alii conferat Regnum a quo habeat debita sua, restituat Regi Anglia quod per ipsum solutum est, et Rex renunciaret omni Juri quod ipse et filius suus habuit in Regno; vel si non detur Regnum alicui, aut tali qui non solbat debita, habeat Ecclesia terram laboris, et Rex residuum; Ita quod Ecclesia liberet Regem a debitis non usurariis quae debentur. Camerae debita vero quae debentur Mercatoribus Rex solbat, sed ad hoc inducias habeat donec adeptus fuerit possessionem Regni Sicilia, ut de pecunia interim in Anglia colligenda Guerram faciat contra Manfredum, nec tamen teneatur ad debita illa solvenda sub poenis illis quibus nunc est strictus; vel si Ecclesia non vult hoc facere, fiat compositio ut deinceps occasione istius negotii dominus Rex haeredesque sui in nullo teneantur sed penitus ab obligationibus et poenis sint liberi immunes et gratiae domino regi concessae ad prosecutionem voti sui ultra mare in sua remaneant firmitate: siue si proficiatur ultra mare, siue non, sed melius videtur antequam ista ultima via fiat, quod Dominus Rex scribat Domino Papae, & fratribus significando eis qualiter istud negotium ex devotione suscepit, & quomodo semper servens fuit ad negotium prosequendum, sed multa impedimenta habuit ex parte illa, & ex parte ista. Nam quia ista gratia sibi facta fuit, totum Regnum fere ab Ecclesia tenebatur, & postea sine culpa ipsius est amissum. Ex parte ista quia habuit guerram in Walsconia, & nunc de novo Wallenses contra ipsum rebellare ceperunt. Exponatque eis qualiter de novo ordinavit ut de bonis suis ad istius negotii — pecunia habeatur & commodum, gravat se pro isto negotio componendo, cum Rege Francia, & intellecta veritate super potestate ipsius Regis, supponat totum negotium Principale ordinationi et voluntati Domini Papae, et Cardinalium, ut ipsi de negotio ordinent et disponant sicut ad honorem Dei, Ecclesiae Romanae, ipsius Regis, et Domini Edmundi. quem in plerisque Literis Regem Siciliae vocaverunt, viderint expedire. Ex hoc enim forte Ecclesia honori suo & ipsius Regis volens consulere, tractabit cum Domino Rege Aleman. de aliquo subsidio sibi & Domino Edmundo, praestando; vel datur potestas illis qui ibant ad Curiam componendi cum Ecclesia de Consilio venerabilium Patrum Dominorum Hugonis Petri Capucii, & Ottoboni Cardinalium. Istam Chartam petunt Nuncii sigillari sigillis Dominorum Regis, Edwardi & Edmundi.

Memorandum, quod haec omnia scripta superius irrotulata de facto Sicilia, & ordinata per Magistrum Rustandum cum viginti Cedulis albis & vacuis sigillo Regis sigillatis, & octo Cedulis vacuis sigillo Domini Edwardi sigillatis, & decem Cedulis vacuis Bulla aurea Bullatis, sub nomine Domini Edmundi filii Regis tradita fuerunt Artaldo de Sancto Romano ad portandum Parisiis Domino Comiti Laye, & Domino P. de Subaud. quos Rex deposuit mittere ad Curiam Romanam, pro facto Regni Siciliae. Ita scilicet, quod praedicti Com & Petrus de scriptis aliis, & Cedulis vacuis praedictis si ad Curiam Romanam accedant, ordinent & disponant prout honori Regis & utilitati negotii Sicil. viderint expedire; si autem praedicti Comes, &

What the Parliament of England; thought of these conditions imposed on the King and Realme, and the great summs wherein the King was engaged by the Pope for the gaining of the Kingdome of Sicila for his Son Edmund, Matthew Paris thus relates.

Eodem anno; in medio Quadragesimæ; factum est magnum Parliamentum. In Parlamento autem supradicto nondum finito, Rex in audientia totius populi; adducto monstratoque omnibus Edmundo, quem protulerat in medium vestitum indumento Apulensi; ait; Videte fideles mei filium meum Edmundum, quem Dominus ad Regalis excellentiæ dignitatem gratuita gratia vocavit, quàm manifestus est; quàm dignus favore universorum; & quàm inhumanus; quàm Tyrannicus foret; qui eidem consilium & auxilium in hoc articulo denegaret efficax & opportunum. Et addidit, asserens, quod de consilio et benigno favore Papæ et Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ, ad Regnum Siciliæ acquirendum se obligavit, sub pœna Regni sui amittendi, ad solutionem Centum Millium Marcarum, et Quadraginta Millia Marcarum, exceptis usuris, quæ quotidie non minimum suscipiunt, licet tacitum, incrementum. Item decimas totius Cleri impetravit generales, per quinquennium continuandas; omnium videret beneficiorum suorum, secundum novas taxationes æstimandas, nullis deductis expensis; nisi necessario faciendis. Item fructus omnium Ecclesiasticorum beneficiorum vacatorum primi anni, usque ad quinquennium. His auditis, omnium aures tinniebant, et corda vehementer obstupuerunt, maxime cum scirent hanc Tyrannidem a Papa exordium præsumpsisse. Tandem licet cum lachrymis excusationes prætenderent, & inducias postulassent remissionis, nec poterant quomodolibet obtinere, promiserunt Regi ad suas instantes necessitates. Et tamen conditione addita, ut Magnam Chartam toties promissam, emptam, et redemptam, ex tunc inviolabiliter obsetharet, et parceret ipsos tam argumentose prædando lædere et depauperare, quinquaginta duo Millia Marcarum, in irrestiturabile dampnum Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ. Nec tamen adhuc donum tam opimum Rex dicitur acceptasse. His

What contest there happened this year about the Election of Bishops, and what a Power the King claimed, executed therein, these Records and historical passages will certifie us.

The Monks of Ely having Elected Hugh Balsam their Subprior for their Bishop, with more haste, and lesse respect to the King then was usual and requisite, and the King deeming him an unfit person, refused to give his royal assent to his Election appealing against it, and commanded the Archbishop by this Writ, not to consecrate or admit of his Election, wherein if the Monks should prevaile, they would deprive him of that Prerogative in all Elections of this kinde, which himself and his ancestors had enjoyed.

REX B. Archiepiscopo Canuar. salutem. Cum progenitores nostri Reges Anglie, Episcopatus Regni Anglie libere consueverint conferre, ac postea gratis * concessissent, quod Cathedralis et Conventuales Ecclesie liberas haberent Electiones, salvis tamen eisdem progenitoribus nostris et eorum hæredibus precibus suis iustis et honestis, de viris prudentibus et idoneis ibidem præficiendis, Prior & Monachi Eliensis nuper Episcopo destituti alium sibi eligere volentes ante adventum Nunciorum nostrorum, quorum præsentia tam ibi quam alibi ubi electiones fiunt, expectari consuevit, ad videndum et procurandum quod talis eligeretur, qui nobis et Regno nostro fidelis et utilis, et regimini Ecclesie idoneus existeret, perperam, et improviso, nullo ad eligendum termino assignato, & corde Episcopi sui jam defuncti nondum sepulture tradito, nulloque ad nos respectu habito, fratrem Hugonem de Balsam superiorem suum, virum insufficientem & penitus inutilem, necnon & servilis conditionis ut dicitur, sibi in Episcopum elegerunt, propter quod ex parte nostra fuit in scriptis appellatum, prout habito super hoc tractatu cum consilio nostro vobis in proximo plenius constare faciemus. Et quia si præsums negotium, quod ita nobis cordi, est ad vota Monachorum procederet, tanta nobis et hæredibus nostris immineret exhæredatio, et Regie dignitatis offensa, quod omnes Ecclesie Cathedralis in quibus Religiosi potestatem obtinent eligendi, nobis inbitis et precibus nostris et hæredum nostrorum penitus exclusis, objectis etiam et recusatis nobiliozibus et peritioribus Clericis qui ad Pontificalem dignitatem probehi solent, et quorum consilio et industria ardua Regni et Ecclesie negotia tractari salubertus consueverunt, ex se ipsis exemplo confirmati sibi Episcopum assumerent, in nostri grave dispendium et contemptum ac ad retardationem promotionis huiusmodi nobilissimum et prudentum manifestam, quod nos pro nullo vivente temporibus nostris fieri permittemus; Nec vos ratione hæredum nostrorum qui vos idem pteitate sanguinis contingunt debetis diebus vestris aliquatenus sustinere. Ad hæc quia Daci & Saxones Regibus Anglie Guerras olim inferentes in partibus Eliensis Regnum nostrum invadere & ingredi consueverunt, per quod idem Regnum multoties exitit gravissimis periculis expositum, & ad quod vitandum summè nobis foret necessarium, quod talis et nobis tam fidelis, et de quo ut de nobis confidere possemus Ecclesie Elyensi præficeretur in Pastorem, Paternitatem vestram, de qua in Conseruatione juris nostri et hæredum nostrorum plenam præ aliis gerimus confidentiam, rogamus et requirimus attente, in fide et dilectione quibus nobis tenemini, quatenus præmissa omnia plenus attendentes et pensatis periculis et damnis quæ ex prædicto facto Elyensi si effectum quod abest, sortiretur, nobis et hæredibus nostris processu temporis possent imminere, illud negotium nobis admodum præjudiciale, quantum in vobis est faciatis et procuretis penitus adnullari. Teste &c. 22. die Novemb. apud Wintoniam.

Sub eadem forma scribitur Willielmo Bynquer. mandando ei, quod Domino Papæ et Cardinalibus factum istud totaliter exponat, diligenter et caute procurans erga ipsos et alios quos noverit expedire, quod factum istud Regi et Regno tam dampnosum et præjudiciale funditus adnulletur. Teste ut supra.

REX Archiepiscopo Cantuar. salutem. Quia assensum Regum & Electioni quæ dicitur facta in Ecclesia Elyensi vacante ex certis causis non duximus adhibendum. Magistrum Stephanum de Frense, & Johannem de Lisc. Clericum procuratores nostros constituimus, utrumque eorum in solidum ad ponendum coram vobis nostro nomine contra Electum & Electionem prædictam, prout sibi nomine nostro viderint expedire, promittentes nos ratum & firmum habituros quicquid per ipsum vel ipsos nomine nostro super præmissis factum fuerit seu procuratum. Et sub hac forma scribitur Archiepiscopo per literas Clausas. Quare Paternitatem vestram rogamus, quatenus eidem Electo & parti suæ præfigatis certum terminum pro vestra voluntate & prout ad vos pertinet, ad examinandum negotium Electionis prædictæ ut ibi faciamus per nostros proponi quod iuri et dignitati nostræ videbitur convenire. Est quid super hoc vestra Paternitas duxerit faciendum, nobis sine moræ dispendio significare vestitis. Teste ut supra.

The issue of this Election was this; upon the Bishop elect his appeal to Rome, he was confirmed there by the Pope, as Matthew Paris relates.

Subprior Elyensis eligatur in Episc. See Godwins Catalogue of Bishops, p. 209, 210.

Ipsam memoratum suum Priorem, Hugonem videlicet de Belesale, in suum Episcopum elegerunt. Rex autem iratus forte pro repulsa, Electum non acceptavit, et quibusdam Cavillatoris exceptionibus ipsum resistavit. Præcepitque, vel conniventibus oculis permisit, ut Johann's Wallerhamni, cui custodiam Episcopatus illius commiserat, sylvas explanans, omnia devastaret, & Episcopatum suis bonis graviter viduaret. Quod plenius quam permissum fuerat aut concessum, factum est; ita ut inimici Episcopatus lachrymari possent, & beatam Esbeldredam ad vindictam provocari.

Die verò Sanctorum Gordiani & Epimachi, Rege & Archiepiscopo Cantuariensi vigilanter procurantibus, cassatus est electus Elyensis. Cujus loco subrogare laborarunt fratrem Adamum de Marisco, de ordine Minorum. Super quo facto mirati sunt cuncti audientes, quia electus nec electio reprobari de jure poterat, nec in eisdem vitium reperiri. Sed prævaricatores, quærentes nodum in scirpo, & angulum in circulo, imposuerunt ei, quod simplex claustralis fuit, nec de negotiis secularibus exercitatus, vel expertus, et penitus insufficiens ad custodiendum et tuendum nobilem Episcopatum

Mat. Paris Hist.

Cassatio electi Elyensis.

Elyens. et insulam, quæ ab antiquo asylum extitit refugii omnibus oppressis tempore tribulationis. Sed ut certius credebant quamplures, hanc gratiam Regiam præcluserunt Monachorum constantia et fidelitas, qui noluerunt petitioni Regis acquiescere, postulantis argenter et instanter, ut sibi Henricum de Wingam ejus Cancellarium in eorum Episcopum eligerent uniberſi. Et cum talis petitio ignaro ipso Henrico facta fuisset, idem Henricus sciens quod idoneum sibi Conventus elegerat in pastorem, ait Domino Regi: Domine, finite istum pium Conventum circumvenire, & cum vestris imperiosis & armatis precibus amplius sollicitare. Monachi enim invocata spiritus Sancti gratia, ritè elegerunt idoneum & me meliorem. Absit ut sic occupem tam nobilem Episcopatum, ut usurpem tantum cauteriata conscientia ministerium. In quo meruit grates ab hominibus, & gratiam à Deo Cancellarius reportare. Nec adhuc Regis indignatio est averſa, quin electum et Episcopatum miserabiliter impugnaret. Electus vero confusus de jure suo, Romam aditurus, illico transalpinabit, a Domino Papa consolationem de tanta tribulatione recepturus. Which he thus further relates.

Mat. Paris Hist.
p. 916.
Electus Elyensis transalpinat.

Electus autem post multa damna, ut jus suum persequeretur, Papalem Curiam repentinus petiit et festinus. Archiepiscopus tamen adhuc in persecutione ejus obstinatus perseverans, ut Regi complaceret, qui in examinatione ipsius electi prius ab eo facta, nihil invenit scrupulosum, scripsit amicis suis in Curia Romana contra Episcopum electum: ut ibidem eo reprobo, in eundem Episcopatum frater Adam de Marisco subrogaretur. Cui subrogationi idem frater Adam, licet omnem mundanam excellentiam, & multos redditus, frater de ordine Minorum, senex & literatus, habitum religionis assumpturus, reliquisset, dicitur benevolo animo consensisse, juxta illud Ovidianum:

Cujus non animo dulcia læra forent.*

Dominus autem Henricus de Wingham, Cancellarius, pro quo Rex Monachos Elyenses postulaverat, patienter sustinuit, ut aliquis alius in dictum Episcopatum promoveretur, humiliter protestans, quod uterque ipso dignior extitisset. Upon this Bishop elect's appeal to Rome, (where money preponderated more then merit or friendship) the Bishop at last returned thence confirmed, to the Kings great dishonour.

Mat. Paris Hist.

Elyensis Epif-copus, & Abbas
S. Ælmundi
adplicant.

Diebus quoque sub eisdem, applicuerunt a Romana Curia redeuntes Episcopus Elyensis, et Abbas Sancti Admundi, qui insistis et recalci- trantibus Rege et Archiepiscopo Canuariensi, a Domino Papa redierunt in statu prospero confirmati. Et sic diatim Rex, pessimo fretus consilio, suam Regiam perdens dignitatem, Ecclesiam studuit multipliciter damnificare.

Mat. Paris Hist.
p. 923.

Yet the King had better successe in the case of the Prior of Norwich, who dyed this year; Hunc quoque electum ritè in Episcopum Norwicensem, Rex consiliis iniquorum fascinat, circiter decennio transacto, quibusdam scibolis exceptio- nibus cassari procurabit.

Obitus Nicholai de Fernham Episcopi quondam Dunelm.

Eodem tempore obiit Magister Nicholaus de Fernham, quondam Episcopus Dunelmensis, qui cesserat Episcopatu, ut quietius et liberius fructus car- peret contemplationis. Quod cum ad notitiam Regis pervenisset, extorsit ab Episcopatu Dunelmensi, eo quod non habuerat integrè custodiam Episcopatus, (this Nicholas holding three Mannors during his life for his support) cum vacaverat tre- centas marcas, medio videlicet tempore quod erat inter dictum Nicholaum & creati- onem sive institutionem successoris sui Walteri. Conservatores verò partem dicti Nicholai trebantur, videlicet Archiepiscopus Eboracensis Walterus, & Episcopus Lon- dinensis Fulco. Nec erubuerunt Regales tam enorme consilium suo Domino præstitisse.

Eodemque

Eodemque anno, Monachi Coventrenses, cum cessisset Episcopus Rogerus de West- ham, propter suum senium & infirmitatem, elegerant sibi in suum Episcopum, & suarum Pastorem animarum magistrum Rogera de Molend. Domini Regis nepotem, quem Rex accepit, et ut decessit, acceptabit. Nec eum ho-neste potuit, ut consuevit de aliis, reprobare. Porro supplicave-rat Conventui, ut Thesaurarium suum, Philippum scilicet Luvel, sibi eligeret in Pastorem. Idcirco dictum magistrum Rogera, Dominus Regi acceptabi-lem, imò & nepotem, procurante insuper Comite Richardo, ipsius Rogeri avunculo, Conventus elegit memoratus.

How the Bishops in those dayes for mony, procured dispensations from Rome, to hold their former Ecclesiastical rents, dignities and livings, in Commenda with their Bishopricks, will appear by these 2. presidents this year, thus Recorded by Mat.
Paris. Cum autem rediisset à Curia Romana electus Sarishuriensis, magister videlicet Egidius de Bridesforde, manifestavit palam, quòd Roma strenuè impetraverat, ut scilicet liceret ei pristinos redditus retinere, et etiam Deca-natum, quorum flagrantiam olfecerat: quod nuper novum habebatur, sed jam toties, non sine retributione permissum, nulli stu-porum generabit. And repeating it two pages after he adds, quod est unum de nobilitatibus Rome monstruosis, quos Roma patièdo abor-tuit.

p. 914. 916.
Impetrat Elec-

tiam pristinos

Et circa festum beati Petri, qui dicitur ad vincula, confirmatus est in Episcopum Normicensem, magister Simon de Wanton, qui illico cum Monachi Normicenses ipsum elegissent, misit nuntios expeditissimos ad Curiam (Romanam) ubi profusis non paucis muneribus, impetravit dispensationem pristinos reddi-tus suos per quatuor annos retinendi, licet Episcopatus suus sufficienter omnibus bonis instauraretur. Et hoc genus beneficii in Curia Romana jam jam consuetudinem est sortita. Yea ever since that in England and Ireland, not only among Popish but some avaritious Protestant Bishops, who mind more their private filthy lucre, then their own or peoples souls.

Mat. Paris Hist.

S. de Wanton,
Episc. Norwic.

Eodem tempore quidam novus ordo fratrum Londini apparuit, & incognitus, Papale tamen autenticum palam offendens, ita ut tot ordinum confusio videretur, qui, quia sacris incedebant induti, Fratres sacati vocabantur. Most likely this Avaritious, Symoniacal Pope Alexander, (who was rather Judas his successor, who carried the Bagge, then Peters) instituted this new order, to help fill his Bagge and Sackel by these Fratres sacati, imployed to promote his rapines, and revenues as the Freers, Minorites and Predicants were.

Mat. Paris, p.

Novus ordo Monachorum.

Pope Alexander and his Cardinals at Rome, minding nothing but the advancement of their own power and filthy lucre, though with the intolerable vexation and undoing of all others, by their absolute usurped Tyrannical Authority, published this new statute at Rome instead of preaching the Gospel of Jesus Christ, and feeding his sheep.

Eodemque anno statutum esse Rome a Domino Papa et fratribus Car-dinalibus, qui vigilanter sua temporalia procurant commoda et Emolumenta, aliena non curantes, ut quilibet, qui in Abbatem exemptum ex tunc eligeretur, Romanam curiam adiret confirmandus et benedicendus. Per quod enormè statutum religio patuit disci-mini, et Ecclesia prosperitate temporalì constat destituta. Non enim religiosus necesse est, maturam et religiosam personam eligere, sed aliquem semissecularem virum, cui plus equus quam æquitas, plus lex Fustiniani, quam lex Domini, convertens animas, placuerit, in animarum suarum Pastorem. Præterea esto quod talis eligatur, alius enim reprobandus per Regem et suos satellites, mox protrahitur in ejusdem transalpinatione diuturna, forte cassabitur Electus, vel electio reprobandus, vel forte Electus obiter morietur.
tur, pro voluntate discipiet et absorbebit.

What

What imperious and frequent Provisions this Pope then granted to St. Alban, and other Monasteris to strip them of their rights of Patronage, notwithstanding all their privileges ratified by Royal Charters and former Popes Bulls, will appear, as by the premises, so by this new president this year.

Mat. Paris Hist.
p. 918.
Mandat. Papa
Abbati S. Albani ut provideat cuidam Italico primum beneficicium.

In fine vero Martii misit Papa Abbatem S. Albani mandatum imperiosum, ut cuidam Romano provideret competens beneficium, cum tamen cuidam alii Romano non fecisset satis, qui tam urgentes, imo instantiores literas probisozias paucis ante diebus bajulasset. Et sic jam conglobatim miseræ in Anglia miseris cumulantur, adeo ut desiderarent Prælati ab hujus incolatu sæculi liberari. Jam enim non Sara libera, sed Agar ancillæ filii spuris reputati, libertate, quam nos Christus liberabit spoliantur.

How injuriously and tyrannically the Pope proceeded this year against the Archbishop of York, for opposing the fraudulent intrusion of a Forrayner into the Deanary by the Popes provision, is thus recorded.

Mat. Paris Hist.
p. 917.
Intrusus in Decanatum Eboracensem redditus inde recepit annuos.

Romanus ille qui se in Decanatum Eboracensem vulpino more ingessit, et in hora prandii stallum in choro Decani surtim occupavit, armatus favore et protectione Papali, Archiepiscopum variis injuriis et damnis fatigatum, fecit suspendi, licet insontem, et vitum omni prædium sanctitate. Tandem post multas disceptationes, pro bono pacis recepit dictus Romanus centum marcas annuas ab Ecclesia Eboracensi, donec eidem uberius provideatur.

Mat. Paris Hist.
p. 927. See, Godwins Catalogue of Bishops
p. 465, 466, 467.
Archiepiscopus Eboracensis excommunicatus.

Tempore sub eodem, aggravabit manum suam Dominus Papa in Archiepiscopum Eboracensem, jussitque eum ignominiose nimis in tota Anglia excommunicari, accensis candelis, et pulsatis campanis, ut tali terrore ac tanto suam constantiam enervaret. Ipse tamen Archiepiscopus exemplo B. Thomæ Martyris, & exemplo ac Doctrina B. Edmundi, quondam Magistri sui, informatus, necnon & B. Roberti Episcopi Lincolnienfis, fidelitate eruditus, de solatio cœlitus mittendo minimè desperavit, omnem Papalem tyrannidem patienter sustinendo. Nec opimos Ecclesiæ suæ redditus transalpinis indignis et incognitis conferre volebat, nec curavit voluntati Papali, relicto Juris rigore, mullehyter obedire vel inclinari. Quapropter quanto magis præcipiente Papa maledicebatur, tanto plus a populo benedicebatur, tacite tamen, propter metum Romanorum.

Yet these unjust vexations so greived the Archbishop, that he died the next year, out of grief and vexation, inveighing much against the Popes oppressions at his death, and appealing him to the tribunal of Jesus Christ, in an Epistle sent unto him, which this Atheistical Pope derided, proceeding still in his augmented rage against this consciencious Prelate, as his predecessor did against Großheud, as these passages informe us.

An Dom. 1158.
Mat. Paris Hist.
p. 938. 939.
Sewalus Archiepiscopus Eboracensis moritur.

Et circa ascensionem, Archiepiscopus Eboracensis, ut cum Domino ascenderet, et de carcere mundi ad cœlum ascendens, aboleret; dum constanter contra Romanæ curiæ tyrannidem, quoad poterat, pro Ecclesia sua viriliter dimicavit, multis tribulationibus laceratus, pro ista vsta mundana, regnum cœlorum, ut veraciter creditur, suis laureatus meritis commutavit. Ille verò Archiepiscopus Sewalus, beati Edmundi sequens vestigia pedetentim (utpote ipsius in scholis auditor, discipulus, & conscholarius) ipsi nitebatur prorsus sceleriter assimilari, & in moribus conformari. Nec censeo prætereundum, quod huic suo charissimo beatus Edmundus Lector, in Theologia Oxoniensi, dicere consuevit discipulo speciali, O Sewale, Martyr ab hoc seculo transmigrabis, ferro vel saltē gravibus & insuperabilibus in mundo tribulationibus impetitus & trucidatus. Veruntamen sit tibi consolator, qui suo Psalmographo inspiravit, dicens, Multa tribulationes iustorum, de quibus quandoque omnibus liberabit eos Dominus. Constat autem profecto, multos à seculo Martyrer,

Hic quoque Sanctus Archiepiscopus, cum mortem suam indubitanter, ut transiret ab hoc mundo præsensisset, erigens se junctis manibus, & in cælum vultum intendens lachrymantem, ait Domine Jesu Christe, judicum justissime, novit infallibile examen tuum quam Papa, quem supra Ecclesiam tuam constitui permisisse gubernandum, meam multipliciter fatigabile innocentiam, pro eo, ut Deus scit, et mundus non ignorat, quod indignos proptus et ignotos nolui admittere ad regimen Ecclesiarum, mihi, licet indigno, a te commissarum. Certe tamen, ne ex contempta Papali sententia, quamvis injusta, fiat justa, humiliter postulo absolvi talibus vinculis iteritum. Sed ante summum et incorruptibilem judicem ipsum Papam appello, et erunt mihi testes cælum et terra, quam injuste imperavit me, et laceratum multipliciter scandalizavit. In amaritudine igitur animæ scripsit Papæ, exemplo Roberti Lincolnienfis Episcopi provocatus, dolens inconsolabiliter, quod tam multiformiter ipsum fatigarat; eo quod inexpertos, et linguæ Anglicanæ ignaros renuit, ut jam dictum, esset acceptare, nunc suspendendo, nunc ab Ecclesia eliminando, nunc crucem auferendo, nunc palam per Regnum horribiliter, invidis excommunicatoribus excommunicando, diversimode famam suam, non sine magnis damnis temporalibus, denigrando. Conquestus est insuper graditer, quod impetus quorundam clericorum, auctoritate Papali proterbientium, præcipue magistri Jordani, ad Decanatum hiantis, ægre sustinuerat sed patienter, ut probra patris, non ut Cham, revelando derideret, sed ut Sem absconderet et velaret, hoc breviloquium, ad memoriam sapientis revocando:

dixeritque imminente morte prædictus Archiepiscopus.

Humiliter igitur in scripto suo & instanter, sicut memoratus Episcopus Lincolnienfis Robertus fecerat, petiit, ut consuetas tyrannides temperaret, humilitatem sanctorum prædecessorum suorum sequendo. Dixit enim Dominus Petro: Pasce oves meas, non tonde, non excoria, non eviscera, vel devorando consume. Sed Dominus Papa sublannans, et contemnens, indignationem concepit non minimam, eo quod in tantam temeritatem et præsumptionem proruperunt, ut Dominum Papam auderent quomodolibet sollicitare, et tam Archiepiscopi Sewalli, quam dicti Roberti Lincolnienfis salubribus monitis renuit inclinari.

These 2. learned conscientious Bishops Sewald and Groffhead, reputed it no sin, but their bounden duty to oppose Popes unjust commands and Provisions, even to death, to admonish them of their duties, reprehend their injustice, sins, corruptions, and appeal from their unjust sentences to, and summon them before Christs tribunal in heaven, when they could obtain no justice from, or against their unjust excommunications and other sentences upon earth.

This year, Diebus sub eisdem Magister Rufandus Domini Papæ Clericus specialis, accusatus graviter coram Domino Papa est, eo quod propriæ utilitati intendens plus æquo, possessiones, redditus, et pecuniam sibi vigilanter in Anglia coarcebat, et Regem sibi inclinando et Episcopos, factus esset jam non ultimus inter omnes regni Optimatum, locuples et abundans. Yet notwithstanding soon after, Anno. 1258. Venit in Angliam Magister Rufandus, Domini Papæ clericus, nesciebatur ad quid, nisi forte ut redditus suos visiteret et colligeret: abundavit enim multis divitiis in Anglia, sibi brevi tempore collatis et conquisitis.

stis. Unde cum Romam ultimo venerat, multorum indignationem inturcit vehementem, et etiam ipsius Domini Papæ. (Who purposed to share with him in his gains and rapines.) Sed solito medicamine tali infirmitati suffragando, jacturum evasit eminentem. The Pope and his Agents making a common prey and booty then of England.

What procurations the Archbishop of Messana arrived in England this year, as the Popes legatè, exacted, extorted from Bishops and Abbots, with great violence, impudence, pride, and what injuries the Archbishop of Canterbury did to the Bishop of Rocheſter, still continued notwithstanding all former complaints and Writs, you may understand by this relation of them.

potestatus Archiepiscopi Messanenſis.

Anno quoque sub eodem imminente quadagesima, missus est a Domino Papa, nesciebatur ad quod, Archiepiscopus Messanenſis, in magno apparatu familiarum & equorum, videlicet Fratrum de ordine Prædicatorum. Et cum habuisset literas Papales de procuratione exigenda et recipienda, cum magna poena contraditores puniendi, misit literas imperiosas ad quemlibet Prælatum, ut ei secundum quod eidem significabit in procuracis, prouiderent, ita quod ex domo Sancti Albani et ejus cella viginti et unam marcam extorsit. Et cum venissent Monachi Sancti Albani, ut ipsum in hospitio suo civiliter visitarent, non permisit eos exire, imo ipsos quasi incarcerationis retinuit, donec suæ avaritiæ satisfecissent. Et cum modestè respondissent Monachi, se nullum ibi habere denarium, iratus Archiepiscopus respondit procaciter: Ut quid tam mendici estis? Mittite igitur pro aliquo Mercatore, qui vobis commodare velit: et factum est ita, quia sic oportuit. Non enim permittentur exire Monachi, quamvis essent de Conventu prædicti, videlicet Archidiaconus Sancti Albani, & Dominus Johannes, Abbatibus bajulus & procurator. Iste fuit Archiepiscopus Messanenſis, Frater de ordine Prædicatorum, in quo humilitatem sperabamus uberiozem, quia a Domino Papa de procurationibus extorquendis talem literam meruit obtinere. Frater Johannes, miseratione divina Archiepiscopus Messanenſis, dilectis in Christo sibi Abbati & Conventui Monasterii Sancti Albani, Lincolniensis Diocesis, salutem in Domino. Noveritis vos, &c. Require in Libro Additamentorum. Missa est Domino Regi eodem tempore elegans Epistola, ex parte Domini Papæ, ut videlicet errores corrigere consuevit. Et hoc procuravit Episcopus Roffensis Laurentius, multas passus injurias ab Archiepiscopo Canthuariensi Bonifacio, qui manu seculari armata Roffensis Ecclesiæ violenter invasit possessiones, quas potius defendere & tueri tenebatur. Cui Archiepiscopo, quia extitit avunculus Regine, Rex & Regina, & Regales universi cornua præstiterunt. Movebat insuper dictum Episcopum Roffensem, Archiepiscopatus Eboracensis exterminium irreparabile, & Elyensis Episcopatus, & aliarum Ecclesiarum vacantium per Regem facta inaudita gravamina, Christi postpositi reverentia, et contemptis clavis Ecclesiasticis. Et videbat idem Episcopus Episcopatus suo, ipso cedente, vel decedente simile discrimen imminere. Tenor autem dictæ literæ, ab Episcopo memorato impetratæ, cujus responsionem Episcopus Roma commorans expectabat, talis est.

fuius sepe & saepius requisiti, habebat aliquid coram nobis & fratribus nostris proponere, iuxta quod sibi fuerit à prædicta universitate commissum, per quæ forsitan fuisset fama tuæ maxime apud Regni Siciliae incolas, qui sperant per te ad antiquas libertates eorum reduci, & sub tuo vigere in bono statu, & conservari Dominio plurimum derogatum. Nos capientes quod honor & fama tua in omni integritate servantur, quodque omnia penitus removerentur quæ possent animæ tuæ periculum generare, ad instantiam venerabilis fratris nostri Archiepiscopi Tharenfis & dilectorum filiorum Electi Sarisenfis, ac Abbat. Westmonasterii Londonia- rum nuntiorum tuorum, nec non magistri Ruffandi Capellani nostri honoris tui servidi Zelatores, ordinavimus quod prosecutio hujusmodi negotiorum Ecclesie Anglicane, pro quibus præfatus Episcopus venerat, differetur ad tempus: insinuando eidem Episcopo, quod te ad omnia quæ liberum pacificum & tranquillum statum prædictarum Ecclesiarum respiciunt auctore Domino sic efficaciter inducemus, quod non oportebit eum, vel Coepiscopos suos, & alios prælatos tam seculares quam regulares Regni tui propter hoc amplius laborare. Ideoque Serenitatem Regiam de fratrum nostrorum consilio rogamus, monemus et hortamur attente, et sincera qua te in Domino charitate complectimur suadentes, in remissionem peccaminum nihilominus injungendo, quatenus præmissa omnia infra tui claustra pectoris sollicita meditatione reholvens, considerans etiam, quod nunquam remittantur peccata, nisi oblata restituantur, quodque nil cuiquam deperit si restituat aliena, quorum misera detentio vergit in salutis propriæ detrimentum. Considerans quod tuo specialiter ad hoc accedenti consensu ab universis Archiepiscopis et Episcopis dicti Regni excommunicationis sententia in omnes illos prolata; et per sedem Apostolicam confirmata esse dicitur, qui Ecclesias et Ecclesiasticas libertates ac jura et consuetudines liberas earundem, et maxime illas quæ in Chartis tuis libertatum communium continentur, quacunque arte præsumpserint infringere, violare, diminuerè, seu mutare. Pensans etiam insuper, quod Coronationis tuæ tempore ad conservandum et conservandum jura et libertates hujusmodi, te juramento præfatis dixeris astrinxisse, omnesque libertates, immunitates, ac liberas consuetudines, cunctaque jura ac privilegia quæ prædicti Episcopi, alique Prælati, ceteraque personæ Ecclesiasticæ, nec non & Ecclesie dicti Regni habuisse noscuntur, eis intra festum Resurrectionis Dominicæ primò ventum, ob reverentiam Jesu Christi qui te fecit oleo sacri Christmas Christi sum, ac crucis honorem cujus es caractere insignitus, pro animæ quoque tuæ salutem, regia liberalitate restitutas, Ita quod prædictis Archiepiscopis & Episcopis, Prælati religiosi, & personis, materia nulla remaneat conquerendi. Veruntamen quia prædictus Episcopus prosecutionem dictorum negotiorum, pro quibus ad præsentiam nostram venerit supersedere curavit, juxta vestrum beneplacitum & mandatum Apostolicum, prædictam sedem tuam responsionem super prædictis omnibus expectando, magnitudinem tuam requirimus, ut tuam in hac parte intentionem, & quid super iis proponas facere, per tuas literas nobis non differas intimare. Et quia nostra interest, Ecclesias & personas Ecclesiasticas, & earum iuribus & libertatibus secundum Deum & justitiam defensare, scire te volumus, quod nisi infra hujusmodi terminum prædictum, Archiepiscopi, Episcopi, & Prælati, ac personæ Ecclesiasticæ, ad omnia eorum jura fuerint plenarie restituti, ex tunc nequaquam dissimulare poterimus ( quantumque personam tuam sincero diligamus affectu ) quin prædicto Episcopo Audientiam præbeamus. Data Anagnini, sexto idus Novembris. Pontificatus nostri Annus secundo.

Matthew Paris gives us this Character and conclusion of this year, 1257. Transiit igitur annus ille sterilis & macilentus, &c. Carenti a insuper minimis quoque Regno Anglie per Papam et Regem spoliata paupertatem suscitavit inauditam. Jacuerunt terræ incultæ, et mortua est præ inedia populi multitudo numerosa.

Anno Gratia, Mccviii. quidam, Magister Arlotus vocabulo, à Papa Alexandro missus, post Pascha venit in Angliam, ad eam excoziandam, a Rege (ut putabatur) invitatus. Magnates igitur terræ videntes regnum undique desolatum, tunc ex exactionibus et tallagiis, tam Curia Romana quam Regis, quæ etiam alienigenarum, & præcipue Pilavien elatione præsumptuosa, favore Regio in Regno nimium in sublimi provecta, tantas in Anglia Dominationes sibi usurpantium & magisteria, post Pentecostem apud Oxon. colloquium celebraverunt super hiis, necnon & status Regni melioratione efficaciter & exquisitè tractaturi. Quò non sine armis & equis electissimis muniti venerint, ut si Rex & alienigenæ suis provisionibus & statutis spontè contemnerent assentire, rigore opposito cogerentur, aut ipsi alienigenæ universaliter sine mora Regnum Anglia penitus evacuarent. Quas quidem provisiones Oxon. & statuta, necnon & magnam Chartam de libertatibus & de Foresta tandem Domino Rege ad suorum procerum observantiam statutorum inclinato, per quendam de suis militibus tactis sacrosanctis juramentum præstante, 24. prudentium virorum nationis Anglicanæ, quos ad Regni gubernationem sub eodem duxerint inter se eligendos, consilio se commendavit & considerationi. His igitur peractis fidelitatem Regi & Regno, & ad considerationem suorum Parium stare omnes, quotquot in Regno commorari vellent, fecerunt jurare.

Fuerunt ergo nonnulli, qui ad id tempus pro fraterna cognitione Regis confluerant. Quos oculabat Anglia, adeo ut pro multitudine sua & elatione onerosi Angli videntur. Archimarus videlicet electus Winton. Gulib. de Valencia, Gulfridus, & Guido de Lizen, fratres Regis ex parte matris, cum quibusdam aliis, resistentes condescendere juratorum provisionibus, aut jurare. Unde ab Oxonia discedentes indignanter secesserunt in partes Winton. Quos intem proceres Regni, in iram vehementer compulsi, cum equis & armis viriliter sunt insecuti. Venientes demum Dominus Rex & magnates unanimiter Winton. illic aliud tenuerunt Parliamentum, quod timentes præfati *Pilavien*ses, iudicium expectare nolentes, per clandestinæ fugæ præsidium, una cum quibusdam eorum compatriotis, confestim à regno recedentes, Provinciam expetierunt.

Et circa medium Quadragesimæ, rediit magister Rustandus à Curia Romana pristina privatus potestate. Accusatus enim graviter coram Papa ab amulis suscitabatur, quod absolus quam deceret, Dei postposito timore, pecuniam sitiens, quam plures redditus optimos amplexando se super se extulerat. Et ut in his obtinendis Regis gratiam majorem obtineret, asseruit senatum fuisse Burdegali, unde promisit se, tanquam Regis fidelem & naturalem, efficaciter de acquirendo Regni Apulia dominatu, & aliis negotiis Domini sui Regis expediendis, tam in Curia Romana, quam alibi, adiutorem fore vigilem et efficacem. Talibus igitur promissionibus et blandis sermocinationibus Regis simplicitatem circumveniens, multis redditibus scilicet ditatus, procurantibus aliquibus adversariis, vocatus est ut Romam rediret: ubi graviter a Papa rebargutus, viz est in pristinam gratiam Papalem restitutus. Meruntamen a dignitate, et potestate proprio privatus, et cum dedecore mutilatus.

Advenit Herlotus
Papæ nuncius in Angliam.

Et cito post videlicet septimana proxima ante Pascha venit in Angliam Magister Herlotus Domini Papæ Notar. & Clericus specialis, qui quamvis Legatus non diceretur, non tamen Legati caruit nobilitate. Venit enim Londonium cum viginti equitibus, turis, cujus familia collateralis octo capis, videlicet quinq; clausis, & quinque manicatis de optimo moreto superdivit redimita. Rex igitur secundum suam consuetudinem, applaudebat alacriter venienti, maximam enim roboratus habuit potestatem.

Et post diem Martis, quæ vulgariter Hockday appellatur, factum est Parliamentum Londini. Rex namque, multis & ordinis negotiis sollicitabatur, scilicet de negotio Regni Apulie: pro quo specialiter fuit, tanquam solennis nuntius, magister Herlotus, exigens responsum certum super pecuniam infinitam, de qua persolvenda se obligavit Papa mercatoribus pro ipso Rege, ad instantem ipsius Regis, sub magnis potestatis, quas rectare reor inhonestum, irretiti, petitionem. Quantitas autem pecuniæ ad tantam ascendit summam, ut stuporem simul et horrorem in auribus generaret audientium. Voluit igitur Nobilitas Regni, se unus hominis ita confundi supina simplicitate, &c. Unde Episcopus Willielmus graviter Regi est conquestus. Cui Rex: Expone, exponere igitur, frater charissime, thesaurum, quo abundas, ad nostrarum ultionem injuriarum. Sed Willielmus, minas minis accumulans, & probra contumeliis adjungens, asseruit hæc omnia à consensu & favore proditorum Anglorum subdole processisse. Et post paululum, quod in genere confuse dixerat, in multorum Nobilium dedecus, specificavit. Unde Comes Glovernia, & Comes Legreestria, non mediocriter verecundati, erubuerunt. Et adhuc convitia in Comitum Legreestria magis multiplicans, ipsum fuisse veterem proditorem, & mentitum fuisse, ausus est palam coram Rege & multis Magnatibus contumeliose protestari. At Comes ira accensus, ac stomachatus, respondit: Non, non, Willielme, non sum filius proditoris, sive proditor: dissimiles fuerunt nostri genitores. Et volens tantam injuriam illuc vendicare, & in ipsum Willielmum ultor manifestus irruere, vix est per ipsum Regem, qui se interposuit, impeditus: & sic ad tempus quievit Comitis indignatio.

Parliamentum
tum.

Tempore sub eodem, venit in Angliam quidam frater de ordine Minorum, nomine Manfuetus, a Papa, Rege procurante, missus, sequens Magistri Herloti vestigia, maxima roboratus potestate: in tantum ut votis mutatis absolveret, ut dicebant, Regales quoscunque pro libitu, vel excommunicatos, et falsificos, et perjuros justificaret; unde multi rei audaciam sumplerunt delinquendi. Nam facilitas veniæ peccandi parit occasionem, sed prudentibus sibi illud et verisum, sicut sequens sermo plenius declarabit.

norita missus à Papa.

Eodemque tempore, cum instanter & constanter respondissent Magnates Regni communiter Regi, qui cum magna instantia in memorato Parlamento urgeret pecuniam infinitam sibi dari postulasset, pro negotio Apulie expediendo, et aliis arduis promovendis: quod nullo modo potuerunt sine eorum irreversibili subversione toties inaniter substantias suas usque ad exinanitionem effundere. Et si inconsulto et indecenter Regnum Apulie ad opus Edmundi filii sui a Papa comparasset, suæ imputet simplicitati, et quod incircumspecte et absque suorum consilio Nobilium præsumpsit, tanquam spretor deliberationis et prudentiæ, quæ solet rerum exitus præmetiri, prout potest, ducat ad effectum qualem qualem. Debutque profecto, ex sapientia fratris sui Regis Alemannie Richardi exemplariter eruditi, qui ex dono Papæ oblatum Regnum Apulie, nunciante hoc Magistro Alberto, reliquit memoratum: maxime cum tot incognita Regna, cum singulis variis, tot Principatus, tot Civitates, Vicariatus et armis communitæ, mare et montes, et insularia locorum distantia, Angliam discedunt ab Apulia. Et quod plus formidat, et merito, Romana Curia cabillationes, et Apulorum proditores multiformes, qui et affines et cognatos venenata suffocant potione. Veruntamen ne Dominus

Papæ, qui ratione officii sui supereminet Principibus et Prelatis universis, et ipsum Comitem ad tantam eminentiam prælegit amabiliter, protegere videretur, rescripsit significans, quod consilio suo libens inclinaret, si cruce signatos omnes sibi concederet in adiutorium, quod honestè fieri posset propter Civitatem Nuchera, quæ Apulia infidelibus inhabitatur, & dimidium expensarum in illo bello exponendarum, & quasdam Civitates & Castra, quæ Dominus Papa tunc temporis habuit, cum bonis obsidibus: ut ibidem tutum, cum illuc veniret, habere valeret receptaculum, & præmunitum contra rebelles, si qui insurgerent, tutamen & refugium; præterea scriptorum bonorum patrocinia, Bulla Papali consignata.

Papa circumvenit Regem Angliæ.

Cum autem hæc omnia Dominus Papa intellexisset, his postulacionibus nullatenus voluit assentire. Missis igitur nunciis tacitis et arcanis, qui vulpinis sermocinationibus benevolos animos audientium alienare possent, circumvenit supinam et credulam Regis simplicitatem; offerendo ei ad opus filii sui junioris, scilicet Edmundi, Regnum Apulie, ad hoc effect. mancipandum, consilium et auxilium efficacissimum impendendo. Unde cor Regis pro ista umbratili promissione adeo est elevatum et infatuatum, ut quicquid habuit vel habere potuit, Papæ et suis nunciis prodigaliter dispersit, confidenter promittens ampliora. Unde certatim advenerunt in Angliam nuntii Papales ultramontani, Sterlingorum speciem olfacientes, ad Regem, ut optima munera reportarent. Atque Episcopus Bononiensis, qui ex parte Papæ annulo quodam dictum Edmundum de Regno Apulie investivit. Messanensis quoque Archiepiscopus, qui non vacuus recedebat, nunc frater Johannes de Diva, nunc Magister Bernardus, nunc Magister Senisius, nunc Rustandus, nunc Herlotus, et multi alii, quos longum esset enumerare, quosque omnes et singulos, Dominus Rex cum summa reverentia suscepit et honore, in damnum tamen totius Regni sui, et subversionem. Magnates igitur Angliæ, quia Prelati meticulosi siluerunt, merito provocati, Regis, si quomolibet possent, vias dirigere conabantur.

Diebus quoque sub eisdem, cum constanter et præcise respondissent quasi uno ore Magnates Regni in Parlamento Regi, cum urgerent auxilium ab eis postulasset pecuniare, quod nec voluerunt, nec potuerunt amplius sustinere tales extorsiones. Rex iratus, ad alia se convertit astutis argumenta, ut ab Ecclesia pecuniam abstraheret infinitam. Alloquutus est igitur primo Abbatem Westmonasteriensem, et ab ipso infatuato pollicitis fallacibus, ut sigillum suum et sui Conventus apponeret tali Chartæ: ut videlicet fidejuberet pro ipso Rege in tanta pecunia, quæ ad duo millia marcarum, et quingentas marcas ascenderet, ut sic daretur perniciosum exemplum ab aliis Cœnobiiis tantundem extorquendi.

Festinauit igitur Dominus Rex, cum talibus Literis ad alia Cœnobia dictum Simonem transmittere, ut idem onus subirent eorum Abbates. In quo facto Rex suam non mediocriter famam denigravit. Paruit enim in ipso facto, quam sitienter desideravit Ecclesiam irreparabiliter prægravare. Ipse igitur Simon Passileve, Domini Regis Clericus, Consiliarius, subdolos et mendax, cupiens Regalia præcepta, licet indecentia explere, sed non expedire, venit Waltham festinanter. Et ostendens Regis Literas deprecatorias, ut simile onus sibi suscipere Abbas et Conventus de Waltham, quod Abbas Westmonasteriensis sibi susceperat benigne bajulandum, videlicet ut fidejuberet per Literas suas et Conventus, ducentis et quingentis marcis, pro Rege persolvendis.

per solvendis. Offenditque Abbas Westmonasteriensis literas super hoc et Conventus patentes et consignatas. Quod cum intitus esset Abbas de Waltham, expavit vehementer, sciscitabaturque ab eo, si tales literas haberet ad alia coenobia dirigendas? Cui Simon: Habeo utique ad Sanctum Albanum & Radingum et alibi. Inito igitur consilio cum suo Conventu in Capitulo, respondit Simon, quod nullo modo (quicquid super hoc fecissent Abbas et Conventus Westmonasteriensis, qui de necessitate Domino Regi savebant, et quos oportuit ipsi, utpote Ecclesie restauratori suæ, etiam in difficilibus obedire) vellet pro Rege de tantæ pecuniæ quantitate fide jubere vel se quomodolibet obligare. Nec licet, sicut scriptum est in decretalibus, videlicet tractatu de obligationibus, alicui Pælato suam Ecclesiam tanto supponere discrimini et periculo. Cui Simon: Dominus Rex vobis faciet securitatem, qualem vultis litterarie de vestra vobis solvendi indubitanter pecunia. Cui Abbas, Nolumus cum Domino Rege habere occasionem placitandi vel decertandi: non valemus a pari contendere, nec ipsum, si malorum consilio enervaretur, distringere vel iustificare. Cui Simon: Miseremini, miseremini pro Deo, Domino vestro et patrono speciali. Interdicitur enim in proximo, scilicet infra triduum vel quadriduum Capella ejus, et postea sequentur duriora, nisi precibus ejus obsecundetis, et ut bene nostis, ipse Regum Christianissimus et piissimus, non sustineret abesse solemnis, pro infinita auri obizi quantitate.

Cum autem nec sic, nec aliis ambagibus et mendaciis, minus minas accumulans profecisset, iratus recessit versus S. Albanum, unâ cum socio suo Regis Clerico quodam, ut & Abbatem & Conventum suis fraudulentis commentis voluntati Regis, per fas nefas quomodolibet inclinarêt. Abbas autem de Waltham, clam & festinanter significavit Abbati de S. Albano, qualiter per omnia actum est, de subdolis et perversis persuasionibus Simonis Pesselerse: qualiter voluit, ut ad Regis urgentem petitionem, Ecclesiam de Waltham ad solutionem ducentarum et quingentarum Marcarum pro Rege obligaret, et pro ipso per scriptum Abbatis et Conventus fidejuberet. Et ecce dictus Simon (imò verius Simon) ante horam Capituli venit ad sanctum Albanum. Qui finxit se venisse ea die de Londino, & ferè tota nocte equitasse. Unde inclinans caput suum sedili, quo sedit, dormitaviti cum tamen de Waltham venisset immediatè. Et festinanter accedens ad Abbatem, ingemiscens ait: Domine, maxima necessitas coegit in hac nocte dietam, quæ est inter Londinum me sociumque peragrarè. Et ostendens literas Regias, quæ aliam summam, quam ipse ore expressit, continebant, & similiter literas Abbatis & Conventus Westmonasteriensis, quod videlicet petitioni Regis prompto favore consenserant in propatulo monstravit, ut sic & Abbatem & Conventum sancti Albani, Regiæ flecteret voluntati exemplariter. Promisit etiam ex parte Regis, quod Charitatem qualem vellemus, in promptu haberent de solutione pecuniæ, quam petiit ad horam sub obligatione litteraria præstari, quæ ad ducentas & quingentas Marcas ascendit. Et si contradiceret Abbas, Regiam in perpetuum incurreret indignationem; Quia imminabat suspensio Capellæ, quod nullo modo sustineret. Obstupuit igitur Abbas et Conventus, imò quisbet auditor de tanta Regis tyrannide et astutia: maxime cum scriptum super hoc Abbatis et Conventus instantissime simile scripto ab Abbate et Conventu Westmonasteriensis Rex obtinuerat. Inito igitur in Capitulo Consilio, responsum est præcise, quod nullo modo Regis petitionem poterat adimplere: Quia contra prohibitionem Papæ, et jus et honestatem hoc fieret manifeste. D. Senla sunt ei instrumenta, et quoddam speciale Abbati Carino, quo

quoddam Abbati de Santo Albani, et successoribus ejus, directa; in quo continetur, quod nulla modo Ecclesiam suam sub pœna suspensionis et interdicti ac excommunicationis obligarent. Valuerunt igitur Abbas et Conventus S. Albani indignationem Regis terreni injusta postulantis incurrere; quam Regis Coelestis offensam transgrediendo Papalem prohibitionem subire, et vinculis anathematis innodari. Quod cum audisset Simon, alacriter respondit, favorabilem & serenum vultum omnibus ostendendo; Anaci Charissimi, ne super hoc aliquatenus sollicitemini. Habet enim Dominus Rex noster quendam fratrem sanctissimum, hominem mansuetum, de ordine Minorum a Papa ad cautelam destinatum, qui * omnes juramentorum transgressores in hac Regis urgentissima necessitate, qui eidem suffragabuntur plenam habet potestatem et promptissimam voluntatem, absolventi. Si autem in hoc casu Domino Regi non obsecundaveritis, illico Londonium ad Episcopum revertens eidem Nuntiabo, quod et ipsius Regis reverentiam et Patrocinium, et dicti fratris beneficium contemnitis et potestatem. Responsumque est Simoni: Non sanum videtur, velle excommunicari, & absolvi. Sicut non deberemus consentire alicui incantatori dicenti, frange crus vel aliud membrum tuum intrepidus, inveniam tibi optimum Chirurgum, qui contrafactum solidabit. Præterea si hoc faceremus, multipliciter peccaremus. Primò, scienter mentiremur. Item signa nostra, quæ sunt pignora testimonialia fidei nostræ si apponerentur, clamarent contra nos, quod iniquè egimus: hoc nullo modo faciemus. Ad hoc Simon: Quid sibi vult istud? Recedamne vacuus? Credet Dominus meus quod aliqua convitia suscitaverim inter ipsum & vos, & sic in meum caput cum infons fuerim, omnis culpa redundabit, ut quid patitur Dominus Rex talem repulsam? Nihil habetis nisi quod Dominus Rex vel ejus progenitores Reges vobis contulerunt, unde tenemini in jure ipsi in tam districto casu; cum omnia sint principis, suffragari. Ad hæc responderunt Abbas & Conventus, Omnia vere sunt Principis tuitione, non destructione. Hoc est quod juravit Rex in sua Coronatione, et postea multoties, et ideo his tuis Cavillatoris suggestionibus nullatenus consentimus. Hæc cum audisset Simon, ad aliud genus deceptionis se convertens, ait: Si non aliud pro Rege facere volueritis, saltem hoc faciatis: Conficite literas super postulatione Regia favorabiles, secundum postulationem suam & desiderium, & confectas consignetis, & sigillitas in Thesaurario vestro pœnes vos reservetis, ut si emollitis quandoque cordibus vestris & humiliatis, cum se tempus offeret oportunum, illas promptas Rex vel ejus Nuntius valeat invenire & habere. Et hoc faciatis, ne penitus contemptus & protervitas vestra videatur. Sed & ad hoc Abbas & Conventus responderunt: Non Simon, non, quia sic diceres, & dicere posses, quod consensimus, & literas de consensu confecimus, sicut est modò de literis Abbatibus, quas ostendis, Westmonasteriensis. Et sic fieremus aliis, quos aggredi & flexere cupis, in exemplum perniciosum, quod nullatenus faciemus. Et sic confusus recessit tentator suo infecto desiderio.

Hæc idcirco plenè scripserim, ut sciat hujus lector paginæ quàm graves sunt hostes domestici, et quantum Regno et Ecclesiæ iste Simon degener Anglicum cupiebat novercari. Abbas igitur & Conventus memoratus Domino Regi moderatè & amicaliter scribentes, & sese justè excusantes, imminencia pericula evaserunt. Simon autem, qui se cum juramento affirmavit Regem Londoni illico aditurum, non erubescens mendacii iterum redargui, versis loribus Radingum raptim adiit, ut Abbatem & Conventum de Radingo consuetis fallaciis muscipularet. Sed ipsi edocti et præmuniti, viriliter ei in faciem resistebant. Et sic iniquitas, quæ mentita est sibi, effectu carvit præoptato. Summam autem totius pecuniæ ideo præscribens perfidat totaliter, quia hoc continebatur in Regis petitione scripta, ut quælibet istarum quatuor domorum, scilicet Westmonasterium, Sancti Albani, Radingum, & Waltham. fidejuberet pro altera, in solidum. Ita quod quælibet domus, ut pro se & quælibet trium responderet in quingentis Mar-

During this Parliament the Friars Minorites, the chief promoters of the Popes & Kings Croyfado & exactions, encouraged by their favour.

Sub eorundem temporum voluminibus, fratres Minores auctoritate Papali sese ingesserunt, & intruserunt in Civitatem sancti Edmundi Regis & Martyris, invitis & contradicentibus ejusdem loci Abbate & Conventu. Et introducti sunt, & instituti violenter per Laicorum manum, videlicet Comitis Glovernia, quem constat esse dictorum Abbatis & Conventus adversarium, & Gilberti de Præstona. Paucis autem præcedentibus diebus, venerat Albas à Curia, qui sibi præcavens in futurum contra impetum dictorum fratrum, scripto Papali præmunerat, sed illicò postea impetrarunt fratres in contrarium, per hac cadjectionem, Non obstant. Unde hoc audientes universi, non poterant satis admirari, quòd tam sancti viri, qui spontaneam paupertatem elegerunt, contempta Dei oblocutione, et privilegiorum ac conservatorum tuitione, violenter illius nobilis Ecclesiæ statum perturbarent; quam certum est esse magnæ dignitatis et antiquitatis. Nec sic agebat Abbatem totus labor transalpini, vel debita quibus involvebatur inestimabilia: et ad cumulum angustiarum suarum arctatus, placito Comitis Glovernia, languoris elegit dilaciones.

Frates Minores
sele ingerunt in Civitatem Sancti Edmundi.

Duravit adhuc prælibati Parlamenti altercatio, videlicet inter Regem & Regni Magnates usque diem Dominicam proximam post ascensionem, & multiplicatur contra Regem, variaz diatim querimoniarum, eo quod promissa sua non observabat, contemnens claves Ecclesiæ, et Chartæ suæ magnæ toties redemptæ tenorem. Fratres quoque suos uterinos, intolerabiliter contra jus Regni & legem, ut naturales terræ erexit, nec sinebat aliquòd breve exire de Cancellaria contra eos. Et si omnium eorundem Regis fratrum & aliorum Pilsavensium protervia fuisset intolerabilis: Willielmus tamèn de Valentia omnium & universorum protervia superabar. Unde Comes præcipue Legrecessria, non tamen Regi, sed universitati præcordialiter est conquestus, exigens instantè sibi justiciam exhiberi. Redargutus est insuper Rex, quòd omnes alienos promovet, & locupletat, & suos, in subversionem totius Regni, despicit, & deprædatur. Et ipse tam egenus est cum aliis abundant, quòd Thesauri expers jura Regni nequit revocare: imò nec Wallensium, qui sunt hominum quisquillæ, insurias propulsare. Et ut brevisus concludatur, excessus Regis tractatus exigit speciales. Rex autem ad se reversus, cum veritatem redargutionis intellexisset, licet serò, humiliavit se, asserens in quo consilio sæpius fuisse fascinatam, promissæque sub magni juramenti obsecratione super altare & feretum S. Edwardi, quòd pristinos errores plenè & planè corrigens suis naturalibus benignè obsecundaret. Sed erebræ transgressionès præcedentes se penitus incredibilem reddiderunt. E quia nesciebant adhuc Magnates, quomodo suum Protea tenere voluissent, quia arduum fuerat negotium, & difficile, dilatum est Parliamentum usque ad festum Sancti Barnabæ apud Oxoniam diligenter celebrandum. Interim optimates Angliæ, utpote Glovernia, Legrecessria, & Herefordia, Comes Marefcallus, & alii præclari viri, sibi præcaven-tes & providentes, confederati sunt; quia pedicas & laqueos alienorum vehementer formidabant, & Regis retacula suspecta nimis habuerant, veniebant cum equitibus & armatis, & comitatu copioso communiti.

Instante vero festo S. Barnabæ Apostoli, Magnates & Nobiles terræ ad Parliamentum, quòd Oxoniam tenendum fuit, properabant, præceperuntque omnibus, qui eisdem servitium militare debuerant, quatenus cum ipsis venirent parati, veluti ad corpora sua contra hostiles insultus defensuri. Quòd & fecerunt, palliantes talem adventum, eò quòd in Walliam contra hostes Regis viderentur collatis viribus profecturi. Non mediocriter enim timebant, ne discordantibus partibus ab invicem bellum generetur intestinum, & ne Rex & ejus fratres Pilsavenses, alienos convocarent in auxilium contra suos naturales. Magnates igitur præmunici, cautè fecerunt portus maris communiri. Parlamento autem incipiente, solidabatur Magnatum propositum, & consilium immutabile, exigendo constantissimè, ut Dominus Rex chartam libertatum Anglia, quam Jobannus Rex patris suis Anglis confecit, & confectam concessit, quamque idem Jobannus tenere juravit, fideliter teneat & conservet: quamque idem Rex Henricus multoties concesserat, & tenere juraverat, ejusque infractores ab omnibus Anglia Episcopis in praesentia sua & totius Baronagii, horribiliter fecit excommunicari, & ipse unus fuerat excommunicantium, Exigebant insuper sibi fieri Justitiarium, qui justitiam faceret injuriis patientibus, æquanimiter divitibus & pauperibus. Quædam etiam alia Regnum contingentia petebant, ad communem Regis & Regni utilitatem, pacem & honestatem. Quorum consiliis & provisionibus necessariis, Dominum Regem frequenter & constantissimè consulendo rogabant obtemperare; jurantes fide mediante, & mutuo dextris exhibentes, quod non omitterent propositum persequi, pro pecuniarum vel terrarum amissione, vel etiam pro vita & morte sua vel suorum. Quod Rex recognoscens, graviter juravit consiliis eorum obsecundare, & Edwardum filium ejus eodem est juramento attritus. Recalcitrabant autem Jobannus Comes Warennia, & fratres Regis uterini, scilicet Dominus Willielmus de Valentia, cum aliis. Jubentur insuper portus Anglia districtius custodiri, & portæ Londonenses de noctibus, melioratis repagulis, diligenter oblerari. Unde quidam ait:

Et cum per aliquot dies moram ibidem protelassent, quid in tam arduo negotio agerent deliberantes, ut videlicet dissipati Regni statum refarcirent, in domo fratrum Prædicatorum conveniunt. Ubi iterum renovato redubito scedere et juramento, conceptum propositum suum firmaverunt, ut nec pro morte, vita, vel tenementis, odio, vel amore, quomodolibet flexerentur, aut enervarentur, quin Regnum, in quo sunt nati homines gentiles et eorum progenitores, ab ingenerosis et alienigenis emundarent, et leges laudabiles reportarent. Et si quis hominum, quicumque sit, recalcitraret, etiam invitus eis rogeretur ad jungi. Licet autem Dominus Rex et Edwardus filius ejus primogenitus juraverint, veruntamen prout potuit cepit Edwardus renuere, simul et Jobannus Comes Warennia. Henricum vero filium Richardi Regis Almannia fluctuando dicebat, se nullatenus juramentum sine licentia et consilio patris sui præstare. Cui responsum est in propatulo, quod etiam si pater suus adquiescere Baronagio nollit, nec unum sulcum terræ in Anglia obtineret. Juraverant insuper prædicti fratres nimis assertive, sub obtestatione mortis et vulnerum Christi, nunquam se castra, vel redditus, vel gardas, quæ frater eorum Rex gratanter dederat, dum vitales coeperent auras, resignaturos, quavis Comes Leges Simon sua castra, videlicet Kentwiche et Odiam, Regi gratis contestasset, quæ etiam paucis ante diebus emendaverat. Sed hæc illis asserentibus, & juramenta irrecitabilia multiplicantibus, respondit Comes Ligia, dicens Willielmus de Valentia plus aliis incumanti: Certe & idubitanter scias vel castra, quæ de Rege habes, reddes, vel caput amittes. Similiter & alii Comites & Barones dicebant, itidem constantissima assertione contestantes. Formidabant igitur non mediocriter Pistavenses, quid illis agendum sit ignorantes, quia si sese aliquo caastro latitantes recipissent, omni munimine defuturi, obsidione vallati, fame deficerent. Universitas enim Regni popularis, etsi non Nobiles, ipsos obsiderent, & castra eorum funditus dissiparent. Unde subito & clam, cum prandium pararetur, fugiunt, & ne putarentur velle fugere, simulabant se ad prandium velle residere. Qui fugientes, ac sepe respicientes, fecerunt aliquibus de sua familia turres altissimas ascendere, ut specularentur si forte Barones eos à tergo insequerentur, nec equinis parcebant lateribus donec Wintoniam, quasi ad alas Electi Wintoniensis, in cujus sinu tota eorum spes reponeretur, trepidi pervenissent. Sperabant insuper in castris ejusdem Electi, tutissimum habere refugium. Interim Nobiles firmius confederant, consiluerant sibi Justitiarium,

Hu-

Hugonem Bigod, fratrem Comitis Mareschalli; qui officium Justitiariz strenuè peragens, nullatenus permittat jus Regni vacillare. Cumque ad noticiam Magnatum prædicta fuga Pictaviensium certius pervenisset, timebant ne alienigenas sic mari appropinquantes, ad eorum subsidium advocassent, Pictavienses scilicet, ad alios transmarinos. Videntes igitur Magnates moram trahere periculum, jusserunt districtè toti familiæ suæ, & omnibus suis imprisiis, ad arma & equos celeriter avolare. Et ita terminatur Parlamentum apud Oxoniam, sine terminato & certo non apposito.

In octavis verò translationis S. Benedicti, scilicet decimo quinto Calendas Augusti, valedicturi Angliæ prædicti fratres Regis recesserunt, & quidam alii Pictavienses cum eis, videlicet, Wil. de sancto Hermese, qui consuevit astare Regi prandem cum manutergio, & ejus escam scindere, & multi alii, qui totum Regnum opprefferant, & suis bonis, præcipuè in numismate, spoliaverant. Quibus primo Wintonia, & postea in domo Electi Wintoniensis Londini, scilicet Sewerc, reficiendibus, multi, ut dicitur, Angli Nobiles, ibi & alibi dolose potionabantur, ut postea verius probaverat exitus. Qui cum ad mare pervenissent, Nobiles, qui eos conduxerant, Neptuno eos commendabant. Cum verò Boloniæ pervenissent, scripserunt Regi Francorum, ut pacificum haberent transitum, vel moram faceret in terra sua, secundum antiquam Francia libertatem & consuetudinem, liceretque Electo Winton. Parisiis morari, ac ut scholari, ad tempus ibidem moram continuare. Sed Rex Francia exasperatus, noluit, quia Regina Francia gravem de Pictaviensibus illis repofuerat querimoniam, quod enormiter scandalaverant & diffamaverant sororem suam Reginam Angliæ: addens, quod propter facinora sua ejecti essent turpiter ab Angliæ.

Eodem tempore Castellanus de Dovera, Richardus de Gray vir fidelis & strenuus, qui ex parte Baronum ibidem constituebatur, omnes transeuntes, & transituros diligenter considerabat, cuncta prudenter perscrutando; & invenit non modicum Thesaurum paratum, dictis Pictaviensibus clanculo deferendum, qui totus captus est, in castro reservandus. Similiter Londini apud novum Templum Thesaurus maximus, de cujus quantitate audientes mirabantur, quem repofuerant Pictavienses memorati (licet contradicentes reniterentur Hospitularii) captus est; ad arbitrium Regis & Baronum, in utiles Regni usus utiliter exponendus.

There being many complaints in the premised Parliament against the Bishop of Winton, and William de Valence, the King at their petition granted them this safe conduct against himself and his Barons in going to, staying at and returning from Parliament, there to hear and receive Justice, summoning both of them to appear by a day, after which he issued two more Writs concerning them and the Archdeacon of Winton extant in our Records, not mentioned by our Historians, which I shall here insert.

REX A. Winton. Electo, fratri suo salutem. Cum ex parte vestra nuper fuermus requisiti ut conductum nostrum vobis daremus, quod salvo & securè venire possitis ad Curiam nostram, ad respondendum omnibus de vobis conqueri volentibus, Nos pro vobis et Baronibus nostris saluum et securum conductum vobis damus et concedimus in veniendo ad Curiam nostram, ibidem morando, et inde recedendo, ad justitiam omnibus et singulis faciendam et recipiendam. Et ad hoc faciendum diem vobis præfigimus, scilicet hanc instantem diem Mercurii prox. post festum Apostolorum Petri & Pauli apud Wintoniam, sine esson. & ulteriori dilatione. In cujus, &c. The King likewise issued these Writs to the Abbot and Covent of Wantham, St. Albans and Merton, upon their allegiance to him, and under the pain of his displeasure, and seisure of their Lands Tenements, Persons, not to suffer any monyes in their custody belonging to the Bishop of Winchester Elect, or William de Valencia his brothers, to be carryed thence, or transported out of the Realm to his prejudice.

Cum nuper discretum & prudentem virum Magistrum Arlotum Notarium vestrum ad nos duxeritis pro facto Sicilia dirigendum, idem Magister negotium sibi in hac parte à vobis commissum, nobis Curialiter exposuit, ut decebat, & tempus suspensionis pœnarum in privilegio concessionis vestre, nobis & Edmundo filio nostro factæ de Regno Sicilia contentarum, & tempus reservationis juris præfati filio nostro super dicto Regno, per idem privilegium acquisiti auctoritate vestra, pro reformatione negotii Regii prædicti, usque ad Kalendas Septembris proximas prorogavit, asserens se potestatem non habere prorogandi ulterius terminum supradictum. The King having employed the Bishop of Hereford to Rome in his business concerning the Realm of Sicily, and authorized him to take up monies from Merchants in those parts, and engage the King for it, to prosecute that affair, and he expending more monies, and binding the King in more Obligations then he expected to foreign Merchants, who dayly demanded monies from him, he thereupon by advice of his Counsil, sent this Writ to give him a speedy account of all monies and Obligations concerning that affair:

REX P. Herefordensi Episcopo, salutem. Cum dudum nobis agentibus in Wasconia mitteremus vos ad Curiam Romanam pro negotio Regni Sicilia, et daretis vobis potestatem per Literas nostras, ad pecuniam a Mercatoribus mutuo recipiendam pro expeditione negotii predicti, et pro expensis vestris, multas vobis perdonationes debitorum quæ nobis debuisse fecerimus. Ac insuper quandam summam pecuniæ vobis commiserimus in Localibus in Garderoba nostra pro expensis vestris, vos nihilominus, ut intelleximus, obligastis nos diversis Mercatoribus in magna pecuniæ quantitate pro expensis predictis. Scituri pro certo, quod nisi hoc feceritis, nos de bonis et catallis vestris in Anglia satisfactionem illam fieri faciemus. Teste Rege apud Westmonasterium 28. die Julii.

The Pope for his own advantage, to engage the King of England in his business and Wars for wresting the Kingdom of Sicily and Apulia from Manfred and the rightfull owners, which his differences and Wars with the King of France obstructed, pressed the King to, and mediated a Peace between France and England, of which the King gave him this account, desiring his assistance for the compleating and ratification of the Treaty and League began between them, by sending a special Legate into France for that purpose, such as his Agents should nominate.

Venerabilibus Patribus sacrosanctæ Romane Ecclesiæ Cardinalibus, Henricum Rex Angliæ salutem cum omni reverentia & honore. Scimus multis & infallibilibus documentis, quod sacrosancta Romana Ecclesia piissima mater nostra vigilantissimo studio & propensiore cura considerat ea quæ incolumitatem respiciunt Regni nostri, quod ostendit evidentissime hiis diebus; nam nuper per Religiosum virum fratrem Mansuetum Domini Papæ Pœnitentiarium & Capellanum, sedes Apostolica de quiete nostra sollicita, nos multipliciter monuit & induxit, ut cum illustri Rege Franc. pacis fœdera iniremus. In qua licet in quibusdam nostra conditio aggravetur, tamen ratum habemus et gratum, quod est super hoc ordinatum. Cum igitur toto mentis desiderio affectemur, ut per providentiam sedis Apostolicæ tractatus hujusmodi compleatur; Sinceritati vestræ omni affectu quo possumus supplicamus, quatenus quod circa tractatum pacis, tam pie, tam laudabiliter inchoastis, feliciter consummare velitis, nobis concedentes Cardinalem, quem Nuncii nostri nominaverint in Legatum, ut per ipsius industriam dicta par ad honorem Dei et Ecclesiæ Romane firmetur; ex hoc enim honori Sacrosanctæ Romane Ecclesiæ accrescet plurimum, si per ipsum par ista a cunctis devotis Ecclesiæ affectata proveniat, ut per istius pacis exitum auctor pacis nos pacem tribuat quæ exsuperat omnem sensum. Domino Papæ Rex Angliæ salutem, cum reverentia & honore. Regi gloriæ & gratiæ largitori, ac vestræ Sanctitatis Clementiæ gratiarum refundimus actiones, qui pacem faciens in sublimibus suis, animum vestrum erga nos excitare dignatus est, divinitus vobis inspirans, ut illa antiqua et vetus controversia inter nos et illustrem Regem Franciæ, longis temporibus agitata, quæ innumerabilium provinciarum populos traxit in exterminium et ruinam, per mansuetudinis vestræ gratiam dissolvatur, unde cum jucunditate animi ac cordis jussu dicere possumus; vos qui locum Dei tenetis in terris, portare pacem, & illuminare patriam populo vobis subditis procurare quietem, ut per vos altissimus glorificetur in cœlu, pax munifetur in terris hominibus benevolæ voluntatis. Ecce enim Pater Clementissime, quod nuper per Religiosum virum fratrem Mansuetum Pœnitentiarium & Capellanum vestrum, cujus mansuetudo & providentia apud nos & Regni nostri majores grata est plurimum et accepta, qui sibi commisso negotio diligenter, fideliter insistit et prudenter, quasi per cingulum pacis nos multipliciter monuisset, ut cum serenissimo Rege Franciæ pacis fœdera iniremus. Cujus exhortationibus salutiferis & honestis acquiescentes omnino cum prædicto fratre in Franciam sollempnes Nuncios curavimus destinare, qui post tractatus varios certam formam pacis cum sepedicto Rege Franciæ ordinarunt. In qua licet nonnullis Articulis conditio nostra gravari quoddammodo videatur, tamen nobis acceptabile, et gratum existit quicquid cœlestis dispensatio super hoc duxerit providendum. Cum igitur totis medullis animo affectemus, ut per sedis Apostolicæ providentiam quæstionis præfatæ scrupulus complanetur. Sanctitati vestræ cum affectione quam possumus supplicamus, quatenus quod circa tractatum pacis, tam pie, tam laudabiliter inchoastis foeliciter consummare curetis, nobis concedentes Legatum quem Nuncii nostri duxerint nominandum, ut per ipsius industriam dicta par ad honorem Dei et Ecclesiæ Romanæ firmetur; ex hoc enim honore Sacrosanctæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ accrescet plurimum si per ipsum par ista a cunctis devotis Ecclesiæ affectata proveniat, ut per ipsius pacis exitum auctor pacis nobis pacem tribuat quæ exsuperat omnem sensum. After which he gives this account to the Pope of Arlus his Notaries demands to him, and his answer and proceedings thereupon, and his Parliaments promise to ayd him in this affair, upon his reforming their grievances at home, which he assented to; and the Popes mitigation of his over-harsh conditions, upon such terms as his Commissioners should propound and agree, which he earnestly entreats him to yield to, by this high complemental Letter, and his Letters of Procuracion to his Commissioners.

Super quo per Dei gratiam taliter est processum, quod non restat nisi ut per favorem sedis Apostolicæ iste Articulus debiti effectum, sicut Religiosus vir frater Manfredus, qui istis interfuit vestræ Clementiæ plenius explicabit. Secundo petit, ut liberemus Ecclesiam in quadam pecuniæ quantitate, quod aliter nequissimus facere nisi sicut Nuncii nostri vobis exponant, scilicet Decimam quam Prælati Regni Anglia, Templarii et Hospitalarii pro triennio præterito nobis debent, dando Ecclesiæ insolutum, daturi opem et operam efficacem ut dicta quantitas exigatur. Tertio quoque dictus Magister Arlotus petit, quod usque ad certam summam de Regno nostro commune subsidium haberemus. Super quo, nos & filius noster primogenitus ipsorum ordinationi statum Regni nostri & nostrum submisimus, volentes, ut circa Regnum nostrum ordinent quicquid viderint expedire; & jam in multis procedere laudabiliter inceperunt, propter quod firmiter credimus & tenemus, quod dummodo mansuetudo vestra condiciones istas temperet sicut Nuncii nostri vobis exponant, dictum negotium per Magnatum nostrorum et totius Communitatis auxilium ad finem perveniet exoptatum; unde Sanctitati vestræ, cum devotione qua possumus supplicamus, quatenus attendentes, quod ex sincera

The King to gain an Ayd from his Nobles in Parliament, and engage them in the affairs of Sicily, was not only content to ratify their Ordinance made at Oxford for the good Government of the Realm, but to crave the Popes confirmation thereof; as very beneficial to him and his Heirs, (though he afterwards revoked, and was absolved from it by the Pope, as most prejudicial and dishonorable to him and them; when his hopes of Sicily were frustrated) as this Writ attests.

* Mat. Paris
Hist. p. 958.
Rex Angliæ
absolvitur à juramento per Papam.

Soon after there arising a difference between the King and his Barons about the Provisions made at Oxford, which he and the Prince had taken an Oath to observe, * Rex autem quia juraverat cum Edwardo primogenito suo et Barnagio Provisiones Oxonienses, se inviolabiliter servaturum, et poenituerat eum jam jurasse taliter, metuens quodammodo notam perjurii, misit ad Papam secreto, rogans, ut ab hoc se juramento absolberet, quod facillime impetravit. Which easie dispensation with Oathes, and their violations though never so solemnly made, ( if they concerned not the Popes own honour or interest, in which cases no dispensations would be granted ) was a great occasion to advance their usurped power, as well as filthy lucre.

How grossly this Pope cheated King Henry of all his monies and expectations in this affair of Sicily, after all his negotiations, and how much the Sicilian and Apulian Bishops and Nobles slighted his Papal Authority, Matthew Paris thus relates.

Mat. Paris Hist.
Angl. p. 949.
Coronatio Manfredi in Regem Apuliz.

Eodem insuper tempore, cepit Curia Romana non mediocriter vilescere, eo quod Apulia Prælati & Magnates contra voluntatem Papæ, elegerunt sibi in Regem, & coronari fecerunt Manfredum, filium Imperatoris Frederici; quia non solum ipsum Manfredum, sed et totum genus suum Papa cum tota Curia Romana contemptibilem habuit et exolum. Insuper creavit Rex Apulia Archiepiscopos et Episcopos sine assensu ipsius Papæ, imo potius eo invito, qui omnes communiter plus ipsi Regi quam Papæ obediebant, et contempta Papali prohibitione, Regi honorem et reverentiam exhibebant. Magnates etiam nulla facta de Edmundo filio Regis Angliæ mentione, ( cui Papa Regnum Apulia contulerat, et per Episcopum Bononiensem annulo quodam investierat ) ligantiam fecerat, et homagium, eidem Manfredo et Civitatum et Castrozum fassinam fecerunt plenariam. Unde Rex Angliæ non immerito graviter conqueustus est, quod Papa tam argumentose multum Regni sui thesaurum ob illud Regnum Apulia obtinendum in vanum habuerat, et secus quam decuit cum suis multipliciter Cardinalibus attraxerat. Attamen Nuncios suos in Angliam destinatos, utpote fratrem Johannem de Diva, & Magistrum de Sene, Episcopum Bononiensem, Archiepiscopum Messanensem, & alios complures, qui adveniant quasi procuratores negotii Edmundi filii Regis expediendi super Regno Apulia, Rex commemoratus honorifice suscepit, et procuraciones a religiosis optimas extorqueri permisit.

The very next year Pope Alexander dying, and Urban the 4th. succeeding him, * post coronationem suam, auxilio Crucesignatorum, fugavit exercitum Romanorum, quem Manfredus intruserat in patrimonium Sancti Petri. Hincque ad quartum heredem contulit Carolo fratri Regis Francorum Regnum Siciliæ, & ex tunc Reges Siculorum gestare ceperunt arma Regis Franciæ, eo pacto, ut Manfredum inde expelleret, quod & factum est. And so King Henry and his Son were both cheated of their monies and the Realm of Sicily.

An. 1258. all the Nobility of England sent Messengers to the Pope with a notable Letter concerning the businesse of Apulia and Sicily, undertaken by the King without their advice; and their proceedings against the Bishop elect of Winchester, and his flight out of the Realm, refusing to stand to his tryal, and their resolutions not to readmit him into it again, to prevent future troubles and mischiefs; wherein they mind the Pope of the Kings Oath to observe the Provisions at Oxford, which he secretly dispensed with upon the Kings motion.

Sanctissimo patri in Christo Alexandro, divina providentia Sanctæ universalis Ecclesiæ summo Pontifici, communitas Comitum, Procerum, Magnatum, aliorumque Regni Angliæ, cum subjectione debita, pedum oscula beatorum. Nuper vestra sanctitas, tam per literas quam per venerabilem virum Magistrum Arloium Subdiaconum & Notarium, nos multipliciter monuit & induxit: ut Dominum nostrum illustrem Regem Angliæ, in prosecutione Regni Siciliæ jubaremus; sibi commune subsidium super hoc faciendum. Licet ante idem Dominus noster Rex, absque nostro consilio et assensu, immo nobis reclamantibus et invidis, hoc negotium assumpsisset, quod sibi impossibile propter difficultatem conditionum, et alia quæ Statum nostrum respiciebant, penitus credebamus. Ob reverentiam tamen Apostolicæ Sedis & vestræ, Domino Regi duximus respondendum, quod si procerum et magnatum suorum consilio, Regnum suum in multis multipliciter reformatum, vellet in melius reformare; et hos conditiones in privilegio vestro contentas, vices ipsius Regis excedentes, quodammodo mitigare velletis, quod iuxta mitigationem et reformationem huiusmodi, optatus eventus negotio speratus, ipsi præberemus et operam et effectum: ut Rex negotium quod sine nobis assumerat, per vestrum auxilium possit perducere ad effectum. Cæterum præfatus Dominus Rex attendens impossibile pondus negotii memorati, & Statum Regni sui imbecilem, voluit & expresse concessit, ut de procerum et magnatum consilio (sine quibus Regnum suum gubernare non poterat, nec negotium prosequi memoratum) dicta reformatio proveniret. Hoc videlicet modo, ut duodecim ex parte ipsius electi, & alii totidem ex parte Communitatis nominati, disponderent, statuerent, ac etiam ordinarent super melioratione & reformatione Regni Angliæ; & ipsum Regnum contingentibus, prout eis melius (expediens) videretur. Promittentes tam ipse quam Dominus Edwardus primogenitus suus, affirmantes propriis juramentis, quod per prædictos viginti quatuor vel maiorem partem eorum ordinatum existeret, inviolabiliter observaret. Facturi & procuraturi securitatem omnimodam, quam ipsi viginti quatuor vel major pars eorum, super hoc fieri providerent. Verum cum inter duodecim ex parte Domini Regis electos, electus Wintoniensis & fratres sui nominati fuissent, idem electus quasi salutis suæ immemor, & invigilans perturbationi Regni & dispendiis, potius quam reformationi, Regem ipsum sollicitavit, & toto posse induxit; eidem immensam promittens pecuniâ (etiam usque ad exinanitionem substantiæ & facultatum Wintoniensis Ecclesiæ) ut sperto juramento proprio, a promissionibus huiusmodi cessaret; in Regni sui gravè dispendium, & irreparabile detrimentum. Cumque per hanc viam desiderium intentionis suæ explere non posset, ad alia se convertens, Dominum Edwardum & quosdam alios de Nobilioribus totius Regni animavit, & quantum in se fuit stimulavit, ad subversionem totius Regni; quasi in necem ejusdem & lapsum irreparabilem conjurasset. Ut de illo posset verè dici, Est vir qui turbavit terram, & concussit Regnum. Nam cum ad reformationem qui nunc nominati fuerant, studio vigilantiori intenderent, prædictus electus & fratres sui, nunc per subterfugia, nunc per alias cavillationes varias, eventum reformationis huiusmodi retardabant; Sed mentita est sibi iniquitas; Quia quanto plus conabantur, negotium impedire, tanto ferventius & conatantius alii zelo reipublicæ inflammati, instanti vigilia & propensiori cautela, illud promoveri studebant. Attendentes, quod firma coherencia fidelis esse non potuit, ubi non est tenax unio voluntatum; & ipsorum conglutinatio animorum. Sed quid ultra? Prædictorum electi & fratrum suorum, tam graves erant excessus & grandes, quod clamor pauperum ad cælum ascenderet contra ipsos. Ipsorum enim Ministri et Officiales, qui potius prædones et satellites dicebantur, undique depredabantur pauperes: insidiabantur simplicibus, movebant impios, opprimebant innocentes, exultabant in rebus pessimis, lætabantur cum male fecissent, peccata populi comedentes luxuriabantur in lachrymis viduarum; in nuditate pupillorum, in oppressionibus subditorum gaudentes. Et in tantum ipsorum effrenata rabies invaluerat, quod nec sub ipsis minores vivere poterant, nec cum ipsis conversari pares, nec super ipsos impares majores. Nos igitur attendentes, quod respublica corpus quoddam est, quod divini muneris beneficio vegetatur, & summæ æquitatis nutu agitur, & regitur quodam moderamine rationis; nec expedit quod in uno corpore dissonantia sit membrorum: dictos electum & fratres, tanquam turbatores quietis & tranquillitatis Regni totius, post multas instantias & frequentes monitiones vocavimus, & vocari per Regem fecimus, ut iudicio sisterent, suis querelantibus responsuri, iuxta consuetudinem Regni et leges. Ita quod duo ex ipsis quos malle ererent, reliquis duobus remanentibus: qui pro se et aliis responderent, ac si sibi magis expediens crederent, Regnum omnes ererent. Qui suis culpis exigentibus subire iudicium formidantes, maluerunt exire quam iudicii rigorem expectare. Sed nec adhuc nobis & Regno nostro, super hoc plenè non tantum existeret in Electus, (cui totiusurbationis materiam merito imputamus) rediret in Angliam: cujus præsentia subita posset evertere, quicquid nostra sollicitudo multis vigiliis & infinitis laboribus studuit ordinare. Unde fixum est propositum omnium, et accensum desiderium singulorum; quod illo acto schismaticis homo dissensionis et scandali, inter nos deinceps nullatenus conderetur. Quia igitur præfatus Electus & fratres, Regem & Dominum Edwardum infatuverunt, adeo quod non solum insolentia remanebant penitus impunita, sed quod pejus est, & verecundum dicere terribileque audire, si quis contra ipsos vel eorum alterum differet in iudicio questionem, Rex qui delinquentem punire & delictum corrigere tenebatur, ipsos in suis facinoribus nutriendos contra conquirentem mirabiliter turbabatur: & cui Iudex debebat esse propitius, ad eorum suggestionem fiebat adversarius, & nonnunquam terribilis inimicus; ita quod fulciti Regis potentia & favore, quos volebant opprimebant: Communitates & libertates Ecclesiarum damnabiliter violando, homines incarcerando, Clericos vulnerando, in præjudicium coronæ (cui soli competit huiusmodi incarcerationio.) Laxatis habenis nequitie debacchando per Regnum, pro sua libito voluntatis. Unde si (quod absit) electus rediret in Angliam, pejora prioribus probabiliter formidamus. Sanctitati vestræ igitur omni affectione qua possumus, supplicamus, quatenus sicut unitatem & pacem Regni Angliæ (quod semper vobis extitit devotum & existit) diligitis, sæpe dictum electum ab Administratione Wintoniensis Ecclesiæ, quæ et munificentia Sedis Apostolicæ sibi concessa fuerat, amoveatis omnino. Et magis expedit, quod istud fiat sine scandalo, de vestra plenitudine potestatis, quam (quod Deus avertat) occasione ipsius pejora contingant; et nos vestri devotissimi, aliud facere compellamur. Scituri pro certo, quod etiam si Dominus Rex et Regni majores hoc vellent, Communitas tamen ipsius ingressum in Angliam jam nullatenus sustineret. Potius enim se virent in ipsum, quam quod ipsius intolerabilem sævitiam expectarent. Quin immò, omnibus regnicolis onerosum, & toti Regno dispendiosum existeret; si proventus de quo Regnum infestare disposuit, perciperet. Quod et omnes qui qualitatem negotii noverant asseverant. Et certe (Clementissime Pater et Domine) hoc satis credimus sine scandalo faciendum: cum non sit in Episcopum consecratus; sed tantum sibi Administratio est concessa. Super his autem et aliis, quæ nuncii nostri latores præsentium, Sanctitati vestræ exponunt, fidem indubitatam adhibere velitis: petitiones nostras quas per ipsos vobis offerimus (si placeat) ad exauditionis gratiam admittentes. Et nos.

Vice totius Communitatis, præſentibus literis ſigilla noſtra appoſuimus, in teſtimonium prædictorum. Conſervet incolumitatem veſtram altiffimus, per tempora longiora.

Magnates igitur formidantes ne Electus Wintonienſis Romam properaret, et inſiſſita promiſſa Papæ et Cardinalibus pecunia, ſuam procuraret conſecrationem: ut ſit efficacior eſſet ad nocendum: elegerunt ſibi quatuor milites peritos, et ſacundos, et fide dignos: qui hanc prænotatam Epistolam Romam deferrent: et Papæ et toti Curie præſentarent Romanæ. In cujus tenore continetur, ut eiſdem fides adhibeatur indubitata. Habebant autem de denariis electi memorati, Mille Marcas abſconditis pro eorum nuncioꝝum labore, ad ſua viatica, et alia ſibi neceſſaria exhibenda. Tranſalpinaturi cum veniſſent Parisios, infirmatus unus eorum videlicet, (Petrus Brancho) obiit. Unde non mediocriter doluerunt: nihilominus alii tres tantum iter inceptum continuaverint. Et cum Romam perveniſſent, cauſam ſui itineris Domino Papæ plenius monſtraverunt: addeſtes quædam alia enormia, & maxima facinora, quæ perpetraverant prædicti Electus & fratres ejus; videlicet de homicidiis, rapinis, & variis injuriis, & oppreſſionibus, nec voluit Rex imperus eorum refrænare. Nec prætermiſerunt * injuriam magnam quam fecerant magiſtro Eustachio de Len, Officiali Domini Cantuarienſis Episcopi, ubi vel omnes dicti fratres vel major pars dicitur interfuiſſe: Pro qua offeſſa maxima, excommunicati fuerunt omnes qui tanto facinori interfuerunt per totam provinciam Cantuarienſem, & Oxonii coram univerſitate. Recitatumque eſt, quod unus fraterum (ſcilicet Galfridus) Coquum Regis aſſavit: & excogitatis tormentis, uſque ad mortem cruciavit.

Moreover the Barons certified this barbarous deteſtable fact of his to the Pope: * Contigit retroactis paucis temporibus, quod Johannes filius Galfridi Juſticiarii Hibernia, vir quidem præclarus genere, divitiis, & potentia, contulerat unam Eccleſiam cuidam Clerico ſuo. Electus autem Wintonienſis hoc audiens, vendicans in eadem patronatum, vehementer iratus, juſſit ejici eundem Clericum, & ſi contradiceret, turpiter & violenter abſtraheretur, viliterque in vilem locum præcipitaretur. Cum vero Miniſtri ejusdem Electi, dictum Clericum ejicerent de Eccleſia truculenter, eo quod ipſe appellaret, occidere ipſum præſumpſerunt, & quosdam de Miniſtris ejusdem Clerici baculando, vulneraverunt, convitiis & injuriis aſſecerunt, & à domibus excludentes, Eccleſiamque ſpoliantes, aliquos eorum ita inhumanè tractaverunt, quod contabefcentes infra paucos dies interierunt. Iſtud deteſtabile factum, Romano erat Pontifici per Barones ſignificatum. Hæc autem cum audiſſet Dominus Johannes, iratus, nec mirum, conqueſtus eſt Regi. Sed Rex, ſicut conſueverat, ipſius Electi reatum pallians excuſavit, ſupplicans attentius, ne ipſum Electum in tam gravi delicto accuſaret aut ſcandalizaret, vel aliquam moveret quæſtionem. Superſedit igitur dictus Dominus Johannes, expectans tempora ultioni commodiora. Cernens igitur in præſentiarum, quod ſuperbia Pictavenſium declinaret, dictam querimoniam innovavit, appellans quosdam Pictavenſes, Miniſtros ſcilicet Electi Wintonienſis de tam enormi facto, et Electum ipſum de præcepto.

I ſhall next preſent you with two Bulls of Pope Alexander the 4th, the Originals whereof I found in the White Tower Chappel, the latter of them with his Leaden Seal yet thereto annexed.

The

The Dean and Chapter of Sarum to gratifie this Pope, bestowed a Prebendary in their Church upon Blasius his Nephew and Chaplain; whereupon the Pope by this Bull commanded them to exchange for any other Prebend he should make choyce of, and induct him into possession thereof, by himself or his Proctor, and for a reward of their kindnesse, reserved the gift of this Prebend by Provision to himself, and conferred it on Blasius by this his Bull of Provision, nulling all other grants thereof to him or any else by what Authority soever.

ALXANDER Episcopus servus servorum Dei. Venerabili fratri Episcopo, & dilectis filiis Decano & Capitulo Sarishuriensis, salutem & Apostolicam benedictionem. Ad gaudium plurimum votis nostris accedit, quod spes quam de sinceritate vestrae devotionis concepit nos non fallit, dum illos quos nobis affinitate conjunctos in charitatis visceribus continemus, benevolentia comprobamini prosequi gratiosa. Prout ex eo manifeste colligitur, quod velut obedientia filii nostra contemplationis obtentu dilectum filium Blasium, Nepotem et Capellanum nostrum, in Ecclesia vestra in fratrem et Canonicum admisistis, quandam Prebendam in eadem Ecclesia liberaliter conferendo. Volentes igitur nos in eodem Capellano, qui secundum opinionem communem laudabiliter tendit ad futura merita probitatis vobis & Ecclesiae praedictae amplius obligare, Universitatem vestram rogamus, monemus & hortamur attente, per Apostolica vobis scripta precipiendo mandantes, quatenus affectum vestrum nostro in hac parte cooptantes affectui & hujusmodi vestrae devotionis puritatem per laudabilem actionum studia de bono in melius ductu continuo dirigentes, dictam Prebendam praefato Capellano in illam quam ipse in Ecclesia praedicta duxerat acceptandam, pro nostra et Apostolica sedis reverentia liberati munificentia commutetis. Ipsumque vel Procuratorem suum, vel alium ejus nomine in ipsius possessionem inducatis, vel faciat induci. Ita quod operis efficacia patenter ostendat nos nostros uberiori ac pleniori benevolentia confovere, & nos qui super hoc exaudiri toto cordis affectu cupimus, vobis exinde speciales gratias referamus. Nos enim ex nunc Prebendam hujusmodi donationi sedis Apostolicae servamus, praefato Blasio conferendam, decernentes, scriptum et inane si secus de dicta Prebenda vestra vel quavis auctoritate a quoquam contigerit attemptari. He likewise sent this second Bull to the King, on the behalf of Arlos his Notaries Nephew, on whom the King had bestowed an annual pension, expressing therein Arlos affection and devotion to serve the King, and promote his affaires in the Court of Rome, to engage the King to a more bountifull reward of his services, on whom he had * formerly bestowed many great and rich preferments, even to envy in the Court of Rome, as well as at home,

Matthew Paris renders us this account of Abbots withstanding the Kings obligations to satisfy the Popes demands, and of the great exactions, expenses of Abbots and Bishops in going to Rome to be confirmed, according to Pope Alexanders new Decree.

Eodem anno, videlicet decimoquinto Calendas Augusti, non procul à Wintonia, obiit Richardus Abbas Westmonasteriensis, vir quidem elegans, facundus, juris utriusque peritus, Canonici scilicet & Civilis, Regis specialissimus, in cujus etiam obsequio magnos & multos, tam in transmarinis, quam in cismarinis partibus, labores libenter consumpserat sumptuosos, &c. Sed quia virtutibus se solent vitia quædam adjungere, iste Richardus sigillum suum, & Conventus sui, scripto cuidam Regis apposuit, ut videlicet alii Abbates in eodem nominati, audacius sigilla sua apponerent, & liberius. Quod quidem scriptum tunc temporis confectum fuit, ut quidam Abbates superiores in Anglia sese obligarent pro Rege Mercatoribus transmarinis in pecunia non minima, promissa tamen eisdem Abbatibus & successoribus suis, securitate ejusdem pecunie à Rege persolvendæ, Ecclesiarumque suarum servanda indemnitate. Sed quia hujusmodi promissioni fides, non videbatur adhiberi indubitata, ipso solo in vanum consentiente, cæteri omnes viciliter restiterunt, et unanimiter contradixerunt, hoc divina superaddentes consilio, quia si per eos fieret hujus obligationis incroctus, aliorum etiam supponebatur per eorum exempla contractus. Hujus autem Richardus defuncti corpus, delatum est Westmonasterium, & in Ecclesia sua Conventuali honorifice sepultum.

Eligitur autem Dominus Philippus ejusdem Monasterii Prior, in ejusdem domus Abbatem. Quod cum audisset, vir consensum attulit, illam Domini Papæ gravissimam vehementer formidans constitutionem, scilicet, quod oportuit Romam personaliter adire, cum corporis et carnis oneraretur ipse magnitudine. Maluit enim, & melius fuit domi residere more pristino vivendo, quam pro dignitate temporali, tanto se exponere periculo. Attamen fratrum exhortatione, & legitima omnium convictus electione, eisdem gratanter adquevit. Ita tamen, quod pro confirmatione sua alios ad Curtiam destinarent. Profecti autem quidam de eminentioribus, propositis coram Domino Papa causis et exculationibus absentie electi sibi urgentioribus, contradicentibus Cardinalibus vir tandem potuerunt gratiam acquirere, data non modica pecunie quantitate. Quibus post negotia difficiliter expedita, redeuntibus, nunciatum est, eorum electum jam defunctum, aliumque in locum ejus quam citius subrogatum. Qui vehementer volentes, versus Curtiam iterum laborem festinanter resumunt præhabitu.

Circa idem tempus, convocati fuerunt Prælati Angliæ universaliter, ut Oxonia convenientes, Anglicana Ecclesiæ vacillantibus, et multipliciter impulsæ, ne penitus caderet, statum reformarent. Convenerant autem ibi quatuor Episcopi ad hoc specialiter deputati, scilicet Norwicensis & Cicestrensis, alique duo, quorum nomina non recolo. Qui convocaverunt exemptos omnes Abbates, & alios alterius ordinis, vel eorum idoneos Procuratores, scire volentes, si eorum statutis vellent acquiescere, & eorum defensionem & sustentationem uniformiter adherere. The same year, Anno 1259. the Monks of Winchester, compertientes quod Rex nullum quem eligerent in Episcopum acceptasset, nisi sibi charissimum, maxime post fratris sui Athelmari exilium, elegerunt sibi in Episcopum & suarum pistorum animarum, Dominum Henricum de Wengham, Domini Regis Cancellarium. Ipse autem considerans rem fuisse litigiosam, & incertam, noluit adhuc electioni de se factæ plenè consentire, licet Regem sibi invenire favorabilem non dubitaret. Afferuit enim se tantæ dignitati, et custodiæ animarum insufficiens, nec Theologia aliisque divinis Scripturis edoctum, aut ut decet, renitentem. Tandem tamen aliquantulum consentiens, libenter a Domino Rege, sed conditionaliter, suscipitur, videlicet, si frater suus uterinus Athelmarius præelectus, posset a Domino Papa gratiam impetrare consecrationis, ipsemet præ omnibus aliis fieret in eadem Ecclesia Wintoniensi institutus. Si verò non, salvo jure fratris sui sustentationis, loco ipsius, sit ille subrogatus.

But the Bishoprick of London becoming voyd, (Fulco Bishop of London dying of the Plague) Wengham made no bones to accept thereof, notwithstanding his insufficiency, and want of learning and knowledge in Divinity, and withall procured these Letters Patents from King Henry, by advice of his Counsil, (in imitation of the Popes Commendats, then grown very common) to hold and retain all his former Ecclesiastical dignities and Benefices, whereof the King was Patron, together with his Bishoprick, for so long time as the Pope should please to grant him a dispensation, whose dispensation alone would not barre the King to present to those dignities and Benefices, being all voyd in Law by making him a Bishop.

He had the like Patent to retain his Benefices and Ecclesiastical preferments in Ireland. This is the very first Patent of a Commenda retinere, granted by the King to any Bishop elect I have yet met with, being made by advice of the Lords of his Council and Judges, which makes it more considerable: This Wingham was then Chancellor of England, and retained all these preferments and Benefices, though unlearned, unworthy, together with his Bishoprick, to maintain his Worldly Pomp, Grandure, with the total neglect of his peoples souls, and his Pastoral duty, the least of his care, thoughts, and of most Commendatories in that age and succeeding times.

Adomar Bishop elect of Winton being forced to fly the Realm by the Barons as you have heard, and the See continuing voyd; the King seizing the Temporalities and stock thereof, granted 5000. Bulls to this Bishop of London elect, (first chosen Bishop thereof) to stock the Bishoprick of London, warranting them against the Bishops of Winchester, provided alwayes, that if Adomar should recover possession of his Bishoprick they should be restored to him.

Wigorn. et Hereford.* vos per infirmitatem & impotentiam corporis vestri super adventu vestro in Angliam excusastis, promittentes vos tales Procuratores loco vestro missuros, qui nobis in præmissis sufficienter respondeant. Et cum Decanus vester Hereford. nuper venisset coram nobis & Consilio nostro apud London. offerens se pro vobis de prædicta pecunia Crucis & Decimæ compotum redditurum, ipse tantum reddidit compotum de pecunia Crucis & Decimæ ad opus vestrum recepta in Hibernia. & in Dioc. prædictis, asserens se de obligationibus per vos factis in Curia Romana non posse ita distincte sicut petivimus respondere, unde nobis supplicavit, quod aliquem diem diffusum, vobis super hoc prængere dignaremur, quo personaliter venire possitis in Angliam nobis de prædictis obligationibus responsuri. Quapropter habita super hoc deliberatione, cum Magnatibus de Consilio nostro, transcriptum compoti quem prædictus D-canus reddidit vobis mittimus præsentibus interclusum, quo viso & plenius intellecto, utrum prædictum compotum acceptandum, vel aliquid eidem addendum, seu inde minuendum duxeritis nobis per Literas vestras Patentes, & per latorem præsentium significetis, quia a diversis Mercatoribus ad pecuniam sibi reddendam de obligationibus prædictis per vos factis sumus cotidie graviter anxiati, de quibus oportet nos et Regnum nostrum, sub celeritate qua fieri poterit liberari. Et prædictum diem ita diffusum de consilio nostro vobis assignamus ne ulteriorem dilationem quærere possitis in hac parte. Scituri, quod per consilium prædictorum Magnatum nostrorum provisum est, quod nisi ad prædictum diem veneritis in Angliam, Episcopatus vester cum omnibus bonis et catallis vestris in Anglia in manum nostram capietur ad satisfaciendum inde Mercatoribus supradictis: Quid autem super præmissis facere volueritis nobis sine dilatione remandetis. Teste Rege apud Wyndesore, 26 die Novembris.

A just retribution for this Bishop, who invented, promoted these fraudulent Obligations, to the oppression of his fellow Bishops and Abbots, and it seems converted much of it to his own private use, for which he was now called to a strict account.

Yet notwithstanding these disloyal, Prelatical Constitutions and Statutes were long after published by Lindwode and Aton, and cryed up by some bold ignorant Canonists and domineering Prelates, as the antient approved Ecclesiastical Laws and Constitutions of our Church, though thus frequently, earnestly complained, appealed against by the King and Kingdom, as prejudicial to the Rights and Prerogative of the Kings Crown, the Laws, Liberties, Customs of the Realm, which they subverted; and no doubt they were reversed, or utterly exploded upon that account. Which grosse abuse is worthy our special observation, and those who cry up Lindwode and Atons Constitutions for our approved, received Canon Law.

The Prior and Convent of Bairb, and Dean and Chapter of Wells, having unanimously elected Walter Giffard for their Bishop, who by reason of the Wars and danger in travelling as well on this side as beyond the Seas, could not personally resort to him to be examined, confirmed and consecrated; the King thereupon issued this Writ, with the Certificate of his Election, to the Archbishop, desiring his examination and confirmation thereof by himself, or else to appoint some of his Suffragans to examine, confirme and consecrate him here in his stead.

The continuer of Matthew Paris relates, that Anno 48 H. 3. during the Barons Wars, * Licet Comes Leycestriz praecepta dedisset sub poena decapitationis, ne quis in Sanctam Ecclesiam, vel Camiterium depradaturus intrare praesumeret, nec religiosi viri, vel eorum famulis, manus violentas inferret; nihil hac industria fore profecit, namque nec Episcopi, nec Abbates, nec viri religiosi de villa in villam progrederi poterant, quin a villis suis praeclatis praeclatis. Hereupon I conceive the King issued this Writ and Proclamation to the Keeper of the Peace in the County of York, to protect Ecclesiastical and Religious mens persons, their tenants and goods, from violence and injury, and to declare injurious and undue presentations by usurpation on rightfull Patrons, or by them, to be voyd.

Peter Bishop of Hereford, being a Nonresident from his Bishoprick, demeaning himself like an hireling, not as a reall shepherd, devouring the Milk, Wool, but not knowing nor feeding his flock, nor discharging his spirituall Office for which he received the Temporalities, the King coming to Hereford, finding him absent, the service of God both in his City and Dioecesse generally neglected, he being highly offended and grieved therewith, out of his Ecclesiastical supremacy and care of his peoples souls, sent him this memorable Writ, worthy to be ingraven in indelible Characters in the Hearts, Memories, Palaces of all Christian Kings, and unpreaching, rarspreaching, Nonresident Prelates, Canons, Pastors; commanding him immediately to repair to his Bishoprick, and discharge his Pastorall Office with care and diligence, under pain of seising all his Temporalities, goods, enjoynig the Archbishop of Canterbury, and his Official by their Ecclesiastical Constitutions and Censures, to enforce him to discharge his duty, as they would avoyd his royal displeasure, proceedings against them by his secular power, and the scandall which would else inevitably fall upon them both.

REX Episcopo Hereford salutem. Pastores gregibus præponuntur ut diei noctisque vigilas exerceant super eos qui pecoris vultum agnoscant, et oves famelicas in fertilitatis pascua introducant, errantes vero per verbum salutis et virgam correctionis in unius obliis conversatione studeant indissolubilem unitatem. Sed sunt nonnulli qui hanc doctrinam damnabiliter contempnentes, ac sua ab aliis pecora distinguere nescientes, lac et lanam tollunt, qualiter Dominicus grex alatur non curantes; Temporalia rapiunt, et quis in Parochia fame pereat, aut periclitetur in moribus non attendunt, qui non Pastores sed Mercenarii potius dici præmerentur. Hoc siquidem dum his diebus ad disponendum de Regni nostri præsidis in partes Marchiæ nos transferremus in Ecclesia vestra Hereford. dolenter referimus, nos invenisse, quam adeo invenimus Pastoris solatio destitutam, ut nedum Episcopum, sed nec Officialem haberet, Vicarium, aut Decanum, qui quicquam spiritualitatis exercere posset in eadem, sed Ecclesia ipsa quæ olim delictis affluere consuevit, etiam Canonicis qui ibidem nocturnis et diurnis Officiis vacare, et opera caritatis exercere deberent, eam deserentibus, et longe degentibus in remotis, scola jocunditatis exuta, cecidit in terram, fiduitatis suæ detrimenta deplozans, nec est qui consoletur eam ex omni.

Guido Cardinalis Sabiniensis vocatus, à Papa Urbano in Angliam destinatus, ut ibidem Legationis Officio fungeretur, juxta mare in villa, quæ nuncupatur Bononia, traxit moram, eo quod terram ingredi non poterat Anglicanam propter manifestam contradictionem Baronum, et Episcoporum responsionem sophisticam: sententiamque excommunicationis protulit in rebelles, et ad Curiam Romanam, unde venerat, est reversus. Factus est pater patrum, petente Rege Henrico, & destinavit in Angliam, per Consilium Cardinalium Ostobonum, sancti Adriani Diaconum Cardinalem, qui cum rubeis in Angliam veniens indumentis, in Ecclesia W. Monasteriensi, congregato Concilio, fecit mandata Apostolica publicari, qui suæ legationis fungens Officio, sententiam in Regis adversarios fulminavit. * Rishanger the Continuer of Matthew Paris writes, Ostobonus Legatus vocato Concilio apud Northampton, sententiam excommunicationis tulit in omnes Episcopos et Clericos qui Comiti Simon contra Regem præstiterant auxilium, vel favorem. Et nominatim, Johannem Wintoniensem, Walterum Wygornensem, Henricum Londinensem, Stephanum Cisterciensem Episcopos: Wigorn, citò post obiit vilitur. Reliqui vero tres prefato Episcopi Romanam profecti Domini Papæ gratiam expectabant. Eadè igitur sententia, cæteros quoque Regi adversantes publicè innodavit. Ibi etiam concessionem de decima Ecclesie Anglicane, solvenda Regi per septem annos proxime sequentes, publicavit. Processu vero temporis, Henr. Londinensem, Johannem Wintoniensem, & Stephanum Cisterciensem, qui partem adversariorum Regis sobebant, ab Officio et beneficio suspendebat, et quia appellationisungebantur remedio, jussit quod infra trimestre tempus se Papæ conspectui præsentarent, qui ad Curiam venientes, fortunæ casus volubiles expectabant. Dominus Lincolniensis Episcopus, fortè sibi pacem redimens propter tempus, misericordiâ non judicium impetravit. Dominus Walterus Wygornia antistes, in Articulo mortis positus, se dicebat errasse sobvendopartem Simonis de Montefort, et super hoc literas ad legatum dixerit, petens beneficium absolutionis, quod obtinuit, et decessit.

Subjoynes this passage relating to some Monks, Bishops, who were the principle contrivers of these Provisions, and encouragers of the Barons in their Wars against the King, wherof he would have the King take special notice, as worthy his admiration.

* Sed illud præteris oportet inferere super quo regia celsitudo miratur, quod quidam, quorum conversatio in cælis esse describitur, omnia relinquentes pro Christo, cum Petro Christum, in Christi vicario Petrum, in Petri successore Clemente, Christum Deum suum Principem sunt hactenus persecuti, ædificatum a dicti Regis rebellibus parietem, quem Apostolica præcepit auctoritas in sui nobis operis initio demoliri, suis prædicationum et approbationum blanditiis linquentes, non attendentes, ut decet, quantis privilegiis et honoribus ipsos Romana decorabit Ecclesia, quam parvulam sui ordinis plantulam de valle Spoletana translatam, idem Rex ad perfectam et spatiosam vineam in tot Castris et urbibus dilataram fovit, coluit, et rigabit; utinam præcis vitulaminibus spuris recipiant palmites incrementum, et cultori suo reddant ubas de cætero, non labuscas.

The King after the battle of Evesham, and dissipation of all the Barons forces, was pleased by this * accord made in the Parliament held at Kenilworth to refer the cases and compositions between him and the Barons, Bishops, others who were and had been, against him, to certain Commissioners, whereof the Popes Legat was chief.

* Matthew Westminster relating the chief Causes of the Civil wars between King
Henry and his Barons, that the Bishops were the principal Advisers, Fomentors thereof, and of the Ordinance of Oxford, gives us a more particular account of this Cardinals proceedings in the close thereof. *In diebus illis provisionum Apostolicarum in Ecclesiasticis Beneficiis Anglia multitudo succrebit, & pro commer-cio regni Apuliz, exactionis debiti, tam mercatorum quam Romanæ Ecclesie jugum grave. Hæc sunt illa discordiæ incentiva inter alienigenas et indigenas, tam nobiles quam prelatos, quorum pauci reipublica, plures invidia, plures ambitionis movebantur affectu. Colligerunt etiam pontifices, ne dini, et tollent nostros loculos cum argento. Constituamus ergo 24. seniores in circuitu throni ejus, qui exclusis Parthis, Medis & Elamitis, advenisse Bagmanis, liberantes Hierusalem ab Egyptiaca servitute, negotia regni lingula & universa disponant, primos in cenis accubitus & salutationes in foro tamen regia magnificentia reservantes. Whereupon they made their Ordinances of Oxford, to which they compelled the King, Prince Edward, and all others to swear under pain of perpetual imprisonment. Arnoldus Winton. electo, & Gulielmo de Valentia, dicti regis fratribus uterinis, & pluribus aliis, inchoata factionis exordio resistentibus, expulsi de regno pariter & bannti. Universi et singuli alii Prælati, Comites et Barones, de infidelitate hujusmodi fideliter observanda, corporale præstiterunt juramentum, et lata est ab omnibus Archiepiscopis et Episcopis regni, excommunicationis sententia in rebelles. Porro qua fronte patres conscripti, senex ille Wigorn. antistes, et quidam alii prælati, conscientiarum patres et judices, subversioni regie potestatis gratis præstiterunt consensum, admiratione non caret, cum de terreno honore, dicto regi et hæredibus ejus servando, corporale præstiterint juramentum: quod ordinando ne unquam regerent, sed semper ab aliis regerentur, pessime servaverunt. Si enim prodigalitas intolerabilis, vel defectus regis ipsius, evidenter exigeret operam curatoris: nusquam cavetur divinis legibus aut humanis, ut visio vel defectu cessante, pœna transeat in hæredes, &c. Et cum inter regem Angliæ & adhaerentes ei ex parte una, & Comitem Leicestræ, & complices suos ex altera, per quosdam mediatores solennes, de pace diutius tractaretur, tandem super omnibus controversiis oritur, occasione provisionum Oxon. fuit à patribus in illustrem Regem Francorum commissum, & dicto ejus, ad altum & bassum firmando, corporali præstito juramento, prout in instrumento super hoc confecto, omnium prædictorum sigillis signato, plenius continetur. Cumque Dominus Rex Francorum, summi pontificis inhaerens vestigiis, provisiones et ordinationes hujusmodi, & quicquid statutum fuit ex eis, arbitria potestate cassasset: Comes Leicestræ & ejus complices & fautores, præsumperunt eas, nihilominus sustinere, dicto Regi Franciæ & præceptis ejus in omnibus & per omnia resistentes; demolientesque cum Wallensibus Castra domini Regis fidelium, associatisque sibi Londnensibus, violationes Ecclesiarum & depredationes, & macerationes personarum Ecclesiasticarum, Christianorum & Judeorum, cades & incendia, sine d-lectu conditionis aut sexus, ætatis aut ordinis, perpetrantes. Et cum abominationis hujus clamor, quotidianis afflictorum gemitibus et querelis, ascenderet ad prædictos principes sacerdotum, omnes quærentes quæ sua sunt, non quæ Christi, inventi sunt proculdubio canes muti, valentes sed nolentes latrare. Yea he adds; Episcopus Cicestrensis, die præcedente prælium Lewense, Comites Leicestræ & Gloverniæ contra Dominum Regem summi præliaturos, ab omnibus peccatis dicitur absoluisse. Cumque per Londin. Winton. & Wigorn. & quosdam alios Episcopos Cantuariæ Provincia Episcopo Sabinensi Cardinali tunc Apostolica sedis Legato fuisset instantius supplicatum, quod pacem novam amicabilem consensu partium ordinatam promovere curaret, omnibus Episcopis, Comitibus & Baronibus consentientibus, & instrumento super hoc confecto apponentibus signa sua, ipse dictos Episcopos, pro eo quod tantæ depressioni regie potestatis consentire præsumperant, graviter reprehendens. Et quia ei non patebat ingressus in regnum, publicis editis Bononiæ propositis, eos citare curavit, ut super regni negotiis tractaturi cum eo, tertio die Bononiæ comparerent. Quibus dictis die & loco, & ultra diem, diutius expectatis, nec per se, nec per procuratorem curantibus comparere, Legatus eos à divinorum celebratione suspendit: In prædictis vero Leicestræ & Gloverniæ Comites, & eorum complices, Civitatem Londini, et quinque portus, qui transitum ejus in Angliam manifestè præsumperant impedire, excommunicationis et interdicti sententias promulgavit. Sed dicti Episcopi, Comites & Barones & ceteri, evadunt quibusdam confectis ad sedem Apostolicam, & sine ulla turris, ad Consilium generale, et ad Ecclesiam, tam triumphantem, quam militantem, per Wigorn. Cicestren. & Elion. officiales legis peritis, & scribas ultra legatos et canonicas observantias appellantes, excommunicationes hujusmodi non curant, sed de gladii Martialis tuiti-* Walterus Cantilupo Bishop of Worcester, the night before the Battle of Leueys, (Anno 1264.) Comiti Simoni, et omnibus suis peccatorum absolutio- nem impendens, iussit ut in remissionem peccatorum pro iustitia illa die viriliter decertarent, promittens omnibus taliter morientibus, ingressum Regni celestis. Notable Episcopal Divinity, to encourage Rebels to fight manfully against their King; neither was he singular therein, for * Robert Grossthead Bishop of Lincoln did the same before him, of whom Matthew Paris his Continuer renders us this account, that Comes Simon (the Barons General and chief Champion against the King) *Lincolniensi Episcopo adhaerere satagebat, eique suos parvulos tradidit nutriendos. Ipsi consilio tractabat ardua, tentabat dubia, finivit inchoata, ea maxime, per quæ meritum sibi succrescere æstimabat. Qui quidem Episcopus dicitur injunxisse sibi in remissionem peccatorum, ut hanc causam, pro qua certavit usque ad mortem, sumeret; asserens pacem Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ, (si- ne) gladio materiali non posse firmari, et constanter affirmans, omnes pro ea morientes martyrio coronari. Dicunt quidam, quod Episcopus aliquando manum ponens super caput primogeniti dicti Comitis, dixit ei, O fili charissime, tu & pater tuus ambo moriemini uno die, unusque mortis genere, pro iustitia tamen & veritate, being both slain in the Battle of Evesham, in rebellion against King Henry, to which these ghostly Fathers thus animated them. In hora mortis ejus se habebant tonitrua & fulgura, & tanta obscuritas, ut plurimos ducerent in stuporem; an ill præfage of his passage to heaven, though maxime fidem in orationibus Religiosorum, Ecclesiasticis magnam semper impendens reverentiam, who animated him in his rebellions, and brought him to a tragical death in conclusion.*

ad exheredatos in insula Ely-ensi congrega-

Othobon the Popes Legate having made an accord between the King and his Commons in the Parliament at * Kensworth, An. 1266. the 51. of his Reign, printed in the Statutes at large, to which I referre you, and Pat. 50. H. 3. dorso 9. The Legate thereupon, as Rishanger in his continuation of Matthew Paris his history, and others relate sent a peremptory message to the disinherited Barons and others, to submit thereto; who rejecting this ordinance and award, returned this answer, shewing how much they slighted him and the Popes authority, and their proceedings against them.

Eo tempore exheredati laticantes in insula Elyensi, per Nuncios Legati admoniti sunt, ut reverterentur ad fidem et unitatem sanctæ matris Ecclesiæ, et obedientiam Romane Curie, et pacem Regis, secundum formam provissam, et susciperent absolutionem de sententia in eos lata, juxta formam Ecclesiæ, et ne ampliores roberias et damnationes facerent, sed et de ipsis restitutionem facerent clero et Ecclesiæ. Responsio. Ad primum respondent exheredati, quod firmiter tenent eandem fidem, quam didicerunt à Sanctis Episcopis, Sancto Roberto, & Sancto Edmundo, Sanctoque Richardo, alii que viris Catholicis, & quod credunt & tenent articulos fidei, qui in symbolo continentur. Evangelio quoque, & Ecclesiæ Sacramentis sicut universalis Ecclesia tenet & credit, & ipsi credunt, & propter hanc fidem mori & vivere sunt parati. Responsio. Ad secundum dicunt, quod obedientiam habent Ecclesiæ Romane sicut capiti totius Christianitatis, sed non cupiditatibus & exigentis voluntariis eorundem qui gubernare debent ne eandem. Et addunt, quod prædecessores sui, quorum ipsi sunt hæredes terram istam * conquesterunt per gladium, et ideo visum est eis, quod injuste exheredati sunt, et hoc fit per Legatum. Unde hortantur eundem, ut istud faciat emendari. Responsio. Ad tertium dicunt, quod Legatus missus est in Angliam, ut pacem faceret, sed magis bellum manu tenet, quia

quia manifeste parti Regis adheret; et eam sobet. Et in quantum sic facit, bellum sustinet. Item dicunt, quod forma præsensa nulla est, præcipue quoniam Papa dederit in mandatis Regi et Legato, ut nullus exheredaretur; unde hortantur Legatum, ut hoc faciat emendari. Responsio. Ad quartum dicunt, quod primum iuramentum fuit ad utilitatem Regni et totius Ecclesiæ, et omnes Prælati Regni excommunicationis sententiam fulminabunt in omnes contravenientes: unde adhuc stant in eadem voluntate, et parati sunt mori iuramento eodem. Unde hortantur Legatum, ut revocet sententiam, quam ipse tulit, alioquin appellant ad sedem Apostolicam, et etiam ad generale concilium, vel, si necesse foret ad summum iudicem. Responsio. Ad quintum dicunt, quod cum militent pro utilitate Regni & Ecclesiæ, oportet eos vivere de bonis inimicorum suorum, qui detinent terras eorum. Ideo hortantur Legatum, ut illis faciat restituti terras suas, ut necesse non habeant depredari. Responsio. Ad sextum dicunt, quod multi discurrunt circumquaque faciunt roborias multimodas ex parte Regis & Edwardi, & dicunt, se esse ex parte exheredatorum ut ipsos diffament, & se ipsos excusarent; & ideo monent Legatum, ne talia referentibus fidem tribuat, quia si quenkum in hoc scelere inter seipsos inveniret facerent de tali iudicium sine mora.

Interim exheredati significant Domino Legato, quod irreverenter eiecit à Regno quasi totius Regni consilium, Episcopum Wintoniensem, Episcopum Londoniensem, Episcopum Cicestrensem, viros utique consilio & prudentia circumspectos. Quamobrem Regni Consilium in maxima parte debilitatur, & Regnum dilabitur, quia Legatus bona Episcopatum sibi usurpat, et per absentiam consilii exitium induxit status terræ; et ideo monent Legatum, ut hæc faciat emendari. Item significant Legato, ut moneat Regem, quod alienigenas de consilio suo amoveat, per quos terra captivatur. Monent etiam Legatum, ut terræ suæ restituantur eisdem sine redemptione, & ut Provisiones Oxonienfes teneantur, & ut obsides eis liberentur in Insulam, ut possint eam pacifice tenere per quinquennium, donec viderint qualiter Rex omnia promissa fecerit observari. Item significant Legato, quod Abbatibus & aliis domus Religiosorum ædificatæ sunt de bonis prædecessorum suorum, quæ nunc per extorsiones & tallagia Regis & Legati destruuntur, & ideo nequeunt fieri eleemosynæ & hospitalitates, sicut solebat. Ideo monent Legatum, ut hoc emendetur. Item significant Domino Legato, quod Ecclesiæ Regni Anglia collatæ sunt assensigenis qui sunt inimici terræ, et bona Ecclesiastica quibus naturales terræ vivere deberent et sustentari, in partes transmarinas asportarunt. Et ideo indigne periclitantur, non tantum in corpore sed in anima. Nam pastores non habent, nisi sacerdotes conductitios, qui pro minoris pretio possunt conducti: Ideo monent Legatum, ut hoc faciat emendari. Item significant Legato, quod decimæ, quæ exiguntur a clero, non debent dari, eo quod terra destructa est per regales, et per commune bellum, et terra jacet inculta, et fructus nulli proveniunt, unde populus fame moritur. Rex et Legatus exasperati his responsis anno sequenti Insulam obsiderunt.

The Barons and disinherited persons returning this answer to the Legate who was much incensed with it; The King thereupon feasting the Cardinal, and placing him in his Royal Throne, to the great offence of his subjects, by his advice summoned a Parliament to subdue them by force; wherein he demanding an ayde and assistance both of men, monyes, and a Disine from the Bishops, Abbots and other Prelates, who held of him Lands and Baronies, they likewise returned him a very peremptory answer, thus related.

ejus fuerat cunctis annis. Igitur multis convocatis Ecclesiarum Prelatis, simul cum Baronibus, festum illud cum grandi gaudio solemnizavit. In praedio vero Legatum in sedili Regis collocavit, singulis ferculis prae appositis coram eo. An unkingly condescension and flattery in the King, but a greater insolency in this proud and Royal Legate to accept of; who to requite this transcendent honor, presently excommunicated all that were in armes against the King. Soon after,

Rex citari fecit Comites & Barones Archiepiscopos, Episcopos, & Abbates, omnesque communiter militare servitium sibi debentes, ut apud Sanctum Edwardum, equis & armis sufficienter instructi, convenirent, ad impetendum eos, qui contra pacem Regiam occupaverant insulam Hyensam. Comes autem Glovernia, ceteris mandato parentibus, in confinio Wallia congregans exercitum copiosum ad inimicos suos persequendum, venire supersedit. Mittuntur ergo Legati, Johannes de Warena, & Gulielmus de Valentia, qui illum ad Parliamentum venire monerent: sed nihil quidem profecerunt, propter id quod ejus acceperunt patentes literas sigillo suo signatas, quod nunquam arma portaret contra Dominum suum Regem nec contra filium ejus Edwardum, nisi defendendo. Inimicos vero suos Rogervum de Mortuo mari, & ceteros pro posse suo suppeditaret. Hoc, ut dicebatur, callide confingebat, quia notam prodicionis sibi imponi timebat. Abadunatis, qui ad Parliamentum citati fuerant, praeter rebelles, primo principaliter Rex & Legatus subscriptos articulos exigebant. (By the answers of the Bishops and Clergy whereunto, you may judge of their Loyalty and good affection to the King and respect to the Popes Legate, the principall continuer of these Proposals.) Ut omnes Praelati & rectores Ecclesiarum decimas sibi concederent, de tribus sequentibus, & de anno proximo praeterito, quantum dabant Baronibus ad custodiendum mare contra alienigenas. Responsio. Ad hoc responderunt, quod bellum inceptum fuerat iniquam cupiditatem, & durat in praesens, & necessarium esset, hujusmodi petitiones pessimas praeterire, & de pace Regni tractare, & Parliamentum suum ad utilitatem Ecclesiae & Regni convertere, non ad denariorum extorsionem, praecipue quum terra in tantum destructa sit per bellum, quod nunquam vel saltem sero, poterit respirare. Secundum. Item petiit, ut Ecclesiae taxarentur per manus Laicorum iusta & alta taxatione ad valorem omnium bonorum spectantium ad easdem. Responsio. Ad hoc respondebatur, quod non est ratio, sed omnino contra iustitiam, ut Laici de decimis colligendis se intromittant, nec in hac unquam consentirent communiter, sed tantum ut taxatio antiqua staret. Tertium. Item ut Episcopi & Abbates, &c. decimam suam darent de Baronibus suis plenarie, & de Laico secundo recta & alta taxatione. Responsio. Ad hoc respondebatur, quod depredationibus sunt depauperati, & sequuti sunt Regem in expeditione, & tanta pecuniarum effusione, quod omnino pauperes sunt effecti & etiam terrae eorum ineulte jacebant, propter bellum. Quartum. Item petiit, ut Clerus communiter daret Domino Regi ad relevandum statum suum triginta Milla Marcarum propter antedictas decimas, quas quidem Legatus vendicabat ad opus Romane Curie, propter debita Siciliae, Apuliae, & Calabriae contracta in nomine Domini Edmundi filii Regis, modo praesentis. Responsio. Ad hoc respondebatur, quod nihil darent, quia omnes hujusmodi taxationes & extorsiones per Regem factae prius, nunquam in Regis utilitatem vel Regni sunt conversae. Quintum. Item petiit, ut omnes Clerici tenentes Baronias, vel Laicum feudum, personaliter armati procederent contra Regis adversarios, vel tantum servitium in expeditione Regis invenirent, quantum pertineret ad tantam terram, vel tenementum. Responsio. Ad hoc respondebatur, quod non debent pugnare cum gladio materiali, sed spirituali, scilicet cum lachrymis et orationibus humilibus et devotis. (Yet they were the prime authors, fomenters of the Wars in the former Wars between the King and his Nobles.) Et quod propter beneficia sua, tenentur pacem manu tenere, non bellum. Et quod Barones eorum ab elemosinis puris stabiliuntur, unde servitium militare non debent nisi certum; nec novum incipient. Sextum. Item petiit, ut Clerus communiter ad quietaret novem Milla Marcarum, quas Episcopus Roffensis Laurentius, Episcopus Bathoniensis Wilhelmus, & Abbas Westmonasterii Richardus, mutuo mutuo receperunt à Mercatoribus Papæ in Curia Romana, quando fuerunt ibidem; pro Regis negotiis expediendis. Responsio. Ad hoc respondebatur; quod nunquam consentiebant mutationi tanti debiti, nec unquam inde sciebant, unde in nullo tenentur illud adquietare. Septimus. Item petiit ex parte Papæ, ut fieret prædicatio in omni festinatione de Cruce per totum Regnum, ad expugnandum populum, quem Curia provideret, vel ad Crucem perpetuam redimendam. Responsio. Ad hoc respondebatur, quod populus terræ per bellum in magna parte perimitur, & si modo Cruce signarentur, pauci, vel nulli ad defensionem patriæ remanerent. Unde manifestum est, quod Legatus vellet naturalem terræ progeniem exulare, ut alienigenæ libere conquirere possint terram. Octavus. Item dicebatur, quod Prælati tenebantur ad omnes petitiones, vellent, nollent, propter iuramentum de Conventre, ubi iuraverant, quod Domino Regni auxiliarentur modis omnibus, quibus possent. Responsio. Ad hoc responderunt, quod quando iuramentum fecerunt, non intelligebant de alio auxilio quam spirituali, consilioque salubri.

A sine prelati cal and Clerical equivocation.

How little Gilbert de Clare Earle of Gloucester, esteemed the Popes Legates Authority, who took more power upon him then the King, possessed himself of his regal Palace and Fort of the Tower of London, promoted, preached this Croysado, excommunicated all the disturbers of the Kingdoms peace and enemies of the King, and interdicted all the Churches in and near London, is thus related by Matthew Westminster, together with the Kings pawning his Jewels to him and giving him power to pawn them, to supply his necessities.

Gilbertus de Clare Comes Gloucestria, cum magno exercitu venit Londinum quasi Domino suo Regi auxilium præstiturus, verba pacifica loquebatur in dolo, si que Civitatem ingressus, ipsam protinus tanquam Dominus occupavit, mandans Nuncios ad Legatum, quod sibi Curiam Londinensem, in qua habitabat, redderet sine mora, et ut posset assequi citius suum velle, prohibuit ne Legato victualia venderentur. Legatus siquidem, tanquam bonus Pastor à bono Pastore directus, veniens ad Ecclesiam Sancti Pauli, Londini, Crucis negotium exposuit coram multis. Quidam ergo corde compuncti, Crucem protinus receperunt, inter quos fuerant Thealdus Archidiaconus Leodicensis, Papa futurus, qui Angliam venerat cum Legato, cui valedicens, iter versus Terram Sanctam arripuit, & Nobilis vir, Thomas de Clare, qui spreto consilio fratris sui, Comitis Gloucestria, Regem adiit, & ei fideliter obediit. Igitar de negotio Crucis sermone completo, Legatus imperterritus sermonem suum in Comitum Gloucestria convertit, monens ut fidelitatem quam Regi debuit et sponsoderat, observaret, addens, quod si hi reformati libertas egrediendi Curiam et Civitatem Londini nec etiam victualia debuerant denegari. Salubria Patris monita, indurati cordis altus non audivit. Legatus, cum quibusdam nobilibus, Regis fidelibus, clam Curiam Londini est ingressus. Inde non pauci, cum uxoribus et parvulis, post Legatum. In the mean time those who where disinherited, marching out of the Isle of Ely; Monasteria invadentes in eisdem deposita rapuerunt; deposita in Ecclesia Westmonast. abstulerunt. Legatus postmodum in perturbatores pacis Regis et Regni, sententiam excommunicationis generaliter promulgavit, et Ecclesias Civitatis Londinensis, et Civitati contiguas supposuit interdicto. In domibus tamen Religiosis, sine strepitu Campanarum et vocis, exclusis pacis perturbatoribus, missas celebrari præcepit. * The Londoners upon the Legates cursing of them and forbidding them the Company of Christian men besieged him in the Tower of London, till many Bishops armed had him away. Undique vallabant Regem angustia, adversariorum frivicia, & defectus pecuniarum. Imoque consilio, jocalia Ecclesie Westmonast. imagines foretri aureas, & lapides preciosos, in manibus tradidit mercatorum, modicam

Our Records inform us, that the King being in great want of monies commanded all his Jewels in the Tower and elsewhere to be delivered to the Popes Legat, to pawn for what money he could raise upon them, to be reserved in the Tower of London under his custody, and desired his favor for levying the Disme granted him by the Pope, not in such manner and form as the Pope expressed in his Bull, and the Legate in his Commissions, but after the old rate in some Diocess for expedition.

Pope Clement the 4th. at the solicitation of King Henry the 3d. by this Bull, wherein he recites all the affronts and injuries done to the King, Queen, Prince, by the Barons, and the several miseries which befell them and the whole Kingdome and Church by those Wars, with the Kings extream want of monies, and debts by reason thereof, the necessity of supplying him for the better support and defence of his Kingdome, the Churches and peoples liberties; especially by the Clergy who had received such bountifull gifts and endowments from him and his Ancestors, granted the Tenth part of the profits and rents of all Archbishopricks, Bishopricks, Monasteries, and and all Ecclesiastical persons and orders whatsoever as well exempt as not exempt, within the Realm of England, Wales and Ireland, according to the true improved values, notwithstanding all former Bulls and exemptions to the contrary; authorizing Othobon his Legate to Collect it by all manner of Ecclesiastical Censures notwithstanding any Appeals, and by assistance of the Secular arme where need required. Whereupon this Legate having no leisure to Collect it himself, issued Commissions to several other persons to collect this Disme according to the Popes Bull therein recited, which being very memorable, extant in no printed History, I shall present you with a true Transcript thereof out of one Original Commission of Othobon, which I found in the White Tower Chappel, Magistro Waltero Scamell, Archdiac. Berke, & Magistro Radulpho de Highbam, Canonico Sarisburyens, dated 18. Kal. In this Commission and Bull, it is observable. 1. That this Pope and his Legate expresse an extraordinary compassion, and affection to the King, Crown and Kingdome of England; but it was solely for the extraordinary gaines and advantages they received by and from, not out of any cordial affection towards them, as the premises evidence. 2ly. That the Pope takes upon him by his Papal authority at the Kings request, for his and his Kingdoms benefit, as was pretended, to grant the King a three years tenth of the Revenues and Profits of all Archbishops, Bishops, Ecclesiastical or Religious persons and orders whatsoever, as well exempt as not exempt; notwithstanding all former Bulls and Priviledges of Exemption by his predecessors, which must be meer Cyphers and Nullities when he pleases, so little did Popes value the power or Bull of their predecessors. 3ly. That his Legat and his Commissioners must have the sole power of Levying, collecting and ordering this Disme, not the King and his Ministers within his own Realme, who must be subordinate to them, and supplicate his favor upon all occasions. 4thly. That it must be taxed not according to the usuall but improved values, and levied with greatest severity by all sorts of Censures upon such who refused or neglected to pay pay it, the Pope and his Agents being to share with the King (who had the smallest part) in this as well as in former Dismes of this nature, what ever was pretended to the contrary; The arrears of his annual Rent reserved out of England and Ireland, being to be paid out of it in the first place, 5<sup>ly</sup>. That the Ecclesiastical livings and preferments of the Popes Cardinals, and creatures within the Kings Dominions mult be wholly exempt from this Disme, but no other persons whatsoever, though privileged by sundry Bulls of his Predecessors, and all benefit of Appeals from his Legats Censures in it, taxing, collecting, taken away; yea the refusers excommunicated before hand, and their excommunications publicly denounced in all Churches every Lords day, and Holy day, such then was the Antichristian Tyranny and abuse of Ecclesiastical Censures for secular ends.

The King having received this great Boon and Favor from the Pope, writ these complemental Letters of thanks to him and his Cardinals, expressing his extraordinary Obligations to them, his readiness to serve them upon all occasions, his flying to them as his refuge, and depending on their sage advice in all his affaires, ubi domestica consilia non sufficiunt, desiring them to promote some special extraordinary business concerning him and his Realm, which Sir William Banquer his Messenger was to communicate to them.

Anno 1268. 9. Kal. Maii. Orthonus Legatus, with the Kings consent, apud Sanctum Paulum Londini, magnum Concilium celebravit, præsentibus Universis Prælatibus Angliæ, Scotia & Hibernia, in eadem, as Matthew Westminster and others relate. In which Council he thus complains of the general corruption of our Church and Realm in that age, there held by his Legatine authority, making and publishing sundry Constitutions therein for the Regulation of the Clergy and Churches of England, Scotland and Ireland, quæ inter jura hujus Regni Ecclesiastica etiamnum observantur, writes Matthew Parker, which I finde published at large by * Johannis de Aton, with his Glosses on them. They are prefaced with an Elegant Prologue, wherein the Legate complains, Sanè si antiqua, & remota pestis hujusmodi exterminia dolenda suscepimus amarius flendo modernum vulnus incumbens, quod non modo auribus, sed etiam oculis & manibus se palam exhibet estimamus, eo quod temporibus hujusmodi diei mali, quantum à primis longanimitate discedant, tanto duriori cervice in profundiora malorum contemptu damnabiliore descendunt, dum juxta semita directa divertitur in obliquum: cedit potentia veritas, justitiam favor expellit, et dum omnes quæ sua sibi videntur exposcunt, quæ Christi sunt, quæ animarum profectibus consulunt, quæ Ecclesiarum decus erigunt, non solum in negligentia nebulis, sed etiam in dispectus et ignorantia latebris tenebrosis abscondunt. And then subjoynes Nos igitur ad Regnum inclitum, quod diebus proximis, a gloriæ suæ culmine in obtensionem utriusque potestatis exciderat; necnon ad Scotia, Hibernia et Wallia partes, de gremio sanctæ matris Ecclesiæ commissio nobis in ipsos plenæ legationis officio destinati, plantandi et evelendi, atque edificandi sollicitudinem de manu sanctissimi patris Domini Clementis in ipsius Universalis Ecclesiæ summi Pontificis; non ex affectu propriæ voluntatis, sed pro debita obedientia bono suscepto, ut nostrum (juxta doctrinam Apostoli) Ministerium impleamus; cum sacrorum Canonum instituta, quorum imitationem Principum quoque secularium leges assumunt. Constitutiones quoque bonæ memoriæ Orthonis Portuensis Episcopi, tunc Sancti Nichæi in carcere Tulliano Diaconi Cardinalis, in Regnis Angliæ & Scotia, Apostolicæ sedis Legati, necnon Provincialium Conciliorum Provisiones, mores & actus fidelium subditorum salubriter informantes, quod harum aliqua a nonnullis invenimus observari, dignum duximus præsentis sacro approbante Concilio ad omnem sanctam et Dei placitam observacionem certas Constitutiones facere; atque jam promulgatis, certa quedam capitula, necnon pœnas adscribere, quæ auctore Deo profectum valeant inducere salutarem. I shall recite only the Prologues and contents of some few of these Constitutions, discovering the grosse Symony, Covetousnesse, Pride, Pluralities, Commendaes, Nonresidence and other abuses of the Clergy in that age, principally occasioned by the Symony, Covetousnesse, Provisions dispensations of Popes themselves and their instruments against all Laws and Canons, and worthy our consideration, to reforme the like abuses.

tudinis quæ dicatur ab eis qui ea recipiunt aliqua quibuslibet persolvenda, &c. De Clericis arma portantibus, and De habitibus Clericorum; he relates the abuses in both these at large. * De residentia Archiepiscoporum et Episcoporum, recites and defines, Pastor bonus cognoscens gregem suum, debet ipsum et mentis et corporis oculis jugiter intueri, ne ipsum invidiosus lupus invadat, sicut hostis persequendo indigat: Ac prelati resistat continue defendendo. Oportet igitur ut corporali presentia ipsum tueatur sollicitè; quia vadens pastor et veniens sæpe non invenit quod reliquit, ea quod illuc adversarius non resistens nec recedens, neque dormiens asportabit. Sane licet Episcopi ad personalem residentiam cura gregis Domini sibi commissam distinis quam Ecclesiasticis præceptis nosterentur assidue, quia tamen in partibus nostræ Legationis nonnulli sunt qui hoc attendere non videntur, nos igitur prædicti Legati monitionem & exhortationem super hoc ad Archiepiscopos & Episcopos providenter emissam, emulationis condignæ studio subsequentes ipsos hortamur in Domino, & in virtute sanctæ obedientiæ, atque sub divini attestacione judicii monemus, ut ad commissi gregis curam, et ad dispensatarum sibi Ecclesiarum solatium, præcipue diebus solemnibus quadragesimalibus et adventus, presentiam suam debitam exhibeant, &c. * De appropriacionibus Ecclesiarum, discovers their mischiefs and inconveniences. De Delegacionibus causarum, intimates that a judicial power intrusted in and appropriated to a particular person by divine or humane Lawes, cannot be delegated by him to another person of inferior quality. De Juramento Advocatorum, shewes their corruption in that age.

The Constitution, Ne Clerici Jurisdictionem secularem exerceant (which they and this Legate himself then did, and others since) is worthy our present consideration, Cum honestatis, & Ecclesiasticæ speciale decus existat à Carnalibus longè fieri actibus, nec secularibus negotiis ministrare manus deputatas cælestibus ministeriis, grave ac sordidum reputamus, quod Clerici quidam terrena lucra et Temporales Jurisdictiones sedita petulantia et auda horacitate sectantes, jurisdictionem recipiunt a laicis secularem, ut * Justitarii nuncupentur, et Ministri stant justiciæ, quam non possunt sine Canonice dispositionis et Clericalis ordinis injuria ministrare. Idus igitur horrendum hoc vitium extirpare volentes, universis Ecclesiarum Rectoribus et perpetuis vicariis; imo quibuscunque in sacerdotio constitutis districtius inhibemus, ne jurisdictionem secularem a persona seculari suscipiant, vel ipsam exercere presumant; qui autem eam susceperint ipsam etiam infra duos menses omnino dimittant, eam de cætero nullatenus resumpturi. Quia verò apud malevolas animas inhibicio non valeret, nisi contra hujusmodi delinquentes penalis ultio subsequatur; decrevimus, ut quisquis contra prædicta venire tentaverit, ipso facto ab officio & beneficio sit suspensus; ad quæ si temerè sic suspensus se ingesserit, ultionem Canonicam non evadet. Hujusmodi verò ultio per Diocesani eius qui contra ista fecerit donec emendaverit, ipsius Diocesani arbitrio, et juramentum præstiterit, quod de cætero similia non committeret, nullatenus relaxetur, salvo Domini Regis privilegio in hac parte, whose Clerks were then most guilty in this kind.

After which follows another Constitution of the same Nature, Ne Clerici Advocati sint in causis secularibus, nec Iudices, nec Assessores, and yet again of a penitential nature, facta illi Reformatione, Tit. de Concubinariis informs us, that Clergymen in their ordinibus constituti, in Domibus suis vel alienis decedunt publice concubinas, such was the fruit of their vowed Virginity and restraint from Marriage. De residentia Vicariorum relates, and provides against the general Incontinentie of Rectors, and Vicars, resolving that he Qui curam obinet animarum, ut qui clero præstat curam, vagari non debet, & paratus sit in statione continua vocantibus, & non vocantes suis exhortationibus quasi pastor sollicitus ad se trahat, (which I wish might be well considered by all who have care of souls.) * Ne Prælati fructus Ecclesiarum vacantium percipiant followers whereby Bishops robbed and spoiled the Churches they were obliged paterne consolari affectu, viduatis rectoribus propriis, duplici desolatione confectæ. De procuratoribus quæ ratione visitationis debentur non accipiendis, &c. (is worthy perusal, to reforme the extorsions of this kind in that and succeeding ages.) And ne pecunia recipiatur à subditis pro crimine vel delicto notario. The Decretal * De formatione citationis riches, Ita mortalium sæva cupiditas suum in seipsos reflectit ardorem, ut quicquid sibi possit attrahere non desistat, non timens divinam offensam vel proximi læsionem. Quod litigiorum anfractus & procellæ causarum manifestè declarant, in quibus seipsum solum respiciens litigator sic errat in via Justitiæ, ut æquum & justum æstimet quicquid adversario noceat, & jure vel injuria sibi prosit. Sanè quum in citationis articulo fraudem præcipuè fieri est compertum, prædictus Legatus Otho statuit, ut per impetrantes vel eorum Nuncios in causis Regni Anglia, contortæ literæ non mittantur, sed iudex moderatis sumptibus impetratis per suam fidelem manum eas mittat, qui vocandum diligenter perquirat, quem si invenire non poterit, die Dominico vel alio sollempni, apud Ecclesiam loci istius in quo degere consuevit, dum missa cāntatur, literas legi faciat & exponi, vel saltem ad Decanum in cujus Decanatu moratur, qui vocandus existit, citatio dirigatur, qui à iudice jussus finaliter exequatur, per se vel per certos Nuncios & fideles, quodque inde fecerit eidem scribere non omittat. Nos autem ut circa citationis articulum cautius procedatur, & totius discriminis materia (quantum in nobis est) penitus auferatur, constitutioni dicti Legati adjiciendo statuimus, ut quum iudex contra quemlibet absentem emittit citationis edictum, citationem faciendam decano loci vel alicui certæ personæ demandet. Is vero cui demandata fuerit cum eam fideliter fuerit executus secundum statuti formam, se citasse rescribat, alioquin citationi quæ aliter facta appareat fides nulla adhibeatur, cum nec secundum eam contra eum qui citatus dicitur, ad pœnam aliquam procedatur. Which if duly observed, would rectifie many grievances by Apparitors undue citations since revived.

Christianæ Religionis veritas ita plerosque in suorum Cordium elatione reliquit, ut cum animæ suæ curæ vix unusquisque sufficiat, ipsi se mendaci statera pensantes non solum unius beneficii, sed multorum intrepide curam suscipiunt, in quo quum non resident, nec ad sacros ordines se faciunt promoveri, quos ipsius cura beneficii, requirit, sed etiam multas & innumeras curas sibi congregant impudenter, & per vanitates & falsas insanias ambulantes, miseras animas quas curandas acceperunt necessario negligunt, nec onustale implere ipsi facti impossibilitati possunt. Sanè hos Carni contra spiritum & adversus Deum & proximum assistentes, & quasi de industria recedentes adeo dum seipsos in manus Diaboli manifestè præcipitant, animas Christo auferunt, & pauperum Eleemosynas in usus superfluos (ne dicamus in malos) nephanda perveritate convertunt, è tantis erutæ periculis sanctorum Patrum Romanorum Pontificum, & cæterorū super his auctoritatē gerentiū Constitutiones tam ab antiquis retrò temporibus quàm modernis multiplici sollicitudine laboraverunt. Miserabili humana dignitati casus ille commisit, ut decessu a cunctatione & contra nulla parata irrationabilitate solgia committatur; Melius putetur iniquum quod in inextinguibili vase cupiditatis videatur induere, nichil inhonestum quo avaritia non paratur cibum, esurientem non imminuens sed augmentans; huc si animos simplicium obfident, dolendum est in uno genere hominum qui Laici idcirco dicuntur, cum popularibus sunt * Ministerii derelicti, sed in illis in quibus Dominus pars est eorumdem hereditatis, qui hereditatis suae restitutionem sibi debent a Domino praestolari, qui * dueatu suo regere alios et gubernare tenentur, huc tanto amarior et acerbior fiendo conspicimus, quanto iniquius committuntur in illis et periculosius tolerantur. Sane inter adinventiones eorum qui fraudes contra suas animas moluntur, hanc maxime compertimus divini et humani Juris praestidia confundentes, quod cum una Ecclesia unus debet esse rectoris, sicut et ratio dicat, et multiplicis juris statuta declarant, quidam tamen rationis expertes vel juris regulas contemnentes, dum ab plurimum Ecclesiarum occupationem belamen aliud non habentes, quoquo modo ditari festinent, vacantes Ecclesias sibi commendari procurant, amplectentes juris verba non sensum, quod aliquando permittit unam habere Ecclesiam intitutam et aliam commendatam. Et cum juxta sanum intellectum propter necessitatem, vel utilitatem vacantis Ecclesiae iam commendationis, non tam praepositorum quam permissivum fuerit introductum, * ipsi ad cupiditatis suae lucrum omnia convertentes, in ipsarum Ecclesiarum dissipationem, non solum unam, sed plures recipiunt commendatas. Inter multa vero pericula quae ex hac pestifera latione proveniunt, adversimus Ecclesiasticarum rerum dispendia, spiritualium negligentiam et contemptum certum inseri, dum miseri cupientes casu in malum suum quae aliena esse debuerant congregantes, aut in proprios luxur et pompas superbiae profundentes, quae sunt ad pauperum Eleemosynam constituta. Hac autem pro mole peccati, furta, rapinas & filii in conspectu patris vindictam excedere, divini juris testimonio comprobantur. Nec praeterit divinum intuitum cecitas concedentis, qui cum Ecclesiae prospicere debet personam hominis accipit, cui non tam curandam obem committit, quam miserabiliter deprecandam. Quia igitur nec timorem divini iudicii, nec sacrorum Canonum intentionem ad conversionem talium sufficere vel proficere nunc usque videntur; Nos & animarum saluti & Ecclesiarum statui ut indemnitas, Cura qua possumus, ex officio nostri debito proficere capientes, universas Ecclesiarum Commendationes hactenus quibuscumque factas (nisi ex evidenti utilitate unum tantum Ecclesia commendatio facta sit) penitus revocamus, et ipsas ex nunc vacare decernimus; eis ad quos ipsorum collatio, vel ad eas praesentatio spectat districte mandantes, ut infra duos menses post praesentis constitutionis nostrae publicationem conferant seu praesentent, alioquin ipsarum collatio ad * sedem Apostolicam devolvatur. In posterum autem prohibemus Ecclesiam quamlibet commendari, nisi iusta causa vel legitima id exposcat. Et ut omnibus versatilis, adinventoribus & fallaciis occurramus, statuimus ut cuius ultra unum cum cura animarum beneficium obtinenti Ecclesia commendatur, neque plures Ecclesiae alicui personae valeant commendari. Quod si contra ea qua salubriter hac nostra provisione statuta sunt, Ecclesiae commendationem a quodam & aliquam in locis nostra legationis fieri contigerit, ipsa, et quicquid ex ea factum fuerit ipso jure decernimus non valere. Episcopis vero qui commendationem contra praemissa fecerit, donec ipsam revocaverit, ipso facto

Ambitionis vitium in ardore suis exarsitans, dum nec Maria optimam partem amplectitur, nec ad Marsia ministerium in frequenti profectus aspirat: sed per dominandi libidinem ad omnem eum datentem transicere detorquetur, abjecto rationis intuitu, fas & nefas improba temeritate permiscet. Sandillud evenire intendam didicimus, ut quum vacante sede quam quis ascendere concupiscit, ipse merens: Si obtemperum beneficium pluralitate in suo desiderio posse deficere, ipsa beneficia resignat, immo penes eum ad cuius collationem spectant, detestabili quadam passione deponit, ut si eligi eum non contingat, eadem beneficia quasi deposita postmodum reassumat. Contra hoc igitur tam abominabile collodium, & sanctum & Deo plucens obstaculum oppositas districtius, inhibemus, ne cuquam de cetero sua beneficia taliter resignanti eadem restituantur, nec quasi de novo aliquatenus concedantur; sed tanquam vacantis de personis alius canonice ordinentur. Quod si huiusmodi resignanti beneficia; ipsa vel aliqua ex eis fuerint reddita vel concessa; redditionem vel concessionem in eum factam invalidam decernimus & inanem. Qui vero taliter in suis manibus resignata postmodum scienter contra sic premissa contulerint, aut ipsum resignantem instituerint in eisdem, si quidem Episcopus fuerit, & dalmatica & pontificalium indumentorum usu, alius vero Prælatus inferior ab officio sit suspensus, donec illud duxerint revocandum.

His Constitution, De Confirmatione Episcoporum, is observable. Pastoralis sedis eminentia multis indigens gratiæ divini muneribus, ut Pastor in se mundus ambulet coram Deo in meritum, & in conspectum populi ad doctrinam, inter alia quæ de Pontificum electione, sancti Canones providerunt, idem præcipuum sibi vindicat locum; ut talis ad eam persona conficiatur, quæ nullis (quantum humanitus possibile est) sit maculis denigrata. Quorundum igitur ignorantiam, vel negligentiam, aut dissimulationem, qua contra Electorum confirmationes frequenter habetur, vel etiam procuratur, ex officii nostri debito diligentia quæ possumus corrigentes; Statuimus, & in virtute sanctæ obedientiæ præcipimus districtè, ut cum electionis Episcopalis confirmatio postulatur, inter cetera super quibus inquisitio & examinatio procedere debet secundum Canonum instituta, illud exactissime inquireatur, utrum plura beneficia cum animarum cura qui electus est, antequam eligeretur habuerit? Et si habuisse invenitur, an cum eo super hoc fuerit dispensatum? Et an dispensatio si quæ exhibuerit vera sit, & ad omnia beneficia quæ obtinuit extendatur? Quod si in aliquo præmissorum, is ad quæ confirmatio spectat, electum deficere sua discussione compererit, eidem nullatenus munus confirmationis impendat. These wholesome Constitutions by reason of the Popes and his Legates dispensations against them, were only pious frauds to pke others, and fill their own purses; not effectual Medicines to cure these grievous Maladies; so pernicious to religion and the peoples souls.

An Oxford Jew having in contempt of Christ, and Christian Religion, in a solemn Procession there held by the University, cast down and broken the Crucifix carried before them; and escaping, and the Jewes not producing his body as the King ordered them; the King thereupon out of his piety and Sovereign Ecclesiastical Authority; commanded the Sheriff of Oxford, by several Writs to seise the bodies and goods of all the Jews in Oxford, till they gave sufficient security at their proper costs, to erect a beautifull high Marble Crosse, with the Images of Christ on the one side, and the Virgin Mary with Christ in her armes, on the other side, curiously and decently guilt, and the cause thereof engraven on it, in the place where the Offence was committed; calling the Major of the Town and Cofferers of the Jewes to his assistance; and till they made and delivered to the Proctors of the University another portable Crosse of Silver handsomely gilded, with a spear as large as that carried before the Archbishop, to be carried before the Masters and Schollers of the University in their future Processions. And because divers Jewes to prevent it, had secretly conveyed away their goods to others; so inquire diligently after such goods and sell them, that the work might be speedily effected before the Feast of St. Edward.

REX Vicecomiti Oxonie, salutem. Cum Judæi nostri Oxon. nobis adhuc non responderint de Corpore illius Judæi, qui in vituperium Crucifixi Crucem in solemnibus Processione die Ascensionis Domini prostravit et fregit, per quod tibi pluries præcipimus, quod omnes Judæos prædictos sine dilatione caperes, & salvo custodies; Et quod non permitteres eos aliquam administrationem habere de bonis et Catallis eorum donec sufficientem tibi præstarent securitatem, quod sumptibus suis quandam Crucem marmoream pulchram et altam, bene et decenter incisam et politam, cum imagine Crucifixi in capite, ex parte una, et cum imagine beate Virginis cum filio suo, ex parte altera, convenienter sitis et auro deplatis, una cum causa prædicta manifeste superscripta, in loco ubi scelus prædictum extitit perpetratum; Et quandam aliam Crucem portatilem argenteam, bene et subtiliter et decenter fabricatam, et deauratam, cum hasta sive baculo, ejusdem magnitudinis cum Crucibus honorificis quas Archiepiscopi eorum se facient deportari; deferendam ante Universitatem Magistrorum et Scolarum Oxon. in processibus suis, faceres. Et quod provideres, quod pecunia ad præmissa facienda cito levaretur, & quod omnia præmissa cum omni festinatione qua fieri posset expleres; et prædictam Crucem portatilem Procuratoribus Universitatis prædictæ custodiendam liberes, ita quod fierent citra festum Sancti Edwardi, quod erit in Vigilia Epiphaniæ Domini proximi futuræ. Ac tu quosdam de Judeis prædictis juxta mandatum nostrum prædictum ceperis, qui ante captionem suam bona & Catalla sua diversis hominibus Civitatis prædictæ liberaverunt, per quod tu mandatum nostrum prædictum minus plenè exequi potes. Nos volentes quod præmissa modis omnibus fiant in forma prædicta, tibi præcipimus, quod assumptis tecum Majore Villæ prædictæ & Cofrariis Judæorum nostrorum ejusdem Villæ, in præsentia proborum & legalium hominum de Villa prædicta, per quos rei veritas melius sciri poterit, diligenter inquiras ad quorum manus bona & Catalla prædictorum Judæorum devenerunt, & qui ea tenent, & de bonis & Catallis prædictis, in quorumcunque manibus existant, omnia præmissa fieri facias per visum & testimonium hominum prædictorum, prout melius videris expedire, & si necesse fuerit bona & Catalla prædicta, ad hoc vendas, & taliter te habeas in hoc mandato nostro exequendo, quod id quod ad honorem Dei intendimus in hac parte, manifestetur publice per effectum, et quod præmissa fiant sine mora. Teste Rege apud Winton. 27. die Decembris.

The Money hereupon being levied of the Jewes to make these Crosses, and the King being informed, that the Marble Cross could not be erected in the place prescribed without damage and prejudice to some Burgeses of Oxford, whereupon they purposed to erect it just over against the Jewes Synagogue there; The King and his Counsel conceiving that place inconvenient, ordered it to be set up within the place of Merton Colledge near the Church, and the other portable Crosse to be delivered to the Schollars thereof, to be kept in their House, and carried in Processions of the University as aforesaid, by this Writ to the Sheriff, Major and Cofferers of Oxford.

Et postmodum intelleximus, quod Crux prædicta marmorea in placea ubi scelus prædictum extitit perpetratum, sine damno & nocumento quorundam Burgensium ejusdem Villæ erigi non posset, per quod vobis alias præcepimus, quod Crucem prædictam in alia placea, ubi sine damno & nocumento ejusdem Villæ fieri possit, erigi faceretis, quod ex opposito Synagoga inde ejusdem Villæ facere provid. ut accepimus: Nos perpendentes, quod hoc indecens & inhonestum esset, de consilio Edwardi primogeniti nostri, & aliorum fidelium nostrorum qui sunt de Consilio nostro, volumus, quod prædicta Crux marmorea erigatur in placea Scholarium de Meron, juxta Ecclesiam suam Sancti Johannis Baptiste in Villa prædicta: Et ideo vobis mandamus firmiter injungentes, quod Crucem prædictam marmoream modo prædicto factam, in placea prædictorum Scholarium erigi & prædictam Crucem portatilem prædictis Scholaribus liberari faciatis, custodiend. in domo sua ibidem: Ita quod eum deferri faciant in solempni processione coram Magistris & Scholaribus prædictis sicut prædictum est. The King for maintenance of his Sovereign Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction in his own free Chappels, issued this Writ to the Bishop of Cowenry and Litchfield, not to exercise any Ecclesiastical censure or Jurisdiction within the Church of Al. Sains, in Derby, which was his free Chappel, nor any other his Chappels; nor yet to Tax them towards the Disme granted him by the Pope, for which they had compounded and payd six marks into his Wardrobe, notwithstanding their fine and composition made with the King for all the Dismes within his Diocesse, for which he should have an allowance by way of defalcation.

The King to effect his designs in the Court of Rome against the Barons and others, was forced to grant some Cardinals annual Pensions during their lives, and to augment them upon all new occasions, as is evident by this Record, for paying the arrears and augmentation of one of their Annuities out of the Dismes granted him by the Pope, whereof the King had usually the least share, the Pope the Cardinals and Legates swallowing up the greatest part of them; as * Mathew Parker observes.

Vobis mandamus quod de Custodia ejusdem Archiepiscopatus in nullo vos intromittatis, sed Attornatos ipsius Edwardi exitus & proventus prædicti percipete & habere permittatis in forma concessionis nostræ prædictæ. Et si quid per vos vel vestros de exitibus seu proventus ejusdem perceptum fuerit, id sine dilatione eidem Edwardo vel Attornatis suis prædictis restituatis. Provisum quod omnia feoda, Wardæ, relevia, Escaetæ, advocationes Abbatiarum, Prioratum, dignitatum & Præbendarum quarumcunque per vos vel vestros ad opus nostrum salvo custodiantur prout ad opus nostrum magis videritis expedire. In cujus, &c. Teste ut supra.

King Henry being desperately sick past all hopes of recovery, made a vow that if he recovered he would go in person to the holy Land, according to his former vow which he had assigned over to his Son Prince Edward, to perform for him, after which vow made he recovering his health, and resolving to proceed in his voyage, to raise up monyes from his Brother Richard for that use, made this assurance to him of all the revenues of the Realm except Wardships and other casual revenues, and for the regulation of his household and the affaires of the Kingdome.

REX Dilectis & fidelibus suis Majori & Vicecomitibus suis London, & Omnibus Ballivis & fidelibus suis ad quos &c. salutem. Sciatis, quod ad honorem Dei & Universalis Ecclesiæ, ac emendationem & utilitatem terræ nostræ & relevationem Christianorum de dampnis & gravaminibus, quæ sustinuerunt occasione liberorum tenementorum quæ Judæi Regni nostri clamabant habere in terris, tenementis, feodis, redditibus & aliis tenuris, & ne vobis seu Communitati Regni nostri, vel ipsi Regno possit de cætero præjudicium generari, providimus de consilio Prælatorum, Magnatum & Procerum qui sunt de Consilio nostro, ac etiam ordinavimus & statuimus pro nobis & hæredibus nostris. Quod nullus Judeus liberum tenementum habeat in maneris, terris, tenementis, feodis, redditibus, vel tenuris quibuscunque per Chartam, donum, feofamentum, confirmationem, seu quamcunque aliam obligationem, seu quocunque alio modo. Ita tamen quod domos suas quas ipsimet inhabitant in Civitatibus, Burgis, seu aliis Villis, inhabitent de cætero et eas habeant sicut habere consueverunt temporibus retroactis, et etiam alias domos suas quas locandas habent, licite locare possint Judæis tantum et non Christianis. Ita tamen quod non liceat Judeos nostros London. plures domos quam nunc habent emere, sive quocunque alio modo perquirere in Civitate nostra London. per quod Ecclesiæ perochiales ejusdem Civitatis vel Rectores earundem jurisdictionem incurrant. Poterunt tamen iidem Judæi London. domos & ædificia sua antiqua prius diruta & destructa reparare, & in statum Pristinum redigere ad voluntatem suam. Providimus etiam & statuimus de eodem consilio nostro quod de domibus suis prædictis inhabitandis vel locandis, ut prædictum est, nullus Judeus placet vel placitare possit per brevia nostra Originalia de Cancellaria, sed tantummodo coram Justiciariis nostris ad Custodiam Judeorum assignatis, per brevia Judaismi consuetæ et hactenus usitatæ de terris autem et tenuris de quibus Judei ante præsens statutum feofati fuerunt, fuissent, & quas nunc tenent, volumus, quod huiusmodi infeodationes & dona penitus aduellantur; & terræ & tenementa illa Christianis qui sibi ea dimiserunt remaneant. Ita tamen, quod Christiani satisfaciant ipsis Judæis de pecunia seu Catallo contento in Chartis & Cyrographis suis, sine usura, quod Judæi pro huiusmodi dono vel infeodatione dederint Christianis. Hac autem adjecta conditione; ut si Christiani illi incontinenti inde satisfacere non possint, liceat Judæis prædictis tenementa illa aliis Christianis dimittere, donec inde per rationabilem extentam secundum verum valorem eorundem Catalla sua sine usura levare possint. Salvo tamen Christianis illis herbergagio suo; Ita quod Judæus pecuniam seu Catallum suum per manus Christianorum & non Judæorum inde recipiat sicut prædictum est. Et si contingat Judæum aliquem Feoffamentum amodo recipere à quovis Christiano de aliquo feodo seu tenemento contra præsens statutum, Judæus ipse dictum tenementum seu feodum penitus amittat, & in manum nostram capiatur, & salvo custodiatur. Et Christiani illi vel eorum hæredes terram vel tenementum illud de manu nostra rehabearnt. Ita tamen quod totam pecuniam quam ab ipsis Judæis pro huiusmodi Feoffamento receperint nobis tunc solvant, vel si eorum facultates ad hoc non sufficiant, tunc verum valorem tenementorum vel feodorum nobis & hæredibus nostris annuatim reddant ad seccarium nostrum per veram & rationabilem extentam eorundem, donec de huiusmodi pecunia seu Catallo nobis plenè fuerit satisfactum. De nutricibus autem parvulorum, pistoribus, Braccatoribus & Cocis Judeorum, Quia Judæi et Christiani in cultu fidei dispares sunt, prævidimus et statuimus, quod nullus Christianus vel Christiana eis ministrare præsumant in Ministeriis prædictis. Et quia Judæi quosdam redditus, de terris et tenementis Christianorum tanquam perpetuos dudum recipere solent per manus Christianorum, qui etiam feoda dicebantur, volumus, et statuimus, quod statutum tunc inde per nos factum firmitatis robur obtineat, nec ei per præsens statutum in aliquo derogetur. Et ideo vobis præcipimus firmiter injungentes, quod provisionem, ordinationem & statutum prædictum publicè per totam Ballivam vestram proclamari & firmiter teneri & observari faciatis. In cujus, &c. Vobis mandamus sicut alias mandavimus firmiter injungentes, quod prædictos Monachos Dover. homines, terras, res, redditus & omnes possessiones suas in Balliva vestra manuteneatis, protegatis & defendatis, non permittentes ipsos per præfatos Offic. Subpriorem & Conventum quantum in vobis est, durante vacatione prædicta super aliquibus molestari indebitè seu gravari, sed ipsos Offic. Subpriorem & Conventum ex parte nostra moneatis & efficaciter inducatis, quod ab hujusmodi gravaminibus & molestiis præfatis Monachis de cætero inferendis penitus desistant. Ita quod diligentiam vestram exinde meritò commendare debeamus, & quod non oporteat nos amplius super hoc sollicitari, per quod manum ad hoc aliter apponere debeamus. The Official of the Prior of Christ Church in Canterbury, notwithstanding the former Writs, claiming a Jurisdiction over the Prior and Covent of Saint Martins Dover during the vacancy of the Archbishoprick, excommunicated them for not submitting to his Jurisdiction, whereupon they appealed against his excommunication and undue proceedings to the Court of Rome; yet afterwards the Prior of Saint Martins released the Appeal, and wasted the Corn and other goods of the house, by means whereof the Covent were likely to beg and be dispersed; the King upon the Subpriors and Covents complaint thereof, as supream Patron & founder, impowred the Constable of Dover Castle, and two Monks of St. Martins, by this commission to preserve the goods of the house, and apply them to the benefit thereof, till the King and his Council took further order therein.
